One Cent Letter Postage.

Efficiency in the post office department with a proper readjustment of rates will permit the government to inaugurate a one cent letter rate within the next year, according to Postmaster General Albert S. Burleson.

In addressing the postmasters General Burleson declared that they are giving the best postal service in the world today, and that is what the American farmer and business man are entitled to, for they pay for it. He advised the postmasters to spare no expense that means greater efficiency.

Plans are being worked out for the solution of railway mail service problems. They are being solved in a way that will enable the United States to pay the railroads adequate compensation for service rendered, and pay only for service received.

The fact that this year we have a surplus of between $4,000,000 and $5,000,000 demonstrates that at least the postal service is on a strong business and self-supporting basis. If we can keep down useless expenditures, we can soon inaugurate one cent postage in this country.

Nearly sixty bills were presented at the present session of congress calling for one cent letter postage. Scores of representatives and senators have been closely studying the matter and have become united in a conviction that the time is ripe for one cent postage, a reform sought for many years.

At the present time letter users of the United States net a profit to the government of over $75,000,000 a year over actual cost of distribution. At the same time large magazine interests are securing distribution of their product at one cent a pound, which means a great loss to the government.

Ed Teiman, the itinerant painter, and one time evangelist, who preached down with the demon rum! Stop drinking this liquid hell! fire and damnation." But now President of the C. L. U. of Evansville, told the preachers of that town Monday that the Unions were going to have "Booze" at their labor day picnic, lay or no law.

The Southern Ry. quit receiving freight at the Jasper station Wednesday. They have gone out of business until the threatened rail road strike is over. The present train men, do less work and get more money than any class of workmen in America. The Government should take charge of the rail roads and run them for the benefit of the public; and the membership of the Rail road Brotherhoods should be forever barred from working on any rail road; let them shovel dirt and see how much they make. Thirteen dollars a month will look good to them; they are now drawing from $150.00 to $250.00 per month.

"I wish I had money enough to get married," he remarked. She looked down and blushed. "And what would you do?" she asked, looking very hard at the carpet. "I would spend it traveling," he replied.

Strong Words.
Big words pass for sense with some people and sometimes may be very successfully used when nothing else will answer, says an English writer. Thus when a man, in great alarm, ran to his minister to tell him he could see spots on the sun and the world must be coming to an end, "Oh, don't be afraid," said the good minister, "it's nothing but a phantasmagoria." "Is that all?" said the frightened man, and then he went away relieved.

A very smart lawyer some time since had the misfortune to lose a case for a client who had every reason to expect success. The client, a plain old farmer, was astounded by the long bill of costs and, hastening to the lawyer's office, said, "I thought you told me we should certainly gain that suit?" "So I did," answered the lawyer, "but you see, when I brought it up there before the judges they said it was a quorum non judice." "Well, if they said it was as bad as that," replied the old farmer, "I don't wonder we lost it." And he paid the costs and a big fee besides without another murmur.

Centennial Notes.

Help, everybody make the Dubois County celebration of Indiana's Centennial at Huntingburg, Friday, Sept. 22, a great success.

Jasper, we are satisfied, will do her part. Still, Mayor Wagner ought to issue a proclamation declaring Sept. 22 a holiday, and requesting every loyal Hoosier in this city to attend the celebration. Next year our city, will celebrate the county's centennial, and we'll want the help of the Huntingburgers, which help they have already promised. That they will live up to their promise, we are satisfied of, too.

Talking about the celebration of the State's Centennial, everybody in the county ought to attend, because none of us is likely to see another State Centennial celebration in this county! This is a fact. This State will never again celebrate its 100th birthday.

It is satisfying, indeed, the way the committee in Jasper is taking hold of its work. Pity it, that we can't take the old classic Patoka over Huntingburg for a day and show them what a real river looks like. It would be a wonderful sight to see their Indians plying their canoes over its clear, smooth and sparkling waters. But, all we people, go to Huntingburg anyway—Patoka river or no Patoka river.

