TWICE TOLD TESTIMONY.

Barton People are Doing all They can for Fellow Sufferers.

Barton testimony has been published to prove the merit of Doan's Kidney Pills to others in Barton who suffer from bad backs and kidney ills. Lest any sufferer doubt this evidence of merit, we produce confirmed pro-statements from Barton people who again endorse Doan's Kidney Pills—confirm their former testimony. Here's a Barton case:

F. F. Sawyer, Main street, Barton, says: "I wish as many suffering men and women as I can reach through this statement to know the merit of Doan's Kidney Pills. I was greatly benefited by this medicine, and I also know of several other people who have been cured of bad attacks of kidney complaint by its use. Doan's Kidney Pills rid me of pains in my back and other distressing symptoms of disordered kidneys."

PROVED BY TIME

AFTER A LAPSE OF MORE THAN TWO YEARS, Mr. Sawyer said: "I haven't had occasion to use any kidney medicine since I used Doan's Kidney Pills. I am pleased to again recommend this medicine."

Price 50c at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Sawyer has twice publicly recommended. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

Scene Painting.

In the past half century and more, especially since the improvement of the electric light, scene painting has become very elaborate and very expensive. Instead of being kept in its proper place as the decoration of the drama, as a beautiful accessory of the action, it has often been pushed to the front, so as to attract attention to itself and thereby to distract attention from the play which it was supposed to illuminate. Shakespeare has been smothered in scenery, and the art of the actor has been subordinated to the art of the scene painter.—Brander Matthews in Scribner's Magazine.

Phonetic Spelling.

Phonetic spelling was evidently in fashion in the sixteenth century, when even Shakespeare could not spell his own name consistently. There is a letter dug from the correspondence of a lady of the sixteenth century in the book of the "Cotswold Family"—the Hicks-Beaches. Juliana writes—it is a matter of debt between the cautious widow and "My lord a Kalder"—"My lord Ammaril and your wife I honour and love, but your false swearing and promise I hoterle a pore." What she really meant was "utterly abhor."—London Telegraph.

Fifty-fifty.

"Jinks gives his wife half his salary every week."

"And what becomes of the other half?"

"She still has to get that in the old way—out of the pockets of his trousers."—Richmond Times Dispatch.

LIFE AND LONGEVITY.

Simply Prolonging One's Days on Earth Is Not Real Living.

What really constitutes life? Is it action, or is it merely existence? Who is the more useful, the man who gives his all in energy to service or he who conserves his forces and thereby prolongs his days? He lives most who accomplishes most. Activity in useful, productive or constructive effort is the real test of life. Length of years may content some, but restless, energetic souls will press forward, regardless of time, striving for a goal they may never attain, but always striving, and these only really live.

Life insurance presidents, being interested in the prolongation of existence of risks, bend their efforts to the teaching of elements of living, the avoidance of excesses, exposures or unnecessary risks of any kind and in this way really serve the world because they increase the productive years of man.

As a result of modern methods man really lives longer and better, but this is not the all in all of life. To live is to be active, to have a part in the creative effort of mankind, regardless of whether the span be long or short, so long as it is busy, for "an end is an end, whether it cometh on the winged heels of a week or the dull stretch of a century."—Omaha Bee.

He smiled in a gratified way. "I knew you would regret that some time," he said.

"Indeed I do," she replied. "I need a little change the worst sort of way, and the man who buys rags and old paper was here today. How wasteful we are in our youth!"
