Granite Cutters Get More Pay. At a special meeting of the 55 stone cutters, polishers and sharpeners in town, held Saturday, it was voted not to return to work until granted the Barre scale of prices. This scale calls for a minimum wage of $3.10 per day for cutters and $3 for polishers. The employing firms here are J. E. Walker, Phipps & Villard, Conly & Vernon, Ellis Granite Co., Paradis & Thibodeau, Languer & Gauthier. The two latter firms signed the bill Saturday and the others swung into line Monday and yesterday, and the men will resume work under the new scale today. This is a substantial increase for the local cutters and the manner in which the question of wages was so quickly settled shows the pleasant relations which exist between employer and employee here.

The Vampire Bat. The true vampire bat is a quite insignificant creature, not unlike our noctule bat in general appearance and size, but with a small "nose leaf" and no web between the hind legs. The really remarkable thing about it is its perfect adaptation for secret and painless bloodletting. Most bats have teeth very like those of the carnivora, with long canines and small incisors, but in the true bloodsucking vampire bat the incisors are very large and broad and exceedingly sharp edged, thus being able to inflict a shaving surface cut which causes no pain, but a great deal of bleeding. Indeed, not only does the sleeper very rarely wake under the winged bloodletter's attentions, but a bite may be inflicted unperceived on a person who is awake at the time.—London Graphic.

Rosetti Liked Old Words. Dante Rossetti, like Signor d'Annunzio, took infinite pains to extend his vocabulary, says the London Chronicle. W. M. Rossetti relates that his brother used to hunt "through all manner of old romances to pitch upon stinging words for poetry" and make lists of them. The words thus noted were of a miscellaneous character, such as euphrasy, fat kidneyed, fat witted, fleshquake, foolbappy, gorbellish, gramgram, lass lorn, lustral, primerole, recondance, angelot, cherishance, trifucate, laureole, novelries, flexuous, cumberworld and jobbernowl." Some of these explain themselves, but how many people could say offhand what "gorbellish" means? It does not figure in the English Historical Dictionary. And yet a good mouth filling epithet surely deserves to live.

Completing the Circuit. Uncompromising integrity voiced with irony was a marked characteristic of the Duke of Wellington. When he was in India after the British victory at Assaye the envoy of theizam offered £70,000 for some information as to the districts to be assigned to his master. General Wellesley, as the duke then was, listened to the proposal with great gravity and when the Indian had ceased to speak said to him, "Can you keep a secret?" "Certainly, sahib," said the envoy eagerly. "The general made a low bow. "And so can I," he said dryly.

A Way Out. "She insists that her paternal ancestor came over on the Mayflower." "But I thought they proved to her that there was no such name on the Mayflower register?" "They did. And now she says he was a stowaway."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Poor Product. "I'm a self made man, I am." "Well, there is one thing you needn't worry about." "What is that?" "Taking out a patent."

The Heaviest Meal. "When do you take the heaviest meal of the day?" asked a bachelor of a married man. "When my wife cooks it," came the reply.

From Sickness to "Excellent Health." So says Mrs. Chas. Lyon, Peoria, Ill.: "I found in your Foley Kidney Pills a prompt and speedy cure for backache and kidney trouble which bothered me for many months. I am now enjoying excellent health which I owe to Foley Kidney Pills."—C. C. Bingham.

The Brahman Funeral Pyre. After the body of a Brahman has been anointed with sesamum oil the two toes are bound together and the two thumbs. It is then lashed to a litter made of two long parallel poles, to which are fastened seven transverse pieces of wood. The shroud is very simple, a large piece of cloth wrapped round the body and bound with ropes of straw. If the dead Brahman leaves a will his face is not covered; otherwise the shroud is brought up over the head. The burning ground, or ghat, is usually near a river, that those who have taken part in the ceremonies may purify themselves as quickly and as easily as possible. Before erecting the funeral pyre a shallow pit is dug and partially filled with dry wood; the body is covered with splinters of dry wood and sprinkled with paracacharia, an inflammable liquid, and placed on the pyre and covered with branches and roots, like a hut. The nearest relative or heir then takes a lighted taper and sets fire to the four corners of the pile and leaves at once to perform the ceremony of purification. The carriers, being of the lowest caste, remain until the body is entirely consumed.

Love, Honor and Obedy. The controversy about including the word "obey" in the marriage vow is probably as old as the marriage ceremony itself. When Marion Harland's parents were married in 1825 (as she tells us in her autobiography) the bride had "laughingly threatened that she would not promise to 'obey' and that a scene would follow the use of the obnoxious word in the marriage service. The young divine, with this in mind or in a fit of absentmindedness or of stage fright, actually blundered out, 'Love, honor—and obey in all things consistent!'" The costumes worn on this occasion were hardly as modern as the unfortunate amendment. "The bride wore a soft sheer india muslin, a veil falling to the hem of the gown and white brocade slippers embroidered with faint blue flowers. The bridegroom's suit was of fine blue cloth with real silver buttons. His feet were clad in white stockings and low shoes with wrought silver buckles."

