

How to Keep Potatoes.

The recent allusion in the Examiner to the Parisian method of making old potatoes pass for new ones, suggests some thoughts on the subject of keeping potatoes and preparing them for cooking.

It is a very simple matter to keep potatoes a year in the cellar, and have them come out at the time in as good table condition as any new ones sold in our Northern markets up to September.

The preparation of old potatoes for cooking is an art which does not seem to be generally understood. I heard a lady who was boarding with a family in the country remark one day that she had been trying all summer to find an excuse for telling her hostess how to prepare her most miserable old potatoes for the kettle so as to have them better than any new ones.

Charcoal for Hogs.

Whatever hog medicine contains a good proportion of charcoal is presumptively a good medicine. It may be possible for quackery to so combine charcoal with other ingredients that the efficacy of this remedial agent will be destroyed, but it would, we believe, take a regular double-barreled quackery to destroy it under any circumstances.

With such a splendid remedy at hand, it is astonishing why it is used comparatively so little, and why breeders of domestic animals should be so willing to dose them with mercury and other harsh and certainly injurious medicines.

Transparent Pie.—Three cups white sugar, three-quarters cup butter, four eggs. Beat the eggs very light and mix all the ingredients together, and bake in one lower crust. Above makes filling for two pies.

HOME AND FARM.

—Exposure to sun, wind and rain, under the eaves of the stable, annually wastes the best half of the manure thus exposed.—N. E. Farmer.

—Pumpkins are excellent for hogs. They are a sovereign remedy for intestinal parasites. They are just what swine need to make them healthy. Feed them raw. They will be relished.

—Raisin Pie.—One pound raisins, one lemon, one cup white sugar, two table-spoonfuls flour. Boil the raisins covered with water, an hour; add the lemon, sugar, and flour. Will make three pies.

—The glossy appearance of starched linen is procured by mixing a little paraffine, or white wax, with the starch, and using a small iron having a rounded point, very smooth, which is rubbed over the linen with great pressure and for considerable time. A good deal of "elbow grease" is necessary.

—As a rule, small breeds of hens lay best. The Leghorns are especially noted for their egg-producing powers. Their eggs are medium sized, but make up in number what they lack in size.

—A fig pudding made from this recipe is not only delicious, but furnishes still another way in which the frugal housewife may use her crumbs of bread to good advantage.

—An old and experienced beekeeper of Maine writes to a local paper that the majority of beekeepers are ignorant of the required make-up of a good hive for their especial wants, and seem willing to adopt almost any contrivance that has a patent right to be paid for, until patent beehives have come to be a nuisance in the land.

—Circulosis.—In the report on plums made by J. D. Piper to the Illinois Horticultural Society he says that Daniel Billig kept his chicken coops under his plum trees, and his trees were so heavily loaded that he had to prop them up to keep them from breaking down.

Reform Needed in the System of Cotton Planting.

The South must prepare to raise her own provisions, compost her fertilizers, cure her own hay, and breed her own stock. Leaving credit and usury out of the question, no man can pay seventy-five cents a bushel for corn, thirty dollars a ton for hay, twenty dollars a barrel for pork, sixty cents for oats, and raise cotton for eight cents a pound.

The details of the management of what may be the typical planting neighborhood of the South in the future are furnished me by the manager of the Capehart estate, in North Carolina. This estate is divided into farms of fifty acres each, and rented to tenants.

The Science of Advertising.

If you have goods to sell, advertise the fact.

Hire a man with lampblack kettle and a brush to paint your name and number on all the railroad fences. The cars go whizzing by so fast that no one can read them, to be sure, but perhaps the conductor will be obliging enough to stop the train for inquisitive passengers.

Remember the fences by the roadside as well. Nothing is so attractive to the passer-by as a well-placed sign: "Mullington's Medical Mixture for Mumps."

Have your cards on the hotel register, by all means. Strangers stopping at the hotel for the night generally buy a cigar before leaving town, and they need some inspiring literary food besides.

If an advertising agent wants to advertise your business in a fancy frame at the depot, pay him about 200 per cent. more than it is worth, and let him put it there. When a man has three-quarters of a second in which to catch a train he invariably stops to read depot advertisements, and your card might take his eye.

Of course the street thermometer dodge is excellent. When a man's fingers and ears are freezing, or he is puffing and "phewing" at the heat, is the time above all others when he reads a thermometer advertisement.

Don't fail to advertise in every circus programme. It will help the circus to pay their bills, and the visitors can relieve the tedium of the clown's jokes by looking over your remarks about "ten per cent. below cost," etc.

A boy with a big placard on a pole is an interesting object on the street, and lends a dignified air to the establishment. Hire a couple.

Patronizing every agent that shows you an advertising tablet, card, directory, dictionary, or even an advertising Bible, if one is offered at a reasonable price, shows that you know where to invest your money.

But don't establish legitimate newspapers and weeklies. Your advertisement would be nicely printed and would find its way into all the thrifty households of the region, where the farmer, the mechanic, the tradesman and others live, and into the families of the wealthy and refined—all who have articles to buy and the money with which to buy them; and in the quiet of the evening, after the news of the day has been digested, it would be read and pondered, and the next day people would come down to your store and patronize you, and keep coming in increasing numbers, and you might have to hire an extra clerk or two, move into a larger block and more favorable location and do a bigger business; but, of course, it would be more expensive and bring larger profits.—New Haven (Conn.) Register.

