W. M. Murray and family are late additions to our townspeople. They will conduct a second-hand store and entertain lodgers in the Green Tree building on Main street.

Allen McKenzie, son of Peter McKenzie, of Mud Bay, was in the city last Wednesday. Allen, after a recent prolonged attack of typhoid fever has nearly recovered his normal strength.

Mrs. Louis Schmidt, of Hope Island, suffered a stroke of paralysis Monday, when by her side was rendered completely useless. She has been suffering for some time from rheumatic pains.

Mrs. Lee Baker holds the record for catching the largest trout taken in Summit Lake. It measured fifteen inches in length. About all the trout caught in this lake average eight inches.

A public meeting is to be held to consider the sinuosities, if any, of the Carlyon franchise ordinance. It seems to be an innocent sort of a document, but it may be a torpedo, and if so, the people want to know it.

Wells, Fargo & Co. Express Company paid into the county treasury, recently, $1,971.40, and the Western Express Company $197.05, the five per cent. of their annual business up to March 31st of the current year.

A number of friends gave a farewell party, Wednesday, in honor of Mrs. C. A. Patnode, who will leave soon to make her home in San Jose, Cal. The party was held at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Joseph Resler.

Samuel R. Stern and E. C. McDonald, Spokane lawyers, were in the city last Tuesday having business before the Supreme court which was in session. Mr. McDonald formerly resided in Olympia, and is the son-in-law of Professor Brintnall.

If you want to see an indignum, individual, interview George Lincoln about his assessment on his two lots in the Carlyon tidal land fill. He thinks that $500 is a heavy assessment, especially as he was informed it would amount to between $50 and $60.

Billy Forbes, Tom Taylor and Dick Helser, each owning an 18-foot launch, have made wagers as to the speed of their respective boats. They will race on Sunday, starting from Percival's dock at 3 P. M., and the course run will be to the lower light post and return.

The Socialists held forth last Saturday evening at Labor temple, corner of Washington and Third streets. The attendance was fair and a discussion was held on the recent Milwaukee school election, in which the Social ticket was defeated by a combination of anti's.

Theodore D. Young, former County Engineer, died yesterday from pneumonia. He was 48 years of age and leaves a wife and daughter and four brothers and one sister. The funeral will be held Monday from the Sticklin chapel, under the auspices of the Old Fellows.

One of the most positive and impressive protests ever made in this city, and in which a large number of taxpayers united, was at the meeting of the City Council, held as a "board of equalization," Wednesday night, to consider the outrageous levy to pay for the Carlyon fill.

Among the late applicants for admission to the bar, lately held in this city, was one woman, Mrs. Noah Shakespeare. Her husband is an attorney at Everett. The examination was conducted by the court at Troy of this city, Joseph Easterday of Tacoma and James B. Murphy of Seattle.

Last Wednesday evening at the Council meeting Byron Millet asked City Attorney Claypool if he claimed that the resolution of ordinance No. 1880 contained any reference to the Stevens avenue fill in District No. 87 (Carlyon fill). The City Attorney answered he did not. This ought to settle the matter.

The W. C. T. U. of this county will hold a meeting to-day. It will be composed of delegates from two unions in this city, and one from Mason county, the Shelton union. Session will be held in the Congregational church. Mrs. Katherine Stone of Seattle, State organizer, is to be one of the speakers.

James I. Murray was in the city the other day. He has about cleaned up his lawsuit with the Whipples. Mr. Murray does not have a very exalted opinion of the Little Rock jurist, Squire Giggy, who fined him $20 for contempt of court, besides losing the cow that Glen Whipple took from him by writ of replevin.

Councilman Geo. H. Funk of the Street Committee, the other day, made a visit upon Sixth and Boundary streets contemplating incidentally local conditions since the recent improvements. He found some spots on behalf of some of the abutting owners because Sixth street is wider than necessary, however, was no fault of the Council or the City Engineer.

At latest accounts Alburts the "hypnotist" languished in the Pierce county jail, unable to pay his fine of $200. It is said the "show" in Olympia netted Alburts $450, but that his father got the cash. The woman, Arzulia, it is said, is trying to pawn her jewelry to enable her to liquidate the fine. Otherwise Alburts will have to stay in jail for 70 days.

Mr. Nathaniel Paschall, representing the Northern Bank and Trust Company of Seattle, would be buyers of Improvement District No. 87 bonds, was in the city yesterday, interviewing contentants as to the local situation. Peters & Powell, Seattle attorneys for this company, are actually investigating the claims of protestants relating to the assessment roll of this district.

Since the grading of East Sixth street Peter McFarlane has improved the look of his premises very perceptibly. The same may be said regarding the property of Charles A. Williston. Before the assessment roll of this district shall be approved Mr. Gottman, a large property owner contiguous to this street, expects to get into litigation with the city. It is also reported the Talcott Bros. are not exactly satisfied with the situation.

The City Council has solved the method of caring for the Women's Rest Room by placing the city library in charge of the Thurston County Educational Club, who have agreed to keep the room open daily for the modest recompense of 45 per month, only a dollar more than it now pays for maintenance of the library. This is a most excellent and economic arrangement as the club agrees to keep charge of the room every day.

