Speaks in Behalf of Y. M. C. A.

Rev. H. B. Rankin of Newport addressed the ladies of both churches in the interests of the Y. M. C. A. at the chapel Monday evening. He told of the great need of a Y. M. C. A. building with all its necessities at every point where the troops are concentrated, for, although much of a soldier's time is taken up with training still he has a good deal of leisure time. He also spoke of the fact that army chaplains are handicapped simply because they are preachers and cannot do the work among the men that a Y. M. C. A. man can do.

Today every government gives official recognition to the Y. M. C. A. and 3,000,000 must be raised to carry this great work through. Vermont is asked to raise $25,000 as her share and Orleans county, $2500.

Community Service at Willoughby Lake.

The residents and visitors at Willoughby lake have in prospect this summer an exceedingly interesting series of Sunday services. Under the direction of Rev. Wilbur Rand and a committee representing the Westmore church and the summer colony, preachers and university professors of state and national reputation have been engaged as speakers at Sunday morning services during July and August. The music will be under the direction of Walter Ruel Cowles of the musical department of Yale college, whose musical entertainments last summer gave great pleasure to the Willoughby lake residents.

The morning service begins at 11 o'clock. Sunday, July 8th, Dr. Chas. F. Kent, professor of Biblical literature in Yale college, will speak on "The Possibilities of the Modern Community Church." Among the other speakers of the summer are the Rev. Raymond C. Knox, chaplain of Columbia university; Prof. Rockwell of Union Theological seminary; Rev. Mr. Record of Springfield; Prof. J. W. Jenks of New York university; Rev. Mr. Boyd, Vermont State Sunday School superintendent; Rev. Mr. Merrill of St. Johnsbury, the Congregational state secretary and others. The Sunday school services at 12 will be under the direction of Chaplain Knox and many of the summer visitors have volunteered as teachers. A most cordial invitation is extended to all summer and transient visitors at Willoughby lake to join in these unique services.

Orleans Men Get Recognition.

Orleans men continue to get recognition in army circles. A few weeks ago the Monitor announced the advancement of A. A. Doe of this place and now comes the announcement that upon recommendation of the commanding officer, 1st Vermont Infantry, national guard, 2d Lieut. Karl S. Webster has been appointed first lieutenant and dental surgeon and assigned to duty with 1st Vermont Infantry. Dr. Webster is at home on a few days' furlough.

With the announcement of the location of companies and officers of the 1st Vermont volunteer militia comes the news that Harry Dickens of this place has been made first lieutenant of Company H, which is to be located at Newport. Mr. Dickens was active in securing volunteers for this organization in this town and vicinity. Mr. Dickens has gone to Northfield for a short course in military instruction and training.

To Build Schoolhouse Addition.

At the annual school meeting held Saturday evening it was voted to build an addition to the schoolhouse. An addition 35 by 60 feet and two stories high will be built onto the rear end. Charles Taplin, G. J. Gross and C. D. French were elected as a building committee and work will be begun immediately under their direction.

WILFRED, LUTE PLAYER, COMING.

Will Play Here on the Closing Day of Chautauqua.

Did you ever hear a lute?

The Chautauqua will bring a lute player to Orleans. He is from Copenhagen, Denmark, newly arrived. He was conducting a studio in London when the war broke out; business became dull; he closed his studio, went to Denmark, toured Denmark, Norway and Sweden, and he has only recently braved the danger zone in the Atlantic, and he is on his first Chautauqua tour.

The lute is an old, old instrument. It was popular 300 years ago. It was all the rage back in the time of Moses. It was the mother of the harp. And when the keyboard was invented the lute was all but relegated to the ancient past.

Wilfred, the lute player, has brought it to life again.

The old instrument has been mentioned so prominently in England's written history it is little wonder that the king and queen expressed a desire to hear the most famous lute player of his day, as they did only a few months before the war.

"Yes, I have played before the king and queen by royal command," says Wilfred. "On day I got a note by special messenger under royal seal. I shall never forget the day, of course not. It was an event. No royal letters are sent by mail. I can recall the exact wording. It read as follows:

"Queen Alexandra commands you to perform at Marlborough House on the evening of the fourteenth day of May, at 9 p. m."

"It was signed by the secretary of the queen and was sent me four days before the day set."

"I played and sang, 'Ye Golden Vanities,' an old English song, written in 1592. I sang two other songs also. The queen is very hard of hearing, and I stood quite close to her. When I had finished, she arose, shook my hand, asked a few questions about the instrument, complimented me for my singing, and, as gracefully as I could, I walked out. It was all very formal. I was glad when it was over."

"However, I must tell you that when I was through with my performance I was led into a little room, where I was given a very bountiful dinner."

Wilfred's program is made up of songs and lute solos. He will sing a number of old folk songs as the old time minstrels used to sing them. These traveling minstrels would go from village to village and sing the news to the people. The better ones traveled on horseback with their instruments strapped over one shoulder.

Later came the more distinguished lute players that were attached to the royal courts in both France and England.

Music will have an important part in the Chautauqua program. The list of musical companies includes, besides Wilfred, the Hawaiian Singers and Players, to appear in native costume and presenting at afternoon and evening of Hawaiian music with the steel guitar and ukulele and other instruments; the Royal Marine Band with Signor Lacerenza, director; the Saxophone Singing band, the Schubert Concert Party and others.

The season tickets are selling for only $1.50. They will cost more when the Chautauqua starts. Buy yours today. Remember the dates are July 26-30.

The Dishrag.

The following from the last quarterly bulletin of Vermont State Board of health is a subject worthy of attention in many a household. "Another common nuisance is the dish cloth. I am glad that most of our up-to-date hotels have installed the modern sanitary dish washer and drier, which eliminates the unsanitary cloth altogether. It is strange that so many of our Vermont housekeepers will take so much pride in a clean kitchen and use a dish cloth, usually wrung out and placed over the pan to dry ready for the next meal. If you will tear off a small piece of the cloth and put it under a microscope you will be surprised to see the great variety of germs there. Where it is possible, I believe the modern dish washer and drier should be used, but if not convenient it should be boiled every day and, if possible, dried in the sun, and at the end of the week should be replaced with a new one. We should be sure the old one is burned or it may find its way into the rag bag, to be used in house cleaning time."

All-wool—style—value
3 reasons for coming here

YOU know these are unusual times; wool is hard to get, so in many cases cotton is substituted in clothes. You have to be careful or you'll get cotton mixed goods—you don't want them.

The way to be sure of all-wool is to come to this store; you'll get Hart Schaffner & Marx clothes. These makers use nothing but all-wool. Such clothes may cost a little more than the other kind; but they're worth many times more.

For smart style, good fit, big values, and elegance in detail, you can't equal Hart Schaffner & Marx clothes. We don't say that because we sell the clothes; on the contrary, we sell these clothes because we can say these things about them. And that's another good reason why you should come here.