—There are some peculiar little prejudices in Italy about certain fruits and vegetables. Though blackberries grow in profusion along the roadsides, they are never seen on the table, being considered altogether too common. Watermelons also share the same fate, and are only sold in the streets to the poorer classes. Tomatoes never appear upon the table, but are only used to flavor with. I think the kind signora with whom we live has never entirely recovered from the shock I gave her one day by begging for a couple of raw tomatoes. In place of vinegar, an Italian always prefers lemon juice, upon spinach, for instance. Cottage cheese is eaten with ground coffee sprinkled upon it, which I can assure you is not bad. And fresh figs are always eaten with a dash of fried ham, which brings out the flavor of the fruit most wonderfully.—Florence Letter.

—Whisky contains fust oil, a deadly poison; and glucose, which contains a well-selected assortment of poison, is largely used in the manufacture of beer. The golden drip sirup which we use is largely made from old leather and rags picked from the gutters. Pork is filled with the deadly parasite, and cigarettes contain poison that is fast wiping out the youth of the land. In addition to all this a St. Louis physician has found that tooth-sticks are made of linden; but the linden contains a deadly poison called lindoline; that a cat inhaled with lindoline on the point of a needle died in eighteen seconds. Is it not miraculous that so many escape?

—Earnestness is the path to immortality; thoughtlessness the path to death. Those who are in earnest do not die; those who are thoughtless are as if dead already.

THE MARKETS.

FROM the Wilmington (Del.) Republican: Mr. J. M. Scott, corner Third and Madison streets, had a remarkably fine horse cured of the scratches by St. Jacobs Oil.

CHILDREN are caricatures of their elders. Which is the reason that their elders have so little patience with them.

AN Indianapolis exchange mentions that St. Jacobs Oil cured Mr. J. H. Mattern, a letter-carrier of that city, of a severe sprain, contracted in the war.—Detroit (Mich.) Western Home Journal.

"SIGNS of an early fall," Fog remarked as he saw the banana skins on the sidewalk.

Not so fast my friend, if you could see the strong, healthy, blooming men, women and children that have been raised from beds of sickness, suffering and almost death, by the use of Hop Bitters, you would say "Glorious and invaluable remedy." See other column.—Philadelphia Press.

A DETROITER dreamed that he had died and was banished to Satan's sultry kingdom, and says that he found many earthly customs in vogue there. About every man he met asked: "Is it not hot enough for you?"—Detroit Free Press.

Feverity and Distress. That poverty produces the greatest distress is not of the purse but of the blood. Deprived of its richness it becomes scant and watery, a condition termed anemia in medical writings. Given this condition, and scrofulous swellings and sores, general nervous debility, loss of flesh and appetite, weak lungs, throat disease, spitting of blood and consumption, are among the common results. If you are a sufferer from thin, poor blood employ Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery," which enriches the blood and cures these grave affections. It is a system of pills, also in the form of lozenges, on receipt of price, $1 per box for either. Mrs. Pinkham freely answers all letters of inquiry. Send for pamphlet. Address as above. Mention this Paper.

WHEN Fog heard that Rev. Mr. Proffert was made a doctor of divinity, he said divinity must be pretty badly off for doctors.

DR. PIERCE'S "Pleasant Purgative Pellets" are sugar-coated and inclosed in glass bottles, their virtues being thereby preserved unimpaired for any length of time, in any climate, so that they are always fresh and reliable. No cheap wooden or paste-board boxes. By druggists.

NEW MEXICO will send a delegate to the next session of Congress, named Tranquilla Luna, which probably means tranquil lunatic. Aside from his tranquillity, he will not differ very materially from his fellow-members.—Detroit Free Press.

AS a tonic and nerve for debilitated women nothing surpasses Dr. Pierce's "Favorite Prescription." By druggists.

It is estimated that a $30 horse will eat about $75 worth of hay between this and next May.

Delmonico's Advice to a Young Man About to Open a Restaurant.

A young man who had been assistant cook in a Chicago hotel, having saved up some money, concluded he would go to New York and try his fortune. He reasoned with himself that Delmonico would not live always, but he might as well try his luck in the future Delmonico of New York. On reaching the city he sent his letter of introduction to the famous restaurant keeper and solicited advice. Delmonico listened attentively to the young man's inquiries, and finally told him: "Get, first, a good location, then get the best cook you can hire, see that your waiters are attentive and polite, and buy only the best in the market. And still all of this you can do and not get any satisfaction. Be your own superintendent; get the best quality of the new CHARTER OAK COOKING RANGE, and if you don't succeed in your undertaking, you will have the satisfaction of doing your best to merit it." (2-23)

Rescued from Death. William J. Conaghan, of Somerville, Mass., says: "In the fall of 1876 I was taken with a violent Chilling of the lungs, followed by a severe cough. I was admitted to the City Hospital. While there the doctors said I had a hole in my left lung as big as a half dollar. I gave up hope, but a friend told me of Dr. Wm. Hall's BALSAM FOR THE LUNGS. I got a bottle, when to my surprise I commenced to feel better, and after I feel in better spirits than I have the past three years. I write this hoping that every one afflicted with Diseased Lungs will take Dr. Wm. Hall's BALSAM FOR THE LUNGS, and be convinced that CONSUMPTION CAN BE CURED." Also a sure remedy for Coughs, Croup, and all Chest and Lung Diseases. Sold by druggists.
