LOCAL BREVITIES.

K. of H. elects officers to-night. Services at the Baptist Church, next Sunday morning and evening.

The trial of the new electric light plant in De Soto will be held to-night. The "Huckling Bee" entertainment at the Quary has been abandoned.

The Baptist Sunday School entertainment occurs at the Academy of Music December 30th. Wm. R. Edgar, Jr., won the goats which were raffled by Jacob Grandhomme one day last week.

The special meeting of Midian R. A. Chapter which had been called for next Saturday has been postponed indefinitely. The visitation of the beautiful last Sunday interfered materially with the attendance at church both in the morning and evening.

W. H. Byers was last Friday chosen as a member of the school board to succeed W. A. Fletcher, resigned. A good selection. Among the Christmas displays of this town none are composed of more elegant Holiday Goods than will greet your eyes in Crisp's Drug Store.

Our merchants have done a big business the past week, and on Saturday many of them were rushed for the entire day and up to late at night. The case of State vs. Hatridge, charged with assault, was tried before a jury in the Circuit Court yesterday morning and resulted in a verdict of acquittal.

The County Court last week made a settlement with the retiring Treasurer, Jas. H. Clark, and D. F. Reese, the Treasurer-elect, was duly inducted into office. Midian R. A. Chapter is completing arrangements for a Ball and Supper at the Academy of Music on Friday, December 28th. Invitations issue this week.

Tramps are numerous these days and some of them are insolent and dangerous. An application of the vagrant section of the statutes would doubtless have a wholesome effect. Among the lawyers in attendance on Circuit Court this week are: W. H. H. Thomas, Hillsboro; W. S. Anthony, Potosi; Jno. H. Roney, Piedmont; J. J. Russell, Charleston; W. L. Beversdorf, Centerville.

The revival at Fort Hill was closed last Friday. The man from Washington county who was assisting in the meetings impresses the hearers as being endorsed with more enthusiasm or self-confidence than ability or good judgment. A young man by the name of Brown from Iron Mountain stepped off the Accommodation train while it was moving in the Pilot Knob yards Saturday night and had his knee cap broken. Dr. Strong attended the injured man and he will probably be all right in due course of time.

Don't overlook the Alliance lecture at the Academy of Music to-morrow (Thursday) evening. Mr. Williams is said to be a speaker of no mean ability, and will make a clear statement of the tenets, grievances and purposes of the agriculturists and their organization. A good attendance ought to greet him. City Collector Patton again wishes to remind the tax-payers that they must pay up, and that at once, if they wish to avoid additional cost and trouble. This is positively the last notice that will be given, and all taxes remaining unpaid on December 22d will be turned in as delinquent. Everybody will be wise in paying up promptly.

The wrecking derrier was at work in front of the Gazette office, Tuesday forenoon, lightening the burden of a freight car loaded with granite, to prevent a possible break-down. The car contained about 26 cubic yards of massive granite blocks from the granite or granite quarries in Iron county on its way to Jackson, Michigan.—De Soto Gazette.

Frederick Woolford died at his home in this city Monday morning at the advanced age of 88 years and six months. The deceased has been a resident of Ironton only a year, but he spent most of his life in Fredericktown, where he has many friends and relatives. The funeral occurred Tuesday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock from the Presbyterian Church.

The Bonanza window devoted to Santa Claus is the delight of the children. The scene depicted is familiar to all: Santa Claus, who has just come down the chimney, is beside the little bedstead, fitting the stockings with toys, while the sleeping children are dreaming of the joys to come with early morning. The picture is realistic, and "old Santa" as natural as life.

Time and again we have called the attention of the authorities to the dangerous condition of the foot-path on the railroad bridge across Stout's creek. The railings along the side are down, planks are up in the walk, and the structure is little less than a pit-fall for the unwary pedestrian. Unless some repairs are made at once, some one will have a damage suit or we miss our prediction.

Dr. Strong publishes a card in another column, giving the hours when he may be found in his office.

The Circuit Court convened in adjourned term in this city Monday for the purpose of trying several cases which were continued from the regular October term to this date. The Orrick murder case was first on the docket and was called immediately on the arrival of Judge Thomas at noon. The work of securing a jury was at once begun. All of Tuesday and Wednesday were spent in getting the jury and hearing of evidence will commence Thursday. Several other cases were disposed of Monday and Tuesday.

