Comment on Runaway Pond.

Mr. Editor:—A cousin of mine, Mrs. Mary R. Morrill, of your town recently sent me three copies of your paper, in which I was very much interested.

One contained the address of Hon. Mr. Baldwin on the one hundredth anniversary of the escape of the waters of Runaway Pond.

I possess not only a general interest in the subject, but also special interest, from the fact that I am a descendant of one of the actors in the work done at Long Pond, one hundred years ago. Samuel Bean of Sheffield was my grandfather.

He was one of those who were prosecuted by Blodgett for the loss of the sawmill. I don't know that I ever heard him speak of his experiences in the matter and what I know of them came through my father, Hiram Bean. I will first speak of the lawsuit. Grandfather said they offered to pay all they thought the lost property was worth but they could not come to terms and the lawsuit was on. He said it was finally settled by the decision of the judge; and his conclusion was the same as that arrived at by Mr. Baldwin one hundred years later, viz: that it was a good thing that the waters were let out when they were; for if they had been allowed to remain pent up till its path to the lake should be studded with farms and villages, the waters would sometime have broken loose and then the destruction of life and property would have been incalculable. Therefore he decided that Mr. Blodgett was entitled to no damages for the loss of his property.

It cost grandfather the price of three sheep to pay his part of the costs, such as lawyer's fees etc.

I had always supposed that this decision was made in court; but from the court records as brought out by Mr. Baldwin, I am now of the opinion that the decision was made by the judge as an arbitrator by agreement between the parties. Father thought that the runner, mentioned by all, was the keeper of the gristmill whose family was imperiled, but the suggestion of the speaker that Chamberlain may have out-run him is a good one.

Among other incidents grandfather spoke of the same phenomenon of the moving of standing trees that was mentioned by the speaker. He said as much as a quarter of an acre of timber would move off with the trees all standing; after gliding down a short distance would commence falling in every direction and would be quickly engulfed by the raging waters.

He said one man was leaning against a tree watching the water when some one told him that was not a safe place. He stepped back just in time to be saved from being swept away. But perhaps I have said enough so I will close.

Yours respectfully
Levi Bean.

His clothing caught in a set screw causing him to make several revolutions with the shaft, only being released when the clothing was all stripped from his body. He has no broken bones and the physician thinks he will probably recover.

Reunion of Anderson Family in Glover.

Saturday was a day long to be remembered by members of the Anderson family, who gathered from far and near for their family reunion and to meet William Anderson of Burwell, Neb., who has been visiting here. The meeting was held at Irving Anderson's in Glover and fully eighty were present. The day was an ideal one, which served to make this memorable occasion more pleasant. Long tables were set under the trees in the orchard and they were loaded with good things too numerous to mention. All did ample justice to the bountiful repast. The children amused themselves by playing games while the older ones told stories and reminiscences. Rev. Mr. MacFarlane formerly of Philadelphia, now pastor of the R. P. church of East Craftsbury was present and offered prayer. All enjoyed the musical part of the program. Mrs. Armour Anderson presided at the organ and she was accompanied by her son, Clyde Anderson, and her brother, Winnie Patterson, on their violins. The selections on the phonograph were also appreciated.

It might be of interest to note that Mrs. Belle Rowell was the oldest and the little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Anderson of East Craftsbury was the youngest.

Besides those from Albany and Glover there were Mrs. Helen Esden and family and Miss Lois Gebbie of Greensboro. Mrs. Thomas Orne and son Glendon of Green's Corners, Mrs. F. A. Buchanan and son Paul of Irasburg, Robert Anderson and family, James Anderson and family of Craftsbury, and Mr. Powers and daughter Grace of Lowell. A picture of the group was taken by John Wylie of Greensboro. William Anderson on account of ill health expects to leave soon for his western home.

Bretton Woods, N. H., Friday for the summer. Slayton Lang will go there also a little later.

Mrs. George Goodro was called to North Troy Friday by the illness of her mother but returned Sunday owing to the sickness of her son Willard, who sustained injuries from a fall.

Parker Barrows is in great demand to play ball in the various places in this vicinity and we never hear of his disappointing the team for which he plays, either behind the bat or with the stick.

The following letters remain uncalled for at the postoffice. Please say advertised when calling for these letters: Fred L. Atwell, W. Brenham, J. C. Blarney, Mrs. E. G. Ford, P. Gladett, Jennie G. Rossain.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Goodnoh of Detroit, Mich., are spending a week with Mr. Goodnoh's sister, Mrs. J. N. Webster. Mr. Goodnoh came east to attend the great educational meeting in Boston.

