HUGGINS SPEAKS OUT

Owner of Lacey Race Track Resents Criticism—Tells Why.

George E. Huggins, owner of the famous old fair grounds and race track at Lacey, resents the criticism of the Lacey track made by members of the Thurston County Fair association, who held the track under lease last season, according to a statement which appeared in a Tacoma newspaper this week.

"This criticism is absolutely and wholly unfounded," he declares. "Under no circumstances or conditions will I allow the Thurston County Fair association to use my track and grounds for fair purposes until the whole association is re-organized."

"The fair was not a success last year. It was managed in an unbusinesslike manner, and after it was over I notified J. V. Huntamer and all concerned that under no conditions would I allow them to ever use the fair grounds again for the purpose of holding a county fair."

The Lacey fair grounds is one of the oldest and best known in the Northwest. Famous horses from all over the Pacific coast were raced on the track when it was known as the Woodlawn course. In recent years it has been used for a training and wintering quarters.

This summer an attempt was made to hold automobile races on the track but because of the heavy dust the races were not staged. The track is considered one of the best in the country, according to the horsemen who have been training on it.

A miscellaneous shower was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Miller Monday evening in honor of Miss Marion Mann, daughter of Mrs. Ada Mann, who is to be married next month to Will Seifert.

WILSON FIRST TO GO THROUGH CANAL

WILL LEAD INTERNATIONAL FLEET AT FORMAL OPENING NEXT SPRING.

President Wilson next March personally will lead the great international fleet of warships from Hampton Roads to Colon, to participate in the formal opening of the Panama canal by passing through on the bridge of the world-famous old battleship Oregon, as leader of the long line of fighting craft of all nations, and then after proceeding northward, enter the Golden Gate at the head of this immense armada and attend the Panama-Pacific exposition at San Francisco.

The president has determined to pay due honor to the exposition by making his advent on the scene at the head of an armada, the like of which the world has never seen. Also he will redeem his long standing promise to Colonel George W. Goethals by not only visiting but formally opening the Panama canal.

Will Ride on Battleship Oregon.

He will make his passage through the waterway on the battleship Oregon, standing shoulder to shoulder with Rear Admiral Charles E. Clark, retired, who captained the ironclad in the famous Spanish war cruise, circumnavigating South America.

On board will also be most of President Wilson's cabinet. The president, according to the present program, many details of which remain to be worked out, will leave Washington for Hampton Roads, accompanied by his official family, on the yacht Mayflower on March 5, 1915. If all goes well, the first vessels of the international fleet should pass through the Golden Gate by April 15, 1915, and the gathering of fighting craft in San Francisco bay, where the other warships will have arrived, will be one of the mightiest ever seen.

Many Nations to Join.

So far nine of the maritime countries have signified their intention to take part in the great naval parade through the canal, and it is certain there will be other participants announced before the end of the year. The countries that already have accepted are the Argentine Republic, Cuba, France, Germany, Great Britain, Italy, Japan, Portugal and Russia.

CAN ISSUE WARRANTS

City Will Not Exceed Debt Limit, Judge Mitchell Rules.

Holding that the specific demands against the city involved in the action brought before him "were included in its last budget, for the meeting of which a levy was made that has been largely collected and the balance due in process of collection, and is an asset of the city", Superior Judge Mitchell has ruled that the issuance of warrants for necessary expenses by the city will be legal and will not exceed the 1 1/2 per cent limit allowed by law.

Involved in the particular action were the warrants ordered drawn for the May payroll and the municipal lighting bill, which were held up by the clerk who contended, in the friendly suit brought to determine the city's financial status, that the city had exceeded its 5 per cent debt limit. Judge Mitchell upholds the city's contention that it has a right to go into debt to 1 1/2 per cent of the taxable property, irrespective of any indebtedness created by popular vote, and says that when all the taxes are paid the city will have enough money to meet its obligations without exceeding the constitutional limit.

Following the decision, City Clerk Holmes issued all warrants except those for the lighting bills and served notice of appeal to the supreme court. This brought forth a message from the mayor to the city council at its meeting Wednesday in which he charged the "old gang," the city clerk, the water company and the "special interests" with combining to embarrass his administration by "dilatatory court proceedings," and recommended that council direct him and the chairman of its current expenses committee "to issue the city's due bills for all services rendered and to be rendered the city without the consent of the city clerk and without his signature, making such due bills redeemable in city warrants at the end of the present vicious litigation and said due bills to bear interest from the date of their issuance until paid."

The council did not act on the recommendation.

A baby boy was born Wednesday morning to Mr. and Mrs. Eagle Freshwater.

WRITER ENVIES FARMER

Says Grower Has Best Chance to Sell His Products.

Declaring that his experience convinces him that the producer stands in the best position to get all the profit there is in his produce because he has access to all markets, M. C. Peterson of Tenino contributes the following article to the discussion of the market question:

"Editor, Washington Standard, "Dear Sir:

"I see in your valuable paper that the farmers are discussing market problems and, being somewhat posted on the subject under discussion, having been in both positions, I will say, in the first place, I think the trouble partly rests with the producer in not being able to distribute his products to the consumer at the proper time to get the best results and in lots of cases does not have the variety to supply the customer.

"Now it is a fact that the grocer has got to have a profit on the stuff he buys from the farmer, because he loses one-third of it before he is able to sell it, and also because he has to carry a very large percentage of his customers for 30 days and more, though he pays the producer cash for his stuff, as a rule.

"I think if our farmers would study the consumers' needs more closely and get their produce to them in the right quantities, they could get more for their produce, provided the consumers can pay cash. It is true, as a matter of fact, that the grocer does not make any money out of the bulk of the farm produce he buys, on account of the facts mentioned above. The writer of this article has tried both sides of this question and in the final analysis it is my conviction that the producer stands in the best position to get all there is in his produce, as he has access to all markets."
