AN ADDRESS

COMPOSED FOR A TEMPERANCE MEETING. Ye friends of moderation, Who think a reformation, Or moral renovation, Would benefit our nation: Who deem intoxication, With all its dissipation In every rank and station, The enuse of degradation; Of which your observation : Gives daily demonstration,— Who see the ruination, Distress and desolution, The open violation,
Of moral obligation,
The wretched habitation
Without accommodation,
Or any regulation,
For common sustenation,
A scene of depravation,
Unequally in creation. Unequall'd in creation; The frequent desecration Of Sabbaths' ordination; The crime and depredation Defying legislation; The awful profanation Of common conversation, The mental aberation, And dire infatuation With every sad gradation To maniae desperation: Ye who with consternation, hold its devastation, Behold its devastation,
And utter condemnation
On all inchristion;—
Why sanction its duration?
Or show disapprolation,
Of any combination,
For its extermination?
Without prevariention,
We deem a declaration,
That offers no temptation,
By any salilation. By any palliation, Of this atomination, The only sure foundation,
The total expiration;
And under this persuation
Hold no communication,
With noxious emanation Of brewer's fermentation,
Of spirit distillation,
Producing stimulation;
To this determination,
We call consideration, And without hesitation, Invite co-operation; Not doubting invitation, And high approbation, Without provocation Will raise your estimation, With this association, You may, by meditation Ensure the preservation Of a future generation Of such regeneration,
He the theme of exultation,
Till its final consummation.

AN ALLEGORY.

It was night. Jerusalem slept quietly amid her hills, as a child upon the breast of its mother. The noiseless sentinel stood like a statue at his post, and the philosophor's light burned dimly in the recesses of his chamber.

But a darker night was abroad upon the earth. A moral darkness involved the nations in its unlightened shadows. Reason shed a faint glimmering over the minds of men, like the cold and efficient shining of a distant star. The immortality of man's spiritual nature was unknown, his relations to Heaven undiscovered, and his future destiny obscured in a cloud of mystery.

It was at this period that two forms of etherial mould hovered above the land of God's chos n people. They seemed sister angels sent to earth on some embassy of love.

The one was of majestic stature, and in the well formed limbs which her snowy drapery scarcely concealed, in her erect bearing and steady eye, were exhibited the highest degree of strength and confidence. Her right was extended in an impressive gestur-ard, where night appeared to have placed her darkest pavillion, while on her left reclined her delicate companion, in form and countenance the contrast of the other, for she was drooping like the flower when unmoistened by refreshing dows, and her bright but troubled eye scanned the air with ardent but varying glances.

Suddenly a light like the sun flashed out from the heavens, and Faith and Hope hail- spplied on a flannel will relieve and cure at once.ed with exulting songs the ascending Star of Fresh wounds or old sores are rapidly cured by it. Bethlehem.

Years rolled away, and a stranger was seen in Jerusalem. He was a meek and unassuming man, whose happiness seemed to consist in acts of benevolence to the human race There were deep traces of sorrow in his countenance, though none knew why he grieved, for he lived in practice of every virtue, and was loved by the wise and good, By and by it was rumored that the stranger worked miracles, that the blind saw, the domb spoke, and the dead leaped to life at his touch; that, when he commanded, the ry thunders articulated, 'He is the Son of that made by Envy assailed him with the charge of sorcery, and the voice of impious judges con-domned him unto death. Slowly, and thick guarded, he ascended the hill of Calvary .-A heavy cross bent him to the earth; but Faith leaned upon his arm, and Hope, dipping her pinions in his blood, mounted to the found lecturer, closes a letter to the "Signs good. HAVE THESE OR NONE, should be of the Times," with the following profound Postscript :

" P. S. If we have made no mistake, in our exposition of the Prophecies of Daniel, the Lord will come in 1843. Should there be a mistake, which is Possible, still I believe from the other prophecies, that the end of all things is at hand. I shall LOOK FOR BIM TILL HE COMES !"

The inventor of the famous "Essence of Life" recommended to take one (dollar) bottle, and if it did not cure, to take another and if it did not effect a cure, to continue taking until it did.

BEAUTIPUL CONCEIT .- In the third volunie of Mr. Bancroft's splendid history is one of the finest conceits in the language. The Indian mothers, he says, while at work in the field, hang their infants, as spring does its blossoms, upon the branches of the trees.

This uncommonly apt, lively, and graceful smile can hardly fail to remind the reader of the profane story of Jupiter, whose nusse is represented as suspending the infant thunder in his cradle in the same manner, that he might not be found in earth, sea, or

THE fact is proved, and the most incredulous and doubting are tally convinced of its great atting, as we have the evidence from the sale of about 25 - 000 loxes of the Odontica, within the past year. It is assertimed from experience, that when need, the ceth will never decay, but remain till the latest age of man, with their naviral wear; and more—in thou

BALDNESS.—Important Discovery—the Great
Mystery found out at last.

DR. STERRY'S HAIR REGENERATOR.—Dr.
Sterry, after much attention to the important subject of preserving the hair, has after many experiments chemical and physical, been able to discover an article which is now offered with the greatest confidence for the toilette, as the best thing ever discoverdence for the toilette, as the best thing ever discovered, for its softening and penetrating quality, to produce a good head of hair—to prevent it from falling off when I aldness is apprehended—to restore it when baldness has taken place, and to prevent it from turning gray. It is more nourishing than pomatum, antique oil, or Cologne water. It is a beautiful article for ladies' carls—it makes the hair soft and lively, and produces uncommon brilliancy. Thousands have tested its superior virtues and excellence, and in every instance it stands unrivalled. It is an infallable cure in all affections of the skin on the head—as dandruff, &c &c. Every family should be supplied with a bottle of this oil, that by its application to the head and hair of children, the beautiful and ornamental appendage of a fine head of hair, with which nature has supplied us, may be preserved.
