Union Ticket.

For Judge of the 4th Judicial Circuit, JEREMIAH M. WILSON, of Fayette.

To the Voters of the Common Pleas District composed of the Counties of Wayne, Union, Fayette and Franklin.

During January or February last, Judge Wilson resigned, creating a vacancy in the Judgeship of our District.

So notorious and well known were the habits of Judge Kibby, that prior to his appointment, Governor Morton exacted and obtained from him a solemn promise that he would not in the future indulge his intemperate habits...

In Wayne County, for some years, the Republicans have been accustomed, through the agency of their Central Committee, to hold a Nominating Election on the first Monday of April.

In Fayette County there was a Clerk and Commissioner to elect, and their Central Committee determined that the nominations for these offices should be made in April...

Judge Kibby and his friends now claim that the action of these Committees stop any further proceedings...

If Judge Kibby had been true to himself and his promises made to Governor Morton and others, the presumption is there would have been no trouble or difficulty in the matter...

Under these circumstances, we called for a District Convention to nominate a candidate for this important position.

While the Committee would not presume to dictate as to the quantity and kind of provisions to be furnished by each family, they would respectfully suggest that the supply be ample...

gentlemen of Fayette also appeared, and insisted that the proceedings had in April were without notice or authority...

From the conflicting views and claims there developed, it was manifest that harmony could not be expected...

Since that time, the Wayne County Central Committee have resolved that no such election shall be held in that County, consequently it would have been vain and useless for the other Counties in the District to hold said election...

Charles C. Binkley, Esq., of Brookville, has consented to be a candidate for Common Pleas Judge, and we present his name to the people of the District for their support.

The Common Pleas Court is one of the most important in the State—Through it passes the entire property of the State about every thirty years.

It is held every four months in each County. Its business is brought home to every man's door, and, in behalf of the widows and orphans of the country, we demand an enlighten and exercise of the elective franchise...

It is claimed that the people of Wayne and Fayette are bound by the votes cast at the April Nominating Election to vote for Judge Kibby.

It is a fact not to be disguised, but particularly notorious in Wayne County, that Judge Kibby either can not or will not control his appetite for intoxicating liquors...

A very short time now intervenes before the election, and we had hoped ere now to have arrived at some satisfactory and harmonious solution of affairs...

We ask and demand, as a matter of simple justice to the people, that the Press of the District accord us a fair hearing before their readers.

THE SOLDIERS' FESTIVAL.

We think we are safe in saying that such arrangements are being perfected as will make the Reception and Festival to-morrow a success.

Our friends in the country are reminded that butter and cream are indispensable, and that these articles are extremely scarce in the towns at this time.

As it is impossible to procure a sufficient number of plates of our merchants, the citizens of Brookville are urged to furnish the same, so far as they may be able.

THE COMMON PLEAS JUDGESHIP.

Action of the Union County Central Committee.

Pursuant to previous notice, the Union County Central Committee of this County met at the Court House in Liberty, on Saturday last, when the following preamble and resolutions were adopted:

Resolved, That we in Union County will hold a mass meeting or convention on Saturday the 30th inst. in Liberty, at 1 o'clock P. M., for the purpose of appointing Delegates to a District Convention to be held at Connersville on Tuesday the 3d day of October next...

D. S. FERRISS, Ck. A.

B. F. BROOKBANK, Secy.

We commend the spirit which is manifested in the foregoing resolutions, and heartily endorse the statement that "the previous action of the different Counties" has not been binding on the District at large...

RECEPTION OF THE 15TH REGIMENT.

This gallant Regiment had a reception and welcome at Indianapolis on Saturday, 16th inst. Speeches were made by Gen. Mansfield, Gov. Morton and Col. R. Y. Quite an interest attached to this Regiment, from the fact that many of our Franklin County boys were members of it.

THIRTEENTH REGIMENT.

