To Discuss a Woman County Agent.

There will be a series of meetings held for the women in several of the towns of the county during the week of Oct. 29th. Miss Bertha A. Holden, home economist specialist from the University of Vermont and state agricultural college at Burlington, will address the women at these meetings and explain what is necessary to do to secure a woman county agent for Orleans county. At these meetings the women will be asked to nominate one of their number to act as chairman of a committee in that community. Miss Holden has had a large amount of experience in home economics work and will be able to tell the women many interesting facts. The meetings are scheduled as follows:

Oct. 30, 2:30 p. m., Grange hall at Greensboro.

7:30 p. m., Batchelder's hall, Barton.

Oct. 31, 2:30 p. m., Grange hall at Brownington.

7:30 p. m., Lowell.

Nov. 1, 2:30 p. m., town hall, Irasburg.

8 p. m., School, hall Newport.

On Monday and Friday nights the county agent will hold meetings so that the farmers may have their fertilizer formulas figured for the coming year and a discussion of the recent farm management work will also be taken up. Following is the schedule:

Oct. 29, Office hours, 2-5 p. m., Pike's hotel, North Craftsbury; meeting at 8 p. m. at hall, North Craftsbury.

Nov. 2, Office hours, 2-5 p. m., at Grange hall, Brownington village; meeting at 8 p. m., at Grange hall, Brownington village.

Christmas Mail for the Boys

Patrons of the postal service who wish to send Christmas boxes to United States soldiers and sailors absent on foreign service should mail them before Nov. 15. The United States government will place these boxes in the hands of our boys on Christmas morning, if mailed before the time specified. Articles should be placed in strong boxes and fastened in such a way as to permit examination by the postmaster, and addressed in ink with the name of the sender in the upper left hand corner. Intoxicants, poisons, explosives, inflammable matter or anything liable to injure the mails or employees will not be allowed transit. All sharp-edged articles should be wrapped in such a way as to eliminate all danger of injury to persons handling the mails. The postage rate will be the same as the eighth zone, or 12 cents per pound or fraction of a pound. Boxes should be marked, "Christmas Mail."

Miss Clara Burgess for the River school district.

Mr. Proctor issues the following statement:

"I find a number of people who think we are organizing a committee for the purpose of taking an inventory of the food stuffs which they may have on hand. I do not know from what source that statement originated, but I do know that it is wrong, and I wish right here, to contradict it. The object of this food conservation campaign is merely to enroll as members of the Food Conservation administration, every American citizen in this country. When you sign the pledge card you will receive a membership card. Do not allow this card to be destroyed or fall into the possession of a non-member. You will some day be very proud of this membership card. Any person not having an opportunity to join will please communicate the fact to the nearest committee member, or to me, telephone 9-14. This applies to the heads of families. The names of those refusing to join will be kept separately and turned over to me at the close of the campaign week."

"Yours very respectfully,
"W. B. Proctor."

Fred A. Drown.

Funeral services for Fred A. Drown, who died in Beverly, Mass., Oct. 21, were held from the home of Mrs. Drown's brother, Harry R. Conner, Tuesday afternoon, at 2:30 o'clock, Rev. I. A. Ranney officiating. The beautiful flowers testified of the respect and love in which the deceased was held. The funeral was attended by many friends from Willoughby and a large number of members from Odd Fellows and Rebekah lodges in St. Johnsbury. Interment was in the Willoughby cemetery. Mr. Drown was in the sled business with his father, Aaron Drown (now residing at Willoughby) in Barton at one time.

The following from a Beverly daily of Oct. 22 gives further particulars:

Fred A. Drown, after an illness of four weeks, died yesterday morning at his late home on Washington street, this city. The deceased was born at Willoughby, Vermont, April 12, 1873. He attended the schools of that town and for a time worked at blacksmithing with his father. In 1895 he married Miss Lena Conner of Orleans, Vt., and took up electrical work in Barton, the same state. He followed this business in Lyndonville and St. Johnsbury for a number of years, and in March, 1915, came to Beverly. Here he was engaged in fancy wood turning. During the several years' residence in Beverly he made many friends and his decease will be lamented by a large circle of friends who came to know and love him.

Mr. Drown was an Odd Fellow, a member of Caledonia lodge, St. Johnsbury, the Sons of Veterans, and the Modern Woodmen. He and his family were attendants of the Methodist Episcopal church of Beverly. He is survived by his wife and daughter, Retta, who resides at his home, his aged father, who lives in the Green Mountain state.

The missionary meeting will be held Tuesday afternoon in the church parlor. There will be work.

