that Dr. Ridgeway has met all requirements prescribed by law for a State certificate to practice optometry...

Last week, one evening while the family were absent, the residence of Chas. S. Ford, editor of the Echo published on Ole Blum, was entered by burglars and about $500 worth of jewelry, valuable and some money were stolen.

By advice of W. P. Ball, Attorney General, State Treasurer Lewis will refuse to pay $10,000 in warrants issued upon Orlin Hamilton's requisition as Adjutant General of the National Guard.

According to reports, Councilman Mackay after his experience with the Sewardton fill proposition, will not show great anxiety for public improvements on the Eastside.

John Lynch, Sr., has begun an other extensive wood yard on Washington and Second streets, using the public streets and sidewalks for storing his supplies.

Michael L. Potter, 57 years of age, died last Friday, at his home on Frederick street, of the influenza of age. The funeral was held Sunday in the Eastside Chapel of the United Brethren, Rev. E. J. Sechrist officiating and interment was made in Tinawater cemetery.

Miss Josephine Carter, daughter of W. F. Carter, of Tumwater, broke through the ice on Barnes Lake near that place, Sunday, and before she could be rescued had become unconscious. What makes the shock to her system worse is that she was just recovering from pneumonia, and the set-back renders her condition quite serious.

It seems that the election did not settle the policeman jungle between the Mayor and the City Council, and the vote instructed the strikers to pay Gansfield and Herndon the amounts due them by law, which "his honor" denies, despite the fact it is plain.

Mrs. Anna M. Stearns, of Berkeley, Cal., died Wednesday morning, of acute bronchitis, while on a holiday visit to W. F. Barnes and family. She was 58 years of age, and leaves a husband at Berkeley, a daughter in the Philippines and a brother at Bellevue, near Seattle.

One of the elements that conspired to exalt the gubernatorial banquet tendered him by the Olympia Commercial Club, was the excellent music furnished by an orchestra of eight picked performers.

Lawyer Kittle, of Tenino, was before the Superior Court Monday, representing the plaintiff in the case of Peterson vs. Biles. The parties were recently engaged in the hardware business at Tenino, but owing to disagreements Peterson asked for an accounting of assets and dissolution of the partnership.

Victor McNamara won the $20 prize offered by the Commercial club for his slogan, or "triple-mark," as it were, which is "Take the Tip-Olympia." It was awarded in competition with over a hundred very neat phrases, many of which were worthy of an award.

The Olympia says that the new Councilmen were initiated Monday evening, meaning we think "initiated" or are they to be really initiated into "ways that are dark and tricks that are vain"?

The City Treasurer's report at the close of the year shows the indebtedness to be $224,050.79. The special improvement indebtedness amounts to $61,805.35, which is to be paid by the quating property benefit.

Judge Mitchell has granted a permanent injunction against the petition presented by E. S. Burnard, a property-owner affected by the order of the Council requiring him to place a sidewalk at the width of 60 feet of street which it had been reduced from 50 many years ago.

John Berkshire, former proprietor of the Mitchell hotel, now manager of the Donnelly in Tacoma, met with an unusual accident on New Year's day. He was entertaining a party of friends at dinner at the Tacoma hotel, when upon rising from the table, he slipped and fell, striking his right side on a chair.

The Chamber of Commerce elected trustees Tuesday night for the ensuing term, as follows: E. C. Blake, J. M. Wilson, C. H. Springer, G. A. Mottman, C. J. Shastley, F. W. Stocking, A. S. Eaton, E. C. Williams and Edward Leman.

The State Board of Finance has negotiated a loan from the Permanent School Fund, of $200,000, to reimburse the general fund exhausted through the extravagant appropriations of the last Legislature. It is made for 20 years and bears 3 1/2 per cent interest.

Chatham, Chelaris, Johnson, Mason, Pierce, Thurston, Lewis, Covitt, Wabickian, Pacific, Kluckart, Stearns and Clark counties. Gray E. Foster, State geologist of the department, to whom application should be made. His address is Tacoma.

A burglar alarm resulted at the Biaggi residence on Main street between Eighth and Ninth Monday night, when A. DeLeon, a lodger, tried to enter a bedroom and found the door locked against him. The police were called and after some delay a surreptitious attempt was made to force the door open and found that it was held by a loose strip of carpet that had caught under its fastenings and caught under the door, in a way that prevented ingress with ordinary force, causing the alarm.

Postmaster Cavanaugh shows that the increase of business for the past ten years in the Olympia service has been 180 per cent. The receipts for 1909 were $10,540 and for last year $25,500. This gives a forecast for 1910, ten years hence at the same rate of advancement. In 1907, the population was given at 15,000 and today it is estimated at 14,000. Mr. Cavanaugh estimates that the population in 1919 will be 25,000, and that the weight of mail or more of floor space will be required and 250 more employees.

The new Grange Hall at Brighton is to be finally opened for use tomorrow in a program of exercises lasting all day, which includes a banquet dinner, discussion of topics of interest, music, etc. Among the speakers will be Mrs. B. B. Loring, New York, who has been in the Grange work the past forty years. The entertainment will close in the evening with a dance under the management of the "Wild Rose Dance Club," an organization composed of the younger members of the Grange.

