A Helpful Spirit Prevails in The Olympia National

No depositor, no matter how small his transactions, need feel that his business is unwelcome or that the officers or employees are too much occupied with big things to answer inquiries and make little dealings satisfactory and profitable to patrons.

There's a reason for every success and the management of the Olympia National believes its success is largely due to the spirit of cheerfulness and helpfulness which has always characterized its policy.

OLYMPIA NATIONAL BANK

expense of the economic vitality of the rest of the country."

It was after that speech was made by Governor Wilson that the New York American, supposed to be supporting the Democratic ticket but which, like its afternoon sister, the Journal, gets mighty all-fired twisted on the tariff, speaking of Roosevelt's New Orleans speech promising protection to the sugar grower, says in its own responsibility:

"The sugar tariff is a sore point with Louisiana growers. They are afraid of the free trade attitude of Governor Wilson."

This is on a party with a recent editorial in the Journal urging the ascertaining of the difference between the cost of production at home and abroad in order that a profit may be guaranteed the domestic manufacturers and producers, almost the wording of the Taft platform.

But getting back to the bulky, lumbering animal with the palmed attorney—there is the Eighth Commandment! The Third Term Candidate has chosen it for his next text for the subtheme of his, the June Republican convention. In the western wilderness his falsetto voice has cried out, "Thou shalt not steal" and lo! the people marveled at his wisdom. He knew the number of it, too—the Eighth.

Senator Ollie M. James once said the Democrats already have done for our country a great deal of good for having put the Republicans in such straits they have gone to reading the Bible. However, in searching that book of Moses, called Exodus, for a text it appears strange that the versatile Third Turner did NOT go just one step farther and choose as a rule to govern at least his own practice the Ninth Commandment, reading in this manner: "Thou shalt not bear false witness against thy neighbor." In this day of modernizing, it may be a stamped Republican does not look upon either a docile Taft Republican or a Democrat as a "neighbor," and therefore feels at liberty to keep the Indian breaking sticks.

As a result of much talk to the effect that Roosevelt is not seriously contending for the presidency this year, but is simply striving to go outrage the Republican party that it will go away and die and permit him to go to the leader of all minor factions and factions of old parties, mainly malcontents, in 1916, a number of people here have been searching the Roosevelt statements daily in the hope of seeing something like this:

"Under no circumstances will I be a candidate for president in 1916. It would be a calamity for me to be."

Monday, Oct. 8	69 31 1.0
Tuesday, Oct. 9	63 29 0.9

Sparks blown from the refuse fire at the end of the carrier towards the mill caused a bad fire at the building of the McCann shingle mill Monday night and might have caused the new industry on the waterfront, which was being put for the quick work of the local fire department. The fire had a good start down in the midst of a pile of wood and sawdust and, though the best of the fire was quickly saved, it was after midnight before the fire was entirely extinguished.

Ira and George Collier, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Collier, spent the week-end with their parents. They are students at the University of Washington.

Mrs. Oliver Nelson has returned from Seattle where she attended the funeral of Mrs. T. C. West, a former resident of Olympia.

Mrs. Sparlock and Mrs. Crawford of this station were in Olympia Wednesday.

Lindley E. Moore returned this week from a short trip to Portland.

C. C. Aspinwall, John Barnes and Dr. Beckett of Seattle, are spending a few days' vacation around Hood's canal hunting and fishing.

Miss Jo Oppenheimer and Mrs. A. Bettman returned Tuesday from a short visit with William Bettman, the local clothier, in Portland. Mr. Bettman recently underwent an operation which was made necessary by an abscess of the ear, and is recovering rapidly.

N. C. Christensen of Butler's Cove was an Olympia visitor Tuesday.

Miss Florence C. Atkins of Nashville, Tenn., a national lecturer for the W. C. T. U. spoke at the Christian church Wednesday night.

Margaret Davis, who spent the last three weeks traveling through California, returned to Olympia this week.

The Ladies' Aid society of the Congregational church met at the home of Mrs. P. M. Troy Wednesday afternoon.

