FAIRVIEW

Mrs. J. M. Parsons, who has been visiting with her sister and old friends in Seattle, has returned home.

Mrs. Hickman and Miss Minnie Brach were Olympia visitors Thursday.

The county superintendent closed our school last Tuesday for the rest of the week or until there are more of the children able to return to school. Half of the scholars were on the sick list.

Mrs. Feldhusen and son were Olympia visitors last Thursday.

Little Harold Luedecker has been quite ill with an attack of influenza this week but is reported as much improved.

Mr. Walker of Independence has delivered several loads of hay in the neighborhood the last few days. Hope that is no sign that winter is not over, or nearly so.

Pearl Hickman is quite ill. Trust she may have a speedy recovery.

George Lemley, who has been making his home with his sister, Mrs. Luedecker, since the holidays, has gone to spend the week-end with his parents at Vader.

Howard Brach is reported as on the road to recovery after quite a severe illness.

Mrs. Cooper called on Mrs. Luedecker last Tuesday evening. We are very glad to hear that both Mrs. Berg's and Mrs. Hutson's daughters are quite well again.

C. V. Cooper and George Lemley were South Union and Independence visitors last Wednesday.

We are pleased to see Mr. Bossuyt able to drive around again.

Mr. Benton has made a wonderful change in the looks of his place since removing some of the stumps.

Miss Dorothy Lockwood has returned home after spending several days visiting in Tacoma.

M. Hickman made a business trip to Olympia Saturday morning.

Mrs. Lockwood left Thursday for several days' visit with her son and family and old friends in Tacoma.

Mr. and Mrs. Bossuyt and Lester Benton and Eric Johnson were Saturday visitors in Olympia.

Glenn Lockwood and his friend Mr. Wood, who are employed at the Black Lake mill, came home to spend the week-end with the former's parents.

WEST FAIR VIEW

Mr. and Mrs. Bozarth and Mr. and Mrs. Palms and son Andrew surprised Mrs. J. Benton Tuesday evening, it being her birthday.

We are glad to report the Bossuyts well again.

The county nurse called on the Bentsons and Johnsons Monday.

Mr. Bozarth is getting ready for an early garden.

Andrew Palms has been on the sick list for a few days, but is now getting along fine. Both father and mother are now sick, but we hope for a speedy recovery.

Mr. Bossuyt's brother, from Seattle, has been visiting them for a few days.

MUD BAY

Jim Blackwood, who is working for Manly Baker, was home for the Grange anniversary celebration.

George Cook attended the boys' conference banquet at the Methodist church in Olympia Friday evening.

Charles Starr and Dr. Cook were in Olympia Saturday for the meeting of the executive committee of the County Farm Bureau.

C. C. Aspinwall has leased Springbrook ranch.

The anniversary of McLane Grange occurring on a regular meeting night, a celebration was arranged and a large percentage of the membership was present Thursday evening of last week. Talks on interesting subjects of the day furnished the entertainment. A sing, a good social time and a good feed made the evening a great success. We did not have a sumptuous banquet but just a good, old-fashioned farmers' spread, with lots of everything and all the pie we could eat, and everyone seemed fully satisfied.

Donald McInerney started work in Draham's camp Monday.

Work on the Olympic highway makes necessary a detour around by the schoolhouse. Plain signs to show the way to strangers would save much trouble and strong language.

Odah Hueston and daughter Irene have each suffered a relapse from flu.

Mr. Chapman, master, and several members from Alert Grange attended the anniversary celebration of the Grange.

Messrs. Webb and Windspole received the third and fourth degrees at the Grange meeting Thursday.

Mrs. Anna Arnold and family visited in Tacoma Sunday.

Charles Aspinwall saw the basketball game at Montesano Friday evening. Walter Brenner was with the bunch that reached Monte just before the close of the game and stopped all night in a farmer's barn, but reports that "an enjoyable time was had" in spite of trouble.

SCHNEIDERS PRAIRIE

Mrs. Tom Sergeant has recovered from a severe attack of quinsy.

Harry O'Hare and Tom Sergeant were very successful in getting permits for a new road to the schoolhouse and have started work on the road, for which the whole neighborhood is thankful.

Mrs. James O'Hare and Mrs. A. C. Smith drove to Tacoma Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. John Bruitt visited Mr. Burges last week.

Mrs. Tom Sergeant visited at the Whitney home Sunday.