A fire was started in Dr. Mann's laboratory, corner of Fifth and Washington streets, Wednesday afternoon, by the sunrays reflected through a high-power magnifying glass communicating flames to a table-cover and thence to a window-curtain, which were discovered by passers who at once called attention of the inmates in another part of the house, where it was soon extinguished. The damage done will scarcely reach $45.

It is reported that the Solor Chemist, Joseph Washington, D. C., has his eye upon Olympia as prospective point for a branch factory. It is a manufacturer of soap, perfumes and other toilet articles. A letter received from R. W. Brown, President of the company, states that a representative thereof will soon look over this field, and that he has no doubt our people may be able to arrive at a mutually advantageous plan for promoting the object.

At a meeting of the lately incorporated Masonic Temple Association, the other evening, Charles E. Claypool was chosen as its President; J. W. Mowell, Vice President; Wm. Nunn, Secretary; Frank G. Biales, Treasurer; and G. J. Lord, Trustee for the bondholders. Work has begun on the new building, which is to cost $25,000. It will stand upon the knoll at the top of the hill where the present building has been located for over half a century, which has been moved to another portion of the lot.

The practical use of the Domestic Science branch of our high school is again put to use in providing "well" dinners and luncheons for visiting educational boards. It is indeed worthy as well as suggestive, if indeed the way to a person's sympathy and conviction is through his stomach. No better method could have been chosen for placing the mind in a friendly and receptive condition when sent upon important missions. One of these luncheons was held the other day, when H. B. Dewey and J. M. Lahue were guests of honor.

Committees of the City Council and Chamber of Commerce and West-side citizens generally, at a meeting held Monday at which it was agreed to recommend that an improvement district be formed and that it be aided by general subscription from the public to enable it to take advantage of the appropriation of $43,000, a balance available in compliance with the condition of erecting bulkheads. The places for dumping the excavations, a matter that has created much discussion for some time, were selected and recommended by the joint committee.

Sible Wolfe has been pardoned by Gov. Hay who was sentenced to a term of from six months to fifteen years in the penitentiary, from Vancouver. The girl when arrested waived trial and confessed to robbery at her employer's home. While in jail waiting to be taken to prison, she was delivered of a child, though nobody suspected her condition. The crime of theft was no doubt due to her distress at the time. The pardon is conditional that she go to the LaSalle Home, Portland, and remain there long as is necessary, and when she finds employment, she is to report once a month to the Superintendent of that institution.

The matter of the eight-foot fence with which the Dear Company has correlated about eight acres of valuable city lots including streets, has since the STANDARD's exposing, evaded very general attention and the demand unquestionably is for the public authorities to rise up and explain why they are sleeping on the city's rights when such an aggressive act shows an intent of grasping the city's property for the general public half a century ago in perpetuity, by Edmund Sylvester, the original owner. The company should be made to show its hand now, when it has obtained use of the land under such an explicit promise of restitution.

One of the most lamentable happenings in church service of this city has been the resignation of Rev. Dr. R. M. Hayes, as pastor of the First Presbyterian Church. The progress of this congregation has been wonderful, under his suggestion and guidance. It has the finest church and best organ, involving a cost of about $30,000, all paid for, and the attendance is and has been quite large, united and harmonious, but the pastor is in need of rest. He is now acting as temporary pastor of the rock he has so long and successfully led in the ways of righteousness. No man leaves more evidence of earnest and steadfast endeavor by works, and none will be followed by more heartfelt prayer for continued power for good.

The Attorney General has been asked to put on his thinking-cap and decide whether a half-breed Indian may legally keep a saloon, and sell as well as buy liquor, especially and specifically prohibited by law. A case is presented at Bucoda, and the case is up for immediate decision. The question is not as easy of adjustment as the one presented to King Solomon of ownership of child, for there is no maternal instinct to interpose the tie of affection. The American half-breed may not care a continental what becomes of the Indian if the judicial knot is cut by the official cleaver. The case is one of interest and will doubtless present an amusing aspect in presentation of some original phases of adroit dodges in interpretation or construction of the law.

Attorney General Tanner is to start a suit in this county, it is said, to force the County Auditor to pay certain high-priced "experts" for overhauling the public accounts for the city to discover any possible discrepancies. The proceeding has been taken of the nature of a graft, from the simple fact that the price charged of eight dollars per day for each of the two accountants, was deemed excessive. This is a case in which the city has raised the question of quo warranto, that although it has been tacitly admitted the State bureau may have authority to impose the cost of that service upon the counties, no such right exists to determine the validity of the act in this particular that the suit will be instituted.

It seems that Mr. George C. Israel has been eminently successful in maintaining his lead in the breeding of fine dogs. South End Sombro, a year-old bull-terrier pup, from his kennels near Tumwater, was the sensation of the show held at Seattle last month, winning five firsts and three cups. Sombro also won out in San Francisco, recently. He is pronounced by experts to be the finest dog ever bred on this coast, or possibly in the United States. He took first prize in the puppy class, novice class, the limit class, the American bred class and the open class. He was the winner in the winners' class and took cups for being the best terrier of any breed and the best puppy of any breed. Mr. Israel is very properly elated over his success, and after exhibiting Sombro at several shows on the Coast, has made arrangements to take him to New York, for exhibition at the international show, June 11th, where it is expected he will maintain his record.