The G. H. Davis company received two carloads of "Flanders' 20" cars yesterday, a number of which are sold. They certainly appear like an excellent machine and appeal to the eye of many who have the fever.

We, the undersigned, desire to express our thanks to all the neighbors and friends, who so kindly assisted during the sickness, death and burial of our beloved child.

Mr. and Mrs. James Revoir.

Extensive Farming at Speedwell.

A recent issue of the Lyndonville Journal speaks of the doings at the great Speedwell farms near Lyndonville belonging to Theodore N. Vail, as follows:

"Among the improvements under way at Speedwell Farms this summer is the converting of the old Sanborn barn into a horse barn. This barn is 105x55 feet and connects with the large dairy barn built last year. The basement will all be concreted, will have several box stalls, a root cellar and a room for maple sugar. A perfect system of drainage is installed. On the main floor of the barn will be stalls for about thirty head of horses and ponies, a harness room and lounging room for the men. On one side will be a row of stalls for the horses and back of them a patent drainage system for carrying off all water. The stall floors are all of concrete and about each side is a steel kicking plate, 2x4 feet. Each stall is equipped with iron feed racks and corner mangers. On the other side are several box stalls, the drainage in these being from the center, the harness and lounging rooms. There is a patent harness hanger for each stall. Between the row of stalls are improved iron scuttles connecting with the Louden system in the basement for carrying out the manure. The walls and ceilings are finished in hard pine. The floor is of maple and birch laid over asphaltum and tar paper, making it waterproof. In the loft is a large water tank, the water being filtered by gravity all through the building.

A short distance from the dairy barn a new piggy, 100x26 feet, is being Methodists Have Fine Time at Newport.

St. Johnsbury District association held a most successful meeting at Newport last week. The attendance of preachers and laymen was unusually large. Barton Methodist church was represented by Rev. W. B. Duke-shire, Mrs. Dukeshire, J. N. Webster, Pliny Webster, C. B. Webster and E. R. Cook. The program was interesting and well carried out. The trip on the lake Wednesday afternoon was delightful. The Men's Forum of the Newport Methodist church tendered a sumptuous banquet Wednesday evening. Over one hundred were present. The post prandial exercises were gracefully presided over by Harry Robbins of Newport. Bright stirring toasts and music filled out the evening. Everybody went home enthusiastic over the more than generous hospitality of the Methodist Newport people.

Parade and Ball Game.

Five thousand people participated in the Independence day celebration in Lyndonville Monday. A notable feature was the entire absence of explosives. A big parade included floats, decorated automobiles and horribles. In the evening there was a display of fire works. A base ball game between Lyndonville and Lebanon, N. H., resulted in a victory for the former 7 to 1. Among those in town was Col. G. B. M. Harvey, editor of Harper's Weekly, who is a guest of T. N. Vail at Speedwell Farms.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Tenney of Greensboro, North Carolina, arrived in town last week and went to their cottage at Willoughby for a few weeks. Mr. Tenney reports his fire escape and ladder business good, with a fast growing business.

George G. Kendall of this place and Mrs. Martha S. Mower of Springfield, Mass., were married at Springfield Saturday by Rev. E. M. Antrim of Trinity M. E. church. They will come to Barton for the present and live with Mr. Kendall's son Byron.

F. B. Tower is moved into the Hubbard house recently purchased by him and Mr. Hubbard's people are in camp at Crystal Lake Grove. Mr. Hubbard is erecting a barn on his land back of A. S. Redfield's, overlooking the lake, and reports that he will also erect a house there this summer.

On Wednesday, June 22nd, the Ladies' union of the Methodist church and a few friends were invited to meet with Mrs. Merton Wilson at her beautiful home known as the Keating farm. There were twenty-four present. The day was all that anyone could ask for. A sumptuous dinner was served. All went away feeling that they had had an enjoyable time. Many thanks are due to Mrs. Wilson for the success of the day.

There is a great deal of sickness in town, most of which is a distemper peculiar to this season. Among the sick and convalescing are several members of the John McLellan family, Miss Vera Webster, Charles Darling and L. J. Brown of Hotel Barton, Miss Cora Mossman, Mrs. H. J. Stannard, Miss Kate Hinton at S. A. Hunt's, Miss Yelche Gallup at M. H. Brunning's, Miss Mabel Cobb, Mrs. W. E. Hanson and daughter Mary, Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Bickford, Mrs. W. M. Wright, Mrs. H. D. Phillips, Albert Welch, John Stevens, Mrs. Rusford, Fred Kimball, Mrs. Fairbrother, Iva Hall, F. W. Comstock and several members of John Urie's family.

