Tom Thumb Wedding a Great Success. (Mrs. H. L. Walters, Correspondent.) The Tom Thumb Wedding given last Friday night, was one of the best entertainments even given here. The tiny bride, Margaret Marshall, and groom, Harold Berry, did their parts without a flaw, as did all who took part. The songs were finely rendered by all, especially good was "Silver Threads Among the Gold" by Raymond Walter, and "I Cannot Sing the Old Song," by Gladys Davidson. Where a large number of friends gathered to pay their last respects to the deceased. Interment was made in Hyde Park, the former home of Mrs. Dillon. Though the boys did not have their parts perfect, they did very well. F. L. Dunn transacted business in Barton and Newport Thursday. Word has been received here that Orlo Norcross of Manchester, N. H., formerly of this place, belongs to a battery of the New Hampshire militia and at last reports was in camp at Goffstown, N. H., awaiting the word to entrain for the border. The firm name of the ladies' furnishing store of Smith & Smith has been changed to read The Smith Dry Goods store. This was brought about by R. H. Blake, employed in the office of the Woodbury Granite Company of this place buying out Byron R. Smith's interest. The latter gentleman being a brother of E. S. Smith. WEST BARNET.

The trustees of the West Barnet Cemetery association with helpers, under the guidance of Martin Gibson of Barnet, spent last week putting the cemetery in condition so that it may have a weekly mowing. Some have already paid in to create a fund so there is no more worry for the present or future about the appearance of their lots for the care continuing after they are gone. Every additional fund means an increase in the general appearance of the cemetery. The trustees will be pleased if everyone who owns a lot or is interested in one will show that interest so that a spot so beautiful by nature may show the loving remembrance of the ones left behind.

FUNSTON CALLS ON GEN. WOOD FOR MORE MEN.

New York, June 27.—At the urgent request of Gen. Funston orders were issued late tonight by Maj. Gen. Wood for the Pennsylvania and the District of Columbia troops to entrain for the border at the earliest possible moment. It was believed some might start tonight. It was also learned that 2,000 motor trucks have been purchased from 20 different auto manufacturing concerns at an average cost of $3,000 each and that bids had been asked for 400 passenger autos to be used by the officers. Maj. Gen. Wood, in a report to the war department tonight, stated that 14,061 troops from New York, New Jersey, Massachusetts, Connecticut and Vermont are now en route to the border. Col. John J. The others received slight bruises. The right front wheel of the car was taken off and the mudguard, running board and the whole side of the machine crushed.

NEWPORT

(L. D. Wellman, Correspondent.) After July 4th, the house committee of the Yacht club has decided to hold the club's weekly entertainment and dance on Tuesday instead of Friday nights, as has been the custom heretofore. It is expected that these dances and entertainments will be of the higher order and interest of last year and will be generally patronized. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stevens of Orleans were visitors in town Monday. Mrs. C. J. Oben and Mrs. O. W. Cresser returned from Denver Monday night. Mr. Oben, who met them in Chicago, returned with them. Donald Emery, son of Col. and Mrs. C. S. Emery, has enlisted in a New York company of the National guard. Mrs. Louis Sisco is visiting in town. Those wishing to take a trip through the lake will do well to remember that on Tuesday only the steamer Anthemis runs from Newport to Magog and return. Several from here went down the lake yesterday and more will probably take advantage of this "one chance a week" in the future. Opportunity is given for picnic parties at the several stopping places, while the boat goes on to Magog where there is a stop off of two hours or more. J. R. Akin is able to be out of doors, after his recent illness. Memphragsag Lodge, No. 65, F. and A. M., held its last regular meeting of the summer last evening, conferring the M. M. degree. Meetings will be resumed the second Tuesday in September. Two sunshiny days in succession almost tempted farmers in this section to begin haying. Had they done so they likely would have had to use a boat to secure the crop.
