White Ribboners with Us.

W. C. T. U. delegates have begun to filter into town and are expected by tomorrow from all parts of the state. It is thought there may be 100 white ribboners present. The events open this evening with a reception in the M. E. church; tomorrow evening is the prize speaking contest in Seaver's hall as per program already printed and on Friday night is a great temperance mass meeting in Seaver's hall, when prominent men speakers will give the addresses. Everyone is invited.

Last Band Concert.

The last band concert of the season will be given in the park at 7.30 Friday evening. This is an extra concert and is put in on Friday evening instead of Saturday, on account of the state W. C. T. U. convention which is being held here this week. The town should be justly proud and appreciative of an excellent band composed of musicians of no mean talent. We believe that the present band is one of the best the town has ever had and the people through their attendance at the Saturday evening concert have shown that they are appreciative.

Musicals at the Club House.

At the impromptu musicale held at the boat club house last evening, club members and invited guests were afforded an opportunity to hear Maurice Koessler, the Boston Symphony violinist. No such talented violinist has ever been heard here before. Mr. Koessler's overture was "Thais" by Massenet and he responded to an encore by playing the "Slumber Song" from Sehman.

Miss Grace Gordon, whom the people of Barton have already heard, rendered two selections with genius. Miss Gordon's voice is of a peculiar and rare quality and "The Harbor Light" song by Sanderson was especially good. Mr. Koessler's second number, "Libeslied" was followed by Madrigale and while every one of his selections showed the skill and technique of a master musician, this one received the most vigorous applause. Mrs. Bessie Adams accompanied and handled the difficult accompaniments especially well. It is hoped that Mr. Koessler may be brought here later for a concert.

BARTON

Miss Clara Burgess of Lowell spent Sunday and Monday with her aunt, Mrs. A. Dana.

A daughter was born on Aug. 31 to Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Clow, who live on the Glover road.

Woman's Club Entertainment.

The entertainment given at the Gem theatre Wednesday evening under the auspices of the Woman's Literary club, afforded a rare musical treat. Miss Grace Gordon who rendered the solos, has a rare musical ability. Her selections were especially well chosen ranging from "The Land of the Sky-blue Water," by Cadman to Tosti's "Goodbye." Miss Gordon has a charm of manner all her own and a voice of particular sweetness and volume. Mr. Douglass, who gave several of Will Carleton's better known sketches and poems, adapted himself to the author's own serio-comic nature, and all of his selections were enthusiastically enjoyed.

Hurrah for the New Minister.

County Agricultural Association Notes.

Newport, Vt., Sept. 4, 1915. To the Farmers of Orleans county:

The demonstration work of the county agent is one of his major lines of work. Considerable time has been spent in the starting of demonstrations with corn and alfalfa. The time has now come for those interested in the growing of alfalfa or those who desire to secure the best varieties of corn, under our own conditions, to visit these demonstrations. The first excursion will start on Tuesday afternoon, Sept. 7 at Wm. Richmond & Son's farm at 1.30 p. m. and continue on to farms in Newport and Derby. The second excursion will be held on the following day, Wednesday, starting at N. C. Stevens farm, West Glover at 1.30 p. m. when farms in Glover and Barton will be visited. Five or six farms will be visited each afternoon and it is hoped that a large number of farmers will take advantage of this demonstration work. If you own an auto invite your neighbors to go with you, and if you do not, the county agent on the phone and he will try to arrange a car for you. Hoping that you will join with us on these trips, I am,

Yours very truly,
Ray F. Deuel,
County Agent, U. S. Dept. Agr.

Congregational Church Notes

Franklin Pierce of Chicago, an organist of prominence in that city and a native of this part of Vermont played the pipe organ Sunday morning and evening, to the delight of all. Many expressions of appreciation were heard. At the union evening service which was the first evening preaching service of the fall, Miss Gordon, the soloist, who has so graciously sung upon several occasions for Barton audiences, rendered sacred selections. Mr. Warner preached the sermon. The choir was augmented by additional voices both morning and evening.

