Congressional Committee Meeting.

W. H. H. Thomas, chairman, has called the Democratic Central Committee of the Tenth Congressional District to meet at Anthony's & Kuhn's Hall in the City of St. Louis, on July 24th, 1882, at 12 o'clock, to take such action as they may deem proper in regard to the misunderstandings in the District. Mr. Thomas is very desirous that all the members be present in order that they may settle all differences.

The Muddle in the Tenth District.

[From the Missouri Republican.] There appears to be an unfortunate misunderstanding among the Democrats of the Tenth Congressional District respecting their congressional convention. In calling the district central committee together, at De Soto, there seems to have been, by inadvertence, perhaps, a disagreement in the notices received by different committees. A portion were notified to meet on the 6th and others on the 10th of July. In consequence of this, or for want of any notice at all, four counties—Iron, St. Francois, St. Genevieve and Perry—were not represented at De Soto at the meeting on the 8th inst. The committee, however, proceeded to fix an early day for holding the convention, and also established the basis of representation. Both the time and the basis are objectionable to some, perhaps all the counties not represented. The objection to the time, July 25, is that it is too early and is on the very day before that set for the State convention, and to the basis of representation that it not only departs from the principle followed by the Democracy of the State in constituting the State convention, but is in itself partial and unfair. The basis fixed for the State convention is "that each representative district be entitled to one delegate for every 500 votes cast by it for Hancock in 1880, and one for every fractional part thereof of 250 votes and over; provided that each representative district be entitled to at least one delegate." The basis fixed at De Soto is "one delegate for every 500 Democratic votes in each county and the wards in the city of St. Louis, and one additional delegate for a fraction of 250 votes or over, the Hancock vote of 1880 to be taken as a basis; provided, however, that each county and each ward in the city of St. Louis shall be entitled to at least one delegate." The effect of this proviso by the committee at De Soto is to give the Eleventh Ward of the city a delegate for only 278 votes for Hancock, the Twenty-first Ward one for 184 votes, the Twenty-second Ward one for 185 votes, and the Twenty-fifth Ward one for 37 votes. It will be observed that 384 votes cast for Hancock in these four wards send four delegates, when they would be entitled, under the rule provided by the State Central Committee, to only one. These are the patent and reasonable objections urged by Democrats in the counties. Such action as this cannot conduce to harmony, and may lead to disaster. It hardly seems possible that the movers in this action will insist upon such a decision. The Republican points out the facts and notes the objections to them in the interest of harmony. The individual fortunes of no man in the district should weigh against holding themselves compactly together to be ready to take advantage of a future opportunity. "The whole policy of tampering with the Greenbackers," it says "should be discouraged. From the State ticket down to the lowest county offices there should be candidates presented for Republicans to vote for. Any other course means the complete demoralization and gradual wearing out of the party."

The question of union on a common ticket would possess some practical importance, if such a union could effect anything. As long as there are more Democrats in Missouri than Republicans and Greenbackers put together it makes no difference to Democrats whether they combine or not. It is an empty and profitless question, except so far as it affects the relative dignity of the two factions; themselves.—Republican.

Neighborhood News.

Thomas B. Penney, one of the editors of the Cape Girardeau News, is a candidate for County Judge.

With the proposed railroad finished to Doniphan will come steamboat navigation between Doniphan and Cherokee Bay, and most likely to Pocahontas.

The Board of Trustees of Doniphan has dissolved the corporate existence of the village by simple resolution, and all the members resigned.

A Mississippi youth gave his sweetheart what he supposed was a dollar and a half to buy a pair of gloves. This was done in the dark, and the fellow discovered afterwards that one of the pieces was a twenty-dollar gold piece. He spoke to the girl about it next day, but she had spent the money for finery. He lost his money and she his heart.

A salmon two feet long was caught in Current river, near Doniphan, last week.

Mrs. A. M. Depriest, of West Plains, was tapped for the dropsy, and ten gallons of water taken from her.

Mr. Lipp, near Cape Girardeau, harvested 144 bushels of wheat off of three and a half acres.

The Collectorship of Dent county must be a fat office, there being no less than nine aspirants for the position. The usually sedate Farmington Times contains the remarkable statement that "the new saw-mill at Benton has the capacity to make 150 barrels of flour a day."

A turnip measuring nineteen inches and weighing four pounds was raised in Washington county.

A pear tree in St. Genevieve is over one hundred years old.

John O. Brown, of Stoddard county, was shot and killed by some unknown person. Suspicion rests on his wife and a man named Wright.

