be, an illness lasting several weeks. The funeral was held Wednesday afternoon.

Assistant Attorney General McGill has ruled that claims of County Commissioners, for extra services rendered the county must be filed with the clerk of the Superior Court verified by affidavit and allowed by the Judge.

U. S. Judge Hanford has confirmed the sale of the Olympia Gas works to H. H. Hall, of Tacoma Gas Co. Initially, for $50,000. It is said that the mains will be extended and possibly a new site selected for the generating station.

At the annual election of officers of Olympia held at Elks, Monday evening, Thomas E. Connelly was elected Exalted Ruler to succeed Frank M. Houghton, who will retire at the first meeting in April, when the new officers will be installed.

The matter of incorporation of Boda is assuming a bitter turn, and the matter will probably be taken into the courts. It is said to be a contest between the "wets" and the "drys," the former favoring and the latter opposing incorporation.

Gov. Hay and State officers interested in the disputed question regarding jurisdiction in fishing on the Columbia river, met with like officials of Oregon in Portland, Wednesday to decide if possible upon some settlement of the vexed question.

The local spiritualists held a well-attended meeting at the home of Dr. Hall on Quince street, Monday evening. Another meeting will be held at the same place Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock. A permanent organization will be formed on the 31st inst.

Al. Craikshank a clerk in the employ of Mrs. Blanche Chambers, Wednesday, to the hospital Monday to undergo treatment for threatened attack of erysipelas. At latest accounts, it was said his condition, though somewhat annoying, was not serious.

Jennie Smith and Fred. Wincher of Aberdeen and Helen Smith and Dr. William Randall Stroug of Seattle, were united in marriage in this city Wednesday. An odd circumstance is that though the ladies are of the same family name, they were not related.

Harvey J. Woodard is seriously ill from lung trouble at the home of his uncle, Dr. A. B. Woodard, corner of Third and Franklin streets. Before he was taken sick, he had been employed by P. H. Neuffer, the jeweler, for six years. Harvey is a young man of good habits and fine qualities.

Bucoda's attempt to incorporate has again been refused by the County Commissioners, from another defect in the petition as well as alleged want of a sufficient number of petitioners, within the district, 300 being required, a couple of score less than the lawful number having signed.

The Great Hewitt Company appear at the Opera House one week commencing Monday, March 14th, consisting of the Missions, moving pictures and two illustrated singers. The programme is changed each night, only one show lasting two and one-half hours. The prices of admission, gallery, 10c, balance of house, 20c.

Saturday, Sunday and Monday an Aviation meet will be held at "The Meadows," near Seattle, at which Charles L. Hamilton will make one or more flights, if arrangements in progress are completed. Nothing definite has been settled, however, but possibly an excursion from this place will be warranted by Sunday.

A Democrat on the streets of Olympia, accepting a Socialist, remarked, "You claim the trusts are the parents of Socialism. The Socialist said yes, in the process of evolution development, whereupon the Democrat asked him if he were proud of his parentage. If you are, why do you criticize trust methods so severely?"

E. E. Taylor handles the best line of motorcycles and bicycles manufactured. If you are thinking of purchasing a machine don't fail to call at his store, 314 East Fourth street, and see his excellent line. He is local agent for the Excelsior motorcycle, and Bicyclo, Columbia Rambler, Excelsior, Dayton and many other makes of bicycles.

About twenty veterans of the Spanish-American war have organized a local camp with the following officers: Commander, E. A. McClary; Senior Vice Commander, R. E. Eastman; Junior Vice Commander, Wm. Shear; Chaplain, M. J. McGlynn; Adjutant, Thos. McKee; Officer of the Day, Ed. Henderson; Officer of the Guard, Hurry Turner.

The Swatican Development Company has obtained a decree of the Superior Court quieting title in lots 1 to 8 inclusive, of block 1, and lots 1 to 10 inclusive, in block 4, Wheeler's subdivision of lot 11 in Ayer's addition to Olympia. These lots are located near Central street in the southeastern part of the city and the soil is said to be of the finest quality.

George and Lucy Jack, Indians, have filed a claim against James Van Eaton, administrator of the estate of "Old Squatty," also an aborigine, who died some time ago, possessed of considerable means. They claim that he was almost helpless a few months prior to his death, and that it took almost their whole time for 210 days to care for him. Their claims aggregate a little over $800.

