Order of Publication. In the Circuit Court of Iron County, Mo. In vacation—June 11th, 1887. The State of Missouri at the relation and to the use of Simeon E. Buford, collector of the Revenue of Iron County, Mo., against G. W. Eitenheber, Nathan V. Barlow, George Taber and all unknown interested parties.

Now at this day comes the plaintiff, Simeon E. Buford, collector of the revenue of Iron County, Missouri, and files his petition and affidavit, setting forth among other things, that the defendants are non-residents of the State of Missouri and cannot be summoned in this action by the ordinary process of law; it is, therefore, ordered by the clerk of the circuit court of Iron County, Mo., in vacation, that publication be made, notifying said defendants that an action has been commenced against them in the circuit court of said county, the object and general nature of which is to enforce the lien of the State of Missouri for back taxes for the years 1883, 1884 and 1885 on the following real estate, belonging to said defendants, to wit:

Northwest quarter of the southeast quarter and west half of the northwest quarter and east half of the southwest quarter and northwest quarter of the southwest quarter, section 32, township 35, range 1 west. (An itemized statement in the nature of a tax bill, showing the amount of taxes now due on said real estate, for the years aforesaid, amounting in the aggregate to the sum of $12.75, is filed with said petition as provided by law.) And unless they be and appear at the next term of said court, to be holden for said county of Iron, and State of Missouri, at the court house in said county, on the fourth Monday in October next (1887), and on or before the sixth day thereof (if the term shall so long continue, and if not, then before the end of the term), and plead, answer or demur to said plaintiff's petition, the same will be taken as confessed. Judgment rendered in accordance with the prayer of said petition, and said real estate, or so much thereof as may be necessary to satisfy said judgment, interest and costs, be sold under a special vendue to be issued thereon.

ties in the United States were born. Now, sir, will you say that Democracy was once a side issue? I say, sir, that it never was. More than that, it is the only party that has held itself aloof from all the side issues.

In regard to Weaver's quotation from Dickinson, I will say that you have not only got onto the side track, but have actually gone overboard into something that does not in any way relate to this discussion. Who cares for James B. Weaver? He is cast off from the old Greenback party and has been taken in by you Republicans. As for the way senators are elected, I am very well satisfied. They are elected by the people, indirectly.

As for your "Land Question," "Social Problems," "Cranks and Anarchy," "Nihilism," &c., I must say that I have never been guilty of reading all of them. You see as I live away down here on Flat Creek I don't get to see so many of Spies' editorials as you do. Your "sphere of indefiniteness" is too great for me to get into my "noggin." You will have to tackle "X" with all your cranks theories. He can hold you down on them, and make you feel rather small, too.

Now, "Farmer," before my Mary Jane ever casts her ballot, you can bet your peanut crop that we will have a regular "rucus" in camp. Times will be much warmer than they were in Syracuse when Henry George and Dr. McGlynn turned you Socialists out of the convention.

You need not dictate to me what kind of timber will be used in my platform. My platform is already built. It was built by Thomas Jefferson and is going to stand. We don't need any other platform, either.

Now, sir, you Republicans, seeing the grand old Democratic party in power, and knowing that we will again triumph in 1888, you are only too willing to see us adopt some side issue, which would weaken our platform. We Democrats don't propose to act like the Republicans—hold to the bare and run with the hounds. We propose to be one and the same thing—Democracy and nothing else, now and forever.

From Goodland. Ed. Register—Through the kindness of our principal county correspondent with the Department of Agriculture, I have the August report on the condition of growing crops and on freight rates of transportation companies; also, the report of the Statistician. The condition of crops shows that a very heavy reduction has taken place in the national average in the last month, owing to the decline in condition of corn from drouth in the central corn region in the valleys of the Ohio and Missouri, where two-thirds of the crop is grown and the commercial supply is procured. The average is now 80.5, instead of 97.7, last month. In my opinion, the next report will show a much greater falling off, especially in the west. No report yet on wheat, as 'tis too early to obtain results of threshing.

Your writer wishes to give a few thoughts in reply to questions given by our correspondent at Goodwater. My recollections run back forty years, and during that period we have been visited occasionally by drouths, and in fact we read in the bible of the same which occurred in the days of Jacob and his twelve sons. However, I do not pretend to tell the gentleman the cause of drouths, but I do not believe clearing off the forests is the cause. We had a greater drouth here in this country about thirty years ago than we have had since that time, while at that time (say 1854) there was plenty of forest all over the country. Yet the drouth came all the same. But what I want to say is how to meet the drouth when it comes. The year above mentioned (if my memory is right it was in 1853 or '54) my father was then in the vigor of life and had plenty of boys, and the boys had to work, too. His corn land was broke early and deep, and by the middle of March we began to plant corn, and by the first of April it was all planted, and the order was deep plowing and the result was a large crop of heavy corn, while elsewhere it was almost a failure. That rule has been observed closely by myself, and at this writing I feel safe in saying I shall realize a good average crop of corn. Early planting insures our crops against the ravages of insects, which we did not have in my boyhood days.