Schneiders Prairie store was closed Sunday, the proprietor, Harry O'Hare, giving a big chicken dinner.

The conference unanimously adopted the following resolutions:

We, the older boy delegates of the Olympia Sectional Conference, wish to make the following declarations by way of appreciation:

We thank Governor and Mrs. Hart, who with all the good people of Olympia have opened their homes to us in so hospitable a manner and made our stay in their city so agreeable with enjoyment of their wholesome fellowship.

We are grateful to the Olympia churches for their cordial invitation to have the conference delegations attend their church and Sunday school services, and especially the United Churches and the First Methodist church for the use of their buildings for conference meetings. Also the local Y. M. C. A., institutional arm of all the churches, which through its splendid staff of secretaries and volunteer workers, took care of a tremendous amount of detail in so efficient a manner.

We express our heartfelt appreciation of the splendid work of the several local committees who performed all those onerous duties which were required to make the conference program run so smoothly.

Our especial gratitude is due to the several conference speakers and adult leaders who, through their able planning, careful preparation, inspiring addresses and untiring effort, have given us so many worthwhile things.

Great credit is due the state committee of the Y. M. C. A. and the Western Washington Sunday School Association for the comprehensive program and efficient promotion of this, the second sectional of six sectional conferences for older boys being held throughout the state this spring.

We wish also to voice our appreciation of the organizations in our home communities under whose auspices we came to this conference as delegates. We pledge to them our services in ideas and actual accomplishment.

We thank God, our Creator, for the great program of His Son Jesus Christ, through whose life, death and resurrection all these other things have been made possible, and we pledge ourselves anew to Him in united service for the accomplishment of His work among men.

ROUSSEAU'S LEAGUE OF NATIONS

In 1761 there was published in England a translation of Jean Jacques Rousseau's "A Project for Perpetual Peace," and it is interesting to turn over the pages of this pamphlet in the light of current discussions. The critic of The Monthly Review, at the time Rousseau's project was published in its English form, has this to say: "A writer who could propose a feasible scheme for this purpose would be the greatest benefactor that ever blessed mankind; and expedients of this sort appear so easy in speculation, that it seems matter of surprise that so desirable an end has not been hitherto effected. The improvement of arts and sciences, which are supposed to polish and refine mankind, seem to have had a quite contrary effect; and lead one to doubt whether the jealousies and rivalship they excite do not, in fact, counterbalance the advantages they produce."

The kernel of Rousseau's scheme is no less than the constitution of a League of Nations. It is well known of course, that Rousseau's writings influenced the founders of the American republic. Is it not also possible that they have had some effect upon a certain student of American history? Listen to Rousseau and note the parallel with the present plan.

"By the first (article of the confederacy to be signed by the powers), the contracting powers shall establish among themselves a perpetual and irrevocable alliance, and shall name the plenipotentiaries to hold a permanent congress in a place appointed, in which all the differences of the contracting parties shall be regulated or determined by arbitration or judgment."

The perpetual alliance is to guarantee the integrity of existing territories in order "suddenly to suppress the source of those contests which are incessantly generating among them." Any ally who breaks the alliance "shall be put to the ban of Europe." Amendments to the constitution of the League may be adopted by a three-fourths majority, but the fundamentals are not to be subject to amendment.

The eighteenth century reviewer points out that there is nothing new in Rousseau's project. Henry IV and his minister, the Duke of Scully, propounded a plan "which is much more full and comprehensive" than this one. On the whole, the reviewer is doubtful of the practicality of the scheme before a great deal of preparatory work has been accomplished. That has now been done and we are about to have an opportunity to see how Rousseau's project will work.—Christian Science Monitor.

The Buick Built Transmission

The sliding gear type of transmission is used on Buick cars because of its strength, convenience and quietness of operation.

Three forward speeds are provided, so that the motor speed with relation to the speed of the rear wheels may be instantly adjusted to meet any conditions that may be encountered, such as putting the car in motion, driving in deep sand, heavy mud, on steep grades or ordinary roads. It requires only a slight movement of the lever to shift the gears.

The speedometer drive is enclosed in the transmission, thus eliminating all toggle joints and gears from the front axle.

All gears run in a bath of oil, the universal joint at the rear of the case being automatically lubricated from the same source, the oil from the transmission case entering the universal joint through the rear bearing.
