The following is copied from the Lowell Courier-Citizen and will be of interest to many of our readers as the bride is well-known in this vicinity: "Chelmsford, Sept. 1. There was a quiet home wedding at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Cass of North street, at 6 o'clock this

Mrs. Melvina Wright.

Mrs. Melvina Wright, who has lived with her son on Park street for many years, died September 12, of old age and heart disease following a decline in health of more than a year's duration.
Funeral services were held from the Wright home Friday afternoon, Rev. J. Hutchinson officiating and interment was in the West Glover cemetery.

Mrs. Wright was a woman of unusual charm of character, whose devotion to family, friends and church was the result of her deep Christian conviction and experience. She had lived in Barton about 30 years and during that time her life has been one of saintly devotion and service to others so long as her physical strength would permit of that service, and since her declining strength would not permit of getting about she has mourned her inability, but through it all has borne the burden with quiet submission, ready and willing to meet her God. She was a faithful member of the Barton Congregational church, and several years ago she was married to Mr. W. W. Miles of Barton, two sons, Charles, of Albany and W. M. Wright with whom she lived, besides several grandchildren and a great-grandchild.

CARD—We wish in this way to express our sincere thanks to the neighbors and friends for the beautiful flowers and their many kindnesses during the illness and death of our mother.
Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Wright.
Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Wright.

Correction.
In the premium awards printed last week we are informed that George Moxley won the $20 prize for an aged Holstein heifer, died B. J. Fuller; Fuller receiving $10, as second prize.

LUELLA S. ROWELL

After long months of pain and sickness, the soul of Mrs. Luella S. Rowell was at last released from the suffering body and the spirit went back to its creator on Wednesday morning, September 13, 1922.
Luella S. Rowell was born in Irasburg November 20, 1863, to John and Emerette (Sunbury) Priest. She became the wife of Willard C. Rowell February 6, 1883, and lived nearly all her married life in Albany, where she was missed by her neighbors and friends, although for some years she had some invalid in her home to care for or was herself shut in by sickness. She has been cared for the past few months by Miss Sybil Cochran, a trained nurse, and all done that loving hands and hearts could do. She is survived by her husband and three sons, John E., Enoch W. and Frank P., and seven grandchildren. The funeral was held at the house on Friday afternoon, Rev. George McDonald of Montgomery being the officiating clergyman. The bearers were the three sons, with John Priest, Fred Williams, Robert Beede and Lloyd Beede. Those from away to attend the obsequies were, John E. Rowell, Waterville, Me.; Frank P. Rowell, Worcester, Mass.; Mrs. McDonald of Montgomery, Mrs. W. H. Beede and sons, Robert and Lloyd, of Hardwick; A. C. Williams and son, Fred; Mr. and Mrs. Olin Rowell, Mrs. David Prance, Mrs. R. S. Wells, Mrs. Austin Page, Mrs. R. N. Baldwin, Mrs. John Priest of Irasburg; Mr. and Mrs. Orlando Page, Mrs. Bailey, Harry Merrill, Mrs. Kate Delano of Orleans.

The family desire to express their appreciation to all who gave the many and beautiful flowers, especially to the Grange; and all who have in any way made the burden and the sorrow lighter. The burial was in the village cemetery, where they left her to rest, covered with sweet and fragrant blossoms.

REBEKAHS MEET IN BARTON

Annual Meeting Largely Attended by Newport and Derby Members.
The annual meeting of Rebekah lodges of District No. 5 was held with Sunbeam Lodge, No. 17, at Barton Wednesday night and was pronounced a grand success in every way. Barton holds an attraction to other towns where Rebekah Lodges are located which was well evidenced by the attendance on this occasion nearly 150 members of the order being present. Morning Star Lodge No. 2 of Newport turned out in large numbers, 61 being present, requiring eleven autos to make the transportation. The gathering was one of the most pleasant in years. The Barton Rebekahs knew just how to start it off, which was by satisfying the inner man, and a most bountiful supper was served, in neatness and dispatch.

