OVEREATING CAUSE OF ILLS

Intemperance in Consumption of Food Declared Responsible for Much Suffering for Humanity.

Someone has rather aptly said that "one-third of what we eat enables us to live and the other two-thirds provides a living for the doctors," remarks a writer in Farm and Home. And undoubtedly overeating, quite as much as improper foods, is responsible for many of our bodily ills; for all that is eaten over that required to nourish our bodies and furnish the necessary energy, overtaxes the organs of digestion and elimination and prematurely wears out the human engine, just as too much fuel more quickly burns out a furnace or the kitchen range.

Intemperance in food is a prolific source of colds, obesity, gout, rheumatism, Bright's disease, constipation and other ills. High living, overeating and too much protein food is also said to be conducive to the development of cancer—for this disease, as a rule, does not attack the moderate livers or the underfed. True, different individuals require varying amounts of food, according to occupation and size of body, though this difference is not so great as many think.

Most people troubled with obesity are partial to the flesh-making foods—sweets and starches—and are all-around "good feeders." A certain very stout young woman is so afflicted, and also addicted to the practice of nibbling at sweets between meals, and at bedtime. She also has occasional dreadful attacks of acute indigestion. Her physician's advice when last called was: "Just watch your diet, little girl; there is no preventive except to eat moderately and regularly."

PLANNING FOR FAIR

Secretary Hamblet of the Orleans county fair is now busy making arrangements for Orleans county's annual fair to be held at Barton on August 22, 23 and 24 this year. The premium books are being sent out and anyone who desires one but has not received a copy should write Mr. Hamblet.

A few increases in premiums offered for certain classes of live stock are noted. Mr. Hamblet is informed that many new exhibitors from the county will bring stock this year. A feature that proved of especial interest last year was the baby contest and this will be continued this year but the awards will be cash instead of dishes and there are to be three awards.

The Monitor will continue further notice of the features and news of the event as the time draws near.

REV. I. A. RANNEY, PASTOR

You are cordially invited to attend all services.

Morning worship, 10.45.

Sunday school, 12 o'clock.

Epworth League, 7 o'clock.

The morning sermon was upon "The Man with a Grouch," the text being from 1 Sam. 25:14. A few of the thoughts follow: "A single sentence often gives a good insight into a man's character. The Bible contains many such sentences and the text is one of them. We frequently blame God for things for which we are responsible. God did not make our characters and we build as we please. If we are looking for something to excite our temper we will find it everywhere even in a sermon. No man or woman has the moral right to carry a grouch or be ill-tempered all of the time unless they withdraw from the company of others and live a hermit life. Whole neighborhoods are thrown into contention and churches are often divided because of one turbulent person. Sorrow is mixed with life's portion and we must drink of it, but that is no excuse for being cross and ill-natured. For one who calls himself a Christian to be long-faced, is to give the lie to the name he calls himself by. If anyone has the right to be happy it is the Christian. Cheerfulness is a duty, an obligation. We are just as much bound to be cheerful as to be honest. We have no more right to dump our ill-nature upon the world than we have to dump our garbage into our neighbor's yard. Cheerfulness is something to be cultivated but something more is necessary and we must seek this. We must have Christ in the heart and a firm grasp upon the scripture which says, 'all things work together for good to those that love God.'"

The evening subject was "Temptations of Jesus," the text being in Mark 1:12-13.

Remember the supper Friday night. Watch for further particulars.

The Epworth League is to have charge of the evening service next Sunday evening, and it will be held in the vestry at 7 o'clock. The subject is "Do I honor Christ in My Use of Sunday?" and the leader Victor F. Hunter. Everyone is urged to come and make the meetings helpful and interesting.

A "SAFETY FIRST" CAMPAIGN

C. C. Cassidy, freight agent for the Boston & Maine railroad at Barton, has been appointed a member of the "Safety First" committee of that railroad. There is only one other member from the county and that one is Mr. Trudell of Newport. This committee goes to Lyndonville once a month to report and receive ideas for the campaign.

Mr. Cassidy informs the Monitor that there is much dangerous trespassing on the property of the railroad in this village especially along the track in the freight yard near the lake and shore outlet. Only recently was it necessary for a train to apply its emergency brake and stop because of a child on the track and it was only last fall that a child was maimed on the track in the village. Parents are warned that the railroad track is a dangerous and unfit place for their children to play about. These two recent examples of the narrow escape of children from trains should be sufficient warning to parents.

A large number of people were out for the band concert Saturday night and the band gave them some excellent music. Several who are good judges of band music were heard to say that the concert was one of high order and that the Barton band was certainly an institution of which to be proud.

Many say the band was never so good as this season and the concerts each Saturday evening, (weather permitting) this summer should draw immense crowds.

Geo. W. Russell a Candidate.

In these strenuous times it is not perhaps surprising that there should be all sorts of rumors relative to the senatorial situation in Orleans county. One of these rumors, is to the effect that George Russell of Irasburg will not be a candidate for county senator. Just how this rumor started is unknown and is in a way immaterial. It is sufficient to say that only until very recently has Mr. Russell been aware of these rumors. Frankly, Mr. Russell has no intention of dropping out of the field and is most emphatically a candidate for election to the senate of 1917 from the south end of the county. There is not a logical reason why Mr. Russell should not be a candidate and there are many reasons why he should not only be a candidate but should also be elected.

Mr. Russell represented his town, Irasburg, in the legislature of 1915 and was practically the unanimous choice of the Republicans of his town, in that election. We are approaching a time when the state will need men who are thoroughly conversant with the making of laws at our state capitol and the return of a man of Mr. Russell's caliber to Montpelier will mean much toward immediate and efficient legislation.

George W. Russell has not previously sought office at the hands of his constituents and the offices that have come to him have been wholly unsolicited. He has been a lifelong resident of Irasburg and his success has been self-earned, starting as a poor boy and becoming one of the town's most respected and successful merchants. For twenty years he has been postmaster of the town and that office alone has precluded the holding of public offices. Mr. Russell will be found at the head of town enterprises and has given liberally of his time and money to the making of a better town and county. He has been a church worker and a Christian gentleman and will receive the unanimous support of his townsmen in his contest for county senator. He has the advantage of just the right age, 54, of being young enough to be imbued with progressive and constructive legislation and old enough not to be disturbed by fanatical and whiffled-minded illusions.

Geo. W. Russell of Irasburg Candidate for County Senator from the South End

It should be remembered that through our new primary laws it is possible to elect two senators from the same district, even from the same town and voters who naturally do not care to so unevenly divide these honors should remember that both the north and south ends of the county ought to be represented.

Mr. Russell's campaign will be conducted just as he has conducted his business and his life and will be free from any objectionable features. It would seem that he is the logical candidate from the south end of the county and the entire county might well be proud of his election.
