Noted Independents for Cox and Roosevelt.

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—There is a growing drift of independents and independent republicans toward Cox and Roosevelt, owing to Senator Harding's now definite opposition to the League of Nations. To support Cox and Roosevelt appears to be the only way in which league sentiment can find expression and effect.

A committee is being formed to crystallize this movement. Among those who have already signified their willingness to join are:

Theodore Marburg, former minister to Belgium under President Taft.

Charles W. Eliot, ex-president of Harvard.

Henry C. King, president of Oberlin college.

Mary E. Woolley, president of Mount Holyoke.

Alexander Graham Bell.

Dr. Harvey Cushing.

Moorfield Storey, Boston, Mass.

James Bronson Reynolds, personal adviser to President Roosevelt.

Caroline Hazard, ex-president of Wellesley.

Rabbi Stephen H. Wise, New York City.

Rev. Henry A. Stimson New York City.

Benj. Ide Wheeler, ex-president University of California.

Prof. Irving Fisher, Yale University.

1920 TOTAL ASSESSED STATE VALUATION $1,179,270,163

Figures on the total assessed valuation of real and personal property including steam roads, electric railways and telegraphs as set by the state board of equalization at its annual meeting last month shows a decided increase over the assessment of 1919. The total assessed valuation for 1920 is $1,179,270,163; 1919, $1,056,502,490; 1918, $1,033,235,764.

State Treasury Balance.

The weekly report of the state treasurer issued Friday shows balances of $5,265,747.16 on hand in the state treasury for the week ending October 16.

The balance for the week ending October 8, was $5,312,966.15 with receipts totaling $328,592.89, which makes a grand total of $5,641,559.04. Warrants issued were $375,811.88, which leaves a balance on hand of $5,265,747.16. The overdrafts for last week are: General fund, $424,947.94; public highway fund, $561,244.60 and the Cheney Normal fund, $4,535.63.

WOODLAND PRODUCTS MAY BE MARKETED COOPERATIVELY

There are ample opportunities for a great number of these cooperative associations for marketing woodland products in all of the woodland sections of the eastern part of the country, where the woodlands on farms aggregated 143,391,568 acres in 1910. To be sure, greater progress in cooperative organization has been made along agricultural lines in the Middle West, and it may be easier to start this new movement in that section. However, the opportunities for usefulness are greater in the Northeast, where there are excellent markets far removed from the virgin timber of the South and Northwest, and where a greater part of the farms are wooded than in many sections of the country.

Machinery for assisting farmers in forming such associations is available in the extension service of the various agricultural colleges, state forestry departments, and the field agents of the Bureau of Markets, United States Department of Agriculture.

Marketing specialists might be employed who not only have had experience in the marketing of lumber and other woodland products, but are good organizers and have a working knowledge of forestry. It would be the chief duty of such a specialist, in cooperation with the county agents, to organize cooperative associations and assist them in carrying on this work. He should devote his efforts at first to two or three counties selected by the county agents as most likely to be interested in this movement.
