Porter H. Dale the Man For Congress

A very proper man for United States congressman from the Second District of Vermont is Col. Porter H. Dale of Island Pond, state senator from Essex County. He is peculiarly well fitted by education, temperament and experience to succeed such able men as Col. Haskins and Frank Plumley, and is steadily making new friends in his systematic canvass for the nomination.

Col. Dale is a man of excellent character, essentially sane, solid and practical in his views, methods and purposes. Schooled in law and literature, he is also schooled in business. A strong, serious-minded man of magnetic personality, his reputation as a public speaker has long been established while his considerable achievements in business are there in Essex County and elsewhere. He knows the needs of Vermont, appreciates what Congressional bills may do to enlarge the market for some of its products, and, happily, has no schemes for remaking the Earth over-night. Col. Dale is a life-long Republican, but is receiving the support of many Progressives as well.

Porter H. Dale was born in Island Pond, in the town of Brighton, Vt., in 1867. He attended the Montpelier Grammar School and Eastman Business College of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., studied under private tutors in Boston and Philadelphia, studied in the latter city for two years with that noted Shakespearean scholar and actor, the lamented James E. Murdoch, and took the class honor for elocution and Oratory, Philadelphia, in 1889. Subsequently he taught Shakespeare in Bates College, Lewiston, Me., and was formerly known as a reciter of Shakespearean plays to many cities and towns of New England and in the Province of Quebec.

Our strong-visaged friend was for a short time engaged in the real estate business in Minneapolis, where and whence he obtained some knowledge of the Northwest. Personal observation has made him somewhat acquainted with the Pacific Coast and with Old Mexico and he has travelled in nearly every state of the Union. A lawyer by profession, but more of a business man in recent years, Col. Dale studied law under his father, Lieut. Gov. George N. Dale of Vermont, who died in 1902, and was admitted to the bar in 1896. During his long practice of the law he has never been retained by any corporate interest, and has been conspicuously successful in settling personal injury claims of railroad employes,—he having settled many of them without expense to the claimants.

Col. Dale was elected to the Vermont Senate from Essex County in 1910 and again in 1912. In the Vermont Senate he has rendered solid service in large matters, but although admittedly one of the most eloquent men of that body and not easily "rattled" he has been at all given to merely halloing himself to the galleries. Probably he has not spoken more than a dozen times, all told, in the Senate but when he has had something to say, and has proceeded to say it, with no "buts, ifs nor ands," and without stops at way stations. When then President Taft visited the Vermont Legislature in 1912, Col. Dale presided over the Joint Assembly which greeted the welcome guest.

Through long years Col. Dale has been signally successful in business, to which he has devoted the greater part of his time. Omitting mention of his activities in minor commercial capacities, it should be noted that he is president of the Island Pond Electric Co., president of the Island Pond National Bank, president of the Kingman Lumber Co. of Maine and a director of the Fitzdale Paper Co. of Fitzdale, Vt., which village was named after the late George Fitzgerald and Senator Dale himself they two having started the entire pulp and paper industry in Vermont.

Col. Dale is not all "stagey," notwithstanding his studies with the great Murdoch and his own Shakespearean attainments. He is, on the contrary, an off-hand, every day sort of a fellow, who looks folks straight in the eyes and has a good faculty for friend-making. In his careful, open canvass for the nomination, he will personally call on the majority of the voters of the Second District and has already visited a good many of them. "If nominated and elected," he says to the voters, "I will come to see you every year of my term, and I will keep everlastingly after your personal interests when at the front. I will try to advance with your ideas, and to deal with national issues in a broad and liberal and just manner."

About five-sixths of the members of the present United States Congress were elected to it when they were under fifty years of age. Col. Dale, forty-seven, is therefore about the right age, and he is fortunate in knowing very many of the older men as well as very many of the younger men of the extensive Second District. He is, for reasons enough, very popular with the old soldiers, among others, he having been for ten years one of the trustees of the Soldiers Home at Bennington.

Essex County, whence comes our candidate, has never been honored by the election of one of its citizens as governor. United States senator or national congressman, whereas every other county in the Second Congressional District has been doubly and trebly honored for from forty-three to eighty-two years. It should be Essex's turn now, and we sincerely hope and believe that Essex County will be honored by the nomination and election of Porter H. Dale.

FERTILIZERS for FALL SEEDING and TOP DRESSING

Many farmers are finding it to their advantage to seed down in the fall, claiming that by so doing they are apt to get a much better "catch" than they do when they follow the usual practice and seed down in the spring.