Frank LeMoine was committed Monday to the Hospital for the Insane at Steilacoom. He has been working in a tie-camp near Yelm, and he has for some time past been seeing bugs and insects which cause him worry and physical pain, and he has not had sound sleep for weeks. There may possibly be others similarly afflicted who have not yet been officially adjudged to be insane.

Judge Yakey, of Kitsap county, will occupy the bench to try the damage case of Mrs. Ellis, who is suing as guardian ad litem, of her son, William Ellis, for $10,000 from Mills Brothers for allowing dangerous explosives to lie around. Young Ellis had a finger blown off by a dynamite cap left on the grounds of the Governor's mansion a year or more ago. A jury has been secured and the case is now on.

Leopold F. Schmidt, of this city, has bought the Byron hotel at Bellingham for a consideration of $100,000 which he proposes to convert into a fine four-story building, if the local option contest allows the sale of beer. It is made contingent upon this result, from the fact that the contemplated improvement will not pay if the saloons are voted out. The new building, or improvement under consideration will cost from $50,000 to $75,000.

A report is in circulation about the capitol building that the legal practice of Milo A. Root, at Seattle, has a claim for the sum of $55,000, since he resigned from the Supreme bench. Corporation lawyers have had frequent occasion to invoke his assistance for which he has been liberally remunerated. If this report be true, he will have no cause to plead poverty which he was so ready to do when he resigned.

The committee on the part of our citizens for advancing the Olympia-Gray's Harbor canal proposition, suggest that an auditing board be appointed to keep an account of subscriptions to the proposed work in order to intelligently proceed with the undertaking. While the committee favor the enterprise, they will probably insist upon this action as a basis for the benefit of the incorporators of the canal company.

Gov. Hay has issued a call for the Capitol Commission to meet in this city on the 15th inst. The Hon. C. C. Cook will submit his report in detail of the appraised value of the land grant which the Legislature has empowered the Commission to sell and finish the State capitol as originally contemplated.

The many afflicted who were several years ago so notably and benefited from various ailments by Mrs. Emilie Kohlman, by experienced manipulation for chronic diseases, will be glad to know that she will return to this city on the 14th inst., and take up her quarters at the Park Hotel, corner of 1st and Main streets. Apply at waiting room 7, Mrs. Kohlman has since her appearance here a couple of years ago, taken a post-graduate course in Mechnano-Thyapy, from the American college of that name in Chicago, and is therefore, if possible, better qualified than ever for treating all forms of human affliction. Its rules are founded upon common sense. Health depends upon circulation of the blood. When it is perfect, strong and vital, there is freedom from disease. Lack of it is feeble and feeble, health is necessarily poor. Upon this simple principle the system of treatment is founded, and Mrs. Kohlman carries a diploma as a regular practitioner, under its rules of imparting health-life. Remember the date and place, March 14th and Park Hotel, above Ross' drug store, Sixth and Main streets.

J. C. Kleiber, formerly a practicing lawyer in Olympia, who now resides in Spokane, is the author of a book entitled "The Master Spirit." Within the past twenty years Olympia attorneys have occasionally appeared in the literary arena, as authors. Phil Skillman about a dozen years ago wrote a small volume on the "Strange Case of Moses Scott," which was received with favorable consideration by lawyers and Judges throughout the country. Judge P. N. Allen is the author of a neat little volume entitled "The Chronicles of Oldfield," which is said to be written in forcible and unique style, and depicts with accuracy certain phases of Southern life in a small village in the days of slavery.

W. Porter, the attorney of Moses Scott, who is spending the winter at Long Beach, California, is employing his spare time in writing a volume about the live-dead man, which will contain an interesting history of the murder of Mrs. Edna Dunning, and the litigation in the courts of this State which brought his name before the public. It will be of a more serious turn than Skillman's interesting and humorous little volume from which this author received many well merited encomiums.

