FIFTIETH CONGRESS.

In the Senate, on the 15th, the chief feature of the day's proceedings was Senator Dolph's speech in support of the Fisheries treaty, in which he warned the British Lion that, while not particularly anxious for war, the United States would not shrink from it in the maintenance of her rights. In the House the day was passed in debating the subsidy clause in the Post-Office Appropriation bill. An evening session was held, at which twenty-four private pension bills were passed.

THE Senate was not in session on the 16th. In the House, consideration of the "subsidy" amendment to the Senate to the Post-Office Appropriation bill was resumed, and the motion to concur was defeated, and a further conference was ordered. The House then went into committee of the whole on the tariff bill, the pending schedule being that relating to Wisconsin, to which Mr. La Follette, of Wisconsin, took the floor, and severely criticized Mr. Carlisle's speech upon the bill. No action was had, and the House took a recess until 3 p. m., the evening session being devoted to the consideration of private bills.

In the Senate, on the 15th, the Fisheries treaty being under consideration, Messrs. Chandler and Pugh occupied most of the day in set speeches on the subject. In the House the whole day was devoted to the tariff bill, which made unusual progress. The essentially tariff features of the bill were finished, and the administrative portion of it was passed upon, and considerable progress was made in the internal revenue portions. The event of the day's proceedings was the defeat of a free-whisky amendment to the Internal Revenue law.

In the Senate, on the 17th, the passage of the Government workmen's Eight-hour law was the feature of the day's proceedings. BEGGING FOR HELP.

Another Nest of Anarchists Unearthed in Chicago.—They Had Planned to Blow Up All Concerned in the Prosecution of the Haymarket Gang.—Conspirators and Dynamite Found Together.

CHICAGO, July 17.—A gigantic murderous plot on the part of the Chicago Anarchists to blow up the Board of Trade building, several other large buildings and to murder Judge Grinnell, Judge Gary, Inspector Bonfield and other prominent persons engaged in the prosecution during the celebrated trial of the Anarchists was nipped in the bud by Inspector Bonfield, Chief Hubbard, Lieutenant Elliott and the Central detectives to-day. The means to be used in the wholesale murder and destruction of property was the Anarchists' weapon, dynamite, and enough of the explosive was discovered to-day to blow up half the city. Three of the conspirators are already under arrest and are confined at the City Hall. Every body supposed that the trouble with the revolutionary spirit among the Anarchists had been blowing among the friends of Spies, Parsons and the rest, and a diabolical plot was hatched and hundreds of lives were to be taken. Inspector Bonfield, it is said, has been aware of the conspiracy for some time, but he waited until the evidence was complete. Last evening several detectives were notified to meet at the Central station at two o'clock this morning. There they donned disguises, and in company with Bonfield and Elliott proceeded to Deering Street station, where a reserve force was on hand. The force proceeded to the corner of Thirty-third street and Ashland avenue, near where one of the leading conspirators resided. It was hoped to catch a dozen or more Anarchists at the house, but only two men were found. One of the suspected men was captured as he came from the house about daylight. Then the officers entered the dwelling and another conspirator was found. Under his pillow was a knife and a revolver, and upon searching the room twelve sticks of dynamite were found. The officers next visited a house on Quinn street and another one of the suspected ones was arrested. A large quantity of dynamite was also found in this place. Among the men arrested was one of the men who was under arrest soon after the Haymarket massacre and who was subsequently released. The others were prominent Anarchists during the trial. It is stated that about twenty determined men were in the conspiracy and they were, at a certain hour—midnight next—to be at the homes of Grinnell, Gary, Bonfield and Frank Walter, General Stiles and others prominent in the prosecution. Dynamite was to be placed beneath the houses of these and was to be touched off simultaneously. The Board of Trade was also to be blown up at the same time. Further arrests will probably bring to light an even greater anticipated bloody horror. Inspector Bonfield says his men know the conspirators and that additional arrests will be made this afternoon. The police observe the strictest secrecy in the matter, but Inspector Bonfield was induced to say to a United Press representative: "Judges Grinnell and Gary were to be blown up by these fellows, and that is all I will say. You may add, however, that we have been aware of this diabolical plot for some time, and I think there will be another wholesale hanging. The explosion at the Haymarket could not be compared with this. Hundreds of lives would certainly have been sacrificed had we not discovered it."

RUN DOWN AND SUNK.

A Fishing Schooner Reported to Have Been Run Down and Sunk by the Steamship Fulda, During a Heavy Fog. Off the Banks of Newfoundland—All Hands Supposed to be Lost.

NEW YORK, July 18.—The North German Lloyd steamship Fulda, which arrived Tuesday from Bremen, ran down an unknown fishing schooner on the banks of Newfoundland last Saturday morning. A dense fog prevailed at the time, and the schooner disappeared astern almost immediately after the collision. Boats put out in search of her, but as she was not found it is feared that she was lost with all hands. Captain Ring of the Fulda and his officers say that they were taking all the precautions usual in foggy weather when the schooner was run down. Early Saturday morning, when it became very foggy, several fishing vessels were seen, and it was supposed that there were others at anchor in