The most delightful Indian summer which has been enjoyed by this section for the past month or more, ended Sunday in a snow storm. All that day the "beautiful" came down in torrents and was hurled hither and thither by the blasting winds. The thermometer dropped accordingly and Monday morning dawned clear, cold and crisp. There was some thawing during the day but the night following was the coldest of the season. Tuesday was warmer and the outlook is that the backbone of that cold spell is broken.

The remains of Mr. O. G. Fairchild, who was killed by the cars at Montpelier, Idaho, on Monday of last week, arrived in Ironton Saturday and the funeral occurred from the Episcopal Church at half-past two o'clock in the afternoon of that day. The exercises were conducted by Rev. Tidwell, who paid an appropriate and deserved tribute to the memory of the departed. While no particulars have been received of the accident which occasioned the young man's death, his parents are in receipt of the coroner's verdict which declares that the railroad company was guilty of gross criminal carelessness and should be made to answer for the sad and deplorable affair.

Mr. H. Barnhouse, south of the courthouse square, wishes to call the attention of the public to the fact that he has just received a large invoice of new freight goods for the winter and Christmas trade. In the way of selection a larger and more complete stock in the lines handled is not to be found in Southeast Missouri. Groceries, fancy and staple, fancy goods, jewelry, musical instruments, tobacco and cigars, cutlery, firearms, stationery, toys, confectionery, patent medicines, etc., etc., in the greatest variety and abundance and at prices that are astonishingly low. Christmas Goods for old and young to suit all classes, rich and poor. Call and view the immense display. Mr. B. will be happy to see you, and take our assurance for it, he will treat you royally.

The McGahan local option cases, from Washington county, were finally determined last Monday, when Judge Thomas rendered a decision sustaining demurrer of defendant. Suit was instituted before a justice of the peace in said county, against James McGahan, in September, 1889, charging him with violating the local option law. After three set-offs, the defendant was acquitted. While that action was pending, two informants were filed in the circuit court, charging him with similar offenses. Messrs. Anthony, Dinning and Byrns prosecuted, while Mr. Edgar defended. When the case came up last March a change of venue to Iron county was asked for and obtained, on the ground of prejudice on the part of the citizens of Washington county. The case was transferred, and came up here last October, when defendant demurred to the information because they showed on their face that the county court had counted the vote on the adoption of the local option law, and declared the result, while the law designates that the county clerk shall call to his assistance two justices of the peace, or two members of the court, and they shall constitute the canvassing board; that therefore the county court had no right to canvass the returns and declare the result, and by reason thereof the defendant was not charged with any offense known to the law. Before the demurrer was filed, however, stipulations had been obtained from the State that the decision on the demurrer should be final. When the arguments were made, the State, through associate counsel Dinning, held that if the information failed because the local option law should be declared not in force, then they ought to hold defendant under the Dowling law—a sort of "take him going or catch him coming" convention. The court sustained the demurrer, and in an able opinion held that the law was not in force in Washington county; consequently McGahan could not have violated it. It was further held that the information did not contain allegations that would place defendant on trial under the Dowling law. The defendant was discharged, and the local option law for Washington county knocked out.

"Blood tells." We may not be able to infuse royal and noble blood into a man's veins; but we can do better; we can expel from them all impure and poisonous humors by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. Pure blood is the best kind of royal blood.

A Card From Mr. Biemel. IRONTON, MO., Dec. 9th, 1890. My Customers and the Public generally—Notwithstanding the property I now occupy as a tenant, is advertised for sale by the owner, I hereby give notice to all persons that I shall continue in my present business as Baker and Restaurateur at Ironton at the present stand or elsewhere in said town. Respectfully, JNO. BIEMEL, Ironton Bakery.

Atarcadia Items. Ed. Register—Nothing unusual has happened to disturb the serenity of the suburbs, except Mr. Greenmore and Sam Jones had a little squabble the other night, in which Mr. Greenmore got sharp of his whiskers and, therefore, like Sampson of old, has lost his strength.

Messrs. Thomson and McCannon were up to Arcadia last Sunday. Mr. McCannon is the architect of the Boatmen's Bank. The railway officials were here last week looking at the old canal property. They contemplate building a new one early in the spring.

