City and Country

And again it rains.
This is the last week of the revival in the Methodist Church.

Seven lady clerks have formed a local union and joined the Retail Clerks International Union.

A marriage license was issued yesterday to Miss Edith J. Kinney and Roy Smith, both of South Bay.

Orto Brazier will be discharged from the hospital in Portland Sunday, when he will return to this city.

To-morrow is the vernal equinox, when the length of the days and nights are (theoretically, at least) equal.

Judge Mason Irwin has been holding court in this city for Judge Lind this week. The latter is holding a term at Montesano.

The Olympian says that gas will be turned on in about a week. It will be remembered that it "snuffed gas" over a year ago.

B. M. Price and wife, and their little daughter Helen, left Monday for Southern California, where they will make an extended visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Mackay returned from a trip to Aberdeen Saturday evening, where Mr. had gone on professional business.

W. H. Algier left for Idaho Sunday, where he intends remaining several months, in the hope that a change of climate will benefit his health.

Mrs. Curry, sister of Warren McKay, the insane murderer of his family at Tenino, lately, has adopted the surviving child, a son, Dorothy.

The City Council have resolved to be more economical. Good! Although it seems somewhat like a very late time to lock the stable-door.

Z. Mameya, a Japanese woman, who died Tuesday, at the Union Lumber Company's mill, was buried Wednesday in the Japanese cemetery in Seattle.

Rev. Father Griffith preached his farewell sermon in St. John's Church last Sunday, and will soon take up his line of duty in a thriving parish at San Diego, Cal.

Miss Jeanette Thompson of this city and Henry G. Boardman of Alaska, were married in Seattle, Monday. They immediately left for Alaska, their future home.

The Council chamber is to receive a coating of two of whitewash, depending somewhat upon the depth of the stains which the record of time has made upon its walls.

Albert and Joseph Morrow arrived Sunday from Kansas to attend the funeral of their mother, Mrs. Anderson Morrow, at the home of another son, Matthias Morrow.

Mrs. Lou G. Diven has bought the Joseph Forstell home, at the west end of Nineteenth street, at a cost of $14,000. Mrs. Diven and her daughter will take possession April 1st.

W. P. C. Adams, of Seattle, was shaking hands with his many Olympia friends on our streets this week. Several years ago he was State Labor Commissioner and resided in this city.

The First Presbyterian Church closed, last evening, its Trustees, T. J. Kegley, W. W. Work, C. H. Springer, J. B. Stentz and George Yantis, and B. F. McHenry and Millard Lemmon, Elders.

The Supreme Court has affirmed a verdict of $750 damages to Bessie Childs and her husband, against Wm. Childs, for slanderous remarks made against her during a street quarrel in that city.

A large audience attended the pupils' musical recital at Providence Academy, Tuesday night, and their proficiency gave unmistakable evidence of the thoroughness of the training by the good Sisters.

State Treasurer Mills has directed prosecutions against about 400 liquor dealers who are delinquent on the annual State tax of $25. Over 100 of these are doing business in King county. There is but one delinquent in this county.

A vigorous protest in person and by petition of the residents of Westside, Monday night, against location of a post-house in a "resident district," has impelled the Council to send the matter back to the committee for further consideration.

postal regulation that weekly newspapers cannot be sent through the mails to subscribers who are in arrears more than one year. Will some of our friends who are in arrears note the fact and look that they are square on the books?

The Master Horschbarger and Blacksmith Protective Association will meet in this city Saturday, April 25th. It is expected that from 250 to 300 people will attend from abroad, and will have a test of Olympia's strength.

The Supreme Court has set the date of March 27th, for argument of alternative writ of mandate asked by W. H. Thompson for examination as to the insanity of his son, Chester, who murdered Judge Emory, in Seattle, July 7, 1906, and was acquitted on the ground of insanity, and held for lunacy.

Miss Lillian Hope was married to Warren Woodard, of Alberta, yesterday morning, at the home of her aunt, Mrs. Cooper, with whom she has been residing some time. The groom is a prosperous farmer of Alberta. The happy couple left immediately after the ceremony for their new home at Olds, in that district.

