LOCAL BRIEVITIES.

The autumn rains are reigning now. All the Ironton folks who attended the Exposition last week, came back filled with rapture over Gilmore's band. They say "grand" is no name for it.

Judge Russell last Saturday presented us a half-bushel of fine potatoes. They are white, large, smooth-skinned, and without lumps or excrescences, with the "eyes" reduced to the minimum. Finer tubers are not grown anywhere.

Saturday, 3d inst., commencing at 10 o'clock A. M., will be held at public auction a lot of Household Furniture, the property of J. H. Delano, Esq., who is now a resident of Carbondale. Here's a chance for bargains. Terms of sale, cash in hand.

We acknowledge the receipt of an invitation to attend the grand ball of the Velled Prophets' next Tuesday evening. While we fear we shall not be able to be there, our acknowledgments to the Prophet who made that event possible are none the less sincere. To him and his mystical brethren, health and long life!

Report of the Des Arc Public School for the month commencing August 31st, and ending September 25th: No. pupils enrolled, female, 37; male 34—71. No. days attendance of all the pupils...1025. Average No. attending each day...51.4. Average No. days attended by each pupil...14. MINNIE COLLINS, Teacher.

The 21st Illinois—Gran's old Regiment—will hold its reunion in the Valley next year, on the 27th of September. They will be warmly welcomed by our people, especially the older residents, who remember the "harem-scarum" four big-belted fellows of the 21st, and the rackets they used to have with the high-oiled, scholastic 24 Illinois—the "Brain Regiment."

Four men going to a ball in the country last Thursday night threw down the fence and drove through one of Thomp's Blanton's corn fields. A lot of cattle being pastured in the adjoining field got among the corn thereby, doing considerable damage. Next day Thomp had the afore-mentioned ball-goers up before Judge Dinger, and their average "acc'n" was about fifteen dollars.

The citizens of the Valley, and especially the members of the First Hill M. E. Church, will be pleased to learn that the Annual Conference which met at Charleston last week returned Rev. J. W. Worsnop to his former position at Arcadia. Mr. Worsnop is a minister of no ordinary ability, and a gentleman in every sense of the word. We are glad he is returned and wish him a pleasant and prosperous year. He informs us by mail that he is detained and will not be permitted to attend the conference at First Hill next Sunday, but in the future will be regularly at his post.

Left 1—Ladies can afford to powder, twist bangs, and the like, at leisure, if it is not desired to take one of Uncle Sam's main trains; then they had better cut such business short, or sufficiently so to get there in time. But a couple of our young ladies here did not recognize this fact last Sunday, and the consequences were, they succeeded in seeing No. 301 pull out for Arcadia. After a grand rush, and a general wreck of bangs, etc., they with a sigh followed quickly behind the train, and at Arcadia again saw the blue smoke rising in great volumes. The deviating road made the trip a long one, but the girls didn't care much—the cars were too crowded for comfort, anyhow!

Many persons who may have a desire to visit St. Louis during the week of the great Fair and Velled Prophet's pageant hesitate because of the possible lack of hotel accommodations. To provide against this contingency the wholesale merchants and manufacturers of St. Louis have for several years past maintained a Bureau of Free Information, and all who apply are directed to respectable private families and boarding houses where pleasant accommodation may be had at reasonable rates. The public may be assured that ample provision will be made for all, thus effectually preventing extortion and imposition. The office will be located at the Railroad Ticket Office, south-east corner of Broadway and Chestnut street, and no charge of any kind is made for any service rendered.

The A. O. U. W. of Pilot Knob Lodge No. 253, will give a grand ball at their new hall on Friday night of this week, and we trust it will be largely attended. Certainly, if the attendance be consequent upon the preparations made for the event, it will be a success in that as in all other particulars. An excellent string band has been engaged, and the supper will be a grand affair. All the other concomitants to a successful and pleasant time have been well taken care of. Quite a large attendance from neighboring lodges is anticipated, the weather proving favorable. The admission charged is low—$1.50 per couple—barely enough to defray the expenses. Our Pilot Knob friends know how to get up an affair of this kind, and we may safely promise all who go there on this occasion at least three times their money's worth.