The C. E. plan a corn roast on the lake shore at the beach Monday evening. There will be corn for all who give up a dime.

The Fidelity class of the Congregational church will meet Tuesday night at the home of F. R. Buck.

A new cement sidewalk has been laid at the Congregational church connecting the main walk with the entrance to the vestry.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacques, who have been spending the summer at the home of Benjamin Mason, have returned to their home in Boston.

Miss Mabel Spencer of St. Johnsbury has been here as special stenographer in a chancery case being tried before Judge Miles this week.

Mrs. J. R. Collison has arrived home from Providence and Westley, R. I., where she spent part of the summer season with old friends.

Miss Vera Chadsey, who has been a guest at the home of H. E. Lee for the past month, has returned to her home in Waltham, Mass.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Proctor and children motored to Newport and Knowlton, P. Q., the first of the week where they visited relatives.

Judge and Mrs. W. W. Miles leave soon for Burlington where the judge will preside at Chittenden county court which convenes Tuesday.

Clyde Cooper, who graduated at the Johnson Normal school last spring, has gone to Wilder, where he is to be principal of the Wilder school.

The following letters remain uncalled for at the postoffice. Please say advertised when calling for these letters. Mrs. Louis Fisher, Frank Herby.

Rev. and Mrs. William Carr, formerly of Glover and now of Massachusetts, will spend several days of the convention at the home of W. S. Hibbard.

Tom Reddington has purchased of Lorenzo Chaburne, the place just back of the Reddington blacksmith shop, formerly the Elmer Pope place.

Mrs. John Clary and daughter, Joyce, of Montreal, who have spent several weeks each summer in Barton, are again at Hotel Barton for a time.

W. B. Proctor in his Studebaker car started even up with the mail train south Thursday and arrived in St. Johnsbury just as that train pulled in.

Miss Mary V. Duckles of Albany and Allen S. Hall of Hardwick were married at the Congregational parsonage Sept. 1 by Rev. Wilmond Warner.

Mrs. Nettie McDougall has returned from Lewiston, Me., to care for her husband, who was injured in an automobile accident during the week of our fair.

The automobile sheds back of the O. H. Mossman home have been repaired and are receiving a coat of paint which much improves their general appearance.

Misses Mary Hanson and Maud Hubbard of this town and Isadore Skinner of Glover are teaching in Concord, Waterford and West Glover, respectively.

Parties from Barre, sent to Hotel Barton, by Mr. Rowen the former proprietor, for a week-end stop, were enthusiastic in their praise of our local hotel.

Miss Marjorie Hastings has returned with her aunt, Mrs. Grace Hastings and children, to Syracuse, where Miss Marjorie intends remaining during the entire winter.

William Graves, who has been visiting his mother, Mrs. O. A. White, has returned to his home in Beverly, Mass., making the trip through the White Mountains.

Mr. and Mrs. Edmond Ketchum of Roxbury have been guests of Miss

Successful Convention at Derby.

The County Sunday School convention at Derby was well attended. The reception and entertainment of delegates and visitors by the people of Derby made the stay there very pleasant and added much to the enjoyment and success of the convention. Special mention should be made of the abundance of flowers tastefully arranged in the church. The program was carried out nearly as printed and the same board of officers re-elected. The principal addresses were given by Rev. A. Boyd, secretary of the Vermont State Sunday School association and W. I. Woodin, secretary of the Connecticut State Sunday School association; W. J. Weir, secretary of the Maine State Sunday School association. These three were making a tour along the east side of the state and speaking in several county conventions. Rev. Boyd spoke of the power of the trained teacher and told of the advantages training gives a teacher.

Secretary Weir's address, "Getting and Holding the Pulpit" was an able statement of the way many schools have organized men's classes and added members to old classes by inviting men to help do specific work and keeping them busy. And in another address, "The Value of Organized Effort," Mr. Weir told of the different kinds of work taken up by organized classes in Maine. Some have raised funds to pay off old debts, build or repair church buildings. Others have mission work at home and abroad and are helping in many lines of church work.

