FAIRVIEW

Mr. and Mrs. Nason enjoyed Thanksgiving dinner with J. Benton and family.

A very jolly crowd danced the hours away Saturday evening at the Neighborhood House. An oyster supper, with pie and coffee included, was disposed of at midnight and everyone spent a very pleasant evening.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Brasch and family and Mrs. Brasch's father spent Thanksgiving with Mr. and Mrs. Foy. Howard Benton, Everett Bozarth and Manley Bates attended the Tumwater club dance Wednesday.

Miss Leona Shelley from Olympia spent the week-end with Anna Sallee and Lulu Benton and attended the dance at the Neighborhood House.

Mr. Art Briggs visited at the Benton home Sunday.

Mr. J. Benton and family visited last Friday evening with Mr. Palms and family.

Miss Ramberg and Mrs. R. W. Bates motored to Olympia last Monday on business.

The original Thanksgiving program and dedication exercises planned to take place in the new schoolhouse last Wednesday were prevented on account of the inability of some of the scholars to practice. However, the children who were prepared spoke their pieces and several extras were given by the parents. A very appreciative audience was present.

Miss Ramberg and scholars are planning a splendid entertainment for Christmas. Mr. Goss, county superintendent, and Mrs. Hord, president of the County Parent-Teachers' association, and Miss Smith, city librarian, will be present and will give interesting talks.

Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Bates and sons, Roy Clark and Manley Bates motored to Olympia Friday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. O. G. Bates spent Thanksgiving day in Oakville.

Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Bates and family enjoyed their Thanksgiving dinner with Mr. B. Woodcock and family on the Eastside.

Mrs. O. G. Bates has been detained at Gate by the illness of her sister, Mrs. Taylor.

L. Fay motored to Olympia Monday.

J. Brasch is in Seattle on business. Mr. and Mrs. A. Palms and son and J. Benton and family visited Monday evening with R. W. Bates and family.

Mrs. J. Brasch's father from Tacoma has been visiting her for a few days.

Roy Clark and Anna Sallee visited Miss Shelley in Olympia Thanksgiving day.

BLACK RIVER VALLEY.

Mrs. Harrison and Mrs. Pasie of Centralia are the guests of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Pilcher, at present.

Mr. and Mrs. Spinner entertained in honor of their daughter Lillian, who is attending high school in Olympia, all the young people of Gate Saturday night. A delicious lunch was served and everyone went home feeling that they had been royally entertained.

Mrs. Willett spent a few days in Olympia this week. While there she was the guest of Mrs. James Walker. Laurence Toasley of Olympia was a welcome guest at the home of his aunt, Mrs. Alta Parish, last Sunday night.

Mrs. Christenson and Mrs. Ed Cross were callers at the home of Mrs. Pilcher Wednesday.

Mrs. Eva Childers of Lincoln Creek visited her sister, Mrs. Ada Hunter, last week.

Pearl Odell of Centralia was a caller at the home of Mrs. R. B. Parish last week.

Mrs. Watson gave a Thanksgiving dinner to a host of friends and relatives last Thursday.

Arrangements for a Farmers' Institute to be held in this city all day next Wednesday, in connection with the annual Poultry Show, had to be abandoned the latter part of this week when County Agent O. C. Van Houten, after announcing the Institute as authorized by the extension service directors, learned that the directors, through some misunderstanding, had assigned the instructors to another county next week. There will be no Institute, therefore, but Mrs. Helen Dow Whittaker, head of the poultry department of the State College, who recently inspected several poultry plants in this county, will give a general talk on poultry at a public meeting at the Chamber of Commerce at 1:30 Wednesday afternoon, which every farmer interested in poultry is urged to hear.

New Officers of Oakville Grange.

The Oakville Grange has elected the following officers for the coming year: Frank Leisner, master; William Spuler, overseer; Mrs. B. Thomas, lecturer; Joe Austin, steward; William Thomas, assistant steward; Mrs. Cora Price, chaplain; Charles Olson, treasurer; Bessie Switzer, secretary; Andrew Newton, gatekeeper; Bertha Thomas, Ceres; Mildred Switzer, Pomona; Mrs. Blanche Mowry, Flora, and Ina Forrest, lady assistant steward. A banquet followed the election.

Completing Big Valuations.

Two of the most important valuations ever undertaken by any state are approaching completion at the hands of the public service commission. These are the valuation of all property in this state of the Pacific Telephone & Telegraph company, on which all engineering work and pricing has now been completed, summaries now being in process of preparation, and the Washington Water Power company, the owners of the most extensive power system in the state.

BIG POULTRY SHOW TO OPEN WEDNESDAY

LARGEST AND FINEST DISPLAY OF PURE BRED FOWLS PROMISED NEXT WEEK.

Next Wednesday morning the doors will be thrown open to the public on the largest and finest showing of pure bred fowls ever exhibited in this county, at the annual show of the Olympia Poultry association. In addition to the many fine local birds shown, there will be entries from King, Pierce, Jefferson and Gray's Harbor counties and from several points in Oregon, while a number of birds that won prizes in the great Panama-Pacific poultry show at San Francisco will be in competition here. The show will be held in the Union block, on East Fourth street.