A meeting of the Parent-Teachers' association of the Garfield school was held at the school at 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. T. L. Conant of the West Side has as her guest her mother, Mrs. H. E. Conant of Denver.

G. J. Goodrich, a Yelm merchant whose store was destroyed by fire last week, was in Olympia Monday replenishing his stock. Mr. Goodrich lost all his household effects, the year of his damage being $3,000, unprotected by insurance.

Chief of Police Alex Wright arrested six joyriders Wednesday on complaint of Tenino residents. They will have a hearing before the Tenino Justice of the Peace.

A construction company to complete the big Yelm ditch, the largest irrigation project now under way west of the mountains, was formed at a meeting of the stockholders of the Yelm Irrigation company Wednesday at Yelm. Four miles of the big ditch have been finished and the right of way for the remainder has been cleared.

P. M. Plamondon of Kelso, a former Thurston county teacher, was a business visitor to Olympia Tuesday.

W. E. Howard and wife of Clarkston were Olympia visitors this week.

Mrs. A. C. Baker and two children have returned from a short visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Bowman at Oyster Bay.

The annual convention of the State League of Building & Loan associations began yesterday with about 50 delegates in attendance. An address by State Auditor C. W. Clasen is the principal feature of the two days' program. The delegates last night enjoyed a banquet at the Mitchell hotel.

Incorporation papers for the First Free Methodist church were taken out this week by B. Ensign, D. J. Cone, S. G. Wilson and Cecille Bellinger. The company is a joint stock corporation, with no capital stock.

A stereopticon lecture on Mt. Rainier will be given at the Roosevelt school Saturday night by the Parent-Teachers' association of the school.

Canata music of the best character will be sung at the different intervals this winter by the choir of St. John's Episcopal church, following the hearty reception given to the cantata, "Daughters of Jarius" sung last Sunday evening. Beginning on Sunday evening, also, the music for the evening services will be sung by a vested choir of boys and girls who are under the training by Mrs. Will Anders.

The solo parts in last Sunday's cantata by Stainer were taken by W. M. Ross, tenor; Linus Brewer, basso; and Miss Flora Schlyler, soprano. Mrs. Anders acting as leader and Miss Mary Percival organist. The adult choir plans to sing Gounod's "Galla" on the evening of the first Sunday in December.

How is this for "Indian summer," with just enough of variation to make it enjoyable?

That plundering and even sanguinary piece of legislation, the Payne-Aldrich tariff law, and with a consequent raising of prices, making the cost of living almost intolerable; with monopolistic industries—funny growths of the protective tariff system—advocating for and preferring Syrians, Roumanians, Slovaks and other Southern European laborers, thus making the Republican plea that the protective tariff protects American labor; with a hundred more trusts thriving than existed when Theodore Roosevelt first became president, according to Robert M. La Follette's figures—with these and more unwholesome conditions, sprung as rank weeds from a stagnant pool, there is fore-shadowed this day, just one month from the general election date, a tremendous victory for the Democratic party—the ending of a Republican regime of fifty years, and the dawning of what bids fair to be a gloriously prosperous new era.

Knights of Columbus.
A banquet honoring Columbus Day will be enjoyed by the local Knights of Columbus Saturday night, observing the holiday dedicated to the memory of him who discovered America. The day will be celebrated generally by the Knights all over the country. Arrangements for the local banquet have been in the hands of a committee for some time and an enjoyable evening is anticipated.

At the annual meeting of the lodge Wednesday night, which is the annual meeting of the order in this part of the country, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: John S. Lynch, grand knight; P. J. O'Brien, deputy grand knight; Frank X. Wiltry on the waterfront, which was being put for the quick work of the local fire department. The fire had a good start down in the midst of a pile of wood and sawdust and, though the best of the fire was quickly saved, it was after midnight before the fire was entirely extinguished.

Sixty local Elks expect to go to Raymond on a special train Saturday morning for a rousing, jolly good time at the installation there that night. The local Elks will take along their 22-page banquet menu, which will be served over the Northern Pacific, connecting at Gate 1 o'clock with the Aberdeen train and reaching Raymond at 6:30. The delegation will leave Raymond at 8:00. The round trip rate is $3.60.

