by a number of prominent singers of the state house. The singers appeared on each floor of the state house singing a number of well known Christmas carols and hymns. This is the first time such a custom has been carried out in the state house, but it is hoped that each Christmas a band of singers will brighten the halls of the capitol. Sopranos singing were Miss Marjorie and Gladys Holcomb, Mrs. Quin Trotter; altos, Mrs. Viola French and Miss Edna Stanford; tenors, A. M. Kitto and Pat Young; basses, J. S. Chandler and Robert Norton.

EENATI CLUB FROLICS AROUND CHRISTMAS TREE

The Eenati club held its annual Christmas tree frolic Monday evening at the home of Mrs. J. M. Hitt on West Fifteenth street. The rooms were effectively decorated in Christmas motifs. In one corner of the living room stood a large beautifully decorated Christmas tree upon which hung gifts for everyone present, while a bundle of fagots burned in the fire place each member was required to give an anecdote in answer to roll call. During the evening Mrs. M. B. Hayward gave a number of violin selections accompanied by Mrs. A. C. Baker on the piano. Later in the evening dainty refreshments were served. The dining room was prettily decorated in the green and red color scheme. The table was centered with a pretty miniature tree and holly branches. Mrs. George Blankenship cut the ices while Miss Janet Moore poured.

The committee in charge of the party was headed by Mrs. R. Franklin Hart assisted by Miss Janet Moore, Miss Nell Frost, Mrs. James Brewer, Mrs. Clara Van Etten, Mrs. J. W. Foster, Mrs. M. B. Hayward and Mrs. J. M. Hitt. The club's guests for the evening were Mrs. L. B. Farnsworth and Mrs. Ernest A. Seaborg.

KNOX HOTEL GUESTS ENJOY CHRISTMAS PARTY

The annual Christmas party given by Mrs. J. C. Knox for the guests of the Knox hotel was a gala affair of Monday evening. The reception room of the Knox was gaily decorated in Christmas suggestions while the dining room was attractively decorated with red streamers, tea vine, and red Christmas bells. Banked about the walls was a profusion of fir and cedar bough, which transformed the place into a typical woodland bower. At one end of the dining room a large Christmas tree laden with gifts for everyone present stood. Names of each guest in the hotel were drawn last week, the men drawing the women's names and vice versa. Gifts were all inexpensive and funny which created much merriment when opened. Walter Kruger acted as Santa Claus assisted by Miss Farr. Following the distribution of presents dancing was enjoyed.

SAPP HOME AT BORDEAUX SCENE OF PRETTY WEDDING

A pretty home wedding was solemnized Saturday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Sapp of Bordeaux when their daughter Eva became the bride of Arthur Oles of Shelton. The rooms were attractively decorated in the pink and white color scheme. To the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march the bridal party entered the living room which was a bower of green foliage and pink roses. The bride looked charming in a becoming gown of sapphire chiffon velvet with which she carried a large arm bouquet of pink and white rose buds. She was given in marriage by her father. Miss Helen Berry, in a gown of brown georgette, was the bride's only attendant. Little Katherine McQuillin in dainty white organdie, acted as ring bearer. The ceremony was performed by Rev. T. H. Thompson. Following the ceremony a wedding dinner was served with places being laid for Mr. and Mrs. Tietz, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. BLOUSES OF GEORGETTE

Among the new blouses are some that have a short peplum and many that are embroidered with small colored beads. Here is one that combines both these features in the fall styles, and you will notice that its sleeves are three-quarter length and that it has a sash of ribbon that ties with bow and ends at the left side. It is made of dark georgette.

Even before they enter their teens, some little maids are lucky enough to possess a warm, brown coat with a fur collar like that worn by the fortunate young person pictured here. Squirrel or rabbit provides the cozy fur.

FOR WEAR AT SCHOOL

For wear at school, or wherever regular service is required, little girls are provided with pretty but plain frocks, simply decorated. Here is one made of velours and trimmed with a little needlework in long and short stitches and embroidered daisies, about the lower edge of the bodice. The plain skirt is gathered in to the waist. Dresses of this kind are made in dark colors, with the stitchery in contrasting shades.

HATS FOR STREET WEAR

If all the hats made of velvet, duvety or brocade, and garnished with embroidery, were withdrawn from millinery displays, one wonders what would be left. But no such disaster is threatened and we are allowed to enjoy street hats like those shown here, one of velvet in two colors with up-turned brim, one of velvet and broad-clothed silk dangling a gorgeous tassel, and one of duvety—silk embroidered.
