

NEW YORK NOTES.

The Metropolitan as an Educational Centre—Queer Police Court Business.

When one stops to think of it, the number of young men in this city, who are studying in the colleges and seminaries which bestow the degree of B. A., and higher degrees, is surprising.

There are in the neighborhood of ten thousand. They alone would make a formidable army.

Among the more important institutions of the city the students are divided, roughly, as follows: Columbia college, (Episcopalian) 600 students; College of the City of New York, (free college) 1400; University of the City of New York, (Presbyterian) 1300; Packard's business college, 600; New York Polytechnic, 500; Bellevue Medical college, 500; Post-Graduate Medical college, 350; College of Pharmacy, 100; St. Francis Xavier's college, Roman Catholic) 300; Union Theological Seminary, (Presbyterian) 100; Homeopathic Medical college, 150; the American Veterinary college, 150; and the General Theological Seminary, (Episcopalian) 100.

Besides these, there are 1300 young women in the Normal college, about 100 other young women studying for the degree of B. A. in different institutions in the city. New York is not often spoken of as an educational centre but these figures speak for themselves.

An illustration of the ease with which prisoners can make their escape from the workhouse on Blackwell's Island, across the narrow strip of water called the East river and into New York city, came up in one of the city police courts a day or two ago, when William Love, aged 39, and his brother, Robert, both of this city, were arraigned before Justice Taintor. William was charged with being an escaped prisoner, and an examination developed some curious facts in regard to the way in which justice is administered in the police courts.

Love was arrested on October 9 for being drunk and disorderly, and Justice McMahon, who was the presiding justice, committed him to the Island for three months, in default of $300 bail. Assemblyman Kerrigan gave bail, but the prisoner was sent to the Island until the signature of one of the commissioners of charities was affixed to the bond.

While the bond was waiting Love sneaked off the bars on a window of the prison, got on a plank, paddled himself across the East river in the early dawn of October 15, and went home. Three other men made their escape at the same time. The warden discovered this and sent a keeper over to Captain Killilea, of the forty-second police precinct, and told him to look out for Love. An officer was detailed for the purpose, and he should not find the prisoner. The opportunity came on Saturday night. Love and his brother Robert were seen on the street near their home, and Policeman George Dale attempted to arrest William. Robert went to help his brother, who was subdued. Both were locked up, and told this story in court, and Robert was fined $10. William was held for further examination.

During the examination several part owners testified that they were present when Love's bond was made out, and Justice Taintor did not know what to do. If the prisoner's bond had been signed, how could he be an escaped prisoner, and why was he sent to the Island? Mr. Lynch, the warden of the Yorkville prison, was called, and from the evidence he gave it appeared that the prisoner had made his escape two or three years before the discharge had arrived at the Island. No warden or keeper appeared to claim the prisoner, and all that Officer Dale knew about the case was that his captain had given him orders to "pull in" the man William Love, and he had done so. "Then, take him back to the station-house until you can make a charge against him," said the justice, "for I fail to find any evidence on which to send him back to prison."

The number of escapes in recent months have been numerous, and seem to point to serious neglect on the part of the authorities. The commissioners of charities and correction are holding a thorough investigation into the matter.

A GREAT MASONIC TEMPLE.

Chicago's Latest Gigantic Building Project Described.

Norman T. Gassett, prime mover in the big project of the Masonic temple said: "The grand structure will have its halls and corridors on the various floors named as are the streets and avenues of a city. The reason of this is to do away with all idea of altitude. Suppose a timid man wants to see some one whose office is on the eighteenth floor. He will draw a long sigh, murmur 'Eighteenth floor,' and probably go back home without seeing the person, or perhaps try to cover the distance by telephoning. But if she is sold by the elevator boy that her friend is up on Morris street, why, of course, there is no idea of altitude; the steps into the elevator and is shut up to the eighteenth floor. There will be sixteen streets in the temple. They will be named after men who have been prominent in Masonry. The first street above the main floor we will name Gurney, in honor of the late T. T. Gurney, one time City Comptroller of Chicago, who was in Masonry Past Grand Commander of Illinois as well as Past Grand Master. That's the only name yet selected.

The foundations will be of steel girders. Each floor will be like a span of a cantilever bridge. They will be drawn together with red-hot bolts, so that there can be no vibration. The atmospheric pressure has been figured in an exaggerated way. So has the velocity of the wind. To particularize: The temple will be built so as to resist successfully the wind at a velocity of 135 miles an hour. Such a wind would level all the ordinary business blocks of the city. The weight of the people on each floor has been overestimated. We have provided to sustain a weight of as many people as could be packed in solid as sardines on every foot of space on every floor. We have also exaggerated the weight of the beams and of fireproofing. The upper floor will be as strong as the lower. They will so depend on each other as to be of uniform strength. Built on this principle it could be safely made forty stories high on that foundation. The only objection would be, it would require too much room for elevators. We now will have fourteen elevators, eight-foot cars, all arranged in a circle. That's more elevators than there are in any other building in the city. The superstructure and foundation are alike solid. Externally the four sides of the temple will be exactly alike. Even the alley sides will be a duplicate of State and Randolph street sides. It will appear exactly the same, no matter from which direction viewed.