The objection of School Director E. Reynolds for the substitution of E. Reynolds for that position, will be determined at the last meeting of the board this month. If it is clearly shown that Mr. Reynolds had no intention of moving from this district, it is admitted that no vacancy has occurred and the election of E. Reynolds was illegal.

Mrs. C. G. Messinger has an excellent line of seasonal millinery on display at her parlors on East Fourth street, and her prices are right.

The ladies of Olympia and Thurston county will do well to call at her place before purchasing a hat elsewhere. She held her Spring opening last Tuesday. Remember the place, next door to Lansdale's grocery store.

The late heavy rainfall has made many streams, all over the State, fail to overflowing. There is no scarcity of flow in the Tumwater now, and bounding cascades present a beautiful appearance in their rush through the gorges at the head of the Sound.

The ladies of Olympia and Thurston county will do well to call at her place before purchasing a hat elsewhere. She held her Spring opening last Tuesday. Remember the place, next door to Lansdale's grocery store.

Another candidate for popular favor is a moving picture show in the new Legion building, on Fourth street. This is the third house of that kind now open in this city, doubtless inspired by the success of the Lyric, which opened on Main street last fall, and still maintains the lead. This week it has had on exhibition that latest and most captivating fad, "The Merry Widow."

The Allen-Sherman lumber mill, near Little Rock, was consumed by fire at an early hour last Friday morning, involving a loss of about $20,000. The mill had been in operation about ten years, and had maintained its business through the dull season, without suspension. There was about $5,000 insurance on the mill and $6,000 on the lumber, but the latter was very little damaged by the fire. A new mill will probably be built.

A young and stalwart man, calling himself Alec Wilson, was arrested Wednesday for begging. He gave evidence, however, by his acts, that he was a professional crook. He voluntarily turned his back to the wall and held up his hands, when taken so police headquarters, a position that must have been learned from experience. He also threw himself on the cot when taken to his cell, as if perfectly at home regarding prison life.

The Women's Club is making preparations to present "Whirl-o-the-Town," a comic opera, some time next month. It will require 60 performers, and draw quite heavily upon local talent for dramatic personnel. The object is to obtain money for the construction of the new club house.

It is suggested and hoped that the ladies will insist upon a division of percentage with the author that will justify the time, labor and worry they contribute to make such "benefits" a success.

The Holy Rollers advertise their sincerity by a house of converts into Moss Lake, which considering the temperature of the weather and water, and the distance to be traveled in reaching the necessary tent erected, in which to don dry clothing, seems quite a severe test. But there is very little question of sincerity, when their enthusiasm impels them to roll on the floor, kick up their heels, quack like a duck or creak after the style of the hen.

They seem to abandon all feelings of shame when the so-called "spirit" moves them, and they would doubtless stand on their heads, did they possess the necessary athletic skill to do so.

San Hen clucks and cackles all together too much. When convicted and fined for conducting a joint, he preferred to work out his sentence of $100, in the county jail, his principal vocation being eating and sleeping. When, however, it was determined to make him pay for his "keep" by employing him as nurse at the pest-house, he did not demur, but now presents a bill for $60.70 for clothing he claims that he lost by appropriating it to the use of convalescing patients, while he was on duty as nurse. It seems that if this be true, it was with his knowledge and consent, and even if the public is responsible that they have some right to determine the value of such junk.

Five complaints have been filed by Prosecuting Attorney Troy against J. T. Thacker, former boss of the Tacoma administration of our city, charging him with extortion and black mail, preferred by L. R. Gilbert, formerly one of the proprietors of the "Green Tree," and H. C. Hoernsman of the Olympia Water Company. Gilbert charges him with grafting at numerous times, in consideration of immunity from prosecution for running a dance hall, and operating a gambling table, and in operation of the water works, for the sum of $500. It is not admitted that this bribe was paid, but Ray Gilbert admits that he paid sums of money at divers times to secure that toleration which Thacker claimed to possess through his influence with the Daily Recorder. Thacker denies the charges, but if he is to be believed he certainly used smokeless powder in work for the reports were frequent enough and loud enough to indicate that "something was doing" in the palmy days of boss rule. The ex-boss has given bonds to appear and answer before Justice Frost at 10 a. m. tomorrow, and engaged lawyers Israel and Mitchell to defend him.

