

The Deacon's Wooing.

The sun had disappeared behind the hills of New Bethany and the lingering light on the mountain tops was changing from rose to purple when Deacon Finch stopped his melancholy old mare in front of the village post office. It was Saturday night, the only time when New Bethany roused itself from its lethargy and showed any signs of life and energy.

"Whoa, Mary Jane!" said the deacon, with unnecessary emphasis, throwing the reins on the mare's broad back, and springing to the ground. But the despondent Mary Jane had already ceased her shambling gait from sheer force of habit. A ten years' service with the deacon had made her perfectly familiar with the accustomed round of stopping places.

"I'm not going to be any more than a witness to the wedding," said the deacon, with unnecessary emphasis, throwing the reins on the mare's broad back, and springing to the ground. But the despondent Mary Jane had already ceased her shambling gait from sheer force of habit.

The Congo River of To-Day.

From an article under the above title in the February Century, by one of Stanley's former officers, we quote the following: "On the Congo there are no beasts of burden, there existing merely a manual transport, the porters being the natives of the Bakongo tribe, inhabiting the catarrh regions. In physique these men are slight and only poorly developed; but the fact of their carrying on their head from sixty to one hundred pounds' twenty miles a day for sometimes six consecutive days, their only food being each day a little manioc root, an ear of two of maize, or a handful of peanuts, pronounces them at once as men of singularly sound stamina.

Throughout the catarrh region the general accepted money currency is Manchester cotton cloth made up into pieces of six yards each. The European cost of the cloth paid to these natives for transporting a load to Stanley Pool from Matadi, including rations, amounts at the present day to five dollars a load of sixty-five pounds. Five years ago the cost was only one-third of this amount; but it has increased on account of the opposition of the various trading houses that have established stations at Stanley Pool for the ivory trade on the upper river.

MAGNETIC HEALING APPLIANCE.—The most careful experiments have shown that the human body is as completely insensitive to magnetism as and as wholly unaffected by it as a piece of rubber or of wood. A person may stand between the poles of the strongest magnet, one which might hold up a ton of iron, without the slightest perceptible effect upon any of the bodily functions being produced.

The good woman followed her crestfallen visitor to the door. As a sudden gust of cold night air put out the light, she said: "The air is snapping to-night; have a frost, eh, deacon?" And the discomfited deacon felt that he had been nipped by something sharper than a frost.—Lippincott's Magazine.

Doing One's Best. It is a dangerous experiment to measure your work by the compensation you expect to receive for it. This is a common error with young adventurers of both sexes who have to leave home and go out into the world to make a living for themselves.

THE MOUND BUILDERS A MYTH.—Man has dwelt in the United States for unnumbered years but so far as we yet know, only during the latter half of Pleistocene time. There are no evidences of races of people occupying the country anterior to the Indian tribes. The great labor that has been spent in maintaining organizations, in making excavations, and in writing books to show that there was a race of Mound Builders before the Indians, has almost made it a matter of common belief that such a race existed, whereas there is no scientific proof of it, but, on the contrary, satisfactory evidence that the North American Indians themselves built all the mounds and all the villages, and that there was nothing in any of them to show any higher stage of civilization than we know that the Indians possessed.

Earnest efforts to secure ballot-reform laws will be put forth in New Jersey and Maryland, as well as in New York, this winter. Probably other states which do not yet enjoy this blessing will be heard from later on. Unfortunately, in the three States mentioned, the prospects are by no means as bright as could be desired.

Do not be afraid that the world will not find you out, for you are the one for whom the most diligent search is now being made and whose service will be sure of a rich reward. Faithful earnest effort in a good cause, however lowly or menial it may be, is never performed in vain, for though its recompense may not be worldly applause or pecuniary profit there is ever a warm glow and spiritual exaltation in the thought one has done his best, and this consciousness is "more to be desired than gold, yea, than much fine gold."—Baltimorean.

A dispatch from Woonsocket, Da., says the flow from the great Arctesian well has been brought under subjection. A lake covering about forty acres has been found in the lower part of the town on some vacant lots. A dense fog is constantly rising from the warm water. Numbers of bars and walks are flooded. Half the pressure is now turned on, and water runs through a six-inch pipe, and throws a solid stream 150 feet. Arctesian experts say the well is one of the most powerful in the world.

A German Trust Song.

Just as God leads me I would go; I would not ask to choose my way, Content with what he will bestow. Answered he will not let me stray. So as he leads, my path I take, And step by step I gladly make.

Just as God leads me I will resign; I trust me to my Father's will; When reason's rays deceive the mind, His council would I yet fulfill. That which his love ordained as right Before he brought me to the light— My all to him resigning.

Just as God leads me I shall be; In faith, in love, in suffering true, His strength is ever by my side; Can I not hold my hold on his? I hold me firm in patient knowing That God his life is still bestowing. The best in kindness sending.

Just as God leads me I would go; I would not ask to choose my way, Content with what he will bestow. Answered he will not let me stray. So as he leads, my path I take, And step by step I gladly make.

Just as God leads me I will resign; I trust me to my Father's will; When reason's rays deceive the mind, His council would I yet fulfill. That which his love ordained as right Before he brought me to the light— My all to him resigning.

Catarrh

It is a blood disease. Until the poison is expelled from the system, there can be no cure for this fourfold and dangerous malady. Therefore, the only effective treatment is a thorough course of Ayer's Sarsaparilla—the best of all blood purifiers. This purifier you begin the better; delay is dangerous.

"I was troubled with catarrh for over two years. I tried various remedies, and was treated by a number of doctors, but received no benefit until I began to take Ayer's Sarsaparilla. A few bottles of this medicine cured me of this troublesome complaint and completely restored my health."—Jesse M. Boggs, Holman's Mills, N. C.

"When Ayer's Sarsaparilla was recommended to me for catarrh, I was inclined to doubt its efficacy. Having tried so many remedies, with little benefit, I had no faith that anything would cure me. I became emaciated from loss of appetite and impaired digestion. I had nearly lost the sense of smell, and my system was badly deranged. I was almost despondent, when a friend advised me to try Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and I referred me to persons whom it had cured of catarrh. After taking half a dozen bottles of this medicine, I am convinced that the only sure way of eradicating this chronic disease is through the blood."—Charles H. Maloney, 125 River St., Lowell, Mass.

"I have been afflicted with Catarrh of the eye for several years. I have tried many remedies, but received no benefit until I began to use Ayer's Sarsaparilla. It has completely cured me, and I feel as well as ever."—Mrs. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.
