"Go-to-Church Sunday."

Every citizen of Barton who no doubt be interested in the "Go-to-Church-Sunday" movement. "Everybody-in-Church" on Sunday, Feb. 8th is the plan to be carried on that day throughout New England. Let us make this the greatest day in regard to church attendance in the history of our village—then "keep going." Everybody should make it their business to see that everybody else is in church, Sunday. Plan to go. Attend any church, but attend, that's the idea.

Mrs. Elisha N. Randall.

Mrs. Elisha Randall, whose sickness has been mentioned in the Monitor, died Saturday. Mrs. Randall had been in poor health for some years but had been able to do her work until quite recently, when she was taken worse and gradually failed until her decease. Mahala Jane Hadlock was born at Jay, April 10, 1840. Here she spent her childhood days until she was sixteen when with her parents she moved to Barton. A few years later she was married to Alonzo Clarke of Irasburg where they lived a short time, when Mr. Clarke died. She then returned to Barton and lived with her parents until her marriage to Elisha N. Randall on Oct. 7, 1865. For eleven years she lived in Craftsbury, Lyndon Corner and North Troy and then moved to Barton, residing here until her death. Mrs. Randall was a member of the Congregational church in this place for many years and a prominent member of the Woman's Relief Corps until this order disbanded. She was kind, neighborly, quiet, unassuming and a great lover of her husband, by whom she had a son, by her former husband, Alonzo Clarke, and a number of more distant relatives. The funeral services were held at the home yesterday, Rev. W. A. Warner officiating. The interment was in the Welcome O. Brown cemetery.

Arrested for Forgery.

Deputy Sheriff Gilman of St. Johnsbury has returned from Bolton Corner, Que., with Harry Shepard, whom he placed under arrest, and lodged him in the Caledonia county jail here charged with passing a forged check early in December. The check, which was for $21, and was cashed at the clothing store of Asselin Bros., St. Johnsbury. It was drawn on the Lyndonville National bank and purported to have been signed by Gilbert M. Campbell, a prominent Lyndonville man. Shepard for several weeks had been working on the erection of a building of which Mr. Campbell is one of the owners. When the forgery was discovered the handwriting was compared with that on other checks that had been given to Shepard and endorsed by him. After getting the check cashed Shepard disappeared. Officers made inquiries at Glover and found that Shepard had gone to Bolton and he was located there working in the woods. It is learned that several years ago he served a sentence in the federal prison at Toronto, Ont., for burglarizing a post-office at Glover.

NEW ENGLAND SOIL

C. J. Ufford Puts Some Spice into Reply to Western Editor regarding Our Soil.

A friend of mine living near Spokane, has sent me a clipping from some of the city papers, supposed to be from the Spokesman Review. The article starts out in big head lines, "New England has Factories because Soil Does Not Produce." Purporting to be from Gordon C. Corbaley, secretary-treasurer of the Chamber of Commerce, and he goes on to say:

"I went to visit Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Connecticut to find the conditions that brought this development; to study the natural advantages that produced these factories; and I came away without being able to locate any of the things that we regard as essential to a factory growth."

"Some water power comes from Connecticut, but it amounts to almost nothing. It is little used for power, and sells for domestic use as high as 20 cents, K. W. H." Whatever K. W. H. is, I don't know.

"In a remote corner of the country the factories have to ship their products through any other centers, in order to get it into the hands of the consumers. Land is not productive."

"Traveling over New England I saw much of the country, however, and I came to understand why these people went into manufacturing. The land, with its many trees and its rolling hills, is pretty to look at, but it is not productive. The soil is full of rocks and much of it is yellow clay."

"There was but little else to do, but to go into manufacturing." And he goes on to tell about the mills paying the poorest wages in America and about the tariff's unsettling them so seriously and about the mills being in the hands of operatives low in wages and low in earning power, etc., etc., etc.

Now Mr. Editor, I take exceptions as does every other New Englander to any such kind of talk, as comes from your secretary-treasurer-manager of the chamber of commerce. There is a screw loose somewhere in his cranium. Literally speaking, New England is

TELEPHONE COMPANY'S CLAIMS.

The following statement regarding the brief filed by the New England Telephone Company with the Vermont Public Service Commission is furnished by the company in plate ready for use, and was received at the Monitor office, charges prepaid. We use it at the company's request but desire it understood that it is not our own statement or report. (Ed.)

Brattleboro, Jan. 31.—There was no oral argument of the telephone rate case before the public service commission today. Major Graham, of counsel for the state, said he had no brief to exchange and did not desire to argue orally. Counsel for the New England Telephone and Telegraph company and its subsidiaries said that if no brief on the part of the complainants was to be answered, they would rest their case with the filing of a brief.

In this brief to show cause why an order should not be issued reducing local and toll rates, they protest that such an order would be unjust and confiscatory; that no evidence to support the allegation that the rates are unreasonable has been adduced; and that the uncontroverted testimony of the defendants shows that the service in Vermont is of just as high a standard as service furnished in other parts of its territory while the rates charged therefor are as low, if not lower, than the rates charged for like service in other sections.