The Ladies' society were entertained at the home of Mrs. C. F. Cutler Friday afternoon. The society voted to give $50 to the Red Cross and $5 for two "Good Cheer Libraries" to be sent to Camp Devens this week. This makes $100 the society has given to the Red Cross this year.

George Hawkins.

George Hawkins died Friday afternoon at Sunshine sanitarium. Mr. Hawkins had not been well for two years, but was taken seriously ill on Wednesday night of strangulated hernia and grew worse so rapidly that it was thought best for him to submit to an operation, although his case was considered hopeless.

He was taken to Sunshine sanitarium where he took the same chance in many for his life, but died during the operation.

George Hawkins was born 49 years ago on the Hawkins farm about four miles west of Barton on the West Glover road, the son of William G. and Betsey (Collison) Hawkins, whose he inherited all his life. He was never married.

Mr. Hawkins was associated with his brother, Henry, in the management of the large Hawkins farm, well known in this part of the county. The brothers were most successful farmers.

Mr. Hawkins is survived by three brothers, Oney of St. Johnsbury, William and Henry of Barton, two sisters, Mrs. Arthur Williamson of Barton and Mrs. Clara Johnson of Providence, R. I.

The funeral was from the home Monday afternoon, Rev. W. A. Warner officiating and interment was in Welcome O. Brown cemetery.

Club Backs Hoover's Program.

At the October meeting of the Barton Improvement club held last evening the following resolution was unanimously adopted:

"Realizing the need of conserving the foodstuffs of the nation that we may supply our fighting men and those of our allies those commodities which are urgently required for a successful prosecution of the war, and which they must obtain from us if they are to exert their full strength in the field, and fully recognizing that with the American people alone lies the strength and will to supply these needs, we, the trustees of Barton Improvement club, do hereby pledge ourselves and through this resolution all members of this organization, to the greatest possible reduction of waste, to an economical use of all foodstuffs and to a loyal observance of such directions as the food administrator of our government may find necessary in the cause of humanity and civilization."

At the annual meeting of the missionary society, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Mrs. C. F. Cutler; vice president, Mrs. George Gorham; secretary, Mrs. Caroline Holbrook; treasurer, Mrs. George King.

The missionary meeting will be held Tuesday afternoon in the church parlor. There will be work.

The Ladies' society were entertained at the home of Mrs. C. F. Cutler Friday afternoon. The society voted to give $50 to the Red Cross and $5 for two "Good Cheer Libraries" to be sent to Camp Devens this week. This makes $100 the society has given to the Red Cross this year.

Barton Scouts Given Medals.

A pleasant event of the past week was the presentation of the National Badges of Honor to the Boy Scouts who had sold ten or more Liberty bonds.

The affair was held in the assembly hall at the school building Friday evening and was much enjoyed by those present. Miss Ruggles played an inspiring march and the Scouts appeared led by Prof. Bates and followed by Scoutmaster Batchelder.

The pledge to the flag was given, followed by the invocation by Rev. W. A. Warner and the singing of America.

The Scouts then gave an interesting exercise including signaling with flags. Mr. Warner then gave a short but inspiring address, and Cornelius Buckley, postmaster, and representative of the government, in most appropriate words presented the badges of honor to Raymond Longley, Henry Cutler and Neil Gardner.

The singing of "The Star Spangled Banner" closed this part of the program.

Miss Phoebe Currier assisted by Miss Buck and Miss Smith, served coffee and wafers in the domestic science room.

The company then repaired to the music room for a short season of music and dancing.

Methodist Church Notes.

Rev. I. A. Ranney, Pastor.

Sunday, Oct. 28th.

Morning worship at 10:45.

Sunday school, 12:00.

Junior League at 4 o'clock.

Senior League at 6 o'clock. Subject, "Christ's Yoke Made Easy." Jer. 31:32; Matt. 11:29, 30; Acts 19:1-6.

Evening service at 7 p. m.

Choir rehearsal, Wednesday evening at Hotel Barton at 7:30.

Prayer meeting Thursday at 7:30.

The first class meeting of the Epworthian class was held at Rev. Mr. Ranney's last Tuesday evening. Ten members and two visitors were present. About 16 have decided to take up the work and those who went can assure the rest of something worth while to look forward to. We surely appreciate Mr. Ranney's efforts in the work.

Last Sunday Mr. Ranney took his text from Galatians 17:5 "But I went into Arabia and returned again into Damascus." Paul was an outcast. Every man and every woman carries in his or her body the marks of a master. The trembly hand, selfishness, intemperance, pride, worldliness, stinginess, all stamp their imprint on our faces. So the stamp of a worthy Christian life is written in our countenances. Obedience, love, denial, these three help us to do the will of God and love one another. If any have not the spirit they are none of his. The marks of the Lord Jesus Christ will show.

