

Death of Mrs. Folsom.

Mrs. Ellen (Kizer) Folsom, mother of Mrs. O. C. Amidon, died Friday night at St. Albans. Prayer services were held at 4.30 o'clock and the remains were brought here, where the burial took place Monday afternoon. For five weeks Mrs. Folsom has been suffering from neuralgia, and from last Monday she rapidly declined. Her old age contributed to a general breakdown. She was 63 years old having been born in Haverhill, N. H., April 15, 1837. August 22, 1857, she was married to the Rev. Elisha Folsom, a prominent Methodist minister of Vermont, and thereafter resided in the parishes of Westfield, Waterbury, Craftsbury, East Burke, Island Pond, Newport and Fairfax. Mr. Folsom died while stationed at Fairfax and his wife then went to St. Albans to live. She was a member of the Methodist church there and a woman of deep Christian character, a great helper in the home and a woman greatly loved by all who knew her. She is survived by two sons, H. G. and F. E. Folsom, of St. Albans; by a daughter, Mrs. O. C. Amidon of this place; by two brothers, Milo G. Kizer, of Newbury, and Daniel Kizer, of Haverhill, N. H.; by three sisters, Mrs. Lizzie M. Harriman, of Boston, Mrs. Putnam Haywood, of Topsham, and Mrs. Alois Cross, of Vershire. The funeral services were held at the home of her daughter, Mrs. O. C. Amidon. A mixed quartet composed of Miss Maude E. Follensby, Mrs. Hubert W. Brooks, S. D. Atwood and W. D. Atwood sang "Face to Face" and "My Heavenly Home." Presiding Elder Lewis assisted Rev. J. M. Frost in the services. The beautiful floral tributes showed the esteem in which this lady was held. Those from out of town were Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Folsom and Mr. and Mrs. Henry G. Folsom of St. Albans.

Annual Meeting.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the St. J. and L. C. railroad company is to be held at the office of the clerk of the corporation, in the passenger station, September 13, at 2.30 p. m., to elect a board of directors for the ensuing year and to transact other business.

Under Southern Skies.

One of the unusual features of Lottie Blair Parker's play of Southern life is that the women of the cast outnumber the men. As a rule the reverse is the case in dramatic offerings. The presence of so many women upon the scene is one of the attractions of the play. The birthday party of the youthful heroine, and the Halloween festivities, which include the carrying out of some amusing Halloween tricks and a Jack-o-lantern dance, give fine scope for showing the feminine members of the company to advantage. A very interesting character is a typical southern "auntie"—one of the faithful slaves who clung to the family she loved, though free to leave them if she wished to do so. The part of the heroine, Lelia Crofton, a young Southern belle, is a difficult one to enact, portraying as it does all the emotions from gay and loving light heartedness, to most intense misery and grief. The manager of Stanley Opera House has secured this very successful play and it will be seen at Stanley Opera House on Saturday, Sept. 15.

New Mileage Books.

The new ruling, whereby holders of Boston and Maine railroad 500-mile mileage books are permitted to use them on practically every part of the system instead of only in Massachusetts, went into effect Sept. 1. From now on this railroad will sell its 500-mile books at 2 cents a mile, the same as its 1000-mile books, and the smaller books will be good wherever the larger ones are, that is, the man with $10 in his pocket will be able to travel as cheaply as the one who has $20. The only lines of the system on which this privilege does not apply are the St. Johnsbury and Lake Champlain road, the Orchard Beach branch and the Profile and Franconia Notch branch. The railroad company expects that the change will mean a loss of business to ticket "scalpers," who have been doing a profitable business by buying 1000-mile books at 2 cents a mile and selling transportation at 2 1/2 cents a mile. Fares on the Boston and Maine railroad will average about 2 1/2 cents a mile, and in places run as high as three cents, so this extension of use of the 500-mile book means a lot to people of moderate or small means.

Off For Sea Girt.

The rifle team to represent the national guard of Vermont at the national match at Sea Girt, N. J., has been at Bellows Falls for a few days, leaving there last Sunday night. The members of this team have been selected to represent this state because of attaining the highest rank in the rifle practice during the past year. All are regularly commissioned officers or enlisted men in the national guard of Vermont and have performed at least 75 per cent of all military duty required during the past year. The team consists of 18 men, and includes Lieut. Col. M. Bonnet and Serg. W. D. Sargent from St. Johnsbury.

A Wells River Wedding.

A pretty home wedding was solemnized Wednesday afternoon, August 22, at Forest Hill Farm, Wells River, the residence of Charles Anderson, when his daughter, Matilda, was married to Philip Rancour of St. Johnsbury, Rev. William C. Prentiss, pastor of the Congregational church of Newbury officiating. At the appointed hour, in the presence of the family, immediate relatives and friends, the bridal party entered led by the usher, Francis Tuxbury, Miss Bernice Baldwin playing the wedding march. The maid of honor, the eldest sister of the bride, Miss Maude Anderson, and the best man, Edward LaCarre, waited with the bride and groom under a beautiful arch of green where the ceremony was performed. The bride wore a dress of lawn trimmed with tulle ribbons and carried white carnations; the maid of honor wore a dress of white and her flowers were white and red carnations. In the evening a reception was given to guests numbering 75. In the dining room the table was laden with the good things which were served in honor of the occasion. Music and games helped to make an evening long to be remembered. Many valuable and useful gifts were received, among them a beautiful chamber suit given by the bride's parents. All wish the happy couple a long and pleasant life. They will reside in their new home in St. Johnsbury where their friends will find them ready to give a warm welcome. The guests from out of town were: Mrs. George Buskett with son and daughter, Mrs. Pierre Gingras, Miss Nellie Rancour and Mrs. Leland Sawyer, of St. Johnsbury; Miss Crislie Tuxbury and Francis Tuxbury of West Newbury.