They further claim that on their proved investment in the state the net profit under existing schedules is less than 2 percent for the combined five companies and less than 1 percent for the New England company considered separately.

The effect of the proposed schedule, they claim, would be to wipe out their present small margin of profit and leave these five companies with an annual operating deficit of over $50,000, which deficit would be increased for 1914 by some $15,000 resulting from the increased taxation of these companies.

In this state the New England company claims to have 3.59 percent of its plant investment, which investment contributes only 2.39 percent of its gross revenue. In Massachusetts it is able to get thirty-five subscribers to the average square mile of territory, while in that section of Vermont operated by the New England company it gets an average of only 8 1/2 subscribers to the square mile, and only 5 1/2 subscribers to the square mile in the territory served by the New England company and its four subsidiaries when considered as a unit.

The brief begins with a short statement of the case and of the issues presented, and says there is really only one issue involved—the reasonableness or justice of the defendants' present schedule of rates. It then calls attention to the statute and case, law casting the burden of proof in this case upon the complainants, a treatment of elementary law which is said to be necessary only because of the anomalous nature of the complaint, and the effort of the complainants to appear as defendants before the commission.

The preface then proceeds "to call attention to the testimony which effectually nulls certain doubts and criticisms largely immaterial to the issue, but dexterously thrust into the record by the complainants. As at the hearings, so now the complainants welcome the opportunity to explain to the commission and to the public of Vermont their financial history, their record of dividends and net earnings and to give the fullest detail of the telephone business of Vermont."

The brief calls attention more than once to the fact that no evidence was presented in support of the allegation of unreasonable rates, although the state had a consulting telephone expert in attendance for several weeks, and with reference to its own presentation says: "The facts upon which being the winning side. The reds will give their social and supper Tuesday evening, Feb. 16.

Mrs. Isaac Keys, Mrs. M. L. Pearson, Mrs. Jennie Jones and Mrs. L. S. Nye were in town Saturday to attend the burial of Miss Emmeline Mitchell. Eben Stearns, Jr., has been called to Richmond by the illness of his wife.

The remains of Miss Emmeline Mitchell of Auburndale, Mass., were brought here for burial Saturday, accompanied by Mr. Cate of Newton, Mass. Miss Mitchell was a daughter of the late Warren Mitchell of this place and had many friends here who will be sorry to learn of her decease.

Fast Wrestling.

The wrestling fans of Barton and Orleans saw some good contests in Seaver's hall Thursday evening between Leonard of Barton, and Peck of St. Johnsbury and "Sherb" of St. Johnsbury and young Zbyseo. It was real wrestling and will be long remembered by those present. The preliminary between Leonard threatened to be cancelled as Leonard agreed to wrestle a man of his own weight and not one 22 pounds heavier. After several minutes of hesitation Leonard displayed his sporting blood by agreeing to wrestle Peck in a handicap match; Peck to throw Leonard twice in 30 minutes. After 21 minutes of wrestling Peck succeeded in securing a fall but lost the match shortly afterwards, being unable to score again in nine minutes. It was very fortunate for Mr. Peck that Leonard was not any heavier. Perhaps if the loser was more familiar with the game it might prove profitable when wrestling with Leonard. The main match between "Sherb" and young Zbyseo was the fastest ever pulled off in this vicinity, and these contests should encourage the game here. Owing to a previous match Sherbourne was not in first class condition but regardless of this he up against a rougher proposition than he had ever encountered and if a decision had been given it would have favored Zbyseo. It was a battle royal and ended in a draw after one hour, 58 minutes. Mr. Collins, middle weight champion wrestler of New England, refereed the bouts and issued a challenge to anyone at 150 pounds. Collins is the first man who has gained a decision over "Sherb."

occasion by Mrs. Kate Hancock. Miss Mabel Rowell gave a reading, "The Ninety and Nine." $16.04 was added to the treasury.

The last district spelling contest of the series to select participants for the final town match to be held in the village hall on the night of Feb. 20, was conducted in the West Hill schoolhouse on Saturday evening with an attendance of 52. A short program by the pupils of the school preceded the spelling contests. In the match among the pupils of the fifth, sixth and seventh grades Charles Niles distanced all competitors and took first place. In the next contest with 23 participants, two teams, captained by Henry Thayer and Norman Tice waged an interesting contest for 25 minutes, first one side being in the lead only to succumb to its opponent, till time was called, when it was found that Mr. Thayer's side was a considerable distance in the lead with a score of 18-5.

In the losing match of the evening with the same 23 competitors, Mr. Tice won first place, Henry Thayer second and Miss Alice Rowse third.

EAST COVENTRY

On Thursday evening of last week the postponed spelling contest in the Center school district was held with a good attendance. After the rhetorical exercises by the children of the school, the contest among the pupils of the middle grades gave first honors to Evelyn Webster. In the second contest, the team captained by Vera Fairbrother, won over the team captained by Mrs. Will Thurber, with a score of 11 to 1. In the final contest of the evening Mrs. Thurber came to the front, winning first place, with Lottie Elliott, second and Vera Fairbrother, third, these three completing the team from this district who will enter the town match to be held in the village on the evening of Feb. 20th.
