SOUTH BAY SCHOOL

CHILDREN THRIVE ON NUTRITION PROGRAM

Two Months' Experiment Shows Gratifying Results From Scientific Method

Due to the nutrition program conducted in the South Bay school under the direction of Mrs. Donald Bennett, nutrition project leader, and W. G. Miller, principal, the children who were underweight are rapidly reaching their normal status, according to Miss Ruth Kennedy, home demonstration agent. Work of weighing the school children was started in February when it was found that 21 per cent were 7 per cent or more underweight.

The weighing has been continued regularly since and the most recent figures show that at the present time only 9.1 per cent of the children are 7 per cent underweight. One boy who was 7 per cent underweight in February has gained until he is now only 2 1/2 per cent. Another boy who was 9 per cent underweight is now only 3 per cent. A girl who was 7.3 pounds below standard has gained until she is only three-fourths of a pound underweight.

The cause of the underweight condition has not been due to lack of food, but to the fact that children were given food which consumed too much energy in the process of digestion, according to Miss Kennedy. The children are urged to eat hot cakes for breakfast, drink plenty of milk, and rest at recess.

JAPAN MAY LOSE MANDATE OUTRIGHT

Drastic Stand Taken Over Island of Yap Strengthens Hughes in Negotiations

By A. L. BRADFORD. WASHINGTON, D. C., April 20.—Japan may lose outright her mandate over the island of Yap because of the drastic stand she has taken in the negotiations with the United States, it has developed here.

The correspondence over Yap, as given out by the state department, shows that the proposals that the "open shop" be applied to Yap, was first made in a note from this government on December 6. Had Japan agreed to this, the Wilson administration might reluctantly have agreed to the Japanese mandate.

Japan, however, summarily rejected it.

Yap Was German Territory. Now Secretary of State Hughes has taken the position that Yap is one of the territories taken from Germany; that the United States as one of the victors must have a choice in disposal of such territories and that she has had no voice in the Yap matter. Hughes will not recede from this stand, which disposes of all compromise proposals. Hughes, it is known, has been assured of the Senate's support in his stand.

The American position is strengthened by the fact that the allies want America to participate in some of the features of the treaty of Versailles, the German reparations question being one. This government will not participate, however, until the contentions of the Hughes mandate note are met.

BRITISH FOOD MINISTRY HAD PROFIT BALANCE

By AUSTIN WEST. LONDON. (By Mail.)—The Ministry of food ceased to exist March 31, but although many attacks have been made on the government for the continuance of control so long after the war, the critics have not been slow to praise the excellent work done by this department.

Due largely to the energy of the late Lord Rhondda, the food ministry proved to be the greatest trading organization which had ever existed in any country. In its five years existence, the ministry handled goods to the enormous value of 1,200,000,000 pounds sterling, exclusive of wheat and sugar which, although nominally

PROHIBITION IS FACTOR IN COMING IRISH ELECTION

By CHAS. McCANN. DUBLIN. (By Mail.)—Prohibition is the issue which is forcing Sinn Feiners and Irish Nationalists in the north of Ireland to get together on common ground and probably ultimately will cause them to sit in the Ulster parliament.

While the south of Ireland, solidly Sinn Fein, has repeatedly rejected Lloyd George's dual parliament scheme, the Irish Nationalists and Sinn Feiners in the six counties have been unable to decide upon a policy.

Within the past few days, however, the leaders of these two wings of the Irish Catholics in Ulster have gotten together and decided to participate in the elections, to be held in May. Both factions have agreed to advance an equal number of candidates, who are to have mutual support. The Sinn Fein candidate in the preponderantly Sinn Fein district is to get the combined vote of the Nationalist, while the Nationalist candidate in another district is to get vote of both the Nationalist and Sinn Fein. In this way, the Catholics hope to make a sufficient manifestation of their strength in "Carsonia," as Ulster is dubbed by the rest of Ireland, to impress the Orangemen as well as the government in London.

Up until the present, however, both Nationalists and Sinn Feiners, if elected, have pledged themselves not to take their seats.