tesy due and a cup of delicious coffee and plenty of chat to boot), Mr. J. L. Midyett, of Indian Creek, who had a piece of wheat, and after it grew to about 12 inches high, some of his stock frequented one place of four or five rods square and eat off the wheat, from which stumps suckers sprang up and grew and matured a fine crop of wheat. If the center bud of a stalk of wheat is killed, cut off or bitten off by stock, and suckers spring up from the stump of the wheat it will make cheat. Try it, Mr. E. As long as wheat stools out from the roots it will produce its kind. Now, Mr. E., next spring when your wheat begins to show the heads that you may know that it is wheat, take your blade and cut an armful—as Mr. M. will tell you he did—allowing the stubble to stand until harvest; then examine again and you will find cheat.

Two of J. R. Adams' children have been sick with diphtheria, but timely treatment from the hands of Dr. F. M. Parker arrested the disease. All you people who have children, look out! The disease is very malignant. School teachers should see to it that a little fire is kept in the house every day for a few hours, which will prevent much sickness. In fact, if everybody's house had an old time fire-place, with a little fire every day in the year, sickness would be reduced 90 per cent.

H. Crocker is very sick with rheumatism. Central Missouri Association of United Baptists will meet at Crossville church, in Reynolds County, the 5th day of October, 1887. A large crowd is expected. TOBIAS, Sept. 9th, 1887. Turn Out the Brawlers. The old soldiers of Carlisle have honored themselves and their organization by entering a solemn protest against the ravings of the Tuttle and the Fairchild. At a meeting of Captain Caldwell Post, No. 391, held on Thursday last, the following resolutions were unanimously adopted: RESOLVED, That the members of this post with regret the attempt by certain unscrupulous political demagogues to debase the G. A. R. by converting it into a political creed, formed for the purpose of preserving and strengthening the fraternal feelings formed amidst the smoke of battle, to perpetuate the memory and history of their fallen comrades, to assist former comrades in arms who need their help, to aid in the care and protection of widows and orphans of deceased soldiers, and to encourage the spread of universal liberty, equal rights and justice to all men, and not for the purpose of sustaining any political party. Unfortunately it includes within its numbers a few men who entered the army as they entered every other occupation—for personal gain, and these men are willing to prostitute the whole organization to accomplish their own selfish purposes and gain notoriety. RESOLVED, That we do not justify the G. A. R. men who at Wheeling, Va., so far forgot their manhood as to allow themselves to be used as political foot balls. B. K. GOODYEAR, Post Commander. Attest: J. B. HAYNESTICK, Adjutant. There can be no mistake about the meaning of the resolutions. The Carlisle Post thoroughly appreciates the danger to which its great organization has been exposed by Tuttle and Fairchild and their hot-headed admirers. So long as the Grand Army shall remain a fraternal and charitable organization there is no one who will not admire and honor it, but the moment it shall cast its lot with the brawlers of partisan politics its disintegration must begin. A few more insane utterances from Fairchild and Tuttle, a few more repetitions of the Wheeling incident and the fate of the Grand Army will be sealed. The soldiers of Carlisle have taken the only step they could take to halt the "unscrupulous political demagogues" and where they have led others can and should follow. This is no time for sectional hatred. No one but the brawlers desire to reopen the sores which would have long ago been healed forever but for them. North and South are bound together by the bonds of good feeling and business prosperity, and only the partisan politicians, who hesitate at nothing to gain their ends, would have it otherwise. It is time that all who have the welfare of the Grand Army at heart should understand this. The brawlers would lead it to destruction should be squelched so summarily that they will not dare to show their heads again. The soldiers of Carlisle have sounded the advance, and have honored themselves by doing so. Turn the brawlers out.—Philadelphia Times. (continued from eighth page.) was not found in keg beer, though carbonate of soda, introduced to improve the "head"—not the head of the drinker—was detected in several samples. In two samples there was much salt, and in one a substitute for hops had been used, though it was impossible to decide what its exact nature was. The use of salicylic acid in fermented liquors is to preserve them from deterioration, and it also tends to conceal any defect in quality. Its effects upon the stomach are deleterious, and when continued, it destroys the digestion and lays the foundation for fatal disease. It therefore behooves beer drinkers to be on their guard against bottled beer. The Kaiser beer has been a favorite among imported beers with many connoisseurs in this article. The results of Dr. Crampson's examination of the wines in use at Washington are not given.