Mr. Woodin, a very able man, spoke of the "Church's Responsibility." He gave the definition of Sunday School as "An organization, under the care of the church, meeting once a week for the study of the Bible and the development of Christian character and service," giving many suggestions along lines new to most of his audience.

Mr. E. B. Wright, field secretary, talked of Sunday school extension work and told of the great value of the home department.

Hazel Abbott this week. Mr. Ketchum was Miss Abbott's art teacher at Jamaica Plain, Mass.

Henry Harding met with a slight accident at the St. Johnsbury fair last week when he was run into by another sulky. Mr. Harding finished the race, however, taking second money.

John Telfer has further enhanced the looks and value of his Church street property by increasing the height of the stone wall on the south side and covering it with cement.

Mrs. C. T. Darling and son, who have been spending several months with her father, W. W. Norris, have gone to Hardwick, where Mrs. Darling's son will enter the school there.

The cement piers for the sills of the Webster storage building are all in and carpenter work is rapidly progressing on the building which will be 40x60 feet at the lower story, with tenements above.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Barrows are motoring this week through Dixville Notch to Norway and other Maine towns and will return from Portland through the White Mountains the latter part of the week.

Al Dana's team was saved from running away Monday night through the prompt action and good springing of Clayton Wilson, who succeeded in catching the horse after it had made a good start down Church street.

Announcements were out last week of the marriage of Mrs. Annie M. Jewell to George Batchelder of Lyndonville. Mrs. Jewell will make her new home in Lyndonville, where she lived before coming to Barton.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Goss and children are guests of Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Pierce at the Pierce cottage in Lake Grove. Mr. Goss has just returned from a Pacific coast trip, where he went with a party of tourists.

A little informal party and dance, was given at Le Beau Lac Boat Club house on Wednesday evening, by several young ladies of the village. About twenty couples attended, the gentlemen being the guests of honor.

Other entertainments materially reduced the size of the audience at the Gem theatre last evening to see Quo Vadis, but all who were fortunate enough to be present say it was the biggest picture ever put on at this theatre.

Mrs. A. M. Vercoe and son, Raymond, who have been spending several months in Virginia, have returned and are again at the Barron camp at Lake Grove. On her return trip, Mrs. Vercoe attended millinery openings in Boston and New York.

About twenty Royal Arch Masons, went from here to Island Pond Friday night to attend a banquet and work by the Chapter there. All report a very excellent time, although there seem to be some of the party who did not particularly enjoy the time on the return trip.

R. W. Laird took Clyde Heath and Henry Stafford to Burlington Monday to play with the Irasburg ball team against Burlington, at their Labor day celebration held in that city. Irasburg's clean, fast ball at the fair here, has made them appear as one of the state's fastest teams this season.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Batchelder and Miss Gertrude Skinner left the first of the week for an extended trip in the Batchelder car, touring the White Mountains to Portland, Me., and then by coast route to Boston, where Miss Skinner will take the New York boat and return to her school in Brooklyn.

Notice is posted at the postoffice that proposals for rents for the Barton postoffice for a five-year term from January 1 will be received until September 15. Terms of lease may be seen at the postoffice and call for a rent including heat, light, water and all furniture and equipment necessary. 35-38

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Carter and their guests, Mr. and Mrs. Pease, left Saturday for a motor trip to Littleton, where Mr. Pease will continue in his own car to Springfield and Mr. and Mrs. Carter will go to Boston. Miss Marion Carter accompanied them and will return to Springfield, Mass., where she is attending the Springfield Technical school.

Local tennis players were at Orleans Monday to play several fast sets of tennis with the Orleans contingent. In doubles Alden Owen and C. E. Webster lost to Corley and Smithers, 4-6, 6-8, C. S. Webster and Ray Willson won from Rowell 16-14 and 6-1. In singles C. B. Webster won from Smithers 6-4, 6-4. Owen won from Corley 6-3, 6-4 and C. E. Webster won from Rowell 6-1 and 6-4.