There will be a union service at the M. E. church Sunday evening, and Mrs. Emma Howard, one of the convention speakers at Orleans, will deliver an address. Everyone invited.

ENTHUSIASM HIGH AT WAR CONVENTION

Eloquent Speakers Draw Applause After Applause. Attendance County-Wide and Lane's Opera House Filled.

Orleans county's war convention Thursday afternoon at Lane's opera house, Newport, was a mass meeting long to be remembered by the 600 people who filled the house. The Newport band played just before the speakers entered the hall, which was shortly before 2 o'clock, and there were few preliminaries, once inside.

C. S. Emery of Newport presented James P. Taylor, who is chairman of the food pledge campaign in the state. Mr. Taylor said that this was a "business meeting and was for our business," and without extended remarks presented William B. Guthrie, professor of law in the City college, New York.

Professor Guthrie proved a stirring orator. He said he had been thrilled at meeting Vermont audiences, and called attention to the German menace putting it under three heads: First, against the national life of such countries as Belgium and Poland; second, against liberty, and third, it is a menace against law. All these are threatened by the iron fist of the German imperial party. England, France, Belgium and Italy took up the gauntlet and the United States has gone in to do her part in turning the scales for the Allies against these great menaces. We are now ready and willing, he said to take up "Old Glory" and take it to those who are hell pressed. "We'll do our bit. We'll buy bonds, knit socks, and we will go over the top with the rest."

"We are making the most serious appeals for another contribution to the second Liberty loan. The government must have this money to properly equip our army, to help sustain our heroic allies in Europe, and to care for our vast army in the European campaign. The absolute need for sacrifice on our part must be shown from various points of view."

"Yes, we Americans have a tradition to maintain. We gave the world its first democracy when every power on earth was against us. We again struggled from 1861-1865 to preserve democracy when again every power on earth was against us. I remind you that the resident has put the great aim of this giant struggle in the now famous phrase 'To make the world safe for democracy' a democracy born and defended for 150 years. Americans, we have a noble tradition to live up to."

"We should also not forget nor underestimate the foe we fight in Europe. The German imperial govern-

TODAY.

Today is Liberty Day by proclamation of President Wilson and Governor Graham. Buy a Liberty Bond and help win the war.

MAGAZINE TIME

(The following announcement by the Monitor last week has started an avalanche of subscriptions of all kinds toward the Monitor office. Get under cover before Nov. 10. We repeat what we said last week.)

If you take one or more magazines or papers this message will interest you. It may be a daily, a farm paper, or magazine, a trade publication, woman's magazine, or one of the popular monthlies. Whatever reading matter you take you can save money on it by acting on this announcement.

Under reciprocal arrangements publishers often grant special concessions to each other. The Monitor is in a position to offer the benefit of such concessions to its subscribers for a limited time. After November 10 readjustments of subscription prices, discounts to agents and publishers, etc., are made. What changes will be made are not known, but it is safe to say that there will be no reductions with the present price of paper, and the Monitor has already received notice of the intention of some publishers to raise the price of their publications after November 10. Others will reduce their price concessions to us.

It is therefore certain that no money can be saved by waiting and almost sure that money can be saved by acting now in subscribing for your reading matter.

These prices are made to Monitor subscribers only, as recognition of their patronage. A few years ago the Monitor numbered its subscribers who sent us all their magazine and newspaper subscriptions by the score. The list grew to hundreds and last year well toward 1000 persons sent us their business. They do it because it is convenient to order ALL their reading matter in one letter and of one publisher—and at the same time save a substantial bit of money, 15 to 20 per cent. California subscribers as well as local people take advantage of our rates. Subscribers who desire to take advantage of these prices must have their Monitor subscription paid at least three months in advance or include a Monitor subscription with their order.

While this offer is for Monitor subscribers only, it does not prevent Monitor subscribers from sending in their friends' or neighbors' list of magazines or papers with their own. We send papers or magazines to separate names and addresses whenever desired.

Monitor subscribers who have recently subscribed in the great Red Cross campaign or whose subscription does not expire for more than three months, need pay no attention to remittances for the Monitor, but simply send us the price of the several publications which they wish, stating whether each is a renewal or new.

We price below but a few magazines and papers. We can make equally low prices on practically any magazine, farm paper or periodical published. If you don't find what you want below, use the blank and ask for quotations.
