

WASHINGTON STANDARD
September 16, 1929

METEOLOGICAL

Forecast for the week ending September 22, 1929.
Temperature: 60 to 75.

Country

Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Stokling, of Washington, are visiting in Olympia.
Mrs. E. W. Stocking has returned from a trip to Seattle.

Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Stokling, of Washington, are visiting in Olympia.
Mrs. E. W. Stocking has returned from a trip to Seattle.

Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Stokling, of Washington, are visiting in Olympia.
Mrs. E. W. Stocking has returned from a trip to Seattle.

Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Stokling, of Washington, are visiting in Olympia.
Mrs. E. W. Stocking has returned from a trip to Seattle.

Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Stokling, of Washington, are visiting in Olympia.
Mrs. E. W. Stocking has returned from a trip to Seattle.

Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Stokling, of Washington, are visiting in Olympia.
Mrs. E. W. Stocking has returned from a trip to Seattle.

Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Stokling, of Washington, are visiting in Olympia.
Mrs. E. W. Stocking has returned from a trip to Seattle.

Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Stokling, of Washington, are visiting in Olympia.
Mrs. E. W. Stocking has returned from a trip to Seattle.

Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Stokling, of Washington, are visiting in Olympia.
Mrs. E. W. Stocking has returned from a trip to Seattle.

Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Stokling, of Washington, are visiting in Olympia.
Mrs. E. W. Stocking has returned from a trip to Seattle.

Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Stokling, of Washington, are visiting in Olympia.
Mrs. E. W. Stocking has returned from a trip to Seattle.

Economic determinism, and therefore by reason of these same intricate terms he must make a vigorous defense.

At the next session of the Thurston and Mason county judges, which meets on the 20th inst. in a session of five days, an effort is being made to secure the presence of Dr. Maes of Chicago, author of Maes' History of the United States.

Gov. Hoy, it is said, intends to recommend the Legislature to make a further appropriation to finish the land reclamation project, with a view to its sale for liquidating indebtedness and erect a permanent State house.

Under the law of 1909, jurors for the September term of the Superior Court must be drawn tomorrow (Saturday). Judge Mitchell, prior to his departure, had arranged for a visiting judge to be present and take steps for getting the jury panel.

The State is getting ready to make its semi-annual call for bids to furnish the public institutions with all kinds of supplies for that length of time. The list includes about all the necessities of life, and the contracts let aggregate generally from $150,000 to $200,000 in value.

The twins premium admission tickets at the A.-Y.-P. exposition were repudiated on Pay Street, where nothing but genuine tickets are current. The effort was at once denounced as an attempt to "salt the mine."

The body of Joe Bramb, better known as "French Joe," was found in the bay near Oyster Bay, Wednesday, where he had been drowned probably after returning to his home on that day.

Miss Christensen, bookkeeper of the Olympia Hardware Company, fell into the bay at Tykile's Cove, while boarding a launch for return to this city, by the slipping of a gangway. The water was shallow and no danger was incurred nor inconvenience further than to sit in her wet clothing until she reached home to make a change.

Mr. H. W. Cross, and wife are over this week, visiting their former home and many acquaintances. Mr. H. now enjoys a government office as a reward for his many years of service in upholding the g. o. p., and is the local Nassy of Prosser, which has now by careful nursing become a second-class postoffice.

Miss Janet E. Richards, a lecturer of national reputation, will appear at a date yet to be determined to address the club women of Olympia. It will probably be, however, between August 16th and 23d. The lecture will be held in the club-house, and the subject "The Advancement of Women."

Now comes the announcement from the Attorney General's office that there is no county poll-tax law. On reflection, it seems there was once upon a time, when Olympia had a poll-tax ordinance, the enforcement of which became very unpopular. Considerable money was collected from many unfortunate people under this ordinance which should, according to equity and justice, have been refunded.

It is said by numerous Seattle friends of ex-Chief Justice Hiram E. Hadley, of the Supreme Court of Washington, that one year ago he had an inkling of then approaching scandal concerning a member of the court, and therefore concluded not to be a candidate for re-election. The root scandal is being revived notwithstanding Col. Alden J. Blethen, editor of the Seattle Times, has vouched for the honesty of Root.

It now seems obvious that the Legislature will work their opportunity for all that it is worth during the Schively investigation; in other words that they will endeavor to draw per diem for the forty days of recess and extra mileage, for the whole membership, and worse still to open up general legislation with no definite idea of where it will end. Well may the people exclaim, "From a repetition of such acts, Good Lord deliver us!"