Memorial Service.

Chamberlain Post, No. 1, G. A. R., had an interesting memorial service at their hall last Saturday evening in honor of the late Major N. P. Bowman, an honored member and former commander of the post. Commander John D. Orcutt presided and after a few appreciative words introduced Rev. Edward T. Fairbanks who made one of the principal addresses of the evening. He was followed by Elisha May, Charles Ross, John McDonald and a few others. All the speakers paid deserved tributes to the worth of the deceased, his bravery in action and his honesty of purpose in his long and useful life.

Lieut-Governor Elect Prouty.

HARRY H. CARR.

An Easy Winner on the First Ballot.

The announcement of the representative vote was made at 3.30, and indicated that a rather light vote was being polled. Following is the result of the first and only ballot: Whole number cast, 1138. Necessary for choice, 570. Harry H. Carr, 826. A. H. Gleason, 302. Scattering, 10.

Over 1000 of the citizens of this town were escorted to the home of Harry H. Carr, the representative elect, by the St. Johnsbury band, last evening, to congratulate him on the success of the day's election. The grounds and his house were dazzlingly illuminated with colored electric lights and two large calcium lights swung between the trees on his lawn. Col. T. C. Fletcher introduced Mr. Carr, saying in part: I take pleasure in introducing to you a stranger, who is no stranger to you, Mr. Harry H. Carr, your representative elect.

Mr. Carr responded in part as follows: Ladies and Gentlemen: I hope that I am not any stranger to you, and I know that I am not. As I stand here before you tonight I am reminded of a little verse I read when a boy. It started off like this: In life there is a little pleasure, and a little pain, and as I stand here it is brought to my mind very forcibly. My embarrassment, not being a public speaker, nor not being used to addressing a gathering like this, reminds me that there is a little pain in life. On the other hand it is a great pleasure to me to welcome you here tonight. I hope that should I represent this town in the next Vermont Legislature which I have every reason to believe I will, that they may say of me when I return as once was said of Blaine, that he was greater than his reputation. When one man gives you another man's reputation you may be sure that that is what is in his own mind. You have been given mine. One thing I have noticed in this campaign is the absence of an issue. There seems to have been no issue, it seems to have been the man. I owe it to the people who have given this majority to outline my policy, subject to change after discussion with you, realizing that no man is infallible. I believe in the free vote of every American citizen, and I believe that the Australian ballot which is in use in Vermont at the present time, comes the nearest to giving the voter the freedom of the ballot than any system which we have ever tried, and I shall work my best to continue this system. I believe in better highways. I believe in the best possible education of the children, for upon them depends the state and the nation. The time will soon come when they will assume the reins and control of the government and we owe it to them to equip them properly in anticipation of that time. The greatest factor in state or national politics is the laboring man. No man has ever been elected to office from the president down to minor town officers without the laboring man's vote. I think we should strive to bring about a closer relationship and better feeling between employer and employe. It has always been a pleasure to me to meet you going to and from your daily labor and business places and greet you with a how do you do, or chat on the current topics. I realize that all are seeking after happiness and trying to bring happiness to our homes, and it is with pleasure that I welcome you to my home tonight. I hope you will all come in and allow me to shake your hand.

All who went in were treated to punch, and the gentlemen were given cigars.

September Club Musical.

The September Woman's Club meeting Monday afternoon was attended by a large number of members and their friends, there being an unusually large number of guests present. At the business meeting appropriations were made of $13 to the music committee, and $7 toward the literature committee, for class work. The following delegates were elected to the Federation meeting to be held in Bennington October 3 and 4: Mrs. Rebecca P. Fairbanks, Mrs. W. P. Smith, Mrs. Ella S. Truax, Mrs. Flora E. Lovejoy, Mrs. G. F. Cheney. The program for the afternoon, which was in charge of the music committee, Mrs. J. H. Moore, chairman, was a delightful one, and from the hearty applause was shown to be appreciated. Miss Cleoña Tatro of Chicago, violinist, played three solos with brilliant execution and spirited interpretation. Selections of both serious and humorous nature were recited by Miss Helen Sylvester of Boston, with equal charm, interspersed with song and dances. Her rendering of varied selections is very remarkable, and shows a marked natural talent for her work. Her pleasant voice and graceful manners attracted all her hearers. Mrs. Ethel Abbott Harriman rendered several songs in a highly artistic and pleasing manner. Her voice was very clear and sweet. The accompaniments were well played by Miss Nellie Carr.

Following the program a short social time was spent, and punch was served by the social committee.