It seems that the dredger people tired of waiting upon the city, its contractors, or its engineer, for taking care of the Moxie Creek water, have concluded to do the work themselves and have driven plank vertically on both sides the big box considerably higher than the surface of the fill and will, it is said, enclose it with decking, making it a flume on top of the original, and for some distance—several hundred feet across the line of waterway. It may not work at all, or it may serve a purpose until the dredger company gets its bill paid for the fill, which is all that is seriously contemplated by the dredger people. It is somewhat attached to by cords, if necessary to give play for vibration. The eccentric-rod was an ingenious combination of wood, iron, tow-string and ingenuity, but it "worked" and turned out many cargoes of lumber, until, like the one-horse shay, it literally all fell to pieces.

Emil Miller, of Seattle, during the present week has been visiting his parents, Mr. and Philip Miller of Olympia, who recently sold their home place down the bay near the city to Mrs. Edith L. Sylvester for four thousand dollars. Mrs. S. and family will soon move into their new home.

This office received a pleasant call from Mr. George H. Himes Wednesday morning, on his return from Aberdeen, where he had been on a visit connected with the gathering of matters of local historic value. He is indefatigable in this endeavor and never misses an opportunity to pin on to the tablets of memory such facts and incidents as may be of interest to future generations. It is a pleasure to review with him your half forgotten reminiscences of long ago. While on his late visit, we think, was settled the mooted question of the place of holding the first school in Olympia. Hitherto David L. Phillips and Bernard Cornelius have each been accredited with having the first teachers, and the old Blinn building, near the corner of Fourth and Columbia, and the old Wood cooper-shop one block farther south on the same street, the places where some residents who still survive recall the memories of an education. Neither are correct. The first teacher was A. W. Moore, afterwards Postmaster and County Auditor, who taught in 1851, in a small building on Columbia and Third streets, on the northeast corner, opposite O'Brien's business block. A single term we believe. Except the writer, we cannot recall a single pupil now alive. Mr. Moore has been dead several years.

The Carlyon Fill Assessment. The people have discovered that it is not a levy upon a proportional cash value of holdings, accurately set forth, but a scheme to secure an aggregate amount from a supercharged district; in other words, making the cloth fit the measure, instead of adapting the fit to the cloth. The result has been that measurement of the fill of each property owner has been magnified to much more than a true amount and the benefits accrued to the city at the expense of the harbor reserve, a deep fill which has been attached to the pro rata of the assessment district although having no right there. Some of the petitioners hold that the levy is illegal, and other respects, and predict that the higher court would so decide, on the ground that it violates so many of the essential requests of a special tax levy, such as due notice, equality and the benefits due to each taxpayer. Attorney Claypool favored a delay to consider all the facts, and if possible, to discover some plan of equitable if not entirely satisfactory action. The present attempt seems to be a fraud from adopting the true facts and intentionally upon padded figures and untrue statements. Everybody is invited to attend the meeting next Monday evening, to which time the board of equalization has adjourned.

The Supreme Court has reversed the finding of the Superior Court regarding the will of Mrs. Anna Mix, who died Jan. 24th, leaving considerable more property to her younger son than her other son and daughter. The appellants alleged that deceased was shown to be of unsound mind for this discrimination, and peculiarities of dress and other acts not in accord with the usual rule of established propriety—in other words she was a suffragist and believed that she possessed some rights of individuality denied by general usage. The Supreme Court says that under these circumstances the lower court was in error in setting aside the will and directs that it be reinstated.

EXTENSION OF TELEGRAPHIC CAPABILITY.—A multiplex telegraph and telephone system has been introduced by the American Telegraph Company, and on a late trial New York and Denver were connected by four copper wires about the size of a lead pencil, over which 16 telegraph operators used the New York and Denver ends of the four large telegraph wires for the news service while the same wires and current sufficed for the simultaneous service of 22 people who were exchanging messages by telephone as well as telegraph, for social and business objects. The same company will soon make a similar trial between New York and San Francisco.

The sentence of Frank Morrow, of Seattle, of from two to seven years, has been affirmed by the Supreme Court. He is guilty of an assault upon a 16-year-old girl. His age is 46 years, at which time of life it is reasonable to suppose that he might have arrived at years of discretion and rectitude.

How COLONY, in Skagit county, has been abolished by act of the Supreme Court, in affirming the finding of the lower court in a suit to quiet title to certain realty. The colony was founded upon Socialistic principles and untenable in practices. This led to appointment of a receiver.

"UNIVERSAL JAPAN is marching on." But with Japan spending forty million dollars for Dreadnoughts and England straightening up her lanyards, it looks more like steaming on, doesn't it?

A DIAMOND weighing 244 carots has been found at Johannesburg, South Africa, which will rank with the leading brilliants of the world.