A conversation was had yesterday on Fourth street between a Republican and Socialist as to the difference between reform and revolution. They discussed the question of a change of externals without change of the internal mechanism, while revolution is change from within.

To illustrate, if you take a cat, clip its tail and ears, put a red on its nose and about its neck, it is in the nature of reform, more patch-work; it remains a cat all the same; the development of the lizard into an eagle is a revolution in biology. Applying the argument to social life, the government, the revision of the tariff or prohibition measures are reforms, the economic base remains the same, they are mere concessions of the ruling class; the Socialists believe in revolution, because they think the laboring class should conquer and hold the economic and political power now held by the commercial class. The Republican thought the desired ends can be more surely and safely secured by Bryan's method of stamping out private monopoly, that is to say to repeal all laws empowering corporations and combine with special privileges, and that this seems to be the issue that is forging itself to the front.

Chickens Coming Home to Roost. EDITOR STANDARD: I read with considerable interest the communication of Mr. Hazard Stevens which appeared in your last issue, and was impressed with the truths it contained. It is a matter of fact that present valuations are the highest ever placed upon property in this city and county and the levy is also a record-breaker, and yet, not content with that record, the present administration has imposed a poll tax of $1 upon each male citizen over 21 years of age.

Isn't it about time to call a halt? Isn't it about time the people of Olympia were doing a little thinking in their own behalf instead of having it all done in Tacoma, supplemented at this end of the line by Boss Thacker and promulgated through the Perkins-Thacker papers of this city?

During the days when the Scobey-Taylor regime was in its zenith, there was no such valuations and no such levy and no cry of no warrants out for petty grafting or gratings. It was during those days the Perkins papers could not find time to write enough to mislead our people, abuse slander and slur our best citizens and drive them from the community. It was during these days the virus was spread that has resulted in the present deplorable condition of affairs in our city.

Attention is called in this connection, to the fact that the tax collector, tendered, the magnificent gifts bestowed and the general good wishes extended by the citizens, upon the departure of these much-maligned prominent citizens for other and more congenial climes. This incident leads me to the conclusion that a realizing sense of matters as they have been and as they are in this city, and that in due time matters will even up.

I have also read the reply to Mr. Stevens' correspondence, in the Morning Mule, whose owner and manager is a prominent member of the present administration, in which Mr. Stevens is told that if he does not like our high taxes he has the privilege of selling out and getting out. It has occurred to me that Mr. S. need not go to the trouble of finding a buyer; his property will soon enough be confiscated unless Olympia people administer their affairs in a rational way and not blindly follow the leadership of outsiders, assisted by a few more noted for his avoidances about the waist-line than of his head.

OLYMPIA, Wash., March 19.

To the "Sage of Yelm!" I tip my hat; I salute. I cease to shed tears. How can I help it, after reading your great, grand and glorious obligation taken to the Mule, which will go thundering down the canyons of Time bumpily-bumpy and bang-bang. Yet you will admit that "He, She or It" had good reason to imagine you were about to say a long farewell to the Mule and enlist under the banner of the Man with the Big Stick—Theodore Roosevelt! After reading a letter written by you and published in the STANDARD some time ago, at which even Hon. John Miller Murphy, editor of the STANDARD, and an old-time friend of yours, saw fit to criticize in which you terms the manner in which you laddled out praise to Teddy, though posing as a Democrat. After reading this letter no one would have been surprised to learn that you had grown over the old love for the new. Hence when I read the paragraph in the STANDARD stating you wished to be a delegate to the Democratic National Convention, at Denver, did I not have the right to propose three cheers and a tiger? To learn you had not deserted the Mule for the Elephant was to me my patriotic heart beat faster and my blood to quicken, and the only way to vent my joyous feelings were to call for the cheers and a tiger in honor of the news, and "He, She or It" recalls the tears, claiming however, all the "He, She or It" knows of your politics is gleaned by reading the STANDARD. Again I say, three cheers and a tiger, and I am delighted to learn that J. C. Conine, the "Sage of Yelm," will never desert the Mule. Hurrah! Whoopie!

