C. Marion Wilson to Present Character Studies in Costume.

An excellent entertainment is promised the public next Tuesday evening, July 30th, when Miss Marion Wilson of New York will present her character studies in costume at the opera hall under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid society of the Congregational church. Miss Wilson is an artist full of originality, a talented actress of great capabilities presenting truths of moral value, as well as furnishing amusement for all. She is a genius in her ability to impersonate types, several of which will be supplemented by various musical selections by local talent. The program will be entirely different from any given here before and one which everyone will enjoy and appreciate. Miss Wilson comes very highly recommended from the many places both in the west and the east, where she is well known and the ladies consider themselves exceedingly fortunate in being able to arrange this engagement with her. Tickets will be on sale at Austin's on Saturday morning. Admission 25 cents, reserved seats, 35 cents.