Who says advertising doesn't pay? W. B. Newman, Esq., a couple of weeks ago advertised in the REGISTER for "a girl," and last Thursday to behold, a mighty nice little bit of femininity came to his household. All are doing well.

The attention of the public is directed to the new advertisements in this paper. Whitworth & Sons, Bonanza, Barnhouse, and the Annex, all come in with their displays of goods and bids for patronage. Some one has said that Farmington is the advertising center of Southeast Missouri, but whoever he was, he evidently was not posted. Look at this paper—nineteen columns of living home advertisements! We just think our merchants are world-beaters when it comes to enterprise, or advertising—the terms are synonymous. For our part, we are proud of this patronage and these evidences of good-will; we are also glad that the REGISTER'S circulation is such as to justify the outlay in advertising its customers: make us print for actual, bona-fide subscribers, almost one thousand copies, and hope to over-run that number within the next month.

Our school commissioner, John B. Scott, requests the teachers of Iron county to meet him at the public school building, Saturday morning, October 10th, at 9 o'clock, for the purpose of re-organizing said Association. It is the intention to have one session a month, from 9 to 12 o'clock. The work of teachers is of such a character as to enable even a layman to see the advantage—yes, the necessity—of teachers' conferences with each other; especially do the young and inexperienced need the help which the intelligent experience of the older are competent to give. Let there be a general turn-out of teachers and friends of education, for others besides teachers can become members. We want the proceedings of this Association every month, and we trust that the publication of the same will reflect credit on all the teachers of Iron county, by at least showing their presence at the meetings.

Last Sunday week two strangers hired a livery rig—an open buggy or carriage with two horses—from Collins & Stafford, to make a trip to Bellevue, they said. They didn't come back, however, and a day or two after Stafford went after them. The last we hear from the pursued is from Steelville through the Mirror, which says the thieves passed through that town last Monday, going west. Says the Mirror: "They had an open buggy two small horses, one an iron gray, the other a black mare. The mare has a wart inside the left stifle, and the horse has a wart on one of his fore ankles. A liberal reward will be paid for information or return of the team. Since the above was in type we learn that the men left the buggy at Mr. Halber's near here, borrowed a couple of saddles and rode the horses off, claiming to be stock buyers." The Anti-Thief Association has supplied the pursuers with money, and they will follow the thieves till they get them.

A large number of friends and relatives of Christian Amelung, the Master Mechanic of the St. Louis Ore and Steel company, assembled at his residence last Saturday night, the 23th, to do honor to his 33d birthday. Some of the guests are old landmarks of Pilot Knob. Mr. August Gockel and lady, Messrs. Henry Ahrens, Sr., Willie Phillips, Jno. Elbrecht, Henry Vastling, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Waters, Mr. and Mrs. Will Amelung, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Amelung, and a number of others whose names I could not get were present. Through Mrs. Christian Amelung, the Pilot Knob Band was invited without Mr. Amelung's knowledge, so he was completely taken by surprise. He reproached his good wife for inviting the band and not being prepared for them; but he was finally quieted down by being told all necessary preparations had been made to entertain not only the band but numerous guests as well. And such entertainment can only be known to those who have had the good fortune of being the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Christian Amelung. May they both live to see the occasion duplicated many times.

We copy the following "special" from Washington to the Globe-Democrat, last Saturday: "Mr. Thomas A. Roberson, of Arcadia, Mo., was to-day sworn in as special counsel for the Interior Department. The late Congress appropriated $10,000 for the purpose of investigating claims of citizens of the United States against the Indians for depredations committed. Most of these claims grow out of the raids in Kansas, Oregon and Minnesota. There are $2,000 of these and they aggregate about $8,000,000. They have been dragging along, many of them for ten years, and there are a few old timers going back to 1838. Congress made the appropriation with the view of having them taken out of the usual routine, sifted and reported upon in order that they might be finally disposed of. Mr. Roberson's appointment puts him in charge of the investigation of the cases. He will have to make examination of the testimony and send his findings to the Secretary of the Interior, who will embrace the recommendations in his report to Congress. A room in the Interior Department has been assigned to Mr. Roberson, with a clerk, stenographer and messenger. He is fairly entitled to be known hereafter to all Missourians as Judge Roberson. The young gentleman is a graduate of St. Louis University and of the Michigan University Law School. He is fairly entitled to his appointment by right of discovery. In looking over the appropriation bills of the last session he came upon this particular clause, drew Commissioner Atkins' attention to the matter, satisfied him as to his qualifications, and got the place."