His Withdrawal From Politics Is Irrevocable, He Declares. Everett, Wash., July 31.—"I cannot understand the reported action of the convention," said former Governor Lind of Minnesota, discussing his nomination for governor by the Minneapolis Democrats. "I have stated repeatedly that I could not and would not accept the nomination. I stated in a letter to the chairman of the state central committee some weeks ago that my decision not to re-enter politics was final and irrevocable and my attitude remains unchanged."

This follows a communication to Secretary of State Pearson, in which Attorney General Eastman decides that Mrs. Ricker, who has announced her intention of running for governor this fall, may not legally have her name placed on the ticket to be presented at the nomination primaries Sept. 6.

Youngster's Costly First Smoke

Haverhill, Mass., July 28.—The first smoke of the 7-year-old son of Arthur B. Walker was the cause of the mysterious fire that destroyed the latter's $3000 barn. Young Walker admits that he was in the hay loft breaking in a pipe, when the hay caught fire.

Summer and Fall Top-Dressing and Seeding Down

Many farmers are finding it to their advantage to seed down during the summer and fall, claiming that, by so doing they are apt to get a much better "catch" than they do when they follow the usual practice and seed down in the spring.

The Value of Doors.

When a man is cross there isn't anything in the world more aggravating than a house with all the connecting doors down or one that has doors that close noiselessly. A man likes to slam a door. He gets more good out of slamming a door, in his opinion, than any one could get out of religion. It is his protest against everything in the world that is wrong, and it means that he isn't much older than the child that beats its head on the door.—Atchison Globe.

POSTOFFICE SEARCHED.

Officers Found Something Besides Stamps and Advertised Letters at Lyndon. Jallor Worthen was aroused from his slumbers about midnight Saturday by the arrival of Henry Dickerman of Lyndon in charge of Deputy Sheriff L. W. Gray. Dickerman was charged with intoxication and according to the best authorities the charge was not without foundation. In court he pleaded guilty and paid fine and costs amounting to $10.94. Another outcome of the case was the raid on Monday of the grocery store and post office at Lyndon, conducted by Edmund Morse. The search was conducted by Deputy Sheriff F. S. Harriman, assisted by Deputy Gray, and the officers seized three dozen bottles of Jamaica ginger and three quarts of alcohol. Morse waived examination and is held for the December term of county court under $300 bonds, which were furnished. Mr. Morse is postmaster at Lyndon and was supposed to keep an unadulterated stock of postage stamps and advertised letters.

Golf Contest and Aquatic Sports the Center of Interest. The events of the past week have been two—playing for the "Bogey Cup" given by Mrs. C. A. Sibley and the Aquatic Sports for gold, silver and bronze medals, offered by Mr. Keniston of New York. In the Golf Tournament some fine work was done, the finals being played (36 holes) on Friday between Morrow and Wolcott Sibley—Morrow winning on the home green. It was a handicap match. The aquatic sports consisted of canoe racing, swimming for distance and under water, upset race, tub race, high diving, etc., and was one of the most interesting events ever seen on the lake. Prizes were given for points, each contestant going into as many events as he chose. Keniston and Landon were tied for first place, Landon winning the tossup, while Paulson took third prize. The judges were Messrs. Sanborn, Miller, Sibley, and Burney. The best features were the high diving of Dewhurst, the distance swimming of Keniston and the canoe work of Paulson.

The Barebone Family.

The celebrated name of Praise God Barebone was borne by a member of the Cromwell parliament called together after the dissolution of the long parliament in 1653. The royalists called the assembly "Barebones parliament." At the time when General Monk was in London Barebone headed the mob that presented a petition to parliament against the recall of Charles II. Of the Barebone family there were three brothers, each of whom had a sentence for a name—Praise God Barebone, Christ-came-into-the-world-to-save Barebone and If-Christ-had-not-died-thou-hadst-been-damned Barebone.

HUPMOBILE

Have you seen and ridden in this little runabout? If not, there is a surprise in store for you. A smoother, easier running little car has not been built. Its twenty horse power is amply sufficient for its weight, eleven hundred pounds. It can be run at less than half the expense of the ordinary runabout and the quality of the car is not excelled in any other. Quantity is the only other point in which they are excelled and quantity in a high grade quality costs money to buy and money to carry around with you.

This little car has a high tension Bosch magneto, doing away with spark coil, batteries and connecting wires—sliding gear transmission and many other features which put it in the class with high grade cars.

A demonstration will convince you of its superiority as a light runabout and a call for a ost card will secure the demonstration for you.