The residence of Herod Wages, at Mud Bay was wholly destroyed by fire, about three o'clock Wednesday morning. A spark from a stove pipe passing through the attic was the fire-trap that originated the flames. Mr. W. was working in the field when the fire was discovered, and so rapid was its progress that but a small portion of the furniture was saved. The family were left without shelter, and are temporarily making their home with their nearest neighbor, Milner McLane.

The Olympia Hardware Co.'s new warehouse, 30 by 90 feet in size, recently completed at the foot of Main street, is a credit to that enterprising firm. It is built with a concrete foundation and enclosed entirely with corrugated iron and so arranged that barges can be brought to the rear door at high tide. The building has a well-constructed balcony for storage of the lighter wares. The place already contains 175 tons of lumber, and will hold several tons of nails, a carload of stoves and numerous other articles.

Seven cars of shingles and bolts were consumed by fire at the burning of the Howell-Hill Mill at Midland, a town not far from Tacoma, Wednesday night. The cars were standing on a spur. An engine was quickly applied on to them, but not before the flames had spread to them and a run was made to a station, but it was impossible to convey the water to the burning cars and the engine was cut loose, and the crew had to watch the cars destroyed without being able to do anything towards extinguishing them. The loss is placed at $20,000.

Tacoma and Olympia, is somewhat significant, just at this time, while the State Legislature is in session, when heretofore such services had been furnished on the initiative of the company without any appeal to the Railroad Commission. If this body can continue such service, well and good, so we shall wait and see what happens regarding the future of this order of our expensive commission.

Farmers who have built a line of telephone to various parts of the country are apparently having some trouble with the Pacific Telephone and Telephone company regarding connection with the switchboard of the city service. All the lines put in by the farmers were built for themselves and they own the instruments. They have been paying 30 cents per month and twelve months in advance, a rate which the city line has doubled, making it $7.20.

At a meeting held Monday night the matter was discussed, putting in an independent central station. The wide cracks from shrinkage on the sections of street laid and finished with wooden blocks, indicate its unfitness for use as a permanent paving material. A crack varying from a quarter to half an inch can be seen all along where the blocks are laid lengthwise with the gutters, and those placed crosswise of the street. The water that will thus flow into the pavement during the five months of winter rain, can but have a detrimental effect upon the material used. These cracks should be filled with tar, pitch, asphalt, or some other kind of resin, to keep out the dampness if nothing more.

An exciting time happened at Mallory hall, Wednesday night, when Miss Lydia Mossberg appeared with a pistol about midnight and stopped the noise of some revelers who were having a dance in the hall, which is contiguous to the rooming department managed by that lady. She complained to the police, that the dancers were unusually boisterous, and the blue-coated gentry requested moderation of their conduct, but it began again soon as his back was turned. Then the lady with the pistol appeared, in protective and rights of the lodgers and gently but determinedly cleared the hall.

T. N. Henry, of Prosser, and wife are over this week, visiting their former home and many acquaintances. Mr. H. now enjoys a government office as a reward for his many years of service in upholding the g. o. p., and is the local Nassy of Prosser, which has now by careful nursing become a second-class postoffice.

Miss Janet E. Richards, a lecturer of national reputation, will appear at a date yet to be determined to address the club women of Olympia. It will probably be, however, between August 16th and 23d. The lecture will be held in the club-house, and the subject "The Advancement of Women."

Now comes the announcement from the Attorney General's office that there is no county poll-tax law. On reflection, it seems there was once upon a time, when Olympia had a poll-tax ordinance, the enforcement of which became very unpopular. Considerable money was collected from many unfortunate people under this ordinance which should, according to equity and justice, have been refunded.

It is said by numerous Seattle friends of ex-Chief Justice Hiram E. Hadley, of the Supreme Court of Washington, that one year ago he had an inkling of then approaching scandal concerning a member of the court, and therefore concluded not to be a candidate for re-election. The root scandal is being revived notwithstanding Col. Alden J. Blethen, editor of the Seattle Times, has vouched for the honesty of Root.

It now seems obvious that the Legislature will work their opportunity for all that it is worth during the Schively investigation; in other words that they will endeavor to draw per diem for the forty days of recess and extra mileage, for the whole membership, and worse still to open up general legislation with no definite idea of where it will end. Well may the people exclaim, "From a repetition of such acts, Good Lord deliver us!"