Why not decorate all our buzz wagons and take part in parade over there. We could show them that Jasper has something else than ads in the machine line.

Lets all go, so that there will be no need for a mayor or a chief of police, then, they too, can go over without fear of leaving the city without a guardian.

To the people of the county—from Columbia township to Ferdinand township, from Ferdinand to Cass, from Cass to Boone, from Boone to Columbia, and from all the townships in this square—go to Huntingburg on Friday, Sept. 22. This is your celebration of the State's Centennial, and you ought to take that pride in your county that will show the people of the outside world that old Dubois County is right abreast of the best county's in the State.

As a representative of old settlers in the Jasper part, Miss Rachel Doane is appointed to deliver a short address, Miss Rachel is a daughter of the Revolution, her great-great-grandfather, Brook Edmonson Sr, having been one of Marion's Men in North Carolina, emigrated to what is now Dubois County, with his family in 1803. Her great-grandfather Benj. R. Edmonson was a member of the Constitutional convention in 1850 and represented Dubois County in the state legislature and Senate for 16 years, longer than any other one man. Her grand father Clement Doane, a pioneer printer, established the first successful printing office and newspaper in the county in the spring of 1858.

hearsal for "The Guilty Man," the play in which she will be starred on Broadway this coming season. "The Guilty Man" is the last play which Charles Klein, the playwright, worked on before going to his untimely death on the Lusitania.

Miss Fenwick was seen on Broadway last season in "The Co-respondent." The season before she was starred in "The Family Cupboard." She has had the stellar role in half a dozen Broadway successes, including "Along Came Ruth," "The Song of Songs," and "Just One of the Boys." She first appeared in pictures with the George Klein company.

Miss Fenwick was born in Chicago and as a young girl obtained a position as a chorus girl in George Ade's musical comedy, "Peggy From Paris." She was in the chorus only three weeks, when she was given the star's part. Since that time she has rapidly achieved a remarkable success in musical comedy, dramatic plays and motion pictures.

Advertising Space Costs Money.

Good goods bring fair prices, poor articles are good for whatever they can get. This is true of advertising as of everything else. As a rule low rates and large discounts are a sure indication of small circulation. Advertising space in publications of good circulation represents a very heavy outlay and cannot be offered at a nominal price without loss. Publishers, like other business men, do not do business for nothing, neither are they in it for the pleasure it affords. Hence they cannot afford to give advertising space for less than cost.

Low rates may be taken as a positive proof of equally small and comparatively valueless circulation.

The business man who has a certain amount of money to spend in advertising should bear this in mind. In order to spend wisely he needs choose well. It does not follow by any means that because he can get a space for less money in one direction that there is where he can get the best advertising. On the contrary it seldom happens so. This same business man might pay half a dollar for a dinner when he could get a dinner around the corner for fifteen cents, if he cared to. But there is a difference in the dinner which is worth the other thirty-five cents. There is just as much difference in advertising-

Expected To Pay.

Receiving The Courier at the postoffice regularly beyond the time for which it is paid means that you WILL BE EXPECTED TO PAY FOR IT and a plea of "ordered it stopped," "never subscribed for it," "only subscribed for a certain period," etc., will not be accepted. The printed label on your paper every day it reaches your hands shows where you stand. We do not want to force the paper on an unwilling subscriber a single day neither do we feel disposed to cut off a responsible person on suspicion who does not remit on the exact date of expiration.

We know of a number of families who are regular readers of the Courier but are not subscribers, they borrow the paper from their neighbors. We are glad to know that the Courier is thus associated, but why not subscribe? The price is small and we would appreciate having these names on our mailing list.

A man that won't patronize his home paper is a detriment to his community. A town without a live, up-to-date newspaper is like a ship without a rudder, and every live, up-to-date citizen owes it his support.