Brooks thinks married life is the thing and that would not change back to single blessedness for any amount of money. Herman Gilrize has settled down to a quiet life, and says Coon hunting is not what it used to be.

Chas. Tusi is making himself a sleigh and will take his best girl out sleigh riding if the snow holds on long enough. Mr. Price (Jingo) thinks Dunklin county is the best county in the State for a young man to start in life.

Mrs. Hogue and daughter, Miss Lianie moved to Dunklin county last week to spend the winter. Mr. H. N. Baird will have a store building erected this winter ready for the spring trade. Mr. B. is a good merchant and, no doubt, will get his share of trade.

Mr. Dixon, the poor old carpenter, needs some good woman to take care of him. Yesterday he got kicked by a mule, which nearly killed him. If he had been a married man his wife would have told him better than to be monkeying around the business end of a mule.

Mann Ringo doesn't know yet whether he will take his wife with him to Jefferson or not. Better take her, Mann, she will keep you straight, and then see what postage you will save.

I think the Railroad Company ought to pay Mr. Dixon for those horses killed on the track two weeks ago, and every dollar they were worth without being sued.

Well, Mr. Ake, I will have to recall the invitation I gave you last summer to come and take Christmas dinner with me in my new house on that day, while the new house is not finished, and the old maid who agreed to take me for better or for worse, but mostly for worse, has changed her mind. So you see, Mr. Ake, the thing is impossible, but I change the time to one year hence and I know you will agree to this by promising you a big slice of our national bird, the turkey, and all the other good things for the inner man, and I will get Mr. Dixon to do the cooking, as he is a good cook.

Yours truly, JOHNSON. Perkins' Patties for 50 cents, until the first of January, at Perkins'. Graniteville Items. Ed. Register—The concert and ball for the benefit of Mrs. Jas. Patton, will be given at Workmen's Hall on Friday evening, Dec. 12th, instead of the 10th, as announced in our letter of last week. Admission fee, $1.00; refreshments, in the way of coffee and cake, will be served at intervals by the ladies that have charge of the entertainment, and a large attendance is expected on this beneficial occasion.

The S. G. Co. have just completed their contract of the polished granite for the Globe-Democrat building now being erected on 6th and Pine street, St. Louis, identical in cost and structure to the Republic's on the corner of 3rd and Chestnut.

Mr. E. M. Smith and son, R. W., have gone on their annual hunt to the Lone Star State, where they expect to remain about three weeks.

Mr. W. R. Hinsdale has gone to Chicago where he will present an estimate on the granite work to be done on the magnificent 20 story Masonic Temple to be erected in that city, and, when completed, it is said will cost $2,000,000, and will, perhaps, be the highest building in the world.

Between the S. G. Co., Schneider and Sons and Lopez & Shea, a great many men and boys, at least 500, are constantly employed in the granite business of Graniteville and vicinity, getting out dimension stone, paving blocks, and macadam for building purposes and street paving, for which the city of St. Louis is the principle market.

Messrs. Robt. Wilson and Chas. Stewart, native to-morrow for Bonnie Scotland, their native country, where they will spend the winter in parental circles.

Mr. Thos. G. Foley made a dying trip to the city last week. Mr. Wm. Brown and family have moved into the McKernan property.

Mr. John Archie and family are ensconced in the house vacated by Mr. Brown. The lady preacher, Mrs. Beard, closed her meetings at this place last night with only three conversions. As mentioned in last week's REGISTER, Mrs. B. will go to Doe Run to start a revival meeting at that place.

Mr. Thos. Bass, under whose management the S. G. Co.'s hotel this place is being conducted, is our legally qualified Justice of the Peace, and as Mr. Bass has had a great deal of experience in the affairs of this office it is safe to say justice will be meted in every respect.

Mr. J. M. Crews, the wide-awake merchant, of our neighboring town of Graniteville, is experiencing a boom in the mercantile trade.

The Graniteville Brass Band has purchased another new horn and several selected pieces of music. Now, Alex, get those lips in shape and give us some of your choice tenor solos. Can't the boys be induced to get up a grand ball and supper. Say about New Year's Eve? We think it would take immense, so if you'll talk it up fellows.

