We Have the Goods

We have just replenished every department of this store to overflowing for the summer trade. Never before have we had such a beautiful line of rugs, carpets, linoleums and mattings, while our stock of furniture, brass and iron beds, refrigerators, hammocks, stoves, ranges and Sea Grass furniture has never had its equal in this city.

We especially urge range buyers to inspect the great Monarch range, which has no equal in this country. Examine it—ask us questions, compare and satisfy yourself that it answers every requirement for use in your home. Don't let the "unsight and unseen" policy be your range buying policy. We can demonstrate a dozen features on a Monarch that will save you time, money and work.

Come in and look over our large stock—you will be surprised at the many different new patterns and features which we have to exhibit and we know you will find just what you are looking for.

After many delays, Gustav Stromer, the Tacoma birdman, reached Chehalis at 3:20 Sunday afternoon, making the final lap of his journey from Bucoda in less than 15 minutes. Stromer started from Tacoma Friday afternoon and was to have reached Chehalis within 40 minutes from the time he started. The heat from his engine, however, caused him to alight for a short respite at Yelm, and, while down, the wind sprang up and held him there until Saturday. That afternoon Stromer took to the air again, but when he reached Tenino trouble with one of the spark plugs caused another stop. When this was repaired, more engine trouble was discovered, and Tenino became an all night stop. Sunday morning Stromer started again, but was forced to alight at Bucoda, owing to more engine difficulties. Sunday afternoon the last lap from Bucoda to Chehalis was made.

BOULEVARD.

A Christian Endeavor society has been organized at the Eastside chapel, the following officers being elected: president, Cecil Bolender; first vice president, Ethel Mell; second vice president, Henry Bolender; secretary, Anna Jacobson; treasurer, Chester Harpel; organist, Vera Westover. Committees will be appointed to assist in carrying on the work and they will be announced later. The young people are very enthusiastic over the work of the society. Meetings are held regularly every Wednesday night of each week. This week Ethel Mell was in charge of the meeting, the subject of which was, "Why Should Christians Study the Bible?" The meetings are interesting and well attended.

Commenting on the repairs being made to the courthouse by the commissioners, the Tenino News, having before it the ambition of certain residents of Tenino to have the courthouse moved to that place, said last week:

"How very solicitous for the welfare of the dear taxpayer the board of county commissioners are of a sudden? What business man or corporation, who find that their factory has become inadequate to meet the increased and increasing demands of their business and, who are offered a free site and building material at cost in a place with much better shipping facilities, would first spend a barrel of money in remodeling the old "incommodious" factory only to find that it wouldn't adequately meet the increased business then?"

"The fact is, the commissioners have had a scare thrown into them. They don't want the court house removed from the capital city and are attempting to lull the dear taxpayer to sleep and, when he isn't looking "slip one over" on him. The board needs watching; they're elusive like Pat's flea, when he put his finger on him he wasn't there."

A fine of $5 and costs was paid this week by Sid Smith of Grand Mound after he had pleaded guilty in the local justice court to the charge of assault in the third degree preferred by J. M. Long, who said Smith assaulted him with a stick of wood.

The number of motor vehicle licenses issued during the month of June represented an increase of 41 per cent over the number issued during June, 1913, leading to an estimate that the total number of motor licenses issued this year will be about 40,000 as against 24,148 last year.

PICNIC FOR PIONEERS

"All indications point to the largest attendance we have ever had at a gathering," is what Allen Weir, secretary of the Thurston County Pioneer association, said in response to inquiries about the picnic to be held at Priest Point park next Wednesday, July 15.

The steamer "Nisqually" has been chartered to bring an excursion from Seattle and Tacoma, and private information is to the effect that it will be loaded to capacity. A crowd is also coming from Portland, Oregon, including some pioneers of Thurston county of 1853, and another lot is coming from Yakima county, according to a letter from David Longmire, a member of one of the oldest Thurston county families.

President Mitchell Harris of the local organization has arranged for the services of enough autos to take the crowd down to the park and back free of charge. A feature of the short program will be the singing of a number of old songs in Chinook by Mrs. Laura B. Bartlett, who is herself a pioneer of this vicinity, dating back to 1853. Mrs. Bartlett has recently compiled a neat little booklet containing about 30 old familiar songs and giving their translation in the Chinook jargon.

Everybody and his best girl are invited to the picnic. The dinner will be served at noon.

TODD RUNNING STRONG

Youngest Candidate's Senatorial Campaign Making Good Progress

SEATTLE, July 10.—The following statement about the progress of Hugh Todd's campaign for the Democratic nomination for United States senator was given out at Todd's campaign headquarters today:

"Reports from different sections of the state place Todd to date among the two highest candidates in the number of first choice votes and shows he is leading in several counties on first choice. This condition shows a decided movement recently on the part of Democrats whose minds have not heretofore been made up as to their choice. There has been a large body of Democrats waiting to support for first choice any one of certain candidates the minute that one developed decided strength and it now appears that Todd has reached a fast stride and will be one of the two leaders on first choice voting.

"This is made even more significant on account of the ruling last week by Attorney General Tanner that second choice voting will have to count in the Democratic senatorial contest, as Todd is admittedly the second choice of a large part or the Democrats who for special reasons are for one or the other of the three candidates for first choice. The reports indicate that most partisans of the other candidates want Todd nominated if their particular choice cannot win.

"The certainty that second choice voting will help him has had a tendency to switch many first choice votes to Todd as a strong candidate. So he is not only one of the two highest on first choice votes but is far in the lead of all in second choice votes. This situation is favorable to his nomination and it is freely predicted, even by some supporters of the other three candidates, that it will not surprise them to see Todd, who nearly landed the nomination for governor two years ago, carry off the senatorial nomination on September 8th."

WILL POOL PURCHASES.

Grange Committee to Meet Saturday to Perfect Purchasing Plan.

Members of the executive committee of the Thurston County Pomona Grange will meet in this city Saturday to discuss ways and means of effecting a purchasing organization whereby, it is believed, the farmers by pooling their purchases will be able to obtain their supplies at smaller cost.

According to the tentative plan, only members of the Granges of the county can join the proposed organization. When the details of the plan are perfected, the organization through a purchasing agent will call for bids on various supplies, awarding them to the lowest bidder.

Involved in the plan is the effecting of some form of selling organization to handle the products of the county's farms but at present it is not known how extensively the marketing feature of the plan will be undertaken.

Members of the W. C. T. U. organizations of the city, the Westside and Mud Bay, will join in an all day business meeting and picnic at Priest Point park Friday, one of the features of which will be an address by Miss Mary L. Page, vice president at large of the state W. C. T. U.