Whilst in St. Louis this week we met Hon. C. D. Yancey, of Piedmont, who informed us that at the urgent solicitation of friends throughout the district, he had consented to make the race for State Senator in this district. Mr. Yancey is one of our ablest men and would make a creditable Senator. We hope to see him elected.—Poplar Bluff Citizen.

The Proposed Combination.

On the interesting question whether the Republicans of Missouri shall support the Greenback ticket prematurely put in the field more than a month ago, or nominate and support a ticket of their own, the Springfield Patriot, the leading Republican organ of Southwest Missouri, has very decided views. It favors a Republican ticket. To suppose that a combination of Republicans and Greenbackers on the Greenback ticket would secure the election of it "is simply absurd," says the Patriot. There are thousands of Republicans "who are too independent and self-willed to submit to what they would regard as a humiliating surrender of principle and honesty;" and even if this were not the case, "the election of the Greenback ticket could only be hoped for on the ground that the Greenbackers can convert about twelve thousand Democrats." But the most serious objection to the experiment, the Patriot thinks, is that "it could demoralize and weaken the Republican party." This was proved in the campaign two years ago in the Southwest. The Republicans in conceding to the Greenbackers the congressional field, found themselves forced to concede the smaller fields also, and the result was that in many counties the Democratic vote was increased, and even counties claimed to be Republican gave majorities against Garfield. There is not much of a Republican party in Missouri at present, but the Patriot thinks there is the possibility of one in the undefined future, and it is not wise to impair that possibility by yielding the fighting position to such an ephemeral body as the Greenbackers; the Republicans, if they can do nothing else can maintain discipline, mark time and the interests of the party. There are several excellent gentleman aspirants in the Tenth District, but the advancement of no one of them is at all vital or should be considered for a moment at the risk of harmony and success. There is no occasion for haste. There is ample time to consult all the counties in the vital matters which were decided by a part. Let, therefore, no man invite defeat by any action which is not manifestly frank and fair. Anything that savors of trickery in any district will enajper the cause of the Democracy and the clear and honest heads of the party in the Tenth and every other district ought to be in its counsels, and should not tolerate any useless and dangerous complications. It is not only an offense to the understanding of Democratic voters, whether in the Tenth or any other district in the State, but it is a reflection upon their integrity to suppose that anything in the nature of trickery or sharp practice will be approved, condoned or tolerated by them when brought to their attention. Those who engage in it insure their own defeat and invite the defeat of the party.

What makes England madder than anything else is the fact that Arabi carried away £25,000 of Government funds. It is the money that England is after.

If the people of Ireland stand firm—and there is every reason to believe they will—that outrageous and tyrannical measure, the Repression Act, can not be enforced. Individuals may be subjected to the cruel hardships of the law, but whole communities can not be thrown into jail. Let Ireland refuse to be intimidated, and the British Government has not the power to carry out the provisions of this law, except by waging a merciless warfare, which it would hardly dare undertake.

The truth about Judge Advocate General Swaim is coming out. His decisions are generally regarded at the War Department as worthless. Secretary Lincoln, it is reported has been obliged to reverse one decision after another until the thing has become monotonous, and rumor has it that Swaim will be removed. Lately he discharged the best man in the Bureau of Military Justice to make room for one of his personal friends, and this intensifies the dissatisfaction with Swaim. His record as Judge Advocate General is no surprise to those who know anything about him. Swaim's appointment, was one of the most ridiculous acts of the Hayes Administration.

Additional Locals.

One of the horses belonging to the hack running between Ironton and Pilot Knob fell on Main street last Saturday from sheer exhaustion. The team had been greatly over-worked, and from the looks of the horses, not half fed. It was a clear case of cruelty to animals, and the owner should have been given such punishment as would deter him from violating the law hereafter. There is no more despicable offense than that of over-working a poor, starved brute that willingly does all his emaciated frame can endure.

IN MEMORIAM.—Died, of heart disease, on the 8th of July, little MARY J., second daughter of William and Abigail Lewis, of Annapolis, Mo., aged 11 years 11 months and 8 days. Just at the time when our hearts were delighted with the happy prospects of her usefulness, they were made sad by death. She was a lovely child and loved by all who knew her. She had been a great sufferer for a long time. She possessed a patient and forgiving spirit, which added many endearments to her friendship. She will be greatly missed at home and by many friends. But now she is gone, the tears of parents and friends can not bring her back. God has called her home; and he doeth all things well; therefore let us cheerfully submit to his divine will. Farewell, dear Mary! we hope to meet you when we are done with the sorrows of this earth.

She was the pride of many hearts, The joy of many lives. A tender little bud was she Among the larger flowers. But her life is done, And with folded wings She now her little sunset sings, Safe at home.