L. E. F. VERNON.

Some Solid Chunks of Truth. EDITOR STANDARD: I am pleased to see that some one appreciates the services of General Stevens. Mr. Conine's suggestion that a monument be erected in his memory, looks good to me. If there ever was a man who deserved a monument that man is Stevens. I hadn't the pleasure of his acquaintance, but know something of his history and judging from that, he did more for the Territory of Washington than any other man living or dead. As to the epithet "Copperhead" applied to him by D. O. P. sealwags, it simply shows to what depths of perfidy they will resort to injure their ends. The epithet never did have any significance beyond malignity and the fact that Mr. Stevens died fighting for the Union casts the lie in their teeth and he was not the only man maligned by that epithet who died fighting for his country, to my personal knowledge. I was one of myself, but was fortunate not to catch a bullet. I served as a target all the same. There were only two men maligned by that epithet and I can prove it. All our leading Generals were Democrats.

J. C. CONINE.

YELM, Wash., March 17, 1908.

The State Republican Central Committee has called their Convention to meet at Spokane, on May 14th, to elect two delegates and a like number of alternates to the National Republican Convention, to be held in Chicago, June 16th. This county has been accorded a representation of 16 delegates in the State Convention.

What the People Generally Think. EDITOR STANDARD: Having read Mr. Hazard Stevens' communication in last week's issue of the STANDARD in relation to the high tax levy of 1907, it is too apparent that his letter tells the truth in plain terms. Why any of our daily papers should attempt to black-guard the gentleman for stating the facts, is hard to imagine. Any one local dailies trying to justify this exorbitant levy? Naturally one would think that a paper dependent on the community for support, would be interested in promoting its welfare. Mr. Stevens' connection with Olympia Light and Power Company has no bearing on the question any more than the style of his wearing apparel. The high tax levies we have had of late years have done more harm to our city than it would be possible for a half-ton Light and Power Company to accomplish. Instead of a city of eight thousand inhabitants our population ought to number twenty thousand souls, and why should any man having the welfare of the city in view, when a man honestly tells why the city's growth has been hampered, be vilified? It is the experience of real estate men here that it is hard to sell Olympia property on account of the high taxes, parties prefer to invest in the country or elsewhere than in our city. In many instances would be purchasers who come to investigate when they find out about the high levies, quietly leave. It is not desirable to so advertise Olympia to the world, if he has any sense here he will be vindicated. The time is ripe for a change if we expect our city to keep pace with other communities in this section. Good citizens should be encouraged to locate among us and not be frightened away.

VERITY.

OLYMPIA, Wash., March 19, 1908.

What an Old-Time Citizen Thinks. EDITOR STANDARD: You have, no doubt, the same feeling that I have, after reading the News editorial on General Stevens' letter, copied from your paper. The editor wants to know what Mr. S. has done for Olympia and Thurston county. I would advise him to ask certain facts before attempting criticism of men whose shoe-strings he is unworthy to tie, to go to the editor of the most reliable paper in the State for information [That's us, Ed.] Well I wonder if Mr. S. didn't lead in construction of our first railroad, and if he did not make it possible for Olympians to ride in electric instead of horse cars; and pray who has been vilified more than he by the Tacoma outfit, which the News was ostensibly started to prevent? Who would have thought that that paper would so soon uphold the power that ever has had, and still has, a dagger at its throat? Who was it that made it possible, with the News, for the author, in 1891, and later, to run the county, than the people who reside in some of the larger cities, who enabled them to receive eight per cent. warrants with bonds at about half that rate of interest?

I take notice that the county is now selling the real estate that once belonged to the good people who were in the golden past well-to-do and contented. I am thinking that if these tax-titles were fought to finish in the higher courts, that many would not stand the test of legality. If Bishop on tax-titles is a guide for an opinion, Gen. Stevens' utterances will remain impressed upon the memory long after the News and its projects have passed to oblivion.
