All the time

Breaks up a Cold.
Good for Bronchial
Inflammations.

Mr. Robert McDougall, R. No. 6, Liberty, Indiana, writes:

"I wish to state that I always keep Peruna in the house. I think it is a good medicine to have on hand. If I commence taking a cold, I take Peruna and it breaks it up for me. It is also good for the Bronchial Tubes."

Peruna has served the American people for more than forty years. Those who know its value always have it at hand. Why not you?

WHAT HAPPENED IN OLYMPIA AND STATE TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO

From The Washington Standard for Friday evening, February 10, 1894. Vol. XXXIV. No. 13.

The Lake Washington Canal. Senator Squire is devoting special effort this winter to securing in the rivers and harbors bill an appropriation to begin work on the Lakes Union and Washington canal.

The biggest literary work ever undertaken in the world is the military history of the Civil War in the United States. It was commenced in 1874 and will be completed during the present year.

The original copy of the Declaration of Independence is in danger. It has survived the revolutions of politics and the convulsions of war, but the lapse of time seems to be fading its face and deteriorating its substance. For years it has been on exhibition in the State Department library, but it is to be placed in a tin box and stored in the archives. In lieu of it a fac-simile will be on exhibition.

South Bend is promised a street railway.

Mildred Stanford won the Democrat medal Monday night.

The "chinook" cleared off the snow rapidly Sunday afternoon and night.

A chapter of the Eastern Star will be organized at the Masonic Temple Friday evening next.

Geo. B. Lane will attend the Trans-Mississippi congress at San Francisco as delegates from this city.

It is stated by the internal revenue officers that every Chinaman in Thurston county has complied with the registration law.

County Surveyor Ouellette has reproduced 66 plats for the county. The originals had been used so much that they had become almost worthless.

The feature of the next entertainment to be given by the Elks will be the production of a comic opera, the words and music of which are now being written by S. C. Woodruff.

J. C. Percival, through his attorney, Allen Weir, has filed with the state land commission a petition for a lease covering a portion of the harbor area reserved from sale in front of Olympia. This is the first movement of its kind in the state.

In the current number of the well known pictorial journal, "Once a Week," appears a highly interesting article on "The Life-Saving Service," in which due credit is given to Dr. William A. Newell of this city as the originator of this most humane institution.

Tuesday afternoon word was received in this city that Judge Burke had accepted the position on the capitol commission tendered him by Governor McGraw.

65TH AND 63RD COAST ARTILLERY UNITS DUE SOON

The 65th coast artillery is on its way to Camp Lewis and the 63rd is reported to have embarked from France in press dispatches of recent date.

The 63rd was reported Monday to have left France on the way to the United States, but the name of the transport and which of the Atlantic ports of debarkation had been named as its point of arrival in this country were not given.

The 63rd was more nearly a complete Washington regiment than any similar organization which went to the front, over half of the 1,600 men on the regiment's roster being former members of the coast artillery, Washington National Guard.

Led by Colonel Frederick W. Phipster, the 63rd embarked for France last July. Other regiments, arriving from America later than the 63rd, passed them on the road, as it were, and by one of those incidents of war, they were deprived of the privilege of proving their capability and their bravery on the field of battle. For months the 63rd has been near Brest, France, the point of embarkation, wallowing in the mud and assisting in improving conditions—conditions perhaps the worst of anywhere American troops have been quartered abroad.

Colonel Phipster was detached from the regiment some time ago and assigned to the command of the 39th artillery brigade, including the 62nd, 63rd and 64th regiments, of which he was senior colonel. In command of the 64th, according to most recent reports received here, is Colonel Gibson, a stranger to local military men.

Former coast artillerymen of the national guard of Washington were distributed among three regiments, about half of them going to the 63rd regiment and the others to the 65th and

Contributed by
MISS LOUISE AYER,
Secretary Olympia Chapter.

During the Christmas Roll Call magazine membership was not pressed and consequently we have only about 25 subscribers in the chapter. It is considered by the national organization of so much importance that the magazine should be more widely distributed that a special drive for that purpose is being considered. The Red Cross Magazine is not merely propaganda—it is a first class, finely printed and voluminously illustrated magazine, of standard size, and filled with well written and extremely interesting matter. One dollar in addition to the annual membership is its price.

I wish every neighborhood would subscribe for at least one copy; it could be "passed around" if necessary. If you do not have access to much Red Cross literature you have no idea with how much more enthusiasm and readiness you would do your share of the chapter work if you kept in touch with the great relief that is being afforded suffering people throughout the world by your efforts.

The work of the Red Cross in the future will not be as spectacular and "emotional" as during the war, but the plans being made by the national organization almost stun one with their vastness. If they are to be accomplished the women of America must learn to look upon Red Cross work not as a temporary avocation, but as a part of their regular duties for an indefinite period.

The situation in Poland is considered one of the most critical. The feeding of this country will be done by the Allied governments, but the Red Cross will supply special diet for children and the sick, and will furnish medical help of every nature. Probably a collection of used clothing, such as we have several times sent to Belgium, will be asked for Poland.

We have given $10,000 toward the work of planting trees in the devastated regions of France. It is estimated that 2,000,000 trees will be required to retrieve the ravages of the Huns. We are also furnishing chickens, ducks and geese to the despoiled peasants.