The same is true regarding top-dressing grass land. Some of the most progressive farmers put on top-dressing immediately after haying, with perhaps a small application of nitrate of soda the following

If you will send your name and P. O. address to Carroll S. Page, Hyde Park, Vt., he will send you free, postpaid, several formulas for mixing fertilizers especially adapted to top-dressing and fall seeding, together with prices of ingredients, full directions for mixing, etc. These formulas have been approved by the Vermont Experiment Station and will be sound thoroughly reliable.

For Your Information

Under the provisions of our State Law, Savings Banks and Trust Companies cannot pay a higher rate of interest than FOUR per cent until a surplus of ten per cent has been accumulated. This Bank declared an "extra dividend" to depositors in the Savings Department on February 1, 1914.

Extra dividends may be declared in the future if earnings warrant. Our interest days are February and August first. Deposits made on or before the fifth of a month draw interest from the first. In the months of February and August deposits made on or before the tenth will draw interest from the first.

Citrolax
CITROLAX

It's a laxative, of course—name tells you that. And the nicest hot weather drink you ever tasted. Flushes thoroughly, and pleasantly too. F. G. Chrysler, Syracuse, N. Y., says: "I have used laxatives for 15 years but this Citrolax has got everything else beat a mile. You will agree with him. Specially nice for children and delicate persons. Sweetens a sour bilious stomach very quickly and stops headache. For sale by John W. Thurston, adv."

IS WORLD'S GREATEST BANK

Lloyd's Total Now Mounts Up to No Less Than Five Hundred Million Dollars.

With its recent acquisition of the Wilts & Dorset Banking company, Lloyd's bank of London becomes probably the greatest financial corporation of its kind, as its deposit and current account now aggregates more than $500,000,000.

Lloyd's bank has a history extending over a long period of years, as the private bank out of which it was formed was established in 1865, and the present banking corporation was formed in 1863. Including its latest acquisition, the bank has absorbed no less than 48 other banking houses since 1865, and of these 35 were private banks, one of these dating back to 1677. The bank is represented in 45 out of the 52 countries in England and Wales, and a subsidiary company was formed in 1911 to open a branch in Paris, an old French private banking house being taken over.

It is unusual for an English joint stock bank to organize a subsidiary for doing business in a foreign country, but this plan had to be adopted. Under the French law, to conduct a banking business in France would have rendered the entire capital of the bank, no matter where located, subject to taxation. In all, Lloyd's bank now has 380 separate offices. While an incorporated bank, the traditions of the private banking days yet remain, and practically every official of the bank and its branch managers were educated in private banking houses, and preference is always given to men so educated in taking on new employees.—Wall Street Journal.

FEAR TO TRUST THE MARRIED

Men in High Place Give the Best Positions to the Bachelors, for Ungallant Reasons.

The stars in their courses seem to be fighting against the married man, says the San Francisco Argonaut. It appears that he is now to be discriminated against on the ground that he is certain to impart trade secrets to his wife, who, as we all know, is equally certain to impart them in her own peculiar ways to the world at large.

The latest employer to join this unholy league against the married man, and thus to increase the natural perils of his position, is Sir Thomas Lipton. His only chance to win the America cup is to preserve inviolable secrecy as to the design of his new yacht, and he is therefore rigid in his decision that only bachelors need apply for work in his yard. Another impatient offender in this respect is Lord Kitchener, who not only refuses to have any married man on his staff in time of war, but who promptly removes from his staff any officer guilty of matrimony during active service. It seems, therefore, that the old charge against women of inability to keep a secret must be enlarged. Not only are they themselves incapable of keeping a secret, but they decline to allow their husbands to do so.

Uncle Sam Will Test Your Watch.

Regular testing of watches for the public was inaugurated by the United States bureau of standards recently, thus taking up the testing and certification of watches in a similar manner to that carried on by the Kew observatory in England, the Besancon observatory in France and the Geneva and Neuchatel observatories in Switzerland. Preliminary tests upon the various types and makes of American watches have already been made, the results of which have been the modification of European testing methods and the establishment of certain standards of tolerances for practical service. The possession of a government certificate will enable the owner of a "certified watch" to know that he has a timepiece which conforms to the average and reasonable performance of high-grade adjusted watches. The fees for tests will merely cover the actual cost of the trials.

Terrible Misfortune.

"They are shifting consuls on the merit system," said Jerome S. McWade, the Duluth collector. "Here's a man in Shanghai at $4,500 getting shifted to Barcelona at $3,000. Another consul with a Warsaw job at $4,000 is shifted on the merit system to Fiume at $3,000. A few more such shifts, and where will the poor fellows land?" "Shifting consuls on the merit system—that's a good way to express it. It reminds me of Bilson." "Have you heard of the terrible misfortune that has befallen Bones?" Bilson said to me. "No! I said, 'No!'" "Bones, poor fellow," said Bilson, "has eloped with my wife."