"Tyro," if invited, will see that it is chronicled in the best paper published in Iron county, the REGISTER. TYRO. December 8th, 1890.

Bellevue Items. Ed. Register—Every body that can muster a gun is out hunting to-day, so we will have plenty of rabbits and quail for a while. Miss Susie Moore, who has been visiting friends in the valley, is very sick with malarial fever. Her mother came from St. Louis last Tuesday to help nurse her at the comfortable home of Mrs. F. A. McFarland. She has every attention and her many friends hope for a speedy recovery.

Mrs. M. E. Logan, has returned to her home in St. Louis, after a four weeks' visit to her son and old friends. She was delighted to welcome a little grand-daughter during her stay.

The protracted meeting, which has lasted four weeks closed last Sunday. Most of the new converts will unite with the Methodist church. Miss Minnie Horn has returned to her home in Farmington.

Mr. W. L. Matthews is enjoying a rest at home. Miss Maud Harrall is visiting her sister, Mrs. Alfred Hale. A great "Light" shines upon the pathway of Miss Maud.

Miss Magenta Teban, who has been an invalid for some weeks, is visiting Mrs. Lay hoping to regain her health in the pure, bracing atmosphere.

Mr. D. H. Hartman and daughter, Miss Rose, returned to-day from a short visit to Block. Orbo. Buford is at work in St. Louis. Mrs. Chas. Clifton and baby spent last week with friends at Des Arc.

PERSONAL. Robt. L. Lindsay spent several days of last week in St. Louis. Ed. H. Galkman of St. Louis was in town Saturday. Mr. John Clardy of Fredericktown is in town this week. Dr. F. M. Farrar of Las Vegas, N. M., is visiting his parents. Will Noell is traveling for a St. Louis publishing house.

All those heating and itching humors of the scalp, so troublesome to many persons, are effectually cured by the use of Ayer's Hair Vigor. If not attended to in time, these discharges are very liable to result in loss of the hair.

Read Our Offer for the Holidays. We will make, until the 1st of January, 1891, one Dozen Cabinet Photographs and one Hundred Perkins' Photographic Petite Pictures, for $5. The public are respectfully invited to call and see our new styles. "Good Pictures" or "no charge." Gallery opposite Mrs. Lopez's, Ironton, Mo.

W. C. PERKINS. Ed. Register—Annapolis is having a little snow. Annapolis can boast of a new jeweler shop. J. S. Ben-on is building two small houses. Gus. Funk has returned from abroad, and, by the way, instead of being away on business as reported last week, had gone to see his wife who was injured in a runaway several weeks ago and has not entirely recovered.

F. P. Hillburn's henroost was attacked by a professional chicken-lifter about 4 o'clock this morning. Hillburn says he did not catch the thief, but he was so close to him that he had to leave without meat, although he had killed two chickens, one of which was still kicking. Result: Hillburn's eat their own chickens this time.

Joseph Mielichlitzka has returned from Mayberry and John Towie will take his place for a few days. "Jake," of the Ironton Truth, is doing business at the old stand. It seems that he limbed an overdose of fancy disturbance one day last week and delivered a lecture on the duties of a tonsorial artist, discharged his barber, etc., but, at last report, was doing well. "Jake" says in last week's Truth "Micky Doolan" is working four men at $1.10, which is the smallest wage paid in this part of the country, but being all Democrats, it is considered fair wages. Now, as I have a bar, and don't like to believe that "Jake" lied knowingly I shall just assume that "Jake" is ignorant of the fact that one of his Republican friends is paying $1.25 per day for eleven hours work, which is less than one-half cent per hour more than "Doolan's" men receive. These men are also Democrats.

Another of "Jake's" Republican friends is working men at ten cents per hour. These laborers are also Democrats. Another of "Jake's" Republican friends is working men $1 per day for eleven hours work, being just a fraction over nine cents per hour. These laborers are not Democrats as you might suppose, but are good solid Republicans, Protection, Millet-Seed and all. When I started writing to the REGISTER I assumed the name of "Doolan" not on account of cowardice, but I thought at almost all great writers hide behind some false cognomen it would sound aristocratic not to you know. But since "Jake" has unmasked me I suppose I may as well fall back on my real name, "Murphy." "Jake" says he is not acquainted with salty nor defeat. In that case I shall assume that he is like one of his other Republican friends who would not read the papers after the election because there was no good news in them for Republicans. I have never heard of anyone voting against me in politics, not you, "Jake," and some of your ilk. I heard an ex-candidate complain about Republicans being allowed to vote in the Democratic primary. By the way, "Jake," what became of those Republican votes that were cast in the primary at Annapolis. Those lies about rot in politics were invented by your side of the house to give your people an excuse to break their pledges. A Republican ticket in the field was all the excuse needed and your rotten lies were equal for.