Organized at Indianapolis; mustered into the service June 19th, 1861; started for the field July 4th, 1861, and on the 10th joined General McClellan at the foot of Rich Mountain, Virginia; on the 11th, participated in the battle of Rich Mountain, under General Rosecrans; on the 14th, moved to Beverly, and on the 21st advanced to Cheat Mountain Pass, where General J. J. Reynolds soon after took command; were engaged in numerous scout; on the 12th and 13th of September, were sent to Upper Potomac, where the rebel General Robert E. Lee, in his attacks on Cheat Mountain Summit and Elkwater; were afterwards stationed at Elkwater, and on the 29th and 30th, reconnoitered the enemy's position at Mingo's Flat; on the 31st of October, took part in General Reynolds's reconnaissance in force at Greenbrier; during the engagement supported Captain How's Battery, 4th U. S. Artillery; from the 23rd of October to the 7th day of November were on a scout through the region, frequented by guerrillas and desperadoes, above the Holly and Kanawha rivers, and succeeded in capturing a number and dispersing the remainder; were then stationed at Beverly, Virginia, and whilst there a portion of the regiment were ordered to join General Milroy on Cheat Mountain summit, and on the 13th of December participated in the battle of Allegheny; on the 18th the regiment left Beverly for the east; embarked at Webster on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, and passed over the Allegheny Mountains to the region of the Upper Potomac; where it passed the winter in active operations; were a guard of honor over the remains of General Landrum at Paw Paw on the 2d of March; on the 3d and 4th moved to Martinsburg, Virginia, where General Shields took command of the division; the regiment took part in the advance on Winchester, on the 18th, 19th and 20th on a scout up the valley to Strasburg; on the 22d participated in the engagement at Winchester and was afterwards in the possession of the rebel General Jackson up the Shenandoah Valley as far as New Market, and on the 13th of May the 13th crossed the Blue Ridge, and soon afterwards joined General McDowell at Fredericksburg; was subsequently ordered to return to the Valley to again drive the rebels back, marched over the mountains, crossed the Blue Ridge and again crossed the Valley as far as Fort Republic, then returned to Martinsburg June 10th, on the 29th of June, 1862, embarked on transports at Alexandria, and on the 21st of July joined General McClellan at the Army of the Potomac; here it remained until the 15th of August, when the river was evacuated, when it marched down the Peninsula to Fort Monroe; on the 30th moved to Suffolk; here it remained nine months engaged in numerous operations in that region of country, the most important of which were reconnaissance of the Backwater October 3d, November 17, December 15; the battle of the Doan's Farm, January 30, 1863; the defeat of the rebel General Longstreet in his attempt to seize the place, from April 10 to May 3; and the burning up and bringing off of nearly forty miles of railroad from the 13th to the 19th of May; June 27 left for Suffolk; joined General Keyes at the White House, on Pamunkey River; July 1, started on an expedition to destroy the railroads around Richmond, returning on the 4th, having partially accomplished the object started on; arrived at Portsmouth on the 14th, and were stationed at Bowers Hill; July 28, left Portsmouth, and on August 3d arrived in Dorchester, and the 20th, disembarked on Folly Island, S. C.; here the regiment was stationed for several months, participating in all operations on Morris Island during the siege of Fort Wagner and Gregg, and whilst the batteries and iron-clads were demolishing Fort Sumter, December, 1863, a portion of the regiment re-embarked as veterans. Left Folly Island, February 23, 1864; 30th, joined General Seymour at Jacksonville, Florida, where it remained until April 17, when it embarked on transports for the north, and arrived at Gloucester Point, Va., April 22, where the 18th Army Corps was then rendezvousing. The regiment was here assigned to the 2d Brigade, 3d Division, 10th Army Corps; May 4th, embarked on transports, and on the 5th ascended the James River, with General Butler's expedition, and the same night landed at Bermuda Hundred. The (General Butler's) operations south of Richmond; conspicuous in the engagements at Waltham Junction on the 10th, Chester Station on the 10th, and the charge on the rebel rifle pits near Forts Farm on the 20th, in all of which the loss was about two hundred; on the 18th of May was withdrawn from the front and attached to the 18th Army Corps, 3d Division, 3d Brigade, and on the 23d proceeded to the White House; on the 1st of June joined the Army of the Potomac at Newmarket, and marched forward to Cold Harbor, and were actively engaged in the battle at that place and all the operations around, until the 12th, when it returned to the White House; left the White House on the 14th; and again reached Bermuda Hundred on the 15th crossed the Appomattox river, and took part in the operations in front of Petersburg until the 17th, when it returned to Bermuda Hundred. Non-veterans left Bermuda Hundred on the 19th and arrived at Indianapolis on the 24th of June, 1864; returned to the field in July, July 30, '64, charged on Petersburg, after the explosion of the mine; on duty in the trenches during the siege of Petersburg; during the month of August, 1864, engaged in the battle of Strawberry Plains, September 15, 1864, and operations against Richmond, Virginia, on the north side of James river; engaged in the battle of Chapin's Bluff, and assault on Fort Gilmore, September 19; attack on the rebel fortifications in front of Richmond, October 10, 1864; sent with the expedition to New York, November 8, 1864, with the first expedition to Fort Fisher, December 3, 1864; returned to Chapin's Bluff, December 31, 1864; with the second expedition to Fort Fisher, January 3, 1865; engaged in the assault on Fort Fisher, January 15, 1865; Fort Anderson, February 19; entered Wilmington February 22, 1865; then marched to Raleigh, North Carolina, where it arrived April 14, and remained until July 20, when it was assigned to duty at Gold-bergo, North Carolina; mustered out, September 1, 1865, and returned for home September 7, arriving at Indianapolis September 15, with 29 officers and 550 enlisted men.

S. E. INDIANA CONFERENCE.

[Correspondence of the Indiana American.] MADISON, IND., Sept. 21, 1865. Ed. American.—The steamer General Lytle is a large, fine boat, but was crowded uncomfortably, as a great many persons could get no rooms, and a great many had to eat at the second table. The former could be borne; the latter must have been a loss, though by strategy I did not try it.

I found Madison looking for us, and Hon. A. B. Line and myself have a room in one of the finest homes in the city. The old Senator seems at home among the preachers, and is abundantly able to do justice to young clergymen.

