

AT DANVILLE.

Death of Lillian Wilson. The sympathy of many friends goes out to Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Wilson in the loss of their younger daughter, Lillian Wilson who was born July 31, 1896, and died July 8, 1904. Never robust, and subject to severe colds which often interrupted her attendance at school and church, she yet possessed more than usual intelligence and maturity. Taken to the hospital at Burlington, late in February, she was pronounced suffering from diabetes, thus confirming the diagnosis of her physician, and hope of ultimate recovery was given. The natural progress of the disease was retarded by her indomitable will power. Only a day before her death she was carried across the Green to her grandmother's. She took part in the Children's Day service at the Congregational church on June 12, and, having attained the age of seven, was presented with a bible as one of the baptized children of the church. Funeral services were held at the house Sunday at three o'clock, conducted by her pastor, Rev. G. H. Cummings, assisted by Rev. Mr. Gorse of the Methodist church. Besides relatives in Danville, there were present: Mrs. Holman, Mrs. Gale and daughter from Westford, J. F. Page and family, P. F. Carrick and family, Maurice Goodwin, and others from St. Johnsbury. The bearers were Messrs. Ira Preston, Sydney Page, Hermon Osgood and Dr. Brown. A profusion of beautiful flowers testified deep love and sympathy. Two appropriate selections were sung by Mrs. J. E. Tinker. Mr. Cummings spoke of 1 Cor. 13:12, 1. c. and Luke 18:16. Recognizing the parents' loss but emphasizing the child's gain and reading in conclusion from Longfellow's poem, Resignation, in part as follows:—

"She is not dead—the child of our affection,
But gone unto that school
Where she no longer needs our poor protection,
And Christ himself doth rate."

Not as a child shall we again behold her;
For when with raptures wild
In our embraces, she would unfold her,
She will not be a child;

But a fair maiden, in her father's mansion,
Clothed with celestial grace,
And beautiful with all the soul's expansion
Shall we behold her face."