"Jake" says Mr. Byrns will have at least twenty-five private secretaries from Annapolis. Had Mr. Kinsey been re-elected there would have been only one—"Jake." Thus, by the election of Byrns, twenty-four men receive employment at light work and good wages. Surely that would be a benefit to the poor. I knew you were pretty sore over the defeat of Mr. Kinsey, but I thought that the wound had healed sufficiently to bear a little friendly chaffing. If I had known that your countenance was so sore I should have taken no notice of your former letter, as I only started in to answer T. Callahan's unwanted attack on dead heroes. "Now, "Jake," when that cold in the head that invariably attacks you when smelling for rot in your own party gets a little better, insert that fungus growth on your face into the vicinity of one of the officers of your club. Swell your manly bosom, fill your lungs, and as the air passes through your nostrils, detect, if you can, any putrescent effluvia arising from the fact that he raised the wages of his helper to pay the said helper for joining the Republican Club at Annapolis. Now, "Jake," when you write again to the Truth, cut out the name of that paper and keep it where you can see it. Wrap it around your pen, and let it flow off at the point. Tell the truth—that Murphy, while he employs four men, pays none, as he is only Foreman, has plenty of rabbits and quail for a while that those four men handle more cash than any four laborers in Annapolis. You might also tell the wages of your hostler, since you seem to be so solicitous for the well-repay of the laborers.

All this talk about mustard seed diet and six-cent-per-day wages, as well as protection for American labor, is all bosh. Any man with a spoonful of brains, who has studied the question, knows that until the millennium comes employers will not raise the wages of labor until it is compelled to do so by scarcity of laborers. A large increase in the currency will cause a revival of business and bring about this result, with out regard to the tariff, which does nothing but increase the price of articles on which it is placed, thus raising the cost of living.

It gives the manufacturing corporations a chance to raise the price of their goods, and it also puts in their power to raise the wages of labor, but doesn't make them do it, and they, like all other corporations, are soulless. As long as the American laborer fills the pockets of the Carnegies' by protection, and then gets down on his knees and humbly begs them to divide with their employees, he will get left with a big L. Pass a law compelling the tender-hearted manufacturer to pay to the government a sum equal to the tariff tax on every article sold by him in the country, to be divided among the poor whom he loves so well just before elections, or to pay pensions, or to help support the Government, and the way he would kick, would make a mule sick with envy.

MURPHY. When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria. When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria. When she became a Woman, she clung to Castoria. When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria. S. E. STRONG, M. D., IRONTON, MO. OFFICE HOURS: 1 to 3 P. M., and 6 to 8 P. M.

J. M. EDMERSON. (Formerly Circuit Judge and Late U. S. Marshal) Attorney at Law & Notary in Chancery. 513 Elm Street, St. Louis, Mo. Will Practice in U. S. and State Courts. Special attention given to cases in St. Louis Court of Appeals and Supreme Court.

W. C. PERKINS. Ed. Register—Owing to the great mineral boom in the great silver, gold and lead mines, that are now being worked at this place I will try to get in a few words amongst the miners that have arrived at this place and that have taken stock in the mining lands. The names are as follows: Captain Peck, Wm. Peck, and Dinger, all of Ironton, Colorado. One other young man, I did not learn his name, but he was from the gold fields in California. They have invested $50,000 here and then they took the street cars to the southern portion of this city, over to Uncle Dick's gold and silver mines, where there is a never failing lead of both gold and silver. I understand they bought in Uncle Dick's mine and have succeeded in getting the mine incorporated and appointed Uncle Dick marshal, and have put him to work paying the streets, and have closed the whole sale liquor store of A. Rubie, which will keep the miners that are employed there, out of the danger of falling into the mines.

