

COUNTY AND STATE CANDIDATES WHOM YOU SHOULD SUPPORT AT THE POLLS NEXT TUESDAY

ELECT J. A. MUNDAY AND GIVE WILSON SUPPORT.

With the election of Woodrow Wilson assured beyond a doubt, every attention is now being paid to obtaining for him a Democratic Congress, one that will be in accord with the administration and will carry out the policies pledged in the Democratic platform.

Locally, this contest settles down to the election of a Democrat to represent the Second district. James A. Munday, of Vancouver, one of the most prominent Democrats of the district, is the party nominee, and if the Second district wants to be on the congressional map with the coming administration, Colonel Munday, as he is known, should be its congressman.

The fact that the district should have a congressman in accord with the views and policies of the national administration is no idle boast. The Republicans of the district have used it as a convincing argument in past campaigns and it applies just as strongly in the present instance as it ever did when they were in power nationally.

ment of national questions, is one of the most public spirited men, and takes the deepest interest in national state improvements. He has had four years of legislative experience in the senate of his native state. He has also served his party effectively canvassing in its behalf whether a candidate or not, and helping to lead for- lorn hopes in its darker hours, having been twice its nominee for superior court judge and once one of its candidates for representative in Congress. He was also a delegate to its national conventions in 1892 and 1912.

NOMINEE FOR INSURANCE OFFICE PRACTICAL MAN

To the Voters and Taxpayers: It is impossible for me to see more than a few people between now and election day so I want to take this means of calling your attention to my candidacy for Insurance Commissioner. Every man, woman and child in this state is vitally interested in this office and should look to the qualifications of the man rather than to his politics when making a choice.

I wish to thank you in advance for your support and whatever effort in my behalf you can see your way clear to render, and in return I promise you and every other voter an honest and fair administration if elected.

HENRY M. WHITE FOR CONGRESSMAN AT-LARGE

State Senator Henry M. White of Bellingham, one of the two Democratic candidates for congressman-at-large, is known as one of the aggressive Democratic leaders of Northwestern Washington as well as a successful lawyer and a highly satisfactory member of the state senate.

STATE'S FIRST LEGAL COUNSEL AGAIN OUT

W. C. Jones of Spokane, the Democratic nominee for attorney general, was the first attorney general of Washington, taking office in October, 1889, and being re-elected for a second term. That he has the qualifications necessary to a proper and satisfactory conduct of the office is easily seen, for a man whose experience in the law traces back to the first days of this state and who in its earliest days interpreted its laws, has a training in the fundamentals of the constitution, both in letter and spirit, it is impossible for a younger man to obtain.

White is a native of West Virginia, 33 years of age. He was educated in the public schools and attended the state university for six years, where he took the law and scientific course. He came to this state in the spring of 1909 and has practiced law in Bellingham continuously since. He was city attorney of Bellingham for five years, and for two years president of the Chamber of Commerce. In 1910 he was elected to the state senate in a district of two Republicans to one Democrat.

CONNOR PROGRESSIVE AND ACTIVE DEMOCRAT

E. O. Connor, of Spokane, is the Democratic candidate for congressman at large. A Connor Campaign club, composed of leading Democrats of Spokane, has been organized, and is actively booming his candidacy. Mr. Connor has been a resident in Spokane for 16 years, and is an able and successful lawyer, prominent and active in public affairs, and one of the best known and popular men in eastern Washington. He was assistant corporation counsel of Spokane, later corporation counsel, and the author of the Municipal Code of Spokane. He is president of the Spokane public library board.

BROWN WILL REDUCE COST TO TAXPAYERS

When a candidate starts out and says the county government is costing too much, a good many people in Thurston county are inclined to agree with him, but the wise ones always want to know where the waste is. J. F. Brown of Little Rock, the Democratic candidate for county commissioner from the Third district, has been making such assertions, and incidentally he has been pointing out several big sources of waste.

These two are the important ways in which the county is spending too much money, not for roads or bridges as roads or bridges, for Mr. Brown believes they are necessary, but in the methods used in their construction. It's the method and not the thing constructed that Mr. Brown finds at fault.

WILSON LEADS INSTITUTE

A straw vote taken during the annual institute of Thurston county teachers at the high school last week, gave Governor Woodrow Wilson, former president of Princeton university, a lead almost double that of his nearest opponent, President Taft.

FIRE FROM AN UNKNOWN CAUSE TOTALLY DESTROYED

Fire from an unknown cause totally destroyed Sunday the home of John Plamondon of Tumwater, adjoining the Carlyon track, causing an estimated damage of $1,000. It is covered by $500 insurance. Plamondon's family consists of his wife and seven small children.

The Enact club held an open meeting at the home of Mrs. E. W. Ross, Main and Twelfth streets, Monday evening, which was attended by a large number of members and their invited guests.

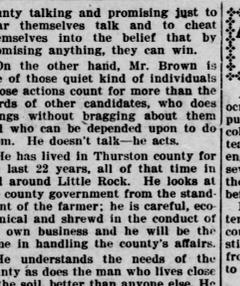

ALBERT SCHOOLEY THE MAN FOR LAND OFFICE

Albert Schooley of Chehalis, Democratic candidate for commissioner of public lands, was educated at Bucknell college, Pennsylvania. He was a teacher for a number of years, then engaged in the mercantile business for several years and was a member of the Pennsylvania legislature one term before coming to Washington.

FROST IS DEMOCRATIC CHOICE FOR JUSTICE

Robert Frost, the Democratic candidate for justice of the peace in Olympia, came to the Coast as a young sailor in 1853, crossed the Columbia river bar on New Year's day, 1856, and set foot on Washington soil at Cathlamet. He was on the brig "Susan Abigail," which he quit later at Portland, Ore.

Whether he has been of value to his community is well spoken by his public as well as business career. For several years he was county coroner, at different times he was a member of the city council, a director in the Capital National bank, and in the Olympia Gas & Electric Light company, later county treasurer for four years, for four years justice of the peace and for five years justice of the peace.

Most of the time he has lived near Little Rock he has been a director of that school district, showing the trust and responsibility his neighbors have in him. He is responsible for the fine new school building now practically completed at Little Rock and has always taken a great interest in school work which means, so far as this would come under his jurisdiction as county commissioner, it will be greeted by a man in hearty sympathy and with great interest in the work.

When you have a chance to vote for that kind of a commissioner, why not do it?

When you have a chance to vote for that kind of a commissioner, why not do it?

Mr. Frost's life has been an eventful one, fraught with many experiences and given in no small measure to the public life of his community. He is fully qualified by experience and training for the position to which he aspires and undoubtedly will be elected.

Here's your ticket and platform. CANDIDATE FOR ALL GOOD-CLOTHES WEARERS PEOPLE'S PARTY. J. E. Dailey & Company. Main & Fourth Streets, Olympia Washington. (THE HOME OF HART SCHAFFNER & MARX CLOTHES) PLATFORM. We, the men of Olympia who believe in dressing well, hereby declare our belief in the undying principle that all men ought to be particular about what they get for their clothes-money.