The opening ceremonies were performed by officers of Sunbeam lodge No. 17 and Mrs. Barbara Brunning, P. G., introduced the Grand Officers. Mrs. Annie Larabee, District Deputy President, very ably presided over the meeting and called on Mrs. Laura McFarland P. D. D. P., who in a few words, that meant much, welcomed the guests. Mrs. Mae Leavitt, P. N. G. of Morning Star Lodge gave the response and she is recognized as one of a few in the entire district equal to the occasion. The collection for the monument fund for Gill Odd Fellows Home Burial Lot at Ludlow amounted to $15. The exemplification of degree work was done by members of Morning Star Lodge, and while they were unprepared, their work was highly complimentary and was referred to as such by Grand Officers present.

Wide Awake Lodge, No. 68 of Derby won for themselves high credit in the exemplification of the Ballot as well as Clyde River Lodge No. 64 of Island Pond in taking in a member by transfer card.

Mrs. Grace Morrow, P. D. D. P., read an excellent report of the last District meeting and encouraging reports from the several lodges in the District were given. The unwritten work was exemplified by the Astor Lodge of Barton, District Deputy President, and Mr. Justina Waterman, District Deputy President of District No. 11.

Grand officers who were present were Mrs. Mabel Calwell of Burlington, assembly president; Emma Gates of Ludlow, assembly secretary; Mrs. Annie Leavitt of Barton, District Deputy President, and Mr. Justina Waterman, District Deputy President of District No. 11.

evening when their elder daughter, Maude Marion, was united in marriage with Mr. Wesley Brigham of New York City. The room had been prettily decorated for the occasion, the color scheme of yellow and white with asparagus and hydrangeas, being used. A large floral arch occupied one corner of the room beneath which the ceremony was performed by Rev. G. Lovell, pastor of the Central Congregational church. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Helen Cass, both being gowned in afternoon dresses of navy blue, the bride carrying roses and the bridesmaid, marigolds. Mr. George Brigham, a brother of the bridegroom, acted as best man. A reception followed the ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Brigham are to make their home at 55 West 6th street, New York City, where Mr. Brigham has a position as an electrical engineer.

Cowles-Anderson

The following account of the wedding of a popular young Barton business man is taken from a Brockton, Mass., paper under date of September 13, from East Bridgewater:

A pretty wedding was solemnized at the Methodist Episcopal church on Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock when Miss Elsie Angeline Anderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Anderson of Elm street, became the bride of Albert Lee Cowles, son of Mrs. Sarah Cowles of Barton, Vt., in the presence of a large gathering of relatives and friends, among whom were many former pupils and associates of the Brockton high school.

The church was most attractively decorated, white clematis and asparagus ferns being arranged along the chancel rail and the choir rail with pleasing effect. Asters and gladioli were used to complete the decorations.

Previous to the ceremony songs were beautifully rendered by Miss Margaret Gow of Boston, of whom the bride entered the church learning on the arm of her father, who gave her in marriage, to the strains of the wedding march from "Lohengrin," played by her cousin, Mrs. William L. Nelson of Brockton, who presided at the organ, and was met at the chancel rail by the groom, who was attended by Robert Tomlinson of Bridgeport, Ct., as best man. Miss Helen Anderson, sister of the bride, acted as maid of honor.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. Seelye K. Tompkins, pastor of the South Congregational church of Brockton, and the double ring service was used.

The bride looked very charming in a gown of white satin with court train and trimmings of georgette and Spanish lace. She wore a string of pearls, the gift of the groom, and carried a bouquet of brides roses. Her veil was of tulle with bandeau of orange blossoms. The maid of honor was gowned in pink tulle with silver trimmings and hat to match. She carried an arm bouquet of pink roses.

The ushers were Alfred Anderson of Brockton, Eldon Nelson of Brockton, Ray Foye of Boston, Richard Shaw and three brothers of the bride, Eric Anderson of Brockton, and Carl and Leslie Anderson of this town.

To the maid of honor the bride presented a string of pearls and the groom presented a diamond ring and ushers with gold tie clasps.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held in the vestry of the church. A dainty bower of asparagus fern, white marigolds and cosmos was arranged on one corner where the bride couple, assisted by maid of honor and best man and Mrs. Sarah Cowles, mother of the groom, and Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Anderson, parents of the bride, received their many friends.

Mrs. Anderson, mother of the bride, wore gray crape crepe with beaded trimmings, with black picture hat, and carried daybreak pinks. Mrs. Cowles, mother of the groom, was attired in brown faille crepe with bronze beaded trimmings and a black lace hat, and carried daybreak pinks. A collation was served in charge of Miss Anna V. Nelson of Brockton, a cousin of the bride