THE 15TH REGIMENT.

On Monday of last week the veteran 15th received a public reception at the State Capital. Speeches were made by Gen. Mansfield, Gov. Morton, Generals Grose and Washburn, and Hon. D. E. Williamson. The 15th had in its organization many from Franklin County, and of all the regiments that have gone from Indiana, none have returned with a brighter military fame. The following is a history of the Regiment.

EIGHTEENTH INDIANA.

Mustered into service August 16, 1861; started for St. Louis on the morning of the 17th; from that place it proceeded to Jefferson City, Mo.; was the first Indiana regiment to reach that place; from there to Booneville, Mo., by way of Tipton; went up the river to Glasgow, capturing the steamboat Sunshine at Cambridge; on the 10th of September, 1861, it was ordered to return to Ottumville, Iowa, under General Harts; was with General Poppe at the capture of prisoners at Blackwater, under Colonel (now General) J. F. C. Davis; joined General Curtis at Lebanon in his advance on Springfield, and formed a part of his pressing column engaged in the battle of Pea Ridge; moved to Leavenworth; recaptured the Peoria Light Artillery; were engaged on the battle of the Ironsides; gallantly General commanding, and by General White, of Illinois, who commanded an attacking brigade; made Arkansas from Pea Ridge to the Arkansas river, and General Curtis; participated in the engagement at Cotton Plant on the 30th of March; during this march were half the time on half rations and for days without eating; from Helena under General Steele were sent up the river to Sulphur Springs, Missouri; made a winter campaign in southeastern Missouri, April, 1862, were transferred from Missouri to the army of Tennessee under General Grant; formed the nucleus of the division under General Grant; the division's position at Vicksburg; and Grant's army; on the 18th opened the fight at Fort Gibson; May 1st, captured the first stand of colors and the first piece of artillery in the first of the numerous victories around Vicksburg; were engaged in action at Champion Hill and Black River Bridge; were in the charges on the 19th and 23d of May. The 15th, although in the reserve, were the first to plant their colors on the enemy's works; and kept them there for eight hours; left Vicksburg and sent to New Orleans under General W. S. Smith; from there to the mouth of the Teche river; from there to the mouth of the Red River; then up the coast to Muskogee Island; assisted in capturing the fort on the island with one company of artillery and one of cavalry; from there marched by the coast to St. Joseph and Matagorda Islands; were at the reduction of Fort Esperanza, a heavy casemated earthwork, mounting nine twenty-four pounders and one eleven-inch Columbiad. The 1st Brigade, consisting of the 8th and 15th Indiana and 33d and 39th Illinois, drove the enemy out, capturing his arms and ammunition, camp and general equipment. January 1st the regiment re-embarked, 387 strong, and started home on veteran furlough; were stopped at Baton Rouge and formed part of a column that attacked a rebel force organizing to attack Baton Rouge, completely routing them, after five hours' hard fighting. They were armed with smooth-bore muskets; returned home on veteran furlough June 4th, 1864; started again to the field on the 18th July, and landed at General Butler at Bermuda Hundred; had several severe skirmishes with the enemy near Deep Bottom, Virginia; returned to Washington City August 5th; assigned to the 2d Division, 19th Army Corps, commanded by General Grover; marched to Berryville, Va., via Wicker's Gap, and joined Phil Sheridan's command in the Valley, August 19th, 1864; participated in the battle of Opequan, near Winchester, Va., September 19th, 1864, in which two commissioned officers and 53 enlisted men were killed and wounded; following them up at Fisher's Hill, Va., September 19th, losing in killed and wounded 5 men and 2 commissioned officers; with General Sheridan in his famous campaign up the Shenandoah Valley; returned to Cedar Creek, and went into camp; remained until October 19th, when the rebel General Early attacked our army, in the absence of General Sheridan. The regiment lost in the engagement, 45 men and 6 officers killed and wounded, and 35 taken at Brookville. The Conference decided in favor of New Albany, and they now ask the patronage of this Conference. Such a spirit of liberality and intelligence as that will make it pay to their own interest.

EFFECTS OF DECEASED SOLDIERS.

The effects of the following named soldiers are in charge of the Indiana Sanitary Commission, and will be sent to the legal representatives of the deceased, upon application to Wm. Hannaman, Pres't Indiana Sanitary Commission. The effects remaining unsold for on the 1st of November, 1865, will be sold at public auction:— Ferdinand Fisher, 13th, knapsack and contents. John H. Everybody his own Broom Maker!

J. M. Clark's CELEBRATED PATENT ECONOMY BROOM WRAPPER. Patented May 23d, 1865. THIS is the most economical invention of the kind it is in existence. It is simple in its construction and never gets out of order. It is not expensive, and will last for years. Everybody is pleased with this broom, and wherever our agents go, the demand is so great that it is almost impossible to supply it. One great advantage this broom possesses over all others, is that the wrapper will adapt itself to any quantity of Broom Cores, and it does not weigh more than an ordinary Broom. It can be gotten up in the finest style, with little expense. AGENTS WANTED for several Townships in Franklin County, to whom rare inducements are offered.