The lead furnace is in full blast, the 10 inch pipe is all laid, and extends to the river that runs by this city and, it takes all the water in the river to keep everything moving, and consequently it has stopped steam-boats from getting up to this place.

Mr. D. A. Johnson and Bros. are doing a large business in their whisky sale liquor house. They have several clerks employed at this writing. Cannot tell just how many clerks there are.

Doctor T. R. Minor was here last week. He is looking well and hearty. Doctor Farr. Brunot, was in this city a few days ago. J. B. Hampton is doing a large business as Justice of the Peace and notary of public in the way of pension. And he has a wagon in charge of good business. He also has several head of fine horses and cattle on his ranch near this city.

Charley Howell has sold his hoop factory and has gone to St. Louis to engage in wholesale business of buying and selling oak and hickory hoops. Messrs. Stevenson and Knight from Cape Girardeau, are purchasers of the hoop factory at $2500. They got the horses with the factory, and they went right to work and with 100,000 poles on hand.

Mr. E. P. Benson's fine flouring mill is doing a good business. He also has several head of fine horses and cattle on his ranch near this city. A Rubie and Co., who have a saw mill six miles east of here, have been broke down this week, but are now running again. They ship about 30 cars of lumber a month, principally walnut, ash, and hickory.

Pate Bruntington who bought F. R. Roney's interest in the mill, has 10 fine mule teams of his own, hauling timber to the road, two and three trips a day, and from 8 to 1000 ft. at a load.

John Millburn, from Steelville, Crawford county, is visiting relatives at this place. Judge Hart, our postmaster for 19 years, is well and hearty, and is now selling goods cheap, and holds forth on Main and School streets.

Edwin May is having his house recovered with slate. Carpenter Brown is doing the work.

We have a new night agent here to help to run the Electric lights. His name is Ball and is from Council Bluffs, Iowa. He is a fine man, and understands his work.

Fowle, day agent for the railroad, is a good, nice boy. Cleo Collins, merchant from Sabula, was here this week buying a car load of goods to be shipped to his little city, via the Iron Mountain Railway.

Esther & Chitwood, from Exchange, Reynolds county, were also in this city purchasing goods for their little city, to be shipped via the Cable Railway.

ANNAPOLIS BULLETIN. December 4, 1890. From Pine Grove.

"Pedagogue" has come from our midst, has gone the way all good young men should go; but we miss his cheery ways and his lively communications to the REGISTER, so I will try to send a few items from Pine Grove, hoping that they may escape the waste-basket.

Election day and went like a pleasant dream. The good old Democrats carried our precinct by a large majority, and just here let me say that there was no betting, no swearing, no drinking, no fighting that day. Neither were there any votes polled by boys who could scarcely climb the fable. Hurrah for old Iron and the Democracy!

I wish I could say as much for our religious meeting for we are a Christian people, but our meetings are sadly disturbed by some "white trash," who would be ornaments to the county jail.

Hunters in these parts are wasting ammunition all to no purpose. One hunter was overheard to say, "I love I don't care a turkey gobble you Painter branch this morning. Leastwise, I have heard them thar sometimes."

Corn is not good. What is 'growin' fine, and the prospects are good for a bountiful harvest next summer. Mr. Thompson's mill hands struck for higher wages and were promptly paid off and discharged so that they might hunt work at '82 a day and roast beef."

Mr. Reubens's new dwelling is nearly finished and is an ornament to our neighborhood. Mr. Stace Bell is visiting friends in Dent county.

Ed. Westerman struck his ankle with an ax, inflicting a painful wound. Nelson Bell also cut his knee while roofing his new barn.

Miss E. Latham is recovering from a severe illness. Mr. Wm. Latham, lately from Colorado, is a frequent visitor to the Shut-In. Wonder if he will buy that mule!

Our school, under the management of Mrs. Adams, will close about Christmas. Look out for a fine time. BOHEMIAN.

DIED—At Tyler, Texas, HENRY HANSBROUGH, aged 17 years and three months, of typhoid pneumonia. His remains were brought to De Soto for burial. He was a brother to Miss Achsah Hansbrough of Arcadia.

The first sweet flowers of early spring will bloom above his breast. The summer birds will come and sing, While he is laid to rest. The last fond kiss on earth is given To those who claim his love, But from a fairer home in heaven, He waits for them above.
