A Native of St. Johnsbury Visits King Menelik.

Mrs. William Northrup MacMillan, now of London, the First American Lady to Cross the Wilds of Abyssinia. Shot Big Game.

Mrs. William N. MacMillan returned to America on the Cedric Saturday and is now at the Waldorf-Astoria in New York. She is just back from her long and perilous journey up the Blue Nile and is the first American lady to reach Abyssinia, the country whose King is so favorably impressed with American ideas and American goods. Mrs. MacMillan is well remembered in St. Johnsbury, where she was born in 1867, and is the daughter of Rev. Dr. George N. and Charlotte (Fairbanks) Webber and a granddaughter of the late Sir Thaddeus Fairbanks. She was a student in St. Johnsbury Academy, completing her education at Smith College and later taking music lessons with Mary Howe in Paris. Her father was pastor of the South church in St. Johnsbury from Dec. 5, 1855—Sept. 13, 1859, was later pastor at Middlebury and president of Middlebury College and is now living at Northampton, Mass. She married William Northrup MacMillan of St. Louis in 1894, who has been for several years the London representative of the American Car and Foundry Company, popularly known as the car trust. The following interesting interview of the trip appeared in the New York Times of July 18: "It is true enough," said Mrs. MacMillan, "I am the first white woman to cross Abyssinia, but I would rather not have that fact elaborated upon.

RECENT DEATHS.

Henderson.

Rev. Mr. C. Henderson died at his son's home early Saturday morning, after an illness of about two months, in his 85th year.

Moses Cheney Henderson was born in Meredith, N. H., Aug. 3, 1819, being named after one of the members of the famous Cheney family of singers. When about six years old his family moved to Hardwick where he lived for about 17 years. He was educated at the Hardwick public schools and took a short biblical course in the school located at Parsonsfield, Me., now a part of Bates College. It is worth noting that Mr. Henderson walked all the way from Hardwick to Parsonsfield, a distance of over 200 miles, to get to this school. He was a member of the first class of eight students there, licensed to preach by the Wheelock association in 1840, and was ordained two years later. After his theological training he went, with the late Rev. Mark Atwood, to Nova Scotia and was located at Barrington and both were engaged in missionary work. He returned to Vermont in 1845 and began a pastorate which lasted 35 years and during this time he was pastor of the following churches, Northfield, Tunbridge, East Randolph, Corinth, Lyndon Center, South Royalton, Lakeport, N. H., Belmont, N. H., and Waterbury Center. Since 1880 he has been retired, but has supplied at different times at Wheelock, Sutton and other places and until within a year preached in the surrounding towns whenever there was a surplus needed. During his ministerial career he has officiated at 1030 funerals, and has married nearly 500 couples and in the cemetery where he now rests there are the bodies of 259 of those funerals he has officiated.

Mr. Henderson was married at Hartland Sept. 5, 1843, to Susan Ann Wood of Hartland. She died about four years ago and there is only one child in the family, Ola H. Henderson, the ticket agent of the Boston & Maine railroad at St. Johnsbury. Mr. Henderson has been a resident of St. Johnsbury since 1875, residing with his son since the death of his wife. He was a man universally beloved and highly esteemed, a man who pinned his faith in God in early life and whose long service for his Master has been richly rewarded.

He was never active in politics, but represented both Corinth and Lyndon in the legislature while pastor in those towns and was also superintendent of schools of the town of Lyndon. With one exception he was the oldest Free Baptist clergyman in Vermont.

The funeral was held at his late residence Monday morning and was largely attended. Among those present from out of town were Rev. G. C. Waterman of Hampden, N. H., H. A. Blake and Rev. Franklin Blake of Sutton, Rev. W. H. Lyster of Lyndon Center, Rev. J. W. Burdick of West Charleston, Rev. J. D. Waldron of Hardwick, Rev. Edward Blake of West Derby. The services were in charge of Rev. G. C. Waterman, Rev. W. H. Lyster, Rev. Robert L. Daston and Rev. C. R. B. Dodge. Music was furnished by the choir of the First Baptist church and the bearers were S. D. Atwood, George W. Cree, Henry R. Albee and Eben E. Carr. The burial tributes included an open Bible from the family, a pillow from the station employees, a garland of 84 pinks from Apollo Lodge, K. of P., and some pinks and other flowers from Mrs. C. F. Gibbs.

The remains were taken to Lyndon Center on the accommodation train and a service held in the Free Baptist church there where he was pastor for nine years. Seven ministers took part in the service there, which was very tender and attended by many of the old friends of the church. The speakers all spoke appreciatively of Mr. Henderson and his work, Rev. Mr. Lyster saying that the Lyndon Center church was more prosperous during his nine years' pastorate than at any time in the history of the church. Music was furnished here by a quartette and the bearers were H. M. Atwood, Warner Chesley, Charles Rogers and Carlos Bundy. The body was placed in the family lot at Lyndon Center by the side of his wife.

Wetherbee. Mrs. Abigail Wetherbee died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. C. H. Johnson, on Prospect avenue, Monday afternoon, after being confined to her room for the past five months, by the infirmities of old age. She was born at Fletcher 82 years ago next November, and for the past year has made her home here. Beside Mrs. Johnson she leaves two sons, E. I. Wetherbee of Concord, N. H., with his wife in town, and B. P. Wetherbee of Fletcher. A short service was held at the house yesterday, Rev. A. F. Welch officiating, and the body was taken to Fletcher this morning for burial. Mrs. Wetherbee has been totally blind for the past seven years, but was a very entertaining and pleasant person, appreciative and kindly interested in the welfare of others. She was a very capable woman, considering her affliction, doing a great deal of fancy work in a remarkably perfect way. She was strongly sustained in her days of feeble health by her Christian faith.

A Choice Musicales.

Lovers of good music enjoyed a rare treat at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Clark on Friday evening, where about 100 gathered to a musicale. Our St. Johnsbury artists did themselves great credit and it was a frequent remark of the evening that few towns of this size could be found where there is so much promising musical talent. The musicale was given in honor of Dr. George R. Clark of Boston and he was enthusiastically received when he rose to sing. By request he sang as an encore to his first selection "The Ninety and Nine" of his own composition, and it is also of interest to know that his last song was dedicated to him by the author. Dr. Clark's voice was never in better condition and he possesses a remarkable range and has the voice under splendid control. In one of his selections he reached B flat below lower C which is a note seldom heard from singers. At the close of the following choice program ice cream, cake and fruit punch were served:

Piano Solo—Pavillon, Schumann

Songs: a. I Had a Flower, Kellie Lassen

b. Jean, Spross

c. Summer Evening, Spross

Piano and Mandolin—Sognando, Rossi

Robert and Margaret Clark, Jude

Song—The Mighty Deep, Jude

Violin Solo: a. Reverie, Vieuxtemps

b. Shepherds' Dance, German

Miss Agnes Boynton, Grig

Song—The Old Mother, Grig

Mr. Robert P. Clark, Schubert

b. Hushen, Needham

Planning for the Fair.

The directors of the Caledonia Fair Ground Company meet this week to complete their arrangements for the annual fair Sept. 13, 14 and 15. The management have already engaged a big line of vaudeville attractions from Frank Melville of New York and are trying to secure a public speaker of national reputation to give an address. The growing weather the past few weeks gives promise of a big vegetable exhibit and there is sure to be a last string of horses for the races.