Raymond residents have always been known as jolly entertainers and the local Elks anticipate an unusually enjoyable trip. The arrangements for the trip are in charge of a committee composed of C. Will Shaffer, Gordon Mackay and Charles L. Dufault. Mr. Shaffer has been appointed a member of the grand lodge to assist in the ceremonies of installation.

J. Will Lysons, of Seattle, this week presented the Elks with a beautiful energetic membership campaign for the grand lodge convention in Portland last summer. Mr. Lysons is a member of the local lodge and his gift is a material addition to its quota of souvenirs. The grand lodge convention was held at the lodge Monday night.

The officers and members of the Knights of Pythias are conducting an elaborate campaign for the prize for the winning team to be a supper supper. The contest has aroused great rivalry between the teams, which is expected to result in much benefit to the lodge.

A class of 16 candidates took the degrees of the Council of Kadash on Wednesday afternoon and evening, the 19th to 24th being communicated and the 26th being conferred. In full form in the evening. A banquet was served after the ceremonies.

Hayden Consistory No. 4 will confer the 31st and 32nd degrees about 10 o'clock at the local temple on different evenings during the next month.

Olympia lodge of Perfection has elected T. Rockwell as venerable master to fill a vacancy for the unexpired term.

Twenty-five taxpayers of Thurston county filed a petition with the county commissioners this week, asking permission to collect a tax on the county to vote on the establishment of a levy for the support of a library.

The commissioners had included $720 in the budget to extend the term of the city library throughout the country, but later were informed the appropriation was illegal.

A new Winton automobile capable of carrying 16 passengers, has been placed on the run between this city and Tenino. It has side curtains to protect against inclement conditions, also electric lights. It has engine power, rated at 48 horse, and cost $3,000.

Again the Oregon-Washington Railroad company is making a strong bid for taxes and wants the state board of review to show what valuations may not be fixed at $39,707,265, instead of over $48,000,000, established by the board.

One of the most remarkable political incidents connected with local party plans is the instant demand of the Taft men at Rochester to be admitted as members of the female Taft club, by its organizer, Mrs. Kate Young. It was in vain that the protested and declared her inability to accept the object of the organization. She advised a separate club and consolidation afterwards, but that did not suit, and they then besieged her for Taft buttons. Her explanation that they were solely for the use of the women—her supply at least—was not received in the best spirit, and the wound still rankles for the ladies. Robert Eaton and Brown were selected president and secretary of the club.

Real estate in Yelm appears to be passing on a very satisfactory footing. Elizabeth Hewitt, last Wednesday, sold four acres in the suburban district for $2,500, to William Lord, who subsequently transferred it to O. R. Thompson for the same figure.

The Third and lower Main street lots are now about completed, and is ready for its first payment. The work has been much delayed by the failure of down-sound parties to supply the brick. The late improvement was necessitated by the relaying of the street car tracks on Third and Columbia streets, and the rails have been replaced with those of about twice the former weight.

TO THE PEOPLE WHO KNOW: CAN YOU TELL ME?

I would like some information on this race track fair ground proposition. I notice the newspapers are working hard for it, and some very good men seem to work for it also. There is such a great difference between the value returned by the assessor and the price asked that I would like to be the assessor assessed this tract of land at $2,000, and the people are asked to buy it for $30,000. Either the assessor has failed in his duty or something is radically out of joint.

An explanation is in order by somebody that knows the inside parts. Now please tell us:

How much land are the people to get for $30,000? How much of this land is cleared?

What are the improvements worth to the county?

Does the land lay in one body and where is it located? What does this intend to do with it after the county gets it?

WHAT THE OLYMPIA CHAMBER OF COMMERCE IS DOING THESE DAYS

If one thing more than any other was illustrated at the enthusiastic smoker held by the Chamber of Commerce Tuesday evening it was the need of club rooms where the social life of the Chamber could be more freely expressed, in the opinion of those interested in that organization's welfare. The smoker Tuesday was the largest affair of its kind that the Chamber has held for some time and particularly successful, instilling considerably more interest in the Chamber's work.

