KILLED AT BLOOMFIELD

Woodman Attempts to Crawl Under Moving Train

Blough Picard, a woodsman in the employ of the Connecticut Valley Lumber Co., was so badly injured by being run over by a freight train at Bloomfield Wednesday that he died within an hour after the accident. As no one witnessed the accident, it is thought that he tried to crawl under the train while it was moving slowly. Conductor A. H. Wentworth, who was in charge of the train, discovered the body, badly mangled. He was taken to a North Stratford undertaking establishment and a physician called but he was beyond human aid. His remains were shipped to his home in Quebec.

"500" Club

The next "500" party will be held in Woodmen Hall on the evening of Christmas Day. All holders of tickets are requested to attend.

Notice

I expect to be in my shop this winter. Shall be pleased to paint your wagon, automobile, or any other thing that can be done in a first class paint shop.

Yours respectfully,

IRISH COMEDY TO BE STAGED

Under Auspices of B. B. S. C. Next Month

The first home talent production in some time will be produced Jan. 15, when the B. B. S. C. put on "Finnegan's Fortune," a three act Irish comedy. The cast is made up of Claude Foss as Larry Finnegan; Edgar Russell as Patrick; Rafferty, F. R. Russell; Dutch Jake, W. F. Morong; Count de Morney, Adelard Payeur; Mrs. Finnegan, Mrs. Delia Caston-eauy; Katy, Ollie Applebee; Lady Hannah Lovejoy, Florence Blake. Following the show a dance will be held, Dyer's Orchestra dispensing music.

Ice 4 Inches Thick

G. L. Clarke measured the ice on the pond last Monday and it was 4 inches in thickness. Mr. Clarke states that 50 years ago Christmas Day the pond was black with people, enjoying the horse racing and other ice sports of that date.

Card of Thanks

We wish to thank those who gave their kind assistance and cheerful help during my recent disability.

Guarding Against Croup

The best safeguard against croup is a bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar Compound in the house. P. H. Ginn, Middleton, Ga., writes: "My children are very susceptible to croup, easily catch cold. I give them Foley's Honey and Tar Compound and in every instance they get prompt relief and are soon cured. We keep it at home and prevent croup." Use it also for coughs, colds, hoarseness, tickling throat, bronchial and la grippe coughs. It contains no opiates. Refuse substitutes. For sale by J. W. Thurston.

The K. of P. members and invited guests enjoyed a banquet and entertainment in their rooms last Tuesday evening. During the evening Dyer's orchestra of four pieces rendered excellent music. Games were played and during the banquet several members gave interesting speeches.

STUDIO RECITAL BY MISS GIBOIN

Former Resident Receives Much Praise from Audience.

The following item is taken from the Portland Argus of a recent date and will be of interest to local people as Miss GiBoin, (Steady) was a former resident of this town. She is the daughter of Henry Steady, the well-known engineer, who runs on trains 5 and 6.

Mr. Brinkler has every reason to be proud of his pupil, Miss Evangelina GiBoin, whom he chose as the assisting artist of his first studio recital for the season of 1913-14.

The program was made up of organ and piano duets and the recital was listened to by a good sized and appreciative audience.

Miss GiBoin has grown from a young girl student to a brilliant and finished young artist and her work last evening shows the results of intelligent and earnest study under the efficient guidance of her instructor. Patrons of the Brinkler recitals have watched the progress of the young student-pianist from season to season but even these interested listeners were somewhat surprised at the remarkable technique and brilliancy displayed last evening. Miss GiBoin also has a pleasing personality and is an easy and graceful player.

The program numbers were arranged in four groups, the first being made up of duets for organ and piano, and Mr. Brinkler and Miss GiBoin were heard to advantage in selections by Schubert and Gade.

Miss GiBoin then played alone and three numbers by Chopin, Sibelius and Sinding, displayed her polish of phrasing and her remarkable brilliancy of style.

The organist then returned to render Yon's Christmas in Sicily, a tuneful work suggesting the spirit of the season, and Faulkes' brilliant and pleasing concert overture. Both of these numbers have been heard at City Hall and are very desirable selections for the organ repertoire.

In the final group, the selection of piano and organ duets was delightful and the audience applauded the efforts of the two performers warmly. Ritter's Morganlied was charming; the humoresque by Widor, a popular and taking number, while the Swan, by Fan Fan, was given a really ideal interpretation.

The program ended with Guil-mant's March, Opus 53, which called for musicianly skill on the part of both performers, and was a brilliant ending for a most enjoyable music event.

The second recital in the Brinkler series will be given Wednesday evening, January 12.
