The sycamore tree bears fruit after twenty years' growth.

If it takes two to make a quarrel it also takes both sides to keep the peace.

A good many fellows can grasp an idea without being able to hang on to it.

It is better to lose than have the fruits of victory leave a bad taste in one's mouth.

Some folks are so used to looking for trouble they don't recognize joy when they meet it.

Europe has long been noted for cheapness. Now she has made human life the cheapest thing.

Even Norway has borrowed $5,000,000 in New York. Pretty soon everybody will be owing us.

Occasionally the charity that begins at home never gets through warming its shins at the radiator.

Nearly all of us do without things we actually need in order to be able to afford a luxury now and then.

Prince Firman Firma is the new Persian premier. There should be nothing unstable about his government.

Under present conditions Europe sees nothing paradoxical in the simultaneous promotion of a war loan and a moratorium.

A German has invented an instrument which measures the ten-millionth of a second. The trouble is that after it is measured it is too much of a back number to be useful.

PITH AND POINT.

A temptation well resisted is the best tonic a man could have.

Many a good reputation has been stabbed by a pointed tongue.

As nearly as can be figured out, a savant is a scientist on foreign soil.

It is better for the drowning man to clutch a life preserver than a straw.

Even persons who never tried it will tell you that honesty is the best policy.

Many a man who prides himself on his physical strength cannot even hold his tongue.

Aren't there enough peace palaces? A common sense palace seems to be the great need.

Copper is the one basic necessity of the war, making it a copper bottomed war, so to speak.

If the New York restaurants only charge extra for it the horse meat supply won't equal the demand.

The high cost of living ceases to command attention when the high cost of destroying life is computed.

There is one don't in this grip business worth all the others—don't use it.

It's all well enough to warn us about getting the grip, but the trouble is that we never know we've got it until it's got us.

Breathe through the nose and keep the mouth shut, says a doctor, giving advice on the subject of health. Lots of people owe a ripe old age to keeping the mouth shut.

The Royal Box.

Princess Henry of Battenberg, governor of the Isle of Wight, is the only British woman ruler.

King Peter of Serbia is not a military man at heart. Rather is he a scholar and philosopher, as is shown by his admiration of John Stuart Mill, whose works he has anonymously translated into Servian.

King Gustav of Sweden is a teetotaler, and he and the entire royal family of Sweden are at the head of the temperance movement in Sweden. His mother for over forty years devoted her time and money and influence to the cause of temperance.

Flippant Flings.

France forbids the export of nuts. We show a welcome disposition to encourage it.—Wall Street Journal.

Judging from the number of generals Joffre has retired, one would say he was bent on a general cleaning up.—Chicago Herald.

Horse meat has been placed on the New York bill of fare by the health board. A saddle of colt ought to be palatable.—Detroit Journal.

New York warehouses are full of cold storage food for Europe. If anything can make them quit fighting this prospect ought to.—Pittsburgh Dispatch.

Fashion Frills.

Women don't object to old fashioned things if they are in style.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Hosiery manufacturers, it is said, are making tremendous profits, and nowadays it is easy to see where our earnings go.—Baltimore American.

The news that women are wearing the farthingale doesn't distress us in the least. It's so much better than hoops.—New York Sun.

CHICAGO

still uses a candle and a flat flame burner to test the gas she uses to heat 350,000 flat irons

CHICAGO KNOWS THAT THE flame inside the Gas Iron is blue and hot—

While the flame of the open gas jet is white and comparatively cool.

Gas for a hot, blue flame should be tested for its HEAT UNITS.

Gas for a white, luminous flame should be tested for its Candle Power.

The blue-flame appliances now form a big family. In addition to the flat iron, it includes the mantle light, the cooking range, the water heater, the space heater and the factory fire.

All together, this family now consumes 98% of the gas manufactured.

The one and only lone member of the luminous flame family, is our old friend, the flat-flame burner.

In its palmy days the flat-flame burned 98% of the gas made—now it burns less than 2% and its finish is waiting.

That is why Chicago must eventually line up with all of Europe's big cities and the eleven State Commissions in this country which have abolished the candle power test of gas and adopted the HEAT UNIT standard exclusively.

Think of this—the next time you look into your gas flat iron. If your home cannot boast of one, your women folks are missing a good thing enjoyed by over 350,000 of their Chicago sisters.

When you talk of maintaining a principle be sure that it is not a prejudice.

The man that feels like being kicked seldom allows another the pleasure of doing it.

Unless all signs fail, this year will be a record breaker in the making of world history.

Next June will give both Chicago and St. Louis new opportunities to pose as summer resorts.

Everything can be overdone. Many a fellow has been fired with enthusiasm by his boss.

The drug shortage is so acute now in England that many chronic invalids are rapidly becoming convalescent.

If every man who was "a little odd" had to be arrested there wouldn't be enough men at liberty to enforce the law.

Saying the right thing at the right time is equivalent to keeping your mouth shut when you have nothing to say.

In another year the nation will again be giving earnest thought to the question of whether there is going to be any inaugural ball.

It couldn't have been the landlord class that agitated the war as some would have us think. People in Europe are many millions of dollars behind in their rent.

Political Quips.

No lack of preparedness anywhere for presidential nominations.—Atlanta Constitution.

Politically speaking, the rising temperature bulletin is already out for next June.—Washington Star.

Some of the presidential candidates now in the race won't get much for their run except the exercise.—Philadelphia Press.

It is wonderful how clearly a public officer can see what ought to be done after his term of office is over.—Pittsburgh Post.

Ohio has six native sons in the United States senate, not to mention the long waiting list for the presidency.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Courting in Spain.

In sunny Spain etiquette is so very restrictive in the matter of courtship that it is a wonder that young people ever manage to get married at all. Even when, after many difficulties, the engagement is accomplished, the parents have a deciding voice in fixing the date, and, as they prefer long engagements, the wedding day is usually fixed somewhere in the dim future.

The best man and maid of honor are expected not only to fulfill the usual duties, but to contribute—sometimes very substantially—to the expenses of the wedding feast. Wedding cake is unknown, but instead packets of sugared almonds are distributed among the guests and sent by post to those who are unable to be present.—Kansas City Star.

A Tiger Story.

There is a story current at Kuloang, central China, about a tiger which gave trouble in that quarter. A missionary and his wife had been worried by the tiger prowling nightly around their home. They determined to be rid of it and one night tied a cow up in the back yard and a dog at the front of the house. Then they armed themselves with guns and kept watch. The tiger appeared. The missionary fired and killed the cow. The wife rushed to see what had happened, and in her absence the tiger ate the dog.—Exchange.

Lazy Idleness.

Beware of lazy idleness. It will have its effect on your whole system. It brings on degeneration of the muscles and the internal organs, sometimes resulting in an unhealthy accumulation of fat and sometimes in internal adhesion. In some constitutions it results in shrinkage and premature old age.

Within Reason.

Mistress—Jane, didn't you hear the doorbell? New Servant—Yes, mum. Mistress—Then why don't you go to the door? New Servant—Deed, mum, I ain't expectin' nobody to call on me. It must be somebody to see yourself, mum.—Passing Show.

Evil Enough.

There is evil enough in man, God knows, but it is not the mission of every young man and woman to detail and report it all. Keep the atmosphere as pure as possible and fragrant with gentleness and charity.—Dr. John Hall.