The success has led the officers of the Chamber to urge any one contemplating erecting an office building in Olympia to consult first with the trustees of the Chamber with the view of arranging one floor to suit the needs of the club in a social and business way. The idea is to obtain for the Chamber quarters designed especially for its use, where it can be maintained to greater advantage.

It is pointed out that, equipped in this way, the club will be in a position to instill even greater interest and to hold forth co-operation among the members, resulting in a consequent increase in the efficiency of its work.

The budgets as fixed by the school board, the city council and the county commissioners, resulting in the determination of the tax levy at 43 mills, have met with the approval of the special tax committee by the Chamber to work with the different officials, according to Secretary H. L. Whiting. The committee was composed of George Draham, E. C. Williamson and Millard Lemon.

SPEAKERS DEBATE

attempting to shift the responsibility that properly belongs on their own shoulders, a responsibility which he said belonged to the home, in the teaching of temperance and right living.

He insisted that no law could be passed to curb or kill an appetite and that the rights of the public officers enforce every law on the state books governing the saloons, assuring them that in that event the problem could be best handled.

In closing he called attention to the amount of revenue derived by the city from the saloons, showed how it was necessary to operate the city government and the results in the crippling of the various city departments that would follow its elimination.

PETER M'KENZIE URGES COUNTY FAIR

Well Known Rancher Believes Demonstration Farm Very Much Needed.

That the sentiment in favor of the purchase of land by the county for a demonstration farm and county fair is almost unanimous in the country districts is made apparent after a series of talks with farmers from different sections of the country. The small amount represented in the additional levy to the individual is a much smaller sum, apparently, than these individuals would have been willing to contribute to a fair fund exclusive of a demonstration farm feature.

"If the proposition to purchase the Carleton tract should carry," said Peter McKenzie of Mud Bay, "and I am in favor of it, it would be possible for the farmers at stated periods to hear lectures on subjects in which they are interested, which would result in educating our people along lines which would be of great advantage to them. The only opposition comes from people who do not understand what the purchase will mean to them, nor are they advised as to what the benefits will be. If it were possible to show each taxpayer just what it will cost him it would be easy to get his influence in favor of the proposition.

"One of our great troubles," said Mr. McKenzie, "is to get our young people interested in farming work, and perhaps the county fair will help to encourage them. I have always been in favor of a county fair and was always ready to contribute to one. There exists a certain feeling between the business men of the city and the people of the farming districts which is not always friendly, and this should not be the case. Our interests are the same and we should be a united family of a divided one. The county fair will help to heal this breach."

Mr. McKenzie is one of the heaviest taxpayers in the farming districts of Thurston county, and has always been known as one of its most enterprising citizens. In talking of the proposal to purchase the Carleton property he stated that so far as he was able he would take up the matter at any gathering of farmers held between this time and the election and earnestly urge it.

Boston Takes First Game.

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—The Boston Americans overcame the New York Yankees by a 3 to 2 victory, before more than 35,000 persons, in the first game of the world's series.

The contest was nip and tuck all the way. The New York's made a thrilling rally in the ninth inning, when they nearly tied the score, but "Smoky Joe" Wood's bewildering speed turned two New York batters back to the bench on strikes for the last two outs, and the Boston's carried off the honors.

TAX LEVY 43 MILLS. ORGAN RECITAL SUNDAY.

Commissioners Reduce Levy Only 3 Mills—Valuations Increased.

The organ recital to be given at the First Presbyterian church next Sunday afternoon by the organist, F. C. Ferlinger, promises to be one of unusual interest to the music lovers of Olympia. One of Mr. Ferlinger's own compositions, a sacred song, is on the program, and will be sung by Mr. G. H. Greenbank, a well known local singer. The melody was composed by Mr. Ferlinger in a remarkably short time—45 minutes—and is said to be particularly pleasing to the ear.

The program for the recital is:

Grand offertory of St. Cecilia, No. 2 Batiste
..... Schubert
By the Sea F. C. Ferlinger
Angel Voices Bid Me Come (sacred song) F. C. Ferlinger
Fantasia Ascher
Meditation Schand
March Pont