In Italy our Red Cross has taken over one of the thousand-year-old palaces and made it into a soldiers' home. Large quantities of our accumulated stores in France and Italy are to be used in the Balkans. A preliminary survey has been made of all these countries and hundreds of workers are there distributing supplies.

The writer, knowing by experience of the practical common sense of Mount Holyoke College women, was especially interested in reading of their unit in France turning themselves into washerwomen in order to save a shipload of hospital supplies and refugee garments damaged by fire on the passage over. The girls not only rolled up their sleeves and went to work themselves, but they impressed into the service a lot of German prisoners. By these means they washed, dried and repacked thousands of articles, including 565 suits of pajamas which had to be matched out of a great heap.

The following story is published in The Bulletin and well illustrates the saying that a good name is of more value than great riches, or that shibboleth of the business world, "securities":

"Not a cent of American money to be had in Liverpool, and 22,000 American soldiers all wanting American money before they sailed. The workers in the Red Cross 'Dollar Exchange' at Liverpool sat in deep thought. There was no time to get the money from London. "While the others were hesitating, Mrs. Elsee, one of the Red Cross cashiers, tiptoed out, hailed a taxi and took the ferry across the river to Birkenhead. Twenty minutes later a very breathless young lady faced an English bank cashier in Birkenhead. "How much American money have you?" was Mrs. Elsee's greeting.

"In his astonishment the cashier muttered something about $30,000. "I want it all just as quickly as you can give it to me! Hurry up, please," said Mrs. Elsee, impatiently. "Well, what kind of money do you wish to give in exchange, madam, or do you wish to deposit securities for such a large amount?" "I haven't any money to give in exchange, and I didn't have time to bring my securities. I want the money to give to our American soldiers who are leaving." "But, madam," protested the cashier, "we don't give out thirty thousand dollars to every young lady who wants it! I assure you it isn't done."

"'Bother!' replied the little Red Cross worker. 'Don't you understand that I have to have that money and catch the next ferry, which leaves in five minutes. It's for the Red Cross. You know it's all right, for haven't I an honest Red Cross look?'"

"After a brief conference, the banker decided that Mrs. Elsee's Red Cross uniform was good enough security, and 25 minutes later Captain

Kirkover, of Buffalo, the Red Cross commander, and Mrs. Elsee were exchanging the $30,000 for French, English and Italian money, turned in by the homeward-bound boys. "American initiative, coupled with an honest Red Cross look, will do anything," laughed Captain Kirkover, "even to taking $30,000 from an English bank just by signing an I O U."

The Red Cross has kept faith with the people, and the people trust it. Is there not a useful suggestion in this for others who in an emergency need the confidence of the public?

STATE COLLEGE HAS MANY MAIL COURSES

VARIOUS PHASES OF AGRICULTURE IS COVERED BY CORRESPONDENCE INSTRUCTION.

WASHINGTON STATE COLLEGE, PULLMAN.—Newly organized and greatly broadened and intensified correspondence courses in many phases of agriculture are announced by the Extension Service department of the State College, which, following many weeks of preparation and organization of equipment and personnel, now has the new field of teaching on a permanent basis. Responsibility for the instruction will rest upon the members of the college of agriculture, the college of home economics, various science departments and the extension service staff.

The instruction will be given in lessons, of which there may be 12, 24, or 36, according to the subject, 12 lessons constituting a "correspondence credit hour," which is one of the new features of the work. Upon completion of any course in a satisfactory manner, a correspondence certificate will be awarded the student.

Lectures supplied by members of the college faculty, text books, bulletins, illustrated lectures, and a "traveling library" of supplementary texts are among the means of instruction mentioned. Persons may enrol at any time of the year, except in July and August, and it is proposed to carry forward the correspondence teaching till thousands are enrolled in it.

The field to be covered by the correspondence teaching, covers in popularized and practical form, animal husbandry, botany, dairying, farm crops, farm management, home economics, horticulture, insect pests, plant diseases, poultry husbandry, soils, and necessary subdivisions of these.

LIBRARY'S WORK GROWS.
More Books and More Borrowers Added During Past Year.

The city and county library has bought 670 new books during the past year, giving it a total of 3,982 volumes on its shelves, of which 1,160 are juvenile and 2,822 adult fiction and non-fiction, the annual report of the librarian, Miss Satterthwaite, shows.

During the past year 1,297 new borrowers were registered and the total book circulation was 24,744, an increase over the previous year though the library was closed for five weeks by the influenza ban. A general broadening of the library's work and development of its popularity is indicated throughout the report.

Cheap Lumber

Notice Farmers:—

Now is the time to build or repair that barn, chicken-house, garage, pig-pen, or shed, before spring work opens up. We have accumulated during the war period a limited amount of lumber that was not up to Government requirements, which we are offering cheap at this time. This is just the thing for these out buildings, etc.

DON'T CHEAT YOURSELF

It is the easiest thing you can do. It is the thing you will do unless you are constantly careful.

You do it when you do not get the full benefit of all you earn for yourself.

You do it when you lose an hour's opportunity to earn while you have the strength and energy.

And you do it both ways when you fail to safely keep part of what you earn for the chance it will give you to increase your earnings.

The more money you have working for you the less you have to labor as you grow old. The older a savings deposit grows the harder it works.
