WARD'S LAKE

A feeling of sadness spread over the community last Thursday morning when it was announced that Mrs. D. J. McDonald had passed away. She had been in her usual health and had been seen just a few minutes before. Her father-in-law found her lying unconscious on the floor of the McDonald home and she was removed to a couch and medical aid summoned, but she was beyond recall. The funeral services were held at the home Sunday afternoon, Rev. R. H. Edmonds, pastor of the Congregational church, officiating, and burial was made in the Masonic cemetery. Many beautiful floral tributes being given by relatives and friends. Among the relatives who attended the funeral were H. N. Clark of Richmond Beach, John Noble of Tacoma, Mrs. Flora Finley, Seattle, and Mrs. George Lipsky and Mrs. McDonald's two sisters, Julia and Flora, of Seattle, who had been visiting the family only a week before.

Mrs. McDonald was formerly Charlotte Campbell Palmer and was born in New York City March 24, 1888, being taken when 14 months old and raised by Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Talbot. In June, 1907, she was graduated from Neeham High school and afterwards attended a commercial college for two years, when failing health compelled her to stop school. She came to Olympia in February, 1911, and December 19, 1912, was married to D. J. McDonald. She is survived by her husband, a three-months-old baby, her mother, Mrs. Sarah Palmer, three sisters, Mrs. J. Wessels, Mrs. E. Pike and Mrs. William Richardson of Boston, Mass., and a brother, Alonzo Palmer of Los Angeles, and Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Talbot of Olympia, and many friends.

Can Olympia Do Better?

Everett is in the throes of a water campaign, it being proposed by the "pros" to buy the water plant there at a figure fixed by themselves, and not by the owners of the plant, nor by arbitrators, as we understand it. The present company is laying all new mains and supplying water at reasonable rates. Tacomans, out of an abundance of experience, can say to Everett that if Everett citizens want to pay for their own mains and pay a higher price for water than they now pay; if they want to treble the activities of politicians, enlarge municipal graft and load up with a debt far larger than even the least conservative prophets have predicted, by all means buy a water plant. In this day, with careful state accountants checking up private plants and the state limiting the earnings, a city should think twice before going into the water game. The theory of getting into it is very much more interesting than the practice of getting out of it.—Tacoma News.