The residence of Herod Wages, at Mud Bay was wholly destroyed by fire, about three o'clock Wednesday morning. A spark from a stove pipe passing through the attic was the fire-trap that originated the flames. Mr. W. was working in the field when the fire was discovered, and so rapid was its progress that but a small portion of the furniture was saved. The family were left without shelter, and are temporarily making their home with their nearest neighbor, Milner McLane.

The Olympia Hardware Co.'s new warehouse, 30 by 90 feet in size, recently completed at the foot of Main street, is a credit to that enterprising firm. It is built with a concrete foundation and enclosed entirely with corrugated iron and so arranged that barges can be brought to the rear door at high tide. The building has a well-constructed balcony for storage of the lighter wares. The place already contains 175 tons of lumber, and will hold several tons of nails, a carload of stoves and numerous other articles.

Seven cars of shingles and bolts were consumed by fire at the burning of the Howell-Hill Mill at Midland, a town not far from Tacoma, Wednesday night. The cars were standing on a spur. An engine was quickly applied on to them, but not before the flames had spread to them and a run was made to a station, but it was impossible to convey the water to the burning cars and the engine was cut loose, and the crew had to watch the cars destroyed without being able to do anything towards extinguishing them. The loss is placed at $20,000.

The order of the Railroad commission against the Northern Pacific railway company of recent date, for an improved train service between Tacoma and Olympia, is somewhat significant, just at this time, while the State Legislature is in session, when heretofore such services had been furnished on the initiative of the company without any appeal to the Railroad Commission.

Farmers who have built a line of telephone to various parts of the country are apparently having some trouble with the Pacific Telephone and Telephone company regarding connection with the switchboard of the city service. All the lines put in by the farmers were built for themselves and they own the instruments. They have been paying 30 cents per month and twelve months in advance, a rate which the city line has doubled, making it $7.20.

At a meeting held Monday night the matter was discussed, putting in an independent central station. The wide cracks from shrinkage on the sections of street laid and finished with wooden blocks, indicate its unfitness for use as a permanent paving material. A crack varying from a quarter to half an inch can be seen all along where the blocks are laid lengthwise with the gutters, and those placed crosswise of the street.

T. N. Henry, of Prosser, and wife are over this week, visiting their former home and many acquaintances. Mr. H. now enjoys a government office as a reward for his many years of service in upholding the g. o. p., and is the local Nassy of Prosser, which has now by careful nursing become a second-class postoffice.

Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Stokling, of Washington, are visiting in Olympia. Mrs. E. W. Stocking has returned from a trip to Seattle.

Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Stokling, of Washington, are visiting in Olympia. Mrs. E. W. Stocking has returned from a trip to Seattle.

Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Stokling, of Washington, are visiting in Olympia. Mrs. E. W. Stocking has returned from a trip to Seattle.

Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Stokling, of Washington, are visiting in Olympia. Mrs. E. W. Stocking has returned from a trip to Seattle.

Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Stokling, of Washington, are visiting in Olympia. Mrs. E. W. Stocking has returned from a trip to Seattle.

Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Stokling, of Washington, are visiting in Olympia. Mrs. E. W. Stocking has returned from a trip to Seattle.

Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Stokling, of Washington, are visiting in Olympia. Mrs. E. W. Stocking has returned from a trip to Seattle.

Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Stokling, of Washington, are visiting in Olympia. Mrs. E. W. Stocking has returned from a trip to Seattle.

Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Stokling, of Washington, are visiting in Olympia. Mrs. E. W. Stocking has returned from a trip to Seattle.

Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Stokling, of Washington, are visiting in Olympia. Mrs. E. W. Stocking has returned from a trip to Seattle.

Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Stokling, of Washington, are visiting in Olympia. Mrs. E. W. Stocking has returned from a trip to Seattle.

Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Stokling, of Washington, are visiting in Olympia. Mrs. E. W. Stocking has returned from a trip to Seattle.

Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Stokling, of Washington, are visiting in Olympia. Mrs. E. W. Stocking has returned from a trip to Seattle.

Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Stokling, of Washington, are visiting in Olympia. Mrs. E. W. Stocking has returned from a trip to Seattle.

Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Stokling, of Washington, are visiting in Olympia. Mrs. E. W. Stocking has returned from a trip to Seattle.

Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Stokling, of Washington, are visiting in Olympia. Mrs. E. W. Stocking has returned from a trip to Seattle.

THE STANDARD'S SERENADE.

The Olympia band was out on a general serenading expedition, Wednesday night. The main object was to extend this courtesy to Mr. Peter Schmidt and family of Tumwater, by whom they were delightfully entertained with an array of "good things" at Doane's. Between the visit to Tumwater and this banquet the band serenaded the STRAND and the Olympia.