Arcadia Items.

Messrs. Louis Miller, Frank Hornbeck, James Evans, and Chas. Allison spent Sunday at home. They are building houses for the company at Ironton.

Miss Kate Green, of St. Louis, and Miss Bowling, of Hopewell, visited friends here yesterday.

Mrs. Andrews left Thursday for Kansas City to visit the family of Mr. Chas. Sykes.

The genial and estimable editor of the Malden Clipper, Mr. R. H. Jones, spent Saturday and Sunday with friends in the "suburbs of Arcadia." Mr. J. left Monday morning for St. Louis.

Mr. Sanford Andrews spent a few days at home last week.

Mrs. Reeves who has been seriously ill for three weeks, is no better at present.

Mrs. W. H. Thomson has been sick for the past week.

Miss Evans, of Cuba, Mo., is visiting her cousin, Mrs. Tual.

Lieut. Waring and family, who have been stopping at the Arcadia House for the summer, will leave Thursday for the City of Washington (via St. Louis), where they will spend the winter.

Tramps are numerous in our town. There was no preaching at the Fort Hill church last Sunday, owing to conference being in session.

News is scarce, so I will close. SEPT. 28th, 1885.

Tries to Lay our Ghost.

IRONTON, Mo., Sept. 24th, 1885.

Ed. Register—I see an account in this week's issue of the REGISTER that the house now I live in is haunted.

It has been the one desire of my life to possess a nice, lively ghost, and I have looked everywhere for one. And, at the same time, I have been living in the house a whole year with one and did not know it.

I wonder how long I would have remained in such ignorance of the fact if it had not been for your valuable paper? What would people do without newspapers, anyhow, especially in a town of no gossip?

Col. McGhee says ghosts are very numerous in Tennessee, in fact every family has two or more.

It costs very little to keep, it will live a long time on corn bread and whiskey. He says the natives catch them by placing salt on their (the ghost's) tails.

Mrs. C. and I will catch this ghost if it takes all the salt in Ironton.

Herman Davis, says Jake Grandhomme has a fine collection of ghosts, but Herman is not always reliable. And, at the same time, Mr. C. and I will catch this ghost if it takes all the salt in Ironton.

August Rieke says he has a fine collection of spirits, but nary a ghost.

Joe Walker promises to get me one the next time he goes "har" hunting; do you think he will?

If Mrs. C. and I are successful in salting this ghost's tail, we will take him to our friend Jackson and have his "mug" photographed and send you a copy so you can publish it for the benefit of your many readers.

If you know of any one who has a nice, well-behaved ghost that he is willing to part with, or if you know of any ghost who wants a good home, plenty to eat, and three drinks a day, please refer it to me.

Possibly I am too fast in thinking that my house is the one you refer to as being haunted, as there are four other railroads living in Ironton, namely: Tom Jones, T. Mahoney, Adams and Dr. Thomas, all I believe, except Dr. Thomas, have a boarder.

Respectfully, JNO. CLARE. P. S. I forgot to tell you for the benefit of your readers, that the house I remove to, I heard told, is haunted by a female ghost all dressed in white; now isn't that nice? She is seen on dark nights climbing the golden stairs; the first time I see her I will send Mrs. C. to knock the stairs from under her.

We Stand Corrected.

BEREYMAN, Sept. 26th, 1885.

Ed. Register—I saw in the REGISTER of the 24th under the head of "Court Notes," some items from this office. You have not got the amounts for which judgment was rendered correct. I will give them.

September 19th, 1885.—Wm. Bone vs. Railroad Company; judgment for $20 and costs.

