Sell Grocery after 16 Years in Business.

V. F. Hunter has sold his grocery business on Main street to Amos R. Robinson and possession will be given Dec. 1st.

Mr. Hunter has been in business for the past 16 years in town, and has gained a reputation for the accommodation of his customers and for square dealing second to none. Mr. and Mrs. Hunter have gained a host of friends here who would very much regret to have them leave town and who hope they may decide to locate here though they have sold the business.

Mr. Robinson is well known to the trade here, having been in the Seaver and Batchelder stores for several years, and his entry into business is welcomed.

Extension School in Agriculture and Home Economics at Greensboro.

An extension school in agriculture and home economics will be held at Greensboro beginning Monday, Dec. 4th at 2 p. m., in Grange hall, to which all those interested in agriculture and home economics are cordially invited. The agricultural section will consist of talks and demonstrations of feeding, breeding, and care of dairy animals, crops, crop diseases, soil management and practically all farm topics which are of local interest. Several different men from the extension service at Burlington will lead these discussions. The home economics section will be held at the same time for the housewives. Mrs. Dimick and Miss Thayer will be the instructors. Both are especially adapted for their work by their training and personality, and have a splendid reputation for holding the interest of the ladies throughout the week. There will be no admission charge and everyone should feel free to invite their friends to join them in attending this extension school.

LITERARY CLUB FAIR

A BIG EVENT
Thursday and Friday of Next Week
Will See Efforts of Ladies to Raise Further Library Funds.

From time to time the Monitor has mentioned the fact that the Woman's Literary club was to hold a fair in order to raise money to be added to their library fund. The affair is staged for Thursday and Friday afternoons and evenings of next week in Seaver's hall.

The afternoons will be devoted exclusively to sales and among the booths will be a demonstration booth, one for the children, cooked food, parcel post, popcorn, kodak and souvenirs, aprons, fancy work, canned goods, candy, flowers, a Japanese booth, and a rummage booth.

On both evenings there will be an exhibition for which a very small admission will be charged. The program on Thursday evening will be by the Campfire girls.

On Friday evening comes "the greatest show on earth," in the words of those in charge. Mrs. Jarley's wax works will be conducted by the well-known Mrs. Jarley in person, the first favorite of all the crowned heads of Europe, Asia and Africa, before whom Mrs. Jarley has appeared again and again.

Doubly famous for being the only point of present agreement between the monarchs who unanimously pronounced Mrs. Jarley's waxworks to be the most refined, the most gorgeous, the most costly, the most stupendous, the most side-splitting, the most awe-inspiring, the most elevating and the most magnificent exhibition ever exhibited by any exhibitor. Positively the first and last appearance in America. Your only chance to see noted characters of history, favorites from fairy-land, personages from the pages of prose and poetry, in life-like reproductions clad in the very garments worn by the originals at the climaxes of their careers, and all for 15 cents.

NOTES

The committee for canned goods and vegetables for the Woman's Literary club fair request that all those who wish to give to that department have their contributions ready for the team that will call for them the first of next week.

Will those who have promised appearing for the Literary club's fair kindly favor the committee by leaving them this week either with the one who solicited them or at Mrs. Vercoe's millinery store.

Remember the entertainment to be given by the Helen May Abbott company in Seaver's hall Saturday evening under the auspices of the Epworth League of the M. E. church. This is really a first-class entertainment with Miss Abbott as reader and Miss Rena Hilton, soprano, and Miss Hazel Hartman, as violinist. The program they give is one that pleases every audience. Tickets on sale at Pierce's and are only 25 and 35 cents.

The meeting of the Woman's Literary club was held with Miss Potter Wednesday evening, Nov. 22d. Fourteen members were present. After the business meeting the subject of the evening was taken up—"Wild Animals of North America." Paper, "Our North American Animals," Mrs. Hubbard; reading, "Animals of the Zoo," Mrs. Cook; reading, "Fox Ranching," Miss Hamblet; paper, "The Beaver and Its Home," written by Miss Telfer and read by Miss Fanny May; song, "The Year's at the Spring"—Browning, Miss Redfield. A social hour over the needlework followed.

Remember the ladies of the Congregational church will hold their Five Deer Being Shot.

With the open deer season drawing to a close, State Commissioner Titcomb's last official report gives the number of legal deer reported to him at about 1,000. The southern counties lead in the number killed and many very large bucks are reported. Reports from all directions state that deer are plentiful. Town items tell of the success through the county which are few comparatively.

CALEDONIA COUNTY.

Fire early Sunday morning narrowly escaped destroying the fish hatchery in St. Johnsbury. It is thought the fire started by matches lighted by rats as the fire started in a locker that had not been opened for weeks.

Ferd W. Chase of Loon Lake, N. Y., died Monday morning. Mr. Chase was a native of Wheelock and was 76 years old. He has always taken a great interest in his native town and county and done much to preserve historic places. He built the Loon Lake House, the largest hotel in the Adirondacks and had accumulated a fortune.

The Fairbanks-Morse company in St. Johnsbury is turning out more scales at the present time than ever before. An average of 75 tons of castings are being turned out daily. Changes in the foundry, which will be commenced soon, will aid in the handling of the large traveling cranes.

Over 200 people attended the reception given by the Knights of Columbus on the opening of their new lodge rooms in the Pierce block, Hardwick, Thursday evening. B. J. Mulcahy acted as master of ceremonies and welcomed the people to the reception and he called on Rev. E. J. French and W. H. Taylor and C. T. Pierce, all of whom responded happily. Light refreshments were served and dancing was indulged in.