The serenade of the former paper (Mr. Miller, as the Olympia calls him) responded to the courtesy by a few remarks expressing his gratification over the compliment which he thought was wholly due for so many years had for so many years had so much to say in praise of the services of capable music-lovers in providing Olympia with a serviceable band. Even half a century ago, our city had its band, probably the first of the Territory of Washington, excepting the military band at Fort Vancouver, which our people had on many occasions to bring across the country on gala local occasions.

One of these was on a town celebration that was in progress in 1865. The band had just arrived, and was announcing its presence by a growing performance from the balcony of what is now the New England House. All at once it ceased, after a slip of paper had been handed to its leader. The band after a short pause began playing a dirge, after which it was announced that President Lincoln had just been assassinated (April 14th, 1865). This of course changed a season of joy and much anticipated happiness into one of profound sorrow, and the band's engagement involving a total of several hundred dollars, was immediately canceled.

The first citizens' band at the capital, and probably in the State, was organized by Dr. Albert Eggers, a thorough musician on all wind and string instruments, and his little orchestra, in the woods, corner of Adams and Sixth streets, was the band room. He began with three members—the cornet leading, played by himself. This organization was at times augmented to five or six, but was frequently weakened or completely disorganized, by the loss of a member or two from change of residence. At times, as noted, it was unable to respond to the demand for its services.

Mr. Miller thought that the venerated Dr. Eggers had a worthy successor in the present leader of the band, Mr. Davis, who had devoted so many years of his life in what he has made a mission of love for his own musical study and of pride for our people. The band's prospects for permanency now appears to be assured, as the public feeling seems to be more responsive for aid and support than it has ever been before.

ONLY think of our venerable Uncle taking a hand at a game of chance with the deal in his own hands!

THERE are two full moons this month.

SUMMONS.

IN the Superior Court of the State of Washington in and for the County of Thurston.

State of Washington to T. D. Casey, defendant, do hereby notify that the first publication of this summons, to wit, in said county, after the 15th day of August, 1929, and before the above entitled action is brought, the defendant shall appear and answer to the same, and serve a copy of your answer upon the plaintiff, and in case of your failure to do so, the plaintiff may proceed in the premises according to the demand of the complaint which has been filed with the clerk of the court.

IN the Superior Court of the State of Washington in and for the County of Thurston.

Notice to Creditors.

IN the Superior Court of the State of Washington in and for the County of Thurston.

NOTICE TO CREDITORS.

NOTICE TO CREDITORS.

Advertisement for BETTMAN'S clothing. Features an illustration of a boy in a suit and the text: "RIGHT now we ask your special consideration for the largest and finest showing of Boys' clothes ever made." "We want the mothers of this community to think of this store as their store. We seek your confidence on the basis of the well-known Ederheimer-Stein brand we sell and control exclusively in this city." "We wish you to share in the prosperity of this store, and the better bigger values we offer from season to season."

Advertisement for FRANK'S PLACE Bond & Lillard Whisky. Located at 330 Main Street.

Advertisement for ANDERS' PHARMACY. Located at Opposite Court House. Phone 657. Open till 10 p. m.

Advertisement for FROM BABY TO MISS. A. C. STEVENS & COMPANY. "Never has there been such a strong demand for stylish children's shoes to retail at modest prices as at the present time."

Advertisement for RABECK'S MUSIC HOUSE. 413 EAST 4TH STREET - OLYMPIA, WASHINGTON.

Advertisement for KICK! Atherton Bourbon. "If you don't get Atherton Bourbon On sale at THE OXFORD"

Advertisement for REICHEL'S PLACE. 116 WEST FOURTH STREET. C. H. Reichel, Prop.

Advertisement for THE SWEETEST STORY EVER TOLD. A SQUARE DEAL TO ALL.

Advertisement for FROM BABY TO MISS. A. C. STEVENS & COMPANY.

Advertisement for RABECK'S MUSIC HOUSE. 413 EAST 4TH STREET - OLYMPIA, WASHINGTON.

Advertisement for NOW IN SEASON. OLYMPIA BAZAAR. Phone Main 232.

Advertisement for TRY A PACKAGE BAKING POWDER. Only 25 Cents a Package.

Advertisement for Sawyer & Filley. CORNER FOURTH AND MAIN STREETS. BYRON MILLETT, LAWYER. H. N. STICKLINS, FUNERAL DIRECTOR AND EMBALMER.