J. S. Dollinger vs. same, $100 and costs. September 21.—Jacob Sutton vs. same, $108 and costs.

Joseph Sutton vs. same, $100 and costs. James M. Graham vs. same, $56 and costs.

Eliab Dunn vs. same, $100 and costs. G. W. Ketchum vs. same, $40 and costs. September 25.—G. W. Seogglus vs. same, $64 and costs. S. E. MCNKEY.

Annapolis News.

ANNAPOLIS, Mo., Sept. 27th, 1885.

Ed. Register—Indications of rain to-day, and a little shower would do no harm, as it is very dry and dusty.

Business is good here, especially lumber business. There are about 20 car loads of lumber shipped from here each week.

Last Friday night, as passenger train No. 603 arrived here, the engine truck broke, which entirely disabled her. There was a freight train waiting here on the side-track for No. 603 to pass them, and their engine was taken to take No. 603 through, which caused very little delay to passengers.

Engineer West, of the broken engine, got mangled from DeSoto this afternoon, and left here this evening for Poplar Bluff.

Mrs. Acton, of Little Rock, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Towl.

Mrs. Jno. W. Berryman left for a visit to her relatives near Potosi, Mo., to-day. Jno. Towl was punctual again to-day.

Mrs. Dr. Carr and her daughters, of Mill Springs, visited the Exposition last week. Misses E. Wadlow and O. Wolfe went paw-paw hunting this week. LOUIS.

Jottings From Des Arc.

DES ARC, Mo., September 24, 1885.

Ed. Register—Times are getting lively about our little town. The quarries are all running in full blast.

Our young and enterprising foreman, Joseph Kinech, took a flying trip to Sycotte Granite Quarries, in the interest of his granite business.

Uncle Dick Omohundro is up and around, as usual, doing his best to accommodate his guests.

At present there is not much sickness in town.

Our young agent, Mr. Frank Paxton, has returned from his trip, and resumed work again.

The railroad company has suspended some of the section men at this place. We have church at this place occasionally, and Sunday school every Sunday; so you see, Mr. Editor, we are not altogether irreligious. Our friend Maddox may be heard pounding the steel and iron at all times.

Iron Mountain News.

The Company's store roof received a new coat of paint last week, which adds to its appearance.

The blackboards in the public school were renewed last Monday, and now present a smooth black surface.

Mr. J. J. Bradley is now entertained on nights by vocal music from a "wee sma' visitor" who came to see him a few days ago.

An inquest was held over the body of Andy Hall last Monday, by Esq. D. L. Rivers; but no new facts were developed in the case.

The school board have made arrangements to supply the school with plenty of good wood for the winter, which is duly appreciated.

Wood haulers are seen on our streets every day, preparing our people against the storms and blasts of winter. Old Eolus is now preparing his first report.

Mr. August Apple and family will move from this place next Tuesday to Bonne Terre, where he expects to make his home. His many friends regret to see him leave.

I am told that the public school at Bellevue is moving very satisfactorily, with Mr. Alcorn at the helm. About 30 or 40 pupils attend, and good results are reported.

As the beautiful autumn days glide swiftly by, various and sundry buggy-rides are enjoyed by the young people of Ironton and Pilot Knob; each have a fair representation.

Mr. Rob't Sizemore and family, of Ironton, passed through our town on Sunday, on their way to visit Mr. W. W. Moody's family at Ironton. We wish them a pleasant trip.

Mr. Ed. Thomas and party were out on a hunt a few days ago, and took in a large wild cat from the forests near Ironton. Perhaps this is the "ghost" that was troubling the editor.

Messrs. Rob't Davis and David Osterie, of Graniteville, were seen on our streets last Sunday. Where is Dave's best girl, and who is the matter with Bob? Can anybody tell?

School was in session at Graniteville last Saturday. The teacher had lost a day since school began, and he was allowed to make up the time. Was it a gain to the school or not?

Gen. Wright, of St. Louis, partner in the Schneider granite quarries, came down Friday evening on a flying business trip, and returned home per Arcadia Accommodation next morning.

It is the time of year when the school boy's heart longest for his store of nuts for the winter, and if we are to judge by the appearance of his hands and lips, he is attending strictly to business on both sides of the road.