A MIDNIGHT HORROR. Wednesday about midnight, as the undertaker and his assistant were carrying the dead body of Mrs. Annabelle Farquhar from her habitation on the second floor of the Olympia National Bank building, a pistol shot was heard from the room just vacated and an investigation proved that the husband of the woman, Edward Farquhar, had ended his days by a shot through the head, self-inflicted, that must have caused his instant death.

Undertaker Sticklin had been called by W. W. Scott by request of Farquhar, and when he arrived at the room, the woman was found lying in her underclothing dead in the early nineties. While she was engaged in the wholesale liquor business. The family then consisted of Mr. and Mrs. Botkin and one son. Verily, the way of the transgressor is hard. It seems Mrs. Botkin was infatuated with Mrs. Dunning's husband. The preacher says: "Jealousy is cruel as the grave."

According to biblical records, Moses the meek, preferred to suffer affliction with the people of God rather than enjoy the pleasures of sin for a season. The great law-giver doubtless referred to sins of omission as well as those of commission. Looking over your last year's record, if you are just an ordinary man or woman, holding no official position and are not a beneficiary of our present tax system; are you entirely free from sins of omission in not trying to make conditions better for yourself and loved ones. In our complex system of government, it behooves you to act your part. If you fail to do so you have no just cause for complaint; must share the responsibility be it ever so small. "Drops of water hollow out rocks."

One of our leading business men does not have a good opinion of our laws relating to the collection of debts. He recovered his judgment against an insolvent man in 1891, in the Superior Court, and failed to have his judgment revived, once every six years as the law provided at that time and until the Legislature changed it in 1897, which provides that any judgment shall lapse after six years, and that there can be no revival in such instances. This act, the courts held, did not apply to judgments wherein the causes of action on which they were founded accrued prior to 1897 when the later law went into effect, but that they could legally be kept alive by revivor proceedings under the old law; otherwise they had lapsed beyond redemption.

Jeanette, the 14-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas O'Neill, of Shelton, died at the hospital, Monday evening, after an illness of about four months. Typhoid fever was the immediate cause of her death. Her sister Margaret had died only ten months before, and as it was supposed that tuberculosis might have been the incipient cause of the fever a post-mortem examination was made of the late victim to determine the precise cause for protection of the remaining children. The lungs were found somewhat consolidated but a microscopic examination had not yet been made to determine whether typhoid bacilli were present. This is ascertained from further investigation, extreme precautions will be taken to guard against a development of a malady supposed to be largely of a hereditary nature.

Impressive funeral services were held in the M. E. Church, Tuesday, for Mrs. M. A. Covington, a victim of the "Wellington railroad" strike. It was reported that she had been among the rescued but it proved untrue. She was 79 years of age and had been a resident of this city the past 17 years, and enjoyed the respect and love of all who knew her. Services were conducted by Rev. C. E. Todd, pastor, assisted by Rev. F. S. Pearson, Superintendent of this district, and Rev. Drs. Fletcher and Glass of Seattle. The aged husband and all but one of the seven children were in attendance at the services. The funeral was held in large service in the church and at the grave in Masonic cemetery, and the floral offerings were in keeping with the deep feeling which resulted from the loss of so prominent a victim of the terrible disaster.

Spokane is still threatened by a riot of Labor Unionists.

Seattle is again placed on a "wide open" gauge by the election of H. Gill and his confederates.

The hospitals in Philadelphia are crowded. More than a thousand patients have been cared for within the past 18 days. This number has been lately augmented by the strike.

It was ascertained at Atlanta, the other day, that the auto might attain a speed of a mile in 37.7 seconds, if the chauffeur cared nothing for results—love for heaven or fear of hell.

LOUIS JAMES, the veteran actor, died in Helena, Mont., on the evening of the 5th inst., just as the curtain fell in a performance of Henry VIII. The body was sent to Kansas City for interment.

The present condition of the strike in Philadelphia affords an ironic side to the sentiment embodied in the term "City of Brotherly Love." The excitement, hatred and widespread nature of such movements has never been paralleled, and there has been some intimation that it might become national in its violence.

A WORKSMAN'S publication in Seattle announces that it has information to the effect that the I. W. W.'s have won their fight for free speech in Spokane. Through the efforts of prominent women of that city, the city Council has seen fit to appoint a commission to look after the welfare of female prisoners imprisoned in the city jail.
