CROWD AT JOE'S POND

Good Speaking Before Farmers and Sportsmen of Caledonia County Last Saturday.

The weather man did a good job Saturday and Caledonia people to the number of 500 took a day off to attend the joint midsummer meeting of the Caledonia County Farmers' Association and the Caledonia Forest and Stream Club held at Joe's Pond. The number was so much larger than expected there was some delay in serving the dinner. The management had received less than 200 replies to the invitations sent out for the meeting and could not anticipate the large attendance that materialized at the eleventh hour. One feature of the gathering was the large number of automobiles parked in the rear of the large tent erected in Gerry's field near the station, indicating that Caledonia county farmers are enjoying the most modern methods of travel. A special train from St. Johnsbury took a little over 100 people to the grounds and as soon as possible after its arrival dinner was served.

President E. H. Hallett of the Farmers' Association presided at the after-dinner exercises and in his introduction said he expected a large increase in the membership of the organization and improvement in the farming methods that would make the county the best in the state.

County Agent Stimson
County Agent Stimson was first introduced and said the sight of the autos there convinced him that most of the sports of the county wanted to be farmers and that many of the farmers were sports. He said the work of the association was not a one man job but the hearty cooperation of each member is necessary to make it a success. All that is needed here is better cropping (Continued on page 5)

Calf With Human Head
Frank T. Harris of Lunenburg has in his possession the body of a calf that has a perfect human face, the only thing of its kind ever known to exist. He will exhibit this freak at the Caledonia County Fair. The calf is Holstein and has a black and white body, but the head and face are in human form, except the ears. The calf weighed about 30 pounds and had no hair, except a slight beard on the face. It is a wonder that everyone will want to see.

An affidavit signed by many well-known people of Lunenburg, states they saw the freak just after it was born and that it is unquestionably genuine. It has been called to the attention of the medical authorities of Harvard and they state such a thing was never known before and will revolutionize medicine. The animal has no marks of sex and is one of the wonders of the 20th century. Adv.

MUSICAL PROGRAM

Given at Meeting of Woman's Club—Prof. Tupper to Address October Meeting.

The September meeting of the St. Johnsbury Woman's Club was delightful in every way, the beautiful weather making an unusually large attendance possible and the program given was most attractive. Following the secretary's report, resolutions on the death of Mrs. Nancy Howe were read by Mrs. Arthur R. Brooks and on the death of Mrs. Fannie R. Ranney by Miss Katherine M. Bingham.

The chairman of the history and literature committee, Mrs. Susan H. Smith, announced that Prof. Frederick Tupper of the University of Vermont, will speak at the October meeting and at her request the by-laws were suspended, making it possible to change the time of meeting.

Mrs. Robert French spoke of the Better Babies contest for which the club is arranging and the president reminded the club of the lecture by William J. Burns to be given in October. Miss Alice W. Wilcox was admitted to membership at this meeting. The flowers which were used as decorations were the gifts of Mrs. Mary Spencer. The executive board voted $10 to the forestry committee.

A charming program followed the business, arranged by the music committee, Mrs. Mary MacKinnon, chairman. The first number was a piano duet, a very brilliant number, "Airs from Carmen," played by Mrs. C. M. Richmond and Miss Alice B. Warden. Mrs. Brooks gave a pleasing contralto solo, her rich voice was at its best in the appealing, "My Dear," by Saller. Miss Helen Boynton gave a well contrasted violin group, all showing accuracy and delightful finish. The first number was played with mute, the second was a brilliant Wieniawski number and the third was an unaccompanied Cradle Song. Miss Madeline Randall was the personification of grace and perfect rhythm in her dance—Chopin Mazurka. Miss Whittier, always the charming interpreter, sang a pleasing group, "Her Rose," by Coombs, "The Owl," by Lehmann and "Forgetfulness," by Hilfach. The last number was the "Fate," played by Mrs. S. J. Maude Brown. The lovely running passages were wonderfully executed and the piece was a gem for the finale of a delightful afternoon's program.

ACADEMY OPEN

A Large Class Registered—Speakers At Opening Exercises

The seventy-second year of St. Johnsbury Academy began Tuesday morning with a large registration and an outlook for one of its best years. A number of former students attended chapel on the opening day. Principal Benedict presided; Rev. Edward T. Fairbanks, secretary and treasurer of the board of trustees, offered prayer; Miss Helen A. Boynton rendered a violin solo; Miss Ella M. Brownell sang a solo, and Wellington H. Tinker, of Ann Arbor, Mich., St. J. A. 1895, gave an interesting and forceful talk to the school, addressed principally to the boys, but equally applicable to the girls.

The electric clock and bell system, the very generous gift of the Boston Alumni Association of St. Johnsbury Academy, has been installed the past week and is now in use. This was purchased and installed at a cost of about $600, from Lurchin and Lurchin of this town, and manufactured by the Standard Electric Clock Co., of Springfield, Mass., and is a most beneficial gift to the school. The master clock is in the principal's office, and there is a clock and bell in each class room in the Academy and South Hall. Bell connections are also made with the South Hall dormitories and the Charlotte Fairbanks Cottage. The entire system is run by storage batteries placed in the basement, and the clocks in the various rooms, together with the ringing of the bells, is controlled by the master clock. The program, in the form of a tape, is found just inside the clock, which is moved upon wheels once a minute; the master clock will ring the bells in the various rooms in accordance with this program found upon this tape. As many bells may be rung during the day as is desired, the number being indicated on the program of the clock. The wires all run from the electric batteries to the master clock and from this clock to the various bells and clocks in the rooms. There are small telltale clocks inside the master clock, which show whether the clocks and bells in the rooms correspond with the master clock.

In connection with this electric system there has also been installed the past week the marble memorial clock, the gift of the class of 1912. This has been placed over the south entrance door in the chapel, and on the marble face are the numerals 1912.

A good number of parents and students attended the meeting in the auditorium Friday evening, which proved both pleasant and profitable. The students became somewhat familiar with the location of the rooms, and talks by Dr. Benedict, Frank H. Brooks, representing the trustees, and Charles W. Steele, representing the school board, were practical and helpful.

School Begins Again Next Week—Time To Order Coal.

After Labor Day the fall creeps on pretty fast. Hard to get Coal a little later. Better "fone four" today.