Judge W. M. Coats, who was one of the exposition judges, and who judges at all of the large shows held in the Northwest this year, has been secured to place the awards at Olympia. Entries for the show are coming in fast and all must be in the hands of the secretary by next Monday noon.

The exhibits will be placed Tuesday, and Wednesday morning the doors will be open and judging begins. The association, in an effort to give everyone a chance to visit the show frequently, is selling buttons for 10 cents each, which will be good for admission to the show room at all times. The show will be open both days and evenings until Saturday night and Judge Coats will remain the entire week in order to advise all who desire to consult him on mating and breeding.

In addition to this, the association has arranged for an illustrated lecture on the various breeds of fowls by Mrs. Helen Dow Whitaker, head of the poultry department of the State College, and a talk on "Mating and Judging" by Mr. Coats. Mrs. Whitaker will also address a public meeting at the Chamber of Commerce at 1:30 Wednesday afternoon.

Experts who have seen the cooping to be used by the association pronounce it the finest ever used in this state. The show will be judged by the score-card system and every specimen will receive a card showing what cuts are made. Those who desire to enter birds should get in touch with Thomas P. Horn, the secretary, without delay.

One of the prettiest weddings of the season occurred at the home of David Fleetwood at Lacey at noon Thanksgiving day when his daughter, Edith, became the bride of G. F. Meyer of Delphi, the ceremony being performed by Rev. D. A. Thompson. The Fleetwood home was appropriately decorated for the occasion and the bride was becomingly dressed. Relatives and a few intimate friends witnessed the ceremony and presented the happy couple with many useful gifts. Mr. and Mrs. Meyer left immediately on a honeymoon trip down Sound. They will make their home at Delphi.

Civil War Veterans Passing.
 Board of control reports show the death of 104 old soldiers at the state homes in the last 13 months. Approximately 1,300 veterans; and the wives of many, are registered as members of the two homes and one colony, and 90 per cent of these are Civil War veterans. There are still two Mexican War veterans at the state homes, several veterans of the Indian wars and an increasing proportion of Spanish War veterans.

Chinese Cases Dismissed.
 When a jury in the local superior court Monday gave a verdict of not guilty in the trial of the second Chinaman involved in the Roberts' case, the first having resulted in a disagreement, Prosecuting Attorney Geo. F. Yantis moved that the charges against the other nine be dismissed, saying the evidence, as shown by these two trials, was not sufficient to convict.

Mike Butler, a laborer who was found along the road near Rainier, so afflicted with rheumatism he could not walk further, was brought to St. Peter's hospital Monday by Deputy Sheriff Jack Gifford and lodged there at the county's expense. Butler said he was on his way to Portland.

Some 50 guests were entertained by Chapter Y of the P. E. O. society at a meeting at the executive mansion Monday afternoon, when Mrs. Ernest Lister was hostess and was assisted by Mesdames J. F. Kearney, C. E. Todd, L. B. Faulkner and Curtis Egbert. A feature of the afternoon's program was the playlet, "Fanny Squeers' Tea Party," from Dickens' "Nicholas Nickleby," the parts in which were taken by Mesdames E. M. Allen and H. A. Dittmars and Miss Florence Lister.

T. McLafferty of Tenino was here on business Saturday.

Much sorrow was felt by the entire community Saturday when word was received of the sudden death of Mrs. Lucy Ann Kinsey, lovingly known as Grandma to all her friends. Though well past 83 years of age, Grandma had been well and hearty up to within a few days of the end, when she was stricken with bronchitis. Though she rallied and appeared better, the heart weakened and she peacefully passed away at 5 o'clock November 26, bringing to a close one of the most beautiful Christian lives ever lived. At an early age she united with the Christian church and remained so to the end. Mrs. Kinsey was twice married, her first husband and the father of the surviving children, being Thomas Lease, who was a member of Company I, Fourteenth Kansas volunteers, and who died in Fort Smith, Ark., during the Civil war. Many years later she was married to Jacob Kinsey and moved to Montana in the early eighties, where her second husband died about 10 years later. Mrs. Kinsey leaves here, besides her devoted daughter, Mrs. Naomi Crawford, with whom she has lived for 20 years, a granddaughter, Mrs. L. Anne Bush, and two little great-grandsons, Wilbur and Raymond Bush. The other children are T. B. Lease of Seattle and Mrs. H. Darby of Shelton. There are seven grandchildren and 16 great-grandchildren to miss her love and advice. Funeral services were held from the Crawford home Sunday, at 12:30. Rev. H. S. Champie, pastor of the Christian church of Olympia, reading the service. She was carried to her last resting place by those whom she loved best, her son, T. B. Lease, son-in-law, T. P. Crawford, three grandsons, I. M. Darby, M. E. Darby and Fred Lease of Seattle, and a grandson, D. C. Bush of this place.