The general appearance of the temple will be that of a gigantic monument. The lower five stories, in terra cotta, forming the base, then rising in smooth-faced brick, will gleam the shaft, while the frieze or top comes out in terra cotta. It is to be, you see, monumental. It will be the grandest structure in this city, and the most complete and occupied on May 1, 1892, an even year before the World's Fair opens." [Chicago Herald.]

Application for License. WILLIAM FOLSOM'S ESTATE. STATE OF VERMONT, Caledonia District, ss. In Probate Court, holden at the Probate Office in St. Johnsbury, on the 22d day of October, A. D. 1890.

Charles Rogers, executor of the last will and testament of William Folsom, late of Wheelock, in said district, deceased, makes application to said Court for license to sell the whole of the real estate of said deceased, said real estate consisting of one hundred acres of land, with buildings, called the home place; thirty-eight acres of pasture land, called the patch place; thirty acres of land called the Chase place; and one and one-half acres of land in the arable pasture, said lands situated in Wheelock and Greenboro, respectively, to said Court that it would be beneficial to the heirs, legatees, devisees, and all persons interested in the estate of said deceased to sell the whole of the real estate, to wit: said deceased as aforesaid, and convert the same into money; and also bring thereunto into Court the consent and approbation in writing to the granting of such license, of all the heirs, legatees and devisees to said estate reciting in this state.

Writing is ordered by said court that said application come under consideration and be heard on the 8th day of Nov., A. D. 1890, at the Probate Office in St. Johnsbury; and it is further ordered that all persons interested be notified hereof, by publication of notice of this application and order thereon, three weeks successively in the Caledonian, a newspaper printed at St. Johnsbury; before said time of hearing, that they may appear at said time and place, and if they see cause, object thereto.

Legal Notices. Notice in Chancery. Whereas, the Passumpsic Savings Bank, located at St. Johnsbury, in the County of Caledonia, has filed in the office of the Clerk of Caledonia County Court of Chancery against Amasa Paine, B. H. Percy, George C. Lucier, Lucy A. Lucier, B. F. Willard, William H. Blaisdell, G. W. Bruce, Curtis E. Austin and Lucy A. Lucier of Boston in the County of Suffolk and State of Massachusetts, December 10, 1886, duly executed to petitioner mortgage deed of certain land, situated in Jay, County of Orleans and State of Vermont, described as follows, to-wit: That part of Lot No. 31 in the South Division, divided by C. R. Bartlett and B. F. Paine to said G. C. Lucier by deeds dated November 3, 1884, and April 5, 1885, and recorded Book 6, page 181 and 187, Jay Land Records, supposed to contain 45 acres; also the East half of lot No. 33 and the west half of lot No. 32 in said South Division, supposed to contain in all 145 acres, be the same more or less. Conditioned for the payment of a note of the same date as said mortgage, signed by said G. C. Lucier, for the sum of $650, and demand with interest payable semi-annually, rising in semi-annual payments, and for the keeping of certain premises insured in some good Fire Insurance company, for the benefit of said petitioner, which note is due and unpaid together with the interest thereon from the first day of January, 1890.

And that on the 12th day of July, 1887, said George C. and Lucy A. Lucier duly executed to the petitioner another mortgage deed of certain pieces of land situated in Jay, aforesaid, and described as follows, viz: "All that part of Lot No. 23, divided by B. F. Paine to said G. C. Lucier by deed dated April 14, 1885, and recorded in Book 6, page 188 of Jay Land Records, supposed to contain about 250 acres, more or less. Conditioned for the payment of a promissory note for $550, dated July 12, 1887, signed by G. C. Lucier, payable on demand to said G. C. Lucier by deeds dated November 3, 1884, and April 5, 1885, and recorded in Book 6, page 181 and 187, Jay Land Records all in that part of Jay originally granted to Thomas Chittenden, and supposed to contain 250 acres.

Conditioned for the payment of a promissory note for the sum of $2000, dated January 14, 1880, payable with interest annually to the said Ranc, or bearer, and signed by said Amasa Paine, upon which last named note payments have been made as follows, viz: On July 6, 1884, $200, and on July 6, 1885, $200, and on Sept. 29, 1885, $100, on July 6, 1886, $75, and the balance of said note is still due and owing and has not been paid according to the tenor of said note, which last named note and mortgage are now held by the petitioner. And that said Amasa Paine is the owner of all the land named in the last named mortgage at the time of its execution and after the execution of said last named mortgage, by warranty number 33 into one Lucella A. Hadlock, by deed of the 14th day of Jan., 1880, then covered by said Ranc's said mortgage, which has never been discharged or released as to the lands therein described. By virtue of which conveyance by said Amasa Paine, and the covenents aforesaid, the said lot No. 33 became exonerated from the operation of the said Ranc's mortgage, and between said Amasa Paine and his grantees on the one side and said Lucella A. Hadlock and her grantees on the other side.

