Barton Local Talent.

The performance of the cantata "Joseph" as given by local talent in the opera house at Barton last week, was a complete success. The parts were all well taken and all the participants deserve great credit. The production was under the management of the League association with Prof. M. A. Davis directing it. The cast was as follows: Joseph's sister, Mrs. Lillian Hall; Pharaoh, Carl Wiley; Egyptian queen, Ethel Lohrop; Princess, Bernia Lohrop; Angel, Lena Wiley; Butler, F. J. Kneay; Baker, Clyde Wiley; Jacob, Rev. G. L. Schaefer; Leah, M. A. Davis; Reuben, H. B. Root; Guard, Rev. S. G. Lewis; Joseph, James Westall. Mr. Westall is but 17 years of age, but has an excellent tenor voice. The chorus numbered 60 voices and showed good training. The scenery was especially good and the costumes were from New York.

Sanatorium for Consumptives.

Dr. Henry D. Holton of Brattleboro, chairman of the State tuberculosis commission says in regard to the state sanatorium to be erected at Pittsford the coming year, that the committee is in receipt of many plans from architects who desire to bid for the construction of the building but it will be some time before definite action will be taken in the matter. The board in conference with Senator Proctor and others have concluded to adopt the one building plan with wing extensions for the sanatorium, instead of having a group of smaller buildings as it is in some states. The structure will cost $50,000 and will be erected on the highest point of the property in Pittsford purchased by Senator Proctor for this purpose.

It will probably be built of brick and marble, the latter material entering quite freely into the construction. It is the plan to begin work on the foundation as early in the spring as possible and to complete the structure before cold weather next fall.

The original gift of Senator Proctor was $150,000 to carry out the project of establishing the sanatorium and this will leave $100,000 to be placed as a permanent fund, the gift of the land being entirely outside the original gift.

Vermonters in Government Service.

Volume one of the official register of the United States, otherwise known as "The Blue Book," has just been issued from the government printing office. This register gives the names of each person employed in the various branches of the government, July 1, 1905, together with the position held by each and the amount of salary received. Volume one covers all branches of the service except the postal service, and volume two, which will be issued a few months later, will be devoted entirely to that department. An examination of the register shows that there are 183 persons employed by the government in the District of Columbia, who were appointed from and are credited to the state of Vermont, the aggregate salary of the whole number being $251,719.50. Included in this aggregate are those employed in the legislative branch, the various departments, commissions, and in the government of the District of Columbia, but it does not include Vermonters who are connected with the army, navy, or marine corps, although they may be stationed for the time being in Washington.

Sons of the Revolution.

The Vermont Daughters of the American Revolution has accepted the invitation of the Vermont Society Sons of the American Revolution to be present at the annual banquet given by the latter organization on the evening of Thursday, February 22, at the Van Ness House, Burlington. The committee on resolutions of the Sons of the Revolution will meet at six o'clock on that day, the banquet following. The principal speaker will be Hon. Charles H. Darling, collector of customs, and there will be others to be selected later.

The annual meeting of the Society of Colonial Wars will also be held on that day and the members of the society will attend the banquet at the Van Ness.

A committee was appointed at the meeting of the Sons of the Revolution to see about a memorial monument to Seth Warner of Revolutionary fame. The committee will report at the meeting this month on the advisability of the object.

Pension Check Returned.

Part of the plunder taken in the post office robbery at East Fairfield, October 10, 1905, was the pension check of E. C. Colburn. Mr. Colburn had properly endorsed the same and it had been cashed by the postmaster, L. N. Chase, as he is allowed to do. It appears to have been mailed on the St. Albans & Richmond railway October 12, the day of the shooting of the burglar in Jenison Gallup's store. The address on the envelope was "Mr. James Graham, General Delivery, New York City." It appears that Graham failed to call for his mail, and at the end of 30 days it went to the dead letter office at Washington. From there it was sent to Concord, N. H., the issuing office. From the latter office it was returned to the East Fairfield office and is now in the hands of the postmaster, L. N. Chase.

A Successful Centennial.

Montpelier recently held a centennial for which the city appropriated $100,000. This centennial will pass down in history as one of the successes of Vermont and rightfully so. At the time the appropriation was made there were pessimistic prophets who prophesied that this amount and more would be used in making the preparations for the celebration. When the celebration came off, the magnitude and splendor of it strengthened these prophecies for all but those who really knew, could not see how such an event could cost less. But this only adds to the laurels of those who had the affair in charge for the second cost has now been made known and are $4,258.51 or less than half the appropriation.

Cattle Dealer Settles.

By an agreement reached in the appeal of S. Henry, of Waterbury, Mass., in the matter of his claim against the George H. Phillips estate, a hearing which probably would have consumed five or six weeks was avoided. Mr. Henry agrees to pay the estate $3,600. Mr. Henry and Mr. Phillips were cattle dealers. Their dealings covered a period of 20 years and amounted on both sides to $1,250,000 and during that time the accounts never were figured up. After Mr. Phillips died Mr. Henry presents a claim for $11,000 against the estate. The commissioners disallowed it and decided that Mr. Henry owed the estate $5,400.

Vermont Mutual Wins Case.

The Vermont Mutual Fire Insurance Company has won a test case in supreme court. The court ordered an entry of judgment reversed and for the defendant to recover his costs. The case was between the Vermont Mutual Fire Insurance Company and the Vermont Mutual Life Insurance Company. This was a case in which the plaintiff sought to recover for damages done by the explosion of the boiler used for heating in a building in St. Albans. The Vermont Mutual in common with several other companies, involved did not believe themselves liable and a test was made on this case. The insurance companies won by decision. The sum of money involved was but slight.

B. & N. Pension Plan.

Following the plan of a number of the leading railroad companies of the country, the Boston & Maine has given favorable consideration to the establishment of a pension system for such of its employees as shall have served 30 years of service, and who have reached the age of 60. It is intended to perform duty beyond that age they will be continued until they reach 65. After retirement they may engage in some other occupation, except the sale of intoxicating liquors. At a conference with a committee representing the men the company's proposition was accepted, and will be immediately submitted to the employees.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure of the market. It is taken internally, it acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address, F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio. Solely Druggists, 725.