Mrs. Ursel H. Hartson received a telegram last Friday, informing her of the death of her sister Miss Sarah Mae, in Buffalo, New York. She had been dangerously ill, and her sister, being dangerously ill, and her sister, being dangerously ill, and her sister, being dangerously ill.

The sudden death of Philip Hiltz, at his home on Eighteenth street at an early hour on Wednesday morning, came as a severe shock to his many friends. He was 40 years of age, and had been seriously ill for a few days. For several years he had been toothless, and it is thought that he died from stomach troubles due to imperfect mastication of food. He was 75 years of age, and had retired from active business in 1905. He was a devoted wife and an adopted daughter, Mrs. C. V. Leach, whose husband is a mail carrier in the local city, and who had a resident of this city well on to forty years, and died respected by all.

The dead body of C. F. Brown, who has lived with his family on a farm, near Tumwater, was found Sunday afternoon in the woods, near from his home, where it had been lying several days and frozen stiff. As he had been in the habit of working in the woods, and he had declared his intention of going to work on the Tuesday previous to the recovery of his body, nothing was thought of his absence until only two of his sons coming upon the spot where he lay while out hunting for game, that the tragedy became known. Two wounds in his head gave token of the manner of his death and a pistol by his side gave more evidence of the cause of his death and intimation that it was self-inflicted. Coroner Bates and Undertaker Sticklin were called and the body was removed to this city, an inquest being deemed unnecessary. The funeral was held Monday afternoon at 2 P. M. at the chapel, and burial made in Masonic cemetery. Recieved leaves a wife and three sons—Grove, Guy and Oscar, all residing with their mother. Mr. Brown made an unsuccessful attempt on his life about ten years ago. He had been for some time complaining of stomach and kidney troubles, and this is probably the cause of his rash act.

THE TEST AT WALLA WALLA. Geopinion, Dec. 21st. Walla Walla has voted by a heavy majority against prohibition. No important, active and interprising city can vote for it. Country villages may do so, but even some of them refuse. It is against the business interest of every city. Whatever is made and sold whatever man want and will have, must be obtainable in every place that aspires to general activity. The mistake of prohibitionists is that all use of liquor is general and wrong. It is not so—though the trade in and use of liquors may be much abused.

But man must be placed on his own responsibility. There is nothing in the world that he may not abuse. But society and government cannot stop the use of a thing because some are likely to abuse it. It is necessary always and everywhere to throw restriction around the liquor trade, and to punish sellers and drinkers who violate reasonable regulations. This is the force of the recent movement against the liquor trade in Oregon. It is reasonable that it will be sustained by the public. In no active or enterprising community, having large variety of interests, will it go to the extent of prohibition. In Washington each municipality is permitted to decide the question for itself. In Oregon the rural districts of every county are permitted to force prohibition on the county towns. This is what has hit Pendleton and other country towns in Oregon terribly hard. Walla Walla thus maintains a great advantage. Oregon's county law will operate steadily to the disadvantage of Oregon and to the help of Washington. A narrow and fanatical spirit never will help any community. It is poor policy to substitute vexation for economy, and the suggestions of a narrow spirit for re-

This association also elected delegates to the Good Roads Convention to be held at Aberdeen on the 21st and 22nd insts.

Peter Cook, who left this place about two years ago, to reside at Huntington, Lincoln county, with Mrs. Ball, his daughter, died New Year's night, of the influenza of age he being nearly 92 years of age. His body was brought to this place for burial arriving on Tuesday. The rites were held at Sticklin's undertaking parlors, Wednesday at 10 A. M. and burial made in Old Fields cemetery. He leaves two daughters and a son, John Cook, who resides in Napa, Cal., and Mrs. Stillwell in Olympia and Mrs. Ball of Huntington. Mr. Cook will be remembered by many old-timers as a resident of this city in bygone days, when he was an active and much-respected citizen of our business life.

Mrs. William Billings has bought one of the most attractive residences in the city, from the fact that it includes a beautiful green-roofed porch, which was occupied by W. R. Whiteside, and passed to Mr. Sticklin as an adjunct of the undertaking business. Mrs. Billings paid $6,000 for the property, but it is said to be worth the price, since as it is the home of the late Mrs. Whiteside, she will remodel the building, retaining part for her daughter and herself and rent the remainder. Mrs. Whiteside, who has conducted the greenhouse for a number of years will probably be seen for some time to teach Mrs. Billings the floral business for which she has a liking and natural aptitude.

James Davis, a student in the State college at Pullman, on a holiday visit to his parents in this city was the victim of a serious mishap Saturday, from an accidental shot while he was out hunting for quail or rifle. How it was discharged he hardly knows. He was packing a suit case, and found it necessary to move the gun. Supposing that he had placed it safely he turned to his work when the gun was discharged, and it appearing therefrom that the bullet had gone through his leg. The physician called states that there will be no need for amputation, but that the boy will be laid up several weeks. It was his intention to pass New Year's day with his sister, Mrs. Dille, in Tacoma, and then join his friends at home for a visit to college. The main grief of the sufferer appears to be that he will necessarily have to fall behind his class in the year's studies.