Mr. Joseph Reburn and family, of Arcadia, came up Saturday to spend the evening and Sunday with the family of Mr. J. D. Green. It is the first time that we have seen Joe, for so long many days, but he is just the same old Joe.

On last Saturday evening Messrs. E. M. Smith, Rob't Newell, John Webb, Lawrence Kelly and others to the number of ten, came in from Graniteville, to attend Masonic Lodge at this place. You are welcome, gentlemen; call again soon.

Mrs. John Downey gave a pleasant entertainment on Friday evening, to the little folks, in honor of her little daughter, Anna's, birthday. Twenty-seven of the little fellows were counted, and a merrier crowd of boys and girls could not be found.

The Entire Nonsary society met at Mr. E. P. Cayce's last Friday night, when the following officers were elected: Charlie McFarland, president; Miss Maggie Jarrett, vice-president, and Miss Blanche Green, secretary. The time of meeting is yet twice a month.

Our friends of the Lutheran church are making preparations for a grand picnic and festival at Desoto on next Sunday. It is gotten up for the benefit of the church, and it is hoped that a good turn-out may be had. A pleasant time is insured to all, and a few dollars cannot be spent to better advantage. Everybody is invited.

Mr. J. D. Green took his little daughter, Grace, to St. Louis one day last week to have a surgical operation performed on one of her feet. From her infancy she has been troubled with a flexion of the right foot, and various expedients had been resorted to in order to restore the limb to its natural position, but to no avail. So last week her father decided to take her to Dr. McCoy in the city. He performed the operation in an entirely satisfactory manner, and a permanent cure is a question of only a few days.

One day last week a whilisk looking smoke was seen issuing from the coal bin in Messrs. Clark, Crommer & Clarkson's flouring mill in Ironton; and upon investigation proved to be fire in the coal. How it came to get there no one can tell. The coal was removed to a depth of nearly ten feet before the fire could be reached, and when found, was discovered to be in the fine coal in the bottom of the bin. It being so deep, and inaccessible to fire in the ordinary way, is supposed to be an instance of spontaneous combustion. It is very fortunate that the fire was discovered in the day time, or else Ironton might now be minus a first-class flouring mill.

A runaway happened between Graniteville and Middlebrook on last Sunday evening which might have been a very serious matter; but as it was, no injury or loss was sustained by any one. The facts are about as follows: Mr. David Osterie, his mother, and five brothers and sisters, together with Mrs. George Miller, of near Copenhagen, this county, and three of her children, all got in the hack at Middlebrook to go out and see the Quarries. They made the trip out safely, and started back. Mr. Osterie had to stay at the store at Graniteville, so he placed the team in charge of one of the other boys. But in doing so, charged him very particularly not to drive fast as the team was young and rather inclined to be quick and uncertain. When the party had reached the first creek east of Germantown, by some accident the driver let the reins fall between the horses. And in endeavoring to regain them, scared the team and they dashed off in a fast run, at the same time jerking the young man in their pretty steady at that. While in their flight, the hack passed over a hill without striking him and left him to wallow in the dust, and get home as best he could. The frightened team went on helter skelter, dashing over rocks and bridges as though "cheapsides were mad," the wheels lumbering under the weight of the passengers, as though they were trying to say, be still! In about eight minutes the horses had covered the road to Middlebrook, a distance of two miles and a half, making all the turns safely, and landing all the passengers without a break, or injury to anyone. When they were finally checked, the ladies were asked what they were doing all the time the horses were running. The answer was, "that they were doing nothing, but praying, but that they had been putting their feet on the pedals all the time." While we can laugh, now that all are safe, it perhaps was not so much of a laughing matter at the time, and brings to mind the fact that we should at all times be cautious how we trust the reins in the hands of the youth.

Sept. 28th, 1885. NESTOR.

From Goodwater.

GOODWATER, Mo., Sept. 24th, 1885.