And the petitioner shows, that by a succession of warranty deeds from said Lucella A. Hadlock and her grantees the said lot 33 had passed to the petitioner, and that before the execution of the petitioner's mortgage, so that the said Ranc, George C. Lucier and the petitioner then had and now have the right to have said lot 33 exonerated from the operation of the said Ranc mortgage, and the petitioner is entitled to hold the whole of said lot 33, as security for its two debts first named.

The petitioner further shows that said Susan E. Percy, B. Franklin Paine, G. W. Bruce and Charles E. Austin, each claim a portion thereof, and said William H. Blaisdell claims an interest in a part thereof by way of mortgage or otherwise, and that Charles A. Long and H. Franklin Paine claim some interest, the character of which is unknown to the petitioner, in some portions of the premises covered by the petitioner's two first named mortgages, but that their rights are subordinate to the rights of the petitioner, and said first mortgages above named, and that the premises covered by said Ranc mortgage, exclusive of lot 33, are sufficient in value to pay the sum due upon said Ranc mortgage and the premises therein included, and that the petitioner said first two mortgages, including said lot 33, are sufficient to secure the due upon the petitioner's two first named mortgages, and paying that said Amasa Paine, B. H. Percy, Susan E. Percy, George C. Lucier, Lucy A. Lucier, B. Franklin Paine, William H. Blaisdell, G. W. Bruce and Curtis E. Austin, may be foreclosed of all equity of redemption in all the property covered by said Ranc mortgage and that in case any of the said last named defendants shall refuse from said Ranc mortgage, then said lot 33 shall be exonerated from the operation of said Ranc mortgage and be held discharged therefrom and bound only by the petitioner's two first named mortgages, and that upon the petitioner's two first named mortgages and all the premises therein included, including said lot 33, it may have a decree of foreclosure against the estate of George C. Lucier and Lucy A. Lucier and Charles A. Lucier and B. Franklin Paine, with a short time of redemption, and that the petitioner may have and further relief as to the Court may seem just.

And it being made to appear that said defendants, George C. Lucier and Lucy A. Lucier, reside without this state so that a citation cannot be served upon them, it is ordered that notice of the pendency of said petition be given them by publication in the Caledonian, a newspaper published at St. Johnsbury, in the County of Caledonia, three weeks successively, the last of which publications to be at least twenty days prior to the first day of the next term of Caledonia County Court, to be held at St. Johnsbury, in said County, on the first Tuesday of December, A. D. 1890, upon which day said defendants are ordered to make their appearance.

Dated at St. Johnsbury, in the County of Caledonia, October 21, 1890. HARRY L. HEALD, Deputy Clerk. IDE & QUIMBY, Solicitors.

Notice in Chancery. Whereas, Franklin Fairbanks and Charles M. Lamson, Trustees under the Will of Erastus Fairbanks, of St. Johnsbury, in the County of Caledonia, have filed in the office of the Clerk of the Caledonia County Court of Chancery against Sarah Fairbanks Stone, Charles Fairbanks, Emily Goodell, Isabel Fairbanks Farwell, Agnes Fairbanks Willard, Sarah T. Crossman, Henry E. Jewett, Edward A. Jewett and Franklin Fairbanks, heirs, devisees and legatees of Erastus Fairbanks, deceased, their petition for construction of sections 9 and 12 of Will of said Erastus Fairbanks, setting forth in substance that by the Will of Erastus Fairbanks, deceased, his residuary estate, after the payment of specific legacies, had been given to his two sons, Horace and Franklin Fairbanks, in trust, for certain benevolent and charitable objects, specified in the 12th article of said Will, subject to certain charges specified in the 9th article of said Will, which Will had been duly probated, and that all his specific legacies contained in said Will had been fully paid and said residuary estate had been partially distributed, and that said Erastus Fairbanks has deceased, and that said Charles M. Lamson had been duly appointed associate Trustee with said Franklin Fairbanks of said trust and residuary estate, in accordance with the provisions of said Will, and that said residuary estate had not been fully disposed of, and that said Trustees were in doubt as to the true meaning and construction of certain articles of said Will, and as to their powers and duties thereunder, and that the parties interested in the estate of said Erastus Fairbanks, and said Sarah T. Crossman, and that the defendants and the orator Franklin Fairbanks constitute all such heirs, and that the Court would construe said sections of said Will and judicially advise the orator and defendants of their rights and powers thereunder.

And it being made to appear that said defendants, Charles Fairbanks, Emily Goodell, Agnes Fairbanks Willard, Henry E. Jewett and Edward A. Jewett, reside without this State so that a citation cannot be served upon them, it is ordered that notice of the pendency of said petition be given them by publication in the Caledonian, a newspaper published at St. Johnsbury, in the County of Caledonia, three weeks successively, the last of which publications to be at least twenty days prior to the first day of the next term of Caledonia County Court, to be held at St. Johnsbury, in said County, on the first Tuesday of December, A. D. 1890, upon which day said defendants are ordered to make their appearance.

Dated at St. Johnsbury, in the County of Caledonia, October 22, 1890. HARRY L. HEALD, Deputy Clerk. IDE & QUIMBY, Solicitors.
