

The IRON COUNTY REGISTER is published every Thursday, by ELI D. AKE, at One Dollar and Fifty Cents a year, in advance.

WANTED—Two girls for the dining-room, at the Pilot Knob Hotel.

County court is in session this week, and the bench is graced with the presence of all three judges.

A. J. Carty, Esq., last Saturday presented us with the boss sweet-potato of the season. It weighed just four pounds, measured 15 by 24 inches in circumference, and was as good as it was big.

MARRIED—At the residence of Mrs. M. J. Harpell, in Arcadia, on the 21st of September, 1880, by Elder V. T. Settle, Prof. James L. Remy, of Carleton Institute, Farmington, Mo., to Miss Lizzie L. Cooper, of Iron county, Mo.

For a sample lot of fine October peaches, we are indebted to G. W. Lashley, Esq. They are yellow freestones, and of excellent flavor. Mr. Lashley has also some very fine apples, a few of which we have on our table for general inspection.

IF MAY SAVE YOU!!—As it has many others right in this county: TURNER'S SCIENTIFIC WONDERS! the greatest medicine of the nineteenth century. For further particulars go to the Ironton Drug Store, buy a bottle, and see for yourself.

At the late meeting of the City Council the license for dramshops was raised from $30 to $60, and a salary of $75 per annum given the Marshal, in addition to his ordinary fees. Both actions are correct, and meet with the approval of all our citizens.

The Dittmar Powder Manufacturing Company, of New York, have appointed S. S. Rice, of Irondale, Mo., as their agent to represent their business in Missouri. The Captain is an energetic business man, and the company may rely on his attending strictly to their interests.

The Ironton Cornet Band (late A. V. B. B.) has been awarded the contract for furnishing music for the St. Francis County Fair, to commence next Tuesday, and continue the week through. The boys promise to give the visitors "the best they have in the shop."

Mrs. John Franklin, of Marble Creek, last Saturday sent us a half-dozen of very fine apples. They are perfect, very large, and of fine flavor. We can give no more explicit description, for we have unfortunately forgotten the name of the variety. Mrs. F. has our thanks for the present.

At last the backbone of summer is broken, and the north wind is congealing the mawk that did lately sizzle through our broiling bones. The change is a delightful one to every person of fair proportion and comely avoirdupois. The festive mosquito has laid away his unrequited bill until another summer shall open to him new engagements and recuperated anjct.

Our Eastern brethren have some queer ideas put into their heads sometimes, by parties who no doubt find it to their interest to lead astray. We saw a letter yesterday from Pennsylvania, which the writer said it had been told him that the water in Missouri was poor and scarce. To our readers here, a formal refutation of such a charge will appear to be so unnecessary as to seem ridiculous. Water! We have as fine springs of pure element and as many of them, as in any other proportionate area in the United States, and some of the finest streams in the West.

THE GAME LAW.—For the benefit of our sporting friends we give the following summary of the game law of this State, showing the seasons which game may be killed: Deer, of all sorts, September 1 to January 15; turkeys, September 15 to March 1; prairie chickens (mountain grouse), August 15 to February 1; ruffed grouse (commonly called pheasant) and quails (Virginia partridge), October 15 to January 1; woodcocks, from July 1 to January 1; turtle doves, meadow larks and plovers, August 1 to February 1.

All insectivorous birds altogether protected. Trapping or netting or robbing or disturbing of nests entirely forbidden, except the trapping of quails or prairie chickens by a man on his own land for his own consumption, or the destruction of the nests of all birds of prey. Possession of game out of season is illegal. Birds not showing marks to be considered as illegally killed. All railway companies, express companies and carriers are forbidden to carry game out of season.

Non-residents are forbidden to trap or kill for market any deer, or kill for market any turkeys, prairie chickens, quails, ruffed grouse, wild geese, brants, wild duck or snipes. Shooting on inclosed lands without permission is illegal.

Last Friday morning we jumped aboard the "short train" and lit out for Boone town, to participate (as one of the I. C. B.) in a picnic to be given next day by the Lodge of A. O. U. W. of that place. After a change of cars at Bismarck, we arrived at Summit, the junction of the I. M. and St. Joe & Desloge R. R., about 11 o'clock. The St. Joe & Desloge R. R. is a narrow-gauge, fourteen miles in length, and connecting the lead mines of the same name with the Iron Mountain. It was built and is owned by these lead companies, which had long felt the necessity of a closer and surer connection with the outer world. The transportation over the county roads of supplies to the mines was a source of constant trouble and great expense, during the rainy season and winter months, contracts for the delivery of lead at a stated day, were rendered hazardous, and often the companies found it impossible to "come to time." Now, all this is changed. Wet or dry, rain or shine, when a pig of lead is smelted it is on the market.

A pleasant run of about two hours landed us in St. Joe, where we were met by Dr. E. E.

Evans, a genial gentleman whose name will be long kindly remembered by all of us. He escorted us to the Turley House, where we were provided with excellent lodgings and as good fare as any person need desire. We understand Mr. Turley will shortly take up his residence in De Soto, where he will open a hotel, and we can heartily commend him to every tired and hungry traveler.

A night's rest put us all in good trim for the picnic. About nine o'clock we took our position in front of the Hall of the A. O. U. W., and shortly after led the procession through the town out to the picnic grounds. We several times felt like succumbing to the heat (it was a terribly hot morning), but when we looked over our shoulder and saw the smiling but determined countenance of Judge Johnson, we took heart of grace, and trudged manfully on until a halt was called beneath the trees of the pleasant grove. About twelve o'clock a splendid dinner was served, to which it may readily be believed we did ample justice, as did about fifteen hundred other hungry people. With dancing and music and the kindred pleasures which all so well enjoy, the day passed and six o'clock came before we were aware of it. In the evening some of the boys went into the mines, and looked about for an hour or so, after which they broke for the picnic grounds and joined in the mazy dance until the tired fiddlers boxed their instruments and departed. Although the crowd was large, it was orderly, and nothing of an unpleasant nature disturbed the enjoyment of the participants. We did not see a single drunken man, nor hear a rude word. We never saw more handsome women; we never experienced kinder treatment; we—but what's the use particularizing? We had a real, good, old-fashioned time, and don't care if the whole world knows it.

Through the kindness of Superintendent Naramore and Conductor Miller, an excursion was arranged for Sunday, and at 9:30 in the morning we bid good-bye to the good people of Boone Terre. Two car-loads of fair ladies and gallant gentlemen ran over to Summit, and thence by the Sunday Excursion to Arcadia. Though the weather was a little "drum," the spirits of the party were not depressed, and we will long remember our whole experience of the affair with pleasure.

The boys desire to return especial thanks to Dr. Evans and Mr. Turley for many acts of kindness, as well as to Conductor Miller, who organized the excursion, and thereby saved them a ride of twelve miles over rough country roads. There are many other people whom we would like to thank by name, for courtesies extended, but time and space forbid. We had but a moment's conversation with Bro. Kirkpatrick, and had promised myself a visit to the Banner office. We regret that our engagements prevented its consummation.