Ed. Register—The weather in this section during the last three weeks has been fine with the exception of a few damp chilly days. At about 2:30 A. M. on the 13th inst., it began to rain in good earnest, nor did it cease until about 11:30 A. M. As a result the earth was once more thoroughly soaked and in a day or two afterwards many farmers in this vicinity began the sowing of wheat and the breaking of "stubble" for corn next spring. Though some are so sadly disheartened by the failure of the wheat crop just threshed, that they will sow little, if any, wheat this fall, there are many who have confidence in the coming wheat season—in fact they believe firmly that the wheat crop of '86 will surpass (both in quality and relative quantity) any one of the last four or five crops of said cereal, hence they have sown in good spirits, believing that "he that soweth, shall surely reap."

Among those who attended the picnic at Palmer, Mo., on the 12th inst., was Miss Salome Bryan, who on the following day was escorted home by one of your subscribers, a well-known young gentleman of Palmyra. Let some of your readers guess of whom I speak. I will add that his name is William H. Yount. I have been reliably informed that the "greased pole" and other attractions advertised as being on the programme for the picnic, were "conspicuous by their absence."

Miss Eliza Love, daughter of Mr. D. S. Love, who is residing with her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Willard Buck, of Alexandria, Minn., is well pleased with her present surroundings. Among her pleasures are: Attendance at a High School, Lake rides and Park promenades.

On last Sunday Mr. C. A. Bryan, of Cub Creek, came "over the ridge" for the purpose of conveying his mother, Mrs. D. S. Love, who is an invalid, to relatives in Washington county, Mo., where she will pass some time in visiting them.

Mr. Wm. F. Mason and family on last Saturday visited with Mr. Jesse Mason, of Crawford county, Mo., where she will pass some time in visiting them.

Lafayette Alcorn, Esq., of Bellevue, Mo., was out on a short visit to relatives last week.

Mr. F. M. Adams, of the wide-awake firm of Adams & Butler, Belgrade, Mo., was around here on business a few days ago. He says times are dull in his region of country. He also informs us of the serious illness of Dr. J. L. Eaton, who, a short time ago, located at Centerville, Mo., for the practice of his profession as a physician. About two weeks ago he returned to his old home, at Belgrade, Mo., and was taken down with typhoid fever. It is feared that he will succumb to the disease. Should he do so he will leave many mourning friends and relatives, among them his young wife—she having been united in marriage to Miss Mollie Maxwell, daughter of Thos. W. Maxwell, Esq., residing near Belgrade, Mo., on the same day that he was taken sick.

Mr. Adams also told us that at a show of fine young colts at Belgrade last week, Mr. Jno. H. Black was awarded the premium.

Mr. W. F. Mason, who has rented the "Thomas D. Hughes Farm" in Dent county, Mo., is now engaged sowing wheat thereon.

Mr. Frances Johnson, late of Newport, Ark., has been spending the last month among relatives in Washington and Iron counties.

Rev. Mr. W. T. Crocker has just returned from near Ironton, Mo., where he holds religious services monthly. He reports having had a rather disagreeable time while preaching at the Henderson School House, near the above named town, about a week ago. He states that a man named Sturgeon came to the meeting in an intoxicated condition and made an attempt to cut the throat of a Mr. Mills; falling in that he cut the coat-sleeve of a young man named Horton. He next cut loose two teams—one belonging to the wagon, the other to Mr. Crocker's buggy; these acts he is said to have followed up by throwing a salt-cellar through the window, aiming, it is thought, to strike Mr. Wm. Wood in the head, but the salt-cellar came near striking a lady sitting in the house near the window. He was then taken off the grounds by some persons present, but soon took the "back track;" meeting Mr. Crocker—who had by this time closed the services—and a Mrs. Wood in a buggy, Sturgeon is said to have refused to "give the road." At last he collared Mr. Wood, who was walking just behind the buggy and attempted to cut him; but Wood jumped out of the buggy and hastened to her husband's relief.

Then Sturgeon is said to have apologized, claiming that he was "mistaken in the man," &c.

Mr. Crocker says he thinks that the grand jury of Washington county should take notice of the matter and put a stop to such proceedings.

On last evening Rev. Mr. Huddleston began a series of meetings at our schoolhouse, intending to close them on next Sunday evening unless the interest manifested by those in attendance is sufficient to warrant a further protraction of said meetings. E.