In general the celebration of the Fourth in Barton was far from exciting, many people going out of town. Beginning at midnight Sunday and lasting till midnight Monday there was scarcely a minute when there was not some kind of a noise. This fact was very noticeable when compared with many towns where the authorities gave notice that no fire crackers would be allowed upon the streets, etc. This was true in Glover, Lyndonville and many other places where a safe and sane celebration was the order of the day, and some criticism was heard here that no action whatever was taken to check the nerve racking explosions in the midst of our streets

GREAT DAY AT GLOVER

Fourth of July Celebration at Glover Great Success. Results of Sports.

With an ideal day, the old-fashioned Fourth of July celebration at Glover was a decided success with a large attendance. The parade of floats and horribles was exceptionally fine, being equal to that of much larger towns. The different races were participated in by a good number and were an interesting feature of the day's sports. The ball game between Glover and Orleans attracted the crowd in the afternoon and was won by Glover by a score of 17 to 15. Glover then played Irasburg, the latter winning, the score being 11 to 6. The band concert, grand musical entertainment and dance, the closing part of the day's program was largely attended.

The result of the races, etc. is as follows: C. A. Kelton won the prize for the best rig in the parade and E. F. Dunn and C. J. King took the prize for the most "horrible" outfit. Many others were close seconds for first place in both classes. H. H. Skinner won first money in the green horse race and Caleb Clark second. The Glover "tug of war" men outpulled the picked team arrayed against them. In the bicycle race C. Phillips came in first, Jewell second and F. Smith third. H. Dow won the hurdle race with E. W. Clark second and R. Wylie third. E. W. Clark won the second and third. Shute and Shute won the three legged race with Clark and Wylie second and Leslie and Dow third. Fred Smith won the sack race with Jewell second and Phillips third. E. W. Clark won the foot race with Leslie second and Gray third. E. W. Clark also won the potato race with Leslie second and J. Clark third. Much credit is due the committee in charge of the celebration for the good order of the crowd and the manner in which everything went off.

Lightning Hits Powder Plant.

Three of the 15 buildings comprising the plant of the Robin Hood Ammunition company at Swanton were destroyed early Sunday morning. Lightning first struck the potash mixing house, which exploded and as a result of the concussion the dry-gas house and the laboratory also blew up. The plant is located a long distance from the village, but the concussion broke a large amount of window glass some of the buildings which suffered being about two miles from the plant. A large plate glass window in the store of L. C. Fortier was smashed. There was only one man at the plant when the explosion occurred and he escaped injury. The structures which were burned were located some distance from the main plant, which probably accounts for the comparatively small loss, the damage by the fire being estimated at $15,000.

High School Examinations.

Applicants in the town of Barton who wish to obtain free tuition certificates of admission to approved high schools will be examined between the hours of 9 a. m. and 4 p. m. in room 45, academy building on July 8 and 9, 1910.

at all times, especially when there are so many sick people in town. Island Pond Joys.

Of a new industry just started in Island Pond the Herald of that place says:

"We are pleased to see the old shirt factory running again. In talking with the business men and citizens of Island Pond, all seemed to be greatly pleased to hear the hum and buzz of the machinery in the building.

"Just a few words in explanation about this new industry. The article made is called the "Spaulding Auto Glide." It is a patented article, and is just being put on the market. Messrs. Miller and Hager of Boston, the owners of the patents, are honest and honorable men who will do everything in their power to make the running of the factory a success, and there are two good men at the wheel, Messrs. Boyce and Blake, who will steer the new enterprise into a financial success.

"We are informed by the management that there will be over thirty men employed at the factory when things get to running smoothly, which will mean a good deal to our town. Mr. J. F. Hammond of Witham, Mass., who is at the factory in the interests of Messrs. Miller and Hager, says that if he could have come here and helped install the plant last January, at the present time the output would have been at least one car a week. He further says that the only drawback to a large volume of business this season is due to not getting an earlier start. The business of building the glides is not dependent on New England alone, for the proprietors have orders from California and other states, also orders from across the water in Germany. We hope that when they receive a shipment in Germany they will not tag them "Made in Germany."

"Mr. Hammond will probably return to his home the latter part of this week. He has had quite an extensive factory experience, and Monday when the first glide was assembled he said that he was more than pleased with the general appearance of the machine, and that he does not see any reason why they cannot make just as good looking "glides" in Island Pond as can be made in any town in the country.

"We believe that this business has come to Island Pond to remain permanently. Of course it will take some little time to get everything running smoothly, but let us have a little patience and everything will work out all right."

P. railway, has been assigned to the superintendence of construction.
