

YOU MUST Buy All the Liberty Bonds You Can

or this war cannot be won. The man who takes only one fifty-dollar bond when he could pay for more, is NOT doing his bit. You must buy YOUR share, whether it is fifty dollars or fifty thousand. We can't all fight in the trenches, but we must fight some way. Buying Liberty Bonds is ONE way.

Your boy was not on the Antilles, the U. S. transport that was sunk last week, but he may be on the next one, unless we help provide strong convoys. Perhaps it will be your nephew or your next door neighbor's boy. Won't YOU feel mean if you have not even bought a bond that would have helped give him the protection he needed?

There are few people in Thurston county who could not buy a bond if they REALLY TRIED. He or she who can and does not buy is just as much a slacker as the fellow who could and should fight, but squirms out of it.

The postoffice will sell bonds on the government plan. If necessary to buy on installments, either of the banks will sell on easy terms, and charge only 4 per cent interest—same as the bonds bear.
