Reed and Ruth Hastings; piano selection, Ruth Crowell; song, Will the roses bloom in Heaven? Alice Moyle; piano solo, "Minuet," Edith Virtue; piano solo, The Spinning Wheel, Arline Van Blarcom.

The following taken from the Fitchburg, (Mass.) Sentinel will be of interest to the people in this vicinity: "Samuel Minot Adams died at 12.30 o'clock this afternoon (April 18) at his home, 36 Chestnut street, aged 83 years, one month and 16 days. He had been in poor health a little over one year, but his condition did not become serious until shortly before midnight. Heart trouble was the cause of death. Mr. Adams' life was one of unusual industry, he having worked almost continuously from his 19th year until the 82nd anniversary of his birth, when he retired on account of falling health. He was born in Concord, Vt., March 2, 1829, and after attending the school of his native town entered one of the shops there to become a machinist, which trade he followed for many years there, in Jersey City and Orange, Mass. He came to Fitchburg from the latter place and entered the employ of the Putnam Machine Co., where he remained 25 years or until 1886, leaving to take up his work with the Union Machine Co. where he was employed until his retirement in 1911. He found time in his spare moments to engage in the manufacture of violins as an avocation, making 55 of those instruments besides repairing hundreds of others. Besides his wife, who was Miss Nancy Powers of Newport, N. H., Mr. Adams leaves two sons and one daughter. His sons are Herbert and Ernest Adams both of New York, the former being one of the most noted sculptors of the United States. His daughter, who is best known to Fitchburg people as Dora Adams, is the wife of George Amsden of White Plains, N. Y. The funeral was held from his late home Sunday at two p. m., in the presence of an especially large gathering of relatives and friends. Favorite selections of the deceased were played upon the violin by Miss Amy L. Conner. Interment was in Forest Hill cemetery."

MACHINERY EXHIBIT

Successful Opening by A. E. Counsell & Son of Farm Engines in their New Quarters.

From Wednesday to Saturday last week were the opening days of the new sales rooms of A. E. Counsell and Son at 36 Railroad street and a large number of customers and visitors were present to see the up-to-date exhibit of farm engines and large assortment of farm machinery which the firm carries. It is probable more oil cans were given to bearers of coupons on Friday, Bargain day, than were ever disposed of in one day in St. Johnsbury before.

One of the most pleasant features of the occasion was a banquet tendered at the St. Johnsbury House Thursday evening by the firm to J. W. Shaw, president of the firm of Brackett, Shaw and Lunt of Somersworth, N. H., employes and agents of the firm and invited guests. Among those present were A. E. Counsell, M. M. Counsell, Pres. J. W. Shaw, J. H. Currier of Hardwick, John J. Witters of Newport, George B. Robinson of Barton, Frank Dexter of Waterford, G. H. Balch of Lunenburg, Edward Jones of Victory, George Morey, Dr. C. A. Cramton, Charles T. Walter and W. J. Bigelow of St. Johnsbury.

An excellent dinner was served by Mr. Moore and after it was finished A. E. Counsell called on Messrs. Shaw, Bigelow, Cramton and Walter who responded speaking words of high appreciation of the members of the firm and wishing them the best of success in their enlarged enterprise. Then an hour of informal story telling followed.

In taking their new location Counsell and Son have secured pleasant offices, a good show room, a shop and storage where they can handle goods by the carload. They carry nearly everything needed by the up-to-date farmer—gasoline engines, silos, ensilage cutters, feed mills, cream separators, motor cycles, farm electric lighting plants, air pressure water systems, steam engines and boilers, wood working machinery saw machines and all the accessories.

Honest dealing and modern goods are giving this a healthy growing business.